PREFACE.

Since the publication of the Revised Codes of Montana of 1907 there have been four sessions of the state legislature,—the eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, and fourteenth. Aside from the numerous laws enacted at these sessions, amendments to the Constitution have been adopted during this period and also several measures by initiative and referendum. The new laws thus put in operation during the years of 1908 to 1916, so far as they are general in character and now in force, form the subject matter of this volume and earn for it the title, "The Supplement to the Revised Codes of Montana of 1907."

The Supplement falls naturally into six parts: The Constitution, Political Code, Civil Code, Code of Civil Procedure, Penal Code, and Miscellaneous Laws.

The Constitution has had only three amendments during the period in question. These amendments, with their annotations and the annotations to unamended provisions of the Constitution, make up Part I. Numerous amendments have been made to the Political Code, and these amendments, with their annotations, constitute Part II. Parts III, IV, and V are similarly made up of the Civil Code, the Code of Civil Procedure, and the Penal Code, respectively. Part VI is composed of such general laws as have not lent themselves to ready classification among the four codes.

In compiling the various enactments, those on the same or closely related subjects have been grouped together, and this with reference to the classification in the Revised Codes of 1907. Where new acts have, by amendment or repeal, displaced sections of the Revised Codes without having been given the numbers of the sections thus supplanted, the editor has given the new matter the section numbers formerly borne by the old. Where new laws have been added without displacing existing code sections, the new matter has, if related to any particular code sections, been placed immediately following them and given section numbers made by adding the letters of the alphabet to the numerals designating the old sections preceding.

Thus, on page 25 it will be seen that section 149, relating to the salary of the Governor, was amended in 1913; also that at the same session of the legislature a new statute was enacted providing a residence for the Governor. This new act is placed immediately after section 149 and is designated section 149a.

Again, by reference to pages 219 to 253, it will be noticed that a new highway law was adopted in 1915, and that the sections of the Revised Codes of 1907 covering the subject of highways were, either expressly or by implication, repealed. However, the legislative assembly, in adopting the new highway law, did not give the various sections thereof the numbers which the former sections of the law on that subject bore. More than this, the thirteenth legislative assembly enacted two motor vehicle laws, created a state highway commission, and adopted other measures relating to highways. The editor has grouped these different highway laws together, and given their various sections the numbers formerly attached to the sections of the Revised Codes of 1907 which are displaced by the new laws.

These illustrations will make clear the system of classification employed throughout the volume. By this method a great deal of matter, such as the coal mining code, the military code, and the pharmacy act, which the legislature, in making amendments, had taken out of the Revised Codes, has been put back and given appropriate section numbers; moreover, entirely new laws which the legislature, in enacting, might properly have placed in the codes, but did not, have there been assigned and numbered. Many of the new laws, however, have not yielded to this form of treatment, and hence have been assembled in Part VI under the head of Miscellaneous Laws. They are there classified according to their subject matter and made readily accessible.

It is hoped that this system will at once commend itself to all who may have occasion to acquaint themselves with the laws of the state. Indeed, no other practicable method has suggested itself to the publishers or the editor. Any sense of opposition to the system which the reader may feel on first using the Supplement will be nothing more than a manifestation of that resistance which innovations are so likely to arouse, and will, it is confidently believed, be of short duration.

The annotations to the Supplement show the interpretation which the supreme court has put upon all constitutional, code, and statutory provisions which have been before it since the publication of the Revised Codes of 1907. They are drawn from volumes 35 to 50, inclusive, of the Montana Reports. In addition to these annotations, copious references have been made to the monographic notes in the American Decisions, American Reports, American State Reports, American Annotated Cases, and the Lawyers Reports Annotated.

The index, it is hoped, has been so prepared as to enable readers to turn quickly to any part of the volume desired. The references in it are to pages, not to sections, and it covers the annotations as well as the statutes themselves.

SUPPLEMENT

TO

REVISED CODES OF MONTANA.

PART I. CONSTITUTION.

Art. III, § 3.

The Constitution guarantees to everyone the right to pursue happiness and to acquire, possess and protect property in all lawful ways. The right to peaceful possession of property, and to free ingress to and egress from it, is secured; which rights cannot be invaded unless the public health, morals or safety, or the general welfare, require interference, or the owner is deprived of his rights by due process of law. Iverson v. Dilno, 44 Mont. 273, 119 Pac. 719.

Nothing in this section invalidates a code provision which requires a newspaper, after taking a contract for public printing, to sublet such part of it as it is itself unable to perform to some similar enterprise, within the state and competent. Hersey v. Neilson, 47 Mont. 146, Ann. Cas. 1914C, 963, 131 Pac. 30.

The statutes authorizing the state inspectors of fruit pests to destroy infected fruit are valid. Colvill v. Fox (Mont.), 149 Pac. 496.

Art. III, § 5.

Any statute which denies to an elector of the state, or of any portion of the state, the right to nominate candidates to public office is in violation of sections 5 and 26 of the Bill of Rights, and void. State ex rel. Holliday v. O'Leary, 43 Mont. 164, 115 Pac. 204.

Art. III, § 6.

The courts of the state are open to afford a remedy for such an injury as might be suffered by the holder of a valid subsisting mining claim through another person's proceeding to obtain patent to the same ground. Poore v. Kaufman, 44 Mont. 257, 119 Pac. 785.

A person whose business is interfered with by reason of aggressive manifestations by crowds in the alleged interest of "Organized Labor" may invoke for his protection section 6162 of the Revised

Mont. Code—1

Codes, defining a nuisance, and the constitutional provision declaring that the courts shall be open to every person, and a speedy remedy afforded for every injury of person, property or character, and that right and justice shall be administered without sale, denial or delay. Iverson v. Dilno, 44 Mont. 273, 119 Pac. 719.

A district judge cannot, by his own wrongful conduct, deny to a litigant the right to be heard in a court established for the purpose of administering judicial remedies. Stephens v. Nacey, 47 Mont. 482, 133 Pac. 361.

Art. III, § 7.

A search-warrant is a process liable to much abuse; its legality was denied by Lord Coke (Entick v. Carrington, 19 How. St. Tr. 1030). In this country generally it has been limited in its use by the establishment of constitutional restrictions. State ex rel. Streit v. Justice Court, 45 Mont. 375, 382, 48 L. R. A. (N. S.) 156, 123 Pac. 405.

Art. III, § 8.

After an indictment has been dismissed as insufficient, it is allowable that an information for the same crime be filed and the prosecution be proceeded with. State v. Vinn, 50 Mont. 33, 144 Pac. 773.

Editorial Notes.

Number of grand jurors necessary to constitute quorum. Ann. Cas. 1912C, 30.

Organization of grand jury. 27 L. R. A. 776.

Art. III, § 10.

In libel cases, since the Constitution says that in such cases "the jury, under the direction of the court, shall determine the law and the facts, the refusal of the jury to follow the advice of the court on the question of the libelous nature of the publication is no ground for granting a new trial. Harrington v. Butte Miner Co., 48 Mont. 556, 51 L. R. A. (N. S.) 369, 139 Pac. 451.

The right of free speech is guaranteed by the Constitution. It is declared there that no law shall be enacted impairing it and that every person shall be free to speak, write or publish whatever he will on any subject. At the same time, it leaves a way open by which everyone who abuses his privilege may be brought to account. Kelly v. Independent Publishing Co., 45 Mont. 139, Ann. Cas. 1913D, 1063, 38 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1160, 122 Pac. 735.

Except in prosecutions for libel, wherein the jury, "under the instructions of the court, shall determine the law and the facts," the court shall declare the law and the jury shall determine the facts. Allen v. Bear Creek Coal Co., 43 Mont. 269, 289, 115 Pac. 673.

The language of this section is not susceptible of any other meaning than this: That the individual citizen of Montana cannot be prevented from speaking, writing or publishing whatever he will on any subject; if, however, what he writes or publishes constitutes a criminal libel, he may be held responsible for the abuse of the liberty in a criminal prosecution, or if what he speaks, writes or publishes wrongfully infringes the rights of others, he may be held responsible for the abuse in a civil action for damages. Lindsay & Co. v. Montana Federation of Labor, 37 Mont. 276, 127 Am. St. Rep. 722, 18 L. R. A. (N. S.) 707, 96 Pac. 127, refusing to enjoin a boycotting circular.

Art. III, § 11.

This is the section by which the legislature is forbidden to pass ex post facto laws, laws impairing the obligation of contracts, or laws making irrevocable grants of special privileges, franchises or immunities. State v. Rose, 40 Mont. 66, 105 Pac. 82.

Art. III, § 14.

The question is raised in this case whether the so-called Drainage District Law violates the Constitution by proposing to take or damage private property for a public use without compensating the owners. Billings Sugar Co. v. Fish, 40 Mont. 256, 20 Ann. Cas. 264, 26 L. R. A. (N. S.) 973, 106 Pac. 565.

The assumption that a railroad, since it is for the public use and benefit, has, through being given authority by the legislature to construct its line, rights to which the rights of adjacent property holders are subordinated, is limited by the principle of the Constitution that no person can be deprived of property without due process of law. Wine v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 48 Mont. 206, 49 L. R. A. (N. S.) 711, 136 Pac. 387.

As is said, in effect, in State v. Auchard, 22 Mont. 14, 55 Pac. 361, the intention of the legislature (Rev. Codes, 1340) was to declare to be public highways only those that had been established by the public authorities, or had been recognized by them and generally by the public; or those that had become such by prescription or adverse use at the time the provision was enacted. Any other construction would lay the statute under serious constitutional objection. Bernard Realty Co. v. City of Butte, 48 Mont. 110, 136 Pac. 1064.

The statutes authorizing the state inspector of fruit pests to destroy infected fruit are valid, though the destruction is without compensation to the owner. Colvill v. Fox (Mont.), 149 Pac. 496.

Art. III, § 15.

A beneficial use of the water flowing in the streams of the state is a beneficial use. It may, however, be appropriated to a more necessary public use; thus a city may acquire a water supply by the exercise of the right of eminent domain. Carlson v. City of Helena, 39 Mont. 82, 17 Ann. Cas. 1233, 102 Pac. 39.

The use of the waters of the state is a public use, and, such being the case, every citizen has the right to divert and use them, so long as he does not infringe upon the rights of some other citizen who has acquired a prior right by appropriation. Featherman v. Hennessy, 42 Mont. 542, 113 Pac. 751.

The use of flowing water in a stream is a public use; the use must be beneficial, and when the appropriator or his successor ceases to use the water for such a purpose as that for which the appropriation was made, the right ceases. Conrow v. Huffine, 48 Mont. 444, 138 Pac. 1094.

The appropriator of water need not be an owner of, or a person in the possession of, land in order to make a valid appropriation for irrigation purposes. The use of water is a public use and a public service corporation can appropriate water, independently of present or future customers; otherwise the improvement of arid lands in localities where the undertaking by individuals would be too vast for them must never take place. Bailey v. Tintinger, 45 Mont. 175, 122 Pac. 575.

Land may be taken under the power of eminent domain for the purpose of flooding it in the construction of a dam for generating electric power to be sold to the public and also to be utilized in pumping water upon arid lands. Helena Power etc. Co. v. Spratt, 35 Mont. 125, 10 Ann. Cas. 1055, 8 L. R. A. (N. S.) 567, 88 Pac. 773.

This section is self-executing, and should receive a broad interpretation. Spratt v. Helena Power etc. Co., 37 Mont. 78, 94 Pac. 631, holding that the taking of lands by the appellants was for a public use.

Since the use of water is declared by the Constitution to be a public use, the right to appropriate water on the land of another may be acquired by condemnation proceedings. Prentice v. McKay, 38 Mont. 114, 98 Pac. 1081.

Editorial Notes.

Art. III, § 16.

The design of this provision of the Constitution is to furnish a guaranty to every person charged with a crime of a trial by a jury from the vicinage or neighborhood where the crime is supposed to have been committed, so that he may have the benefit, on his trial, of his own good character and standing with his neighbors, if these he has preserved, and also of such knowledge as the jury may possess of the witnesses who have given evidence against him. State v. O'Brien, 35 Mont. 495, 10 Ann. Cas. 1006, 90 Pac. 514.

The Constitution makes it the right of a person charged with crime to be confronted by his accusers. State v. Vanella, 40 Mont. 326, 20 Ann. Cas. 398, 106 Pac. 364.

A defendant in a criminal prosecution cannot insist upon having any particular juror sit in his case, but only that he shall be tried by an impartial jury. State v. Byrd, 41 Mont. 585, 111 Pac. 407.

The word "district" in the provision that the accused shall be tried by a jury from the "county or district in which the offense is alleged to have been committed," is not synonymous with the term "township," but means the precise portion of territory over which a court may exercise power in criminal matters. State v. O'Brien, 35 Mont. 494, 10 Ann. Cas. 1006, 90 Pac. 514.

In cases of a criminal nature, depositions can be taken, on notice, in the presence of the accused and his counsel "or without their presence if they shall fail to attend." State v. Vanella, 40 Mont. 326, 20 Ann. Cas. 398, 106 Pac. 364.

Art. III, § 18.

Although under this section no compulsion may be exercised upon a person charged with crime to make him testify against himself, still if he voluntarily goes upon the witness-stand in his own behalf, he is subject to cross-examination. State v. Vanella, 40 Mont. 326, 20 Ann. Cas. 398, 106 Pac. 364.

The constitutional security a person has against being twice put in jeopardy for the same offense prevents only a second prosecution after the first has resulted in a conviction or acquittal, intermediate steps such as the dismissal of an indictment on technicalities give him no such security. State v. Vinn, 50 Mont. 35, 144 Pac. 773.

Art. III, § 19.

In State v. District Court, 35 Mont. 504, 508, 90 Pac. 513, a homicide case, the order allowing bail was held properly made, in the absence of a showing by the county attorney that the proof of the defendant's guilt was evident or the presumption thereof great.

Art. III, § 20.

The statute, section 3850, Rev. Codes, as amended, making directors of corporations liable for debts of the company when they have failed to comply with the statute, does not impose excessive fines and inflict unusual punishments. Daily v. Marshall, 47 Mont. 398, 133 Pac. 681.

Art. III, § 23.

A juror cannot be said to be fair and impartial who has formed an opinion which will take evidence to remove and who entertains a prejudice against a class to which the defendant belongs. Shane v. Butte Elec. Ry. Co., 37 Mont. 601, 97 Pac. 958.

The right guaranteed by this section is the same as that guaranteed by the seventh amendment of the federal Constitution, because the federal Constitution was the fundamental law of the territory at the time of its admission as a state, and the right as it then existed was preserved in the state Constitution. Consolidated etc. Min. Co. v. Struthers, 41 Mont. 565, 111 Pac. 152.

The provision, that the right of trial by jury shall be secured to all and remain inviolate, has been construed in Montana as applying only to those cases wherein a right of trial by jury existed at the date of the adoption of the Constitution. See Montana Ore. Pur. Co. v. Boston & Mont. Con. C. & S. Min. Co., 27 Mont. 288, 70 Pac. 1114. The section refers in terms to "civil cases" and "criminal cases." Cunningham v. Northwestern Impr. Co., 44 Mont. 215, 119 Pac. 554.

The right to trial by jury is not to be lost through the matter's being made by the adverse party to follow the decision sought for by him in applying for a mandamus. Bailey v. Edwards, 47 Mont. 372, 133 Pac. 1095.

Art. III, § 25.

The provision goes no further than to put aliens and denizens on the same footing as citizens in granting the right to inherit; since citizens have the right, aliens and denizens have it also. The provision is not a limitation upon the power of the legislature to impose upon it the condition prescribed in section 4835 of the Revised Codes, that "no nonresident foreigner can take by succession unless he appears and claims such succession within five years after the death of the decedent to whom he claims succession." In re Colbert's Estate, 44 Mont. 265, 119 Pac. 791.

Art. III, § 26.

Any statute which denies to an elector of the state, or of any part of it, the right to nominate candidates to public office is in violation of sections 5 and 26 of the Bill of Rights, and void. State ex rel. Holliday v. O'Leary, 43 Mont. 164, 115 Pac. 204.

Art. III, § 27.

See, also, art. III, § 14, ante.

"No person shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law" is here discussed as to whether applicable or not to the creation of drainage districts under a legislative act in that connection. Billings Sugar Co. v. Fish, 40 Mont. 256, 20 Ann. Cas. 264, 26 L. R. A. (N. S.) 973, 106 Pac. 565.

The act of the legislature, Laws of 1909, chapter 67, page 81, although invalid for another reason, is not in violation of the due process of law principle of the Constitution. Whether the collection of an occupation tax in the summary manner provided by the act affords due process of law is set at rest, as to taxes generally, by Kelly v. City of Pittsburgh, 104 U. S. 78, 26 L. Ed. 658. See, also, Palmer v. McMahon, 133 U. S. 660, 33 L. Ed. 772, 10 Sup. Ct. Rep. 324. And see, also, McMillan v. Anderson, 95 U. S. 37, 24 L. Ed. 335, where it is said that the mode of assessing taxes is summary in all cases, in order that it may be speedy and effectual, but that summary does not mean arbitrary, or unequal or illegal. Cunningham v. Northwestern Impr. Co., 44 Mont. 203, 119 Pac. 554.

Art. III, § 29.

The rule that all provisions of the Constitution must be construed as mandatory and prohibitory, unless by express words declared otherwise, is applied to section 11 of article VIII of the Constitution, prescribing the jurisdiction of district courts in habeas corpus proceedings, in State v. District Court, 35 Mont. 53, 88 Pac. 564.

A provision of the Constitution is to be deemed mandatory and prohibitory unless declared to be otherwise, or else made by the instrument itself subject to exception. State ex rel. Peyton v. Cunningham, 39 Mont. 197, 18 Ann. Cas. 705, 103 Pac. 497.

The provisions of the Constitution are mandatory and prohibitory except where expressly declared otherwise. State ex rel. Jones v. Foster, 39 Mont. 583, 104 Pac. 860.

The provision in article VIII, section 34, of the Constitution, limiting, in the case of an appointment to fill a vacancy in an elective office, the tenure of the appointee to the time of the qualification of a person chosen by the electors to serve for the unexpired term, is exclusive and hence prohibitory. The legislature cannot extend the terms beyond that thus definitely fixed, and the governor is equally without power to do so. State ex rel. Patterson v. Lentz, 50 Mont. 340, 146 Pac. 932.

A constitutional provision is construed to be mandatory from the nature of the instrument, but in Montana the character is given it by express declaration to that effect. State ex rel. Hay v. Alderson, 49 Mont. 413, 142 Pac. 210.

The provisions of the Constitution are both mandatory and prohibitory, unless by express words they are declared to be otherwise. State ex rel. Working v. Mayor, 43 Mont. 63, 114 Pac. 777.

The appellate jurisdiction of the supreme court is extended under the Constitution to "all cases at law or in equity, and the rule of interpretation for ascertaining the limits of this jurisdiction is included in the maxim, 'inclusio unius est exclusio alterius,' since "the provisions of this Constitution are mandatory and prohibitory unless by express words they are declared to be otherwise." State v. Helena W. W. Co., 43 Mont. 173, 115 Pac. 200.

The provisions of the Constitution are mandatory and prohibitory unless by express words they are declared to be otherwise. Johnson v. City of Great Falls, 38 Mont. 369, 16 Ann. Cas. 974, 99 Pac. 1059.

Art. IV, § 1.

The Constitution, after dividing the powers of government into three separate departments, viz., the executive, the legislative and the judicial, provides that "no person or collection of persons, charged with the exercise of powers belonging to one of these departments shall exercise powers properly belonging to either of the others"; the only exception it makes is some case covered by a distinct provision of the Constitution of a contrary tenor. State ex rel. Schneider v. Cunningham, 39 Mont. 165, 101 Pac. 962.

A statute imposing purely legislative functions upon courts has never been upheld, but where the principal power conferred is judicial in character, the fact that the exercise of the power conferred may incidentally require the exercise also of legislative or administrative functions does not impair the validity of the enactment. O'Neill v. Yellowstone Irr. Dist., 44 Mont. 504, 121 Pac. 283.

The separation of the government into three great departments does not mean that there shall be no common link of connection or dependence the one upon the other in the slightest degree; but only that the powers properly belonging to one shall not be exercised by the others. State ex rel. Hillis v. Sullivan, 48 Mont. 330, 137 Pac. 392.

The division of governmental powers is into the three distinct departments: legislative, executive and judicial. State ex rel. Haviland v. Beadle, 42 Mont. 175, 111 Pac. 720.

Section 1192 of the Penal Code forbidding the using or wearing of the insignia or ceremonials of any society, unless the person so doing is entitled to the same, is unconstitutional. State v. Holland, 37 Mont. 402, 96 Pac. 719.

The constitutional requirement that the several departments of government be kept distinct prevents a judge of court being made a ministerial agent to gather and furnish testimony for use by the legislature in passing upon the qualifications of its members. State ex rel. Smith v. District Court, 50 Mont. 140, 145 Pac. 721.

Art. V, § 11.

Each house of the legislature, two-thirds of the persons composing it concurring, has the power of expelling a member. State ex rel. Haviland v. Beadle, 42 Mont. 175, 111 Pac. 720.

Art. V, § 12.

Although it is required that each house of the legislature keep a journal of its proceedings, except in rare cases, in which the Constitution requires the making of some specific entry, it is wholly within the legislative discretion to decide upon the character or minuteness of the entries. State ex rel. Gregg v. Erickson, 39 Mont. 280, 102 Pac. 336.

Art. V, § 16.

The sole power of impeachment is in the House of Representatives, while the Senate is the impeachment court. State ex rel. Haviland v. Beadle, 42 Mont. 180, 111 Pac. 722.

Art. V, §§ 17, 18.

Sections 8992 and 9006 of the Revised Codes were enacted in pursuance of the constitutional provision for removing from office, for misconduct or malfeasance, public servants who are not subject to impeachment. From a comparison of the two sections it appears that the first was intended to apply to only those cases in which the accused has been guilty of willful or corrupt misconduct or malfeasance, while the other was intended to apply to derelictions resulting from incompetency or inattention to public duties. State ex rel. Rowe v. District Court, 44 Mont. 323; Ann. Cas. 1913B, 396, 119 Pac. 1103.

"Judicial officers," as used in this section, was adopted by the legislative assembly in passing section 8972, Revised Codes, both provisions using the phrase in the one sense. State ex rel. Haviland v. Beadle, 42 Mont. 180, 111 Pac. 722.

The Governor and other state and judicial officers, except justices of the peace, may be impeached for high crimes and misdemeanors or malfeasance in office.

State ex rel. Haviland v. Beadle, 42 Mont. 175, 111 Pac. 720.

The Governor and other state and judicial officers, except justices of the peace, are open to impeachment for high crimes and misdemeanors, or malfeasance in office. State ex rel. Working v. Mayor, 43 Mont. 63, 114 Pac. 777.

A state officer can only be removed by impeachment in accordance with the provisions of this section. A policeman is not such an officer. State ex rel. Quintin v. Edwards, 38 Mont. 250, 99 Pac. 940.

Any act involving moral turpitude, or any act which is contrary to justice, honesty, principle or good morals, if performed by virtue of office or by authority of office, is included in the term "misconduct in office." State ex rel. Ryan v. Board of Aldermen, 45 Mont. 192, 122 Pac. 569.

All officers not liable to impeachment are subject to removal for misconduct or malfeasance in office in such manner as may be provided by law. State ex rel. Working v. Mayor, 43 Mont. 63, 114 Pac. 777.

Art. V, §§ 19, 20, 23.

These three sections of the Constitution, requiring that the legislature shall pass laws only by bill, that the bill shall have for its enacting clause a specific form there set out, and that it shall have but one subject and that one expressed in the title, are mandatory, and any law passed not in conformity to them is invalid. Peyton v. Cunningham, 39 Mont. 197, 103 Pac. 497.

Art. V, § 23.

The unity of title required for a bill before the legislature, in order that it may be a valid act after passage, is served notwithstanding the existence of many provisions in the act, if the provisions are germane to the general subject expressed. State ex rel. Hay v. Alderson, 49 Mont. 404, 142 Pac. 210.

The so-called "Non-partisan Judiciary Act," Laws of 1909, chapter 113, is not in harmony with the constitutional requirement that the purpose of a statute shall be clearly expressed in the title; the title of the enactment is, "An act to provide for nonpartisan nominations for judicial offices," whereas the body of it discloses its purpose of the legislation was not to provide for nonpartisan nominations, for which provision was already made, but to prohibit judicial nominations by partisan political organizations. State ex rel. Holliday v. O'Leary, 43 Mont. 165, 115 Pac. 204.

The section of the Revised Codes that declares, "No ordinance shall be passed containing more than one subject which shall be clearly expressed in its title," etc., imposes, the same restriction upon a city council that this section of the Constitution imposes upon the legislature. Carlson v. City of Helena, 39 Mont. 82, 17 Ann. Cas. 1233, 102 Pac. 39.

Meaningless words or phrases in the title of an act may be discarded in determining its sufficiency. Evers v. Hudson, 36 Mont. 135, 92 Pac. 462.

In determining whether the title to a statute meets constitutional requirements, the object sought to be accomplished by the legislature is always a proper subject of inquiry. Evers v. Hudson, 36 Mont. 135, 92 Pac. 462.

If all parts of a statute have a natural connection and can reasonably be said to relate, directly or indirectly, to one general and legitimate subject of legislation, the act is not open to the charge that it violates the provisions of this section, no matter how extensively or minutely it deals with the details looking to the accomplishment of the main legislative purpose. Evers v. Hudson, 36 Mont. 135, 92 Pac. 462.

Laws of 1907, page 50, treat of one general subject only, the establishment and maintenance of a system of county free high school, and the title thereof is sufficient. Evers v. Hudson, 36 Mont. 146, 92 Pac. 462.

The "estrays law," page 30 of Laws of 1903, offends this section of the Constitution. State v. Cunningham, 35 Mont. 547, 90 Pac. 755.

Laws of 1899, page 79, "relating to bonds of officers and other bonds," in so far as it applies to undertakings on appeal, is contrary to this section of the Constitution. Russell v. Chicago etc. Ry. Co., 37 Mont. 10, 94 Pac. 488, 501.

Laws of 1907, chapter 115, page 287, prohibiting gambling, does not contain more than one subject. State v. Ross, 38 Mont. 319, 99 Pac. 1056.

Art. V, § 24.

Under this section it is required for the enactment of a law that the vote on the final passage of the bill be taken by yeas and nays, and that these be entered on the journal. State ex rel. Gregg v. Erickson, 39 Mont. 280, 102 Pac. 336.

Where, after a bill has, on third reading, passed the house of its origin, and the vote taken by ayes and noes and the names of those voting entered on the journal, it is amended in the other house, it is not necessary that the vote on amendments in the house of its origin be taken by ayes and noes and the names entered on the journal. Johnson v. City of Great Falls, 38 Mont. 369, 16 Ann. Cas. 974, 99 Pac. 1059.

Art. V, § 25.

To amend the code section, 3119, as it referred to the salaries of jailers, so as to change the language from "at a salary not to exceed ninety dollars per month" to "and receive the same salary as other deputy sheriffs," it was required, in order to satisfy this part of the Constitution, that the entire section as amended be re-enacted and published at length. State ex rel. Hay v. Hindson, 40 Mont. 353, 106 Pac. 362.

The fact that the "Nonpartisan Judiciary Act" amends or revises a previous statute by reference to its title only should render it void irrespective of its other constitutional defects. State ex rel. Holliday v. O'Leary, 43 Mont. 168, 115 Pac. 204.

The act of 1907, empowering foreign corporations to exercise the right of eminent domain, is not in violation of this section. Spratt v. Helena Power etc. Co., 37 Mont. 79, 94 Pac. 631.

Art. V, § 26.

The legislature is by this section denied authority to pass laws of a local or special character granting to any corporation, association or individual any special or exclusive privilege, franchise or immunity. State v. Rose, 40 Mont. 66, 105 Pac. 82.

The Constitution makes it impossible for a private corporation to be created in Montana by a special act of the legislature. In re Beck's Estate, 44 Mont. 573, 121 Pac. 784, 1057.

A statute requiring a newspaper, after taking a contract for public printing, to sublet such part of it as it is itself unable to perform to some similar enterprise, within the state and competent, cannot be classed as local if it has state-wide application, nor special if it applies to all county printing contracts. Hersey v. Neilson, 47 Mont. 147, Ann. Cas. 1914C, 963, 131 Pac. 30.

An act creating a county cannot be regarded as local or special, within the meaning of the Constitution, if the legislature has been given the power to create a county by special act. State ex rel. Geiger v. Long, 43 Mont. 408, 117 Pac. 104.

The act of 1907, empowering foreign corporations to exercise the right of eminent domain, is not contrary to this provision of the Constitution. Spratt v. Helena Power etc. Co., 37 Mont. 88, 94 Pac. 631.

A person who is not one of the class discriminated against by an alleged special law cannot complain of its unconstitutionality. Spratt v. Helena Power etc. Co., 37 Mont. 88, 94 Pac. 631.

Art. V, § 36.

This provision against any delegation of power by the legislature to any special commission, private corporation or association with respect to municipal affairs is here invoked as invalidating any conferring of powers upon the drain commissioner to levy taxes; not, however, to the satisfaction of the court, it holding that the section is not applicable. Billings Sugar Co. v. Fish, 40 Mont. 256, 20 Ann. Cas. 264, 26 L. R. A. (N. S.) 973, 106 Pac. 565.

The Police Commission Bill of 1907 is not void as being an unlawful delegation to any special commission of power to supervise or interfere with any municipal improvement, money, property or effects, or to perform any municipal functions, since the board created by such act is not a "special commission." State ex rel. City of Butte, 44 Mont. 409, Ann. Cas. 1913B, 538, 120 Pac. 483.

Art. VII, § 7.

As soon as a vacancy occurs, the appointing power may act, but, since the Constitution does not distinguish vacancies into different classes on account of the exigencies which occasion them, the term for which the appointment holds good is governed by the limitations upon the appointing power therein prescribed. State ex rel. Patterson v. Lentz, 50 Mont. 336, 146 Pac. 932.

Besides this section, the several provisions of the Constitution covering the tenure of office of one appointed to fill a vacancy in an elective office are: Article VII, section 14; article VIII, section 34; article XVI, sections 4 and 5. They all disclose the intention that the appointee shall hold only until the people who elected his predecessor have the first opportunity to fill the office with a person of their own choice. State ex rel. McGowan v. Sedgwick, 46 Mont. 189, 190, 127 Pac. 94.

There is no limit to the term of officers whose offices are established by the Constitution or which may be created by law, except as provided in the various portions of the Constitution which deal with particular officers. State ex rel. Quintin, 38 Mont. 250, 99 Pac. 940.

Art. VII, § 9.

In the exercise of the pardoning power the Governor is authorized to impose conditions without restriction, so long as they are not illegal, immoral or impossible of performance. See Rev. Codes, sec. 9556. In re Sutton, 50 Mont. 93, 145 Pac. 6.

Art. VII, § 12.

The act of 1907, page 50, relating to county free high schools, became a law in like manner as if it had been signed by the Governor, any provision in the bill notwithstanding. Evers v. Hudson, 36 Mont. 153, 92 Pac. 462.

A measure, having been passed on the last day of a legislative session and not acted upon by the executive until after final adjournment, would require the Governor's signature to make it operative. State ex rel. Hay v. Hindson, 40 Mont. 353, 106 Pac. 362.

Art. VII, § 14.

Besides this section the several provisions of the Constitution covering the tenure of office of one appointed to fill a vacancy in an elective office are: Article VII, section 7; article VIII, section 34; article XVI, sections 4 and 5. McGowan v. Sedgwick*, 46 Mont. 189, 127 Pac. 94.

Art. VII, § 20.

This section, empowering the Governor, Secretary of State and Attorney General a board of examiners, cannot be regarded as one of the exceptions contemplated by the Constitution, in providing against the invasion of one department of government by another, so as to allow this board to interfere with the supreme court in regard to the appointment, etc., of a stenographer for the court. State ex rel. Schneider v. Cunningham, 39 Mont. 165, 101 Pac. 962.

Art. VIII, § 1.

The Senate is a court when sitting for the impeachment of a state officer or judge. State ex rel. Haviland v. Beadle, 42 Mont. 175, 111 Pac. 722.

The section here enumerating the officers to whom judicial functions are given does not mention police justices; a police judge is not a constitutional officer, his office being created by the legislature. State ex rel. Working v. Mayor, 43 Mont. 63, 114 Pac. 777.

"Town," when used in the Constitution as intended to convey the sense only of incorporated town, has always the qualifying word with it. State ex rel. Powers v. Dale, 47 Mont. 229, Ann. Cas. 1914D, 227, 131 Pac. 670.

The different justices are clothed with power to issue, hear and determine writs of habeas corpus, and also writs of certiorari to review proceedings for contempt in the district courts; but these powers are conferred upon the justices individually. State v. Helena W. W. Co., 43 Mont. 172, 115 Pac. 200.

Art. VIII, § 9.

The clerk of the supreme court is given a term of six years and until his successor is elected and qualified. State ex rel. Jones v. Foster, 39 Mont. 583, 104 Pac. 860.

Art. VIII, § 11.

The jurisdiction granted to district courts and their judges under this section is exclusive; and the power of a district judge to inquire into the legality of the detention of persons in custody is therefore confined to cases where the complainant is detained within the boundaries of the district over which the judge presides. State v. District Court, 35 Mont. 53, 88 Pac. 564.

Every power conferred upon the judges is judicial in character, and in so far as the Corrupt Practices Act seeks to make a judge a mere agent to gather evidence for the legislature to consider in passing upon the qualifications of a member, that act is invalid. State ex rel. Smith v. District Court, 50 Mont. 140, 145 Pac. 721.

In order that a judgment for contempt may be proof against an attack made by habeas corpus proceedings, the court rendering it must have had jurisdiction of the person and of the subject matter, and must have possessed the power or authority to render the particular judgment it pronounced. In re Mettler, 50 Mont. 301, 146 Pac. 747.

The district courts have sole jurisdiction in probate matters. State ex rel. King v. District Court, 42 Mont. 185, 111 Pac. 717.

Where the judge of a judicial district wherein a prisoner desires to invoke the writ of habeas corpus is absent from the state, and no judge temporarily presides over the district, the application should be made to the supreme court or a justice thereof rather than to a district judge in another district. State v. District Court, 35 Mont. 53, 88 Pac. 564.

Art. VIII, § 12.

In a case where the office of county attorney has been awarded to a person as the successful candidate at an election, and a qualified elector of the county has duly filed a contest on the ground of malconduct on the part of the election officers, the district judge, before whom the hearing would be otherwise, may, deeming himself disqualified, call in a judge from outside the district to hear and determine the cause. Curry v. McCaffery, 47 Mont. 195, 131 Pac. 673.

The language of this section is to be construed so as to limit the term of the district court judges, and therefore those also of the clerks of those courts, to four years. State ex rel. Jones v. Foster, 39 Mont. 583, 104 Pac. 860.

Revised Codes, section 6269, enacted to give effect to the Constitution in respect of the tenure of office of a person appointed to fill a vacancy in the district judiciary, provides that such person shall hold office "until the election and qualification of a judge to fill the vacancy, which election must take place at the next succeeding general election, and the judge so elected holds office for the remainder of the unexpired term." State ex rel. Patterson v. Lentz, 50 Mont. 337 et seq., 146 Pac. 932.

Art. VIII, § 15.

Cited in State v. Horn, 36 Mont. 418, 93 Pac. 351, in mandamus proceedings to compel a police judge to transfer a charge against the relator to the nearest justice of the peace in the city.

The Constitution provides for appeals to the supreme court from the district courts under such regulations as may be prescribed by law, following out which provision section 7098 of the Revised Codes enumerates the judgments and orders from which appeals are allowed. Taintor v. St. John, 50 Mont. 362, 146 Pac. 939.

The right of appeal in any case is not an absolute one; but appeals are only allowed under such regulations as may be prescribed by law. (Const., art. VIII, sec. 15.) Therefore, since the legislature has not made provision for the appointment of someone, upon whom service of notice of appeal from an order granting a new trial may be made in place of a party who has died after the order is made, the supreme court, on application for a writ of supervisory control, cannot grant relief. *State ex rel. A justice's court has no equity jurisdiction; but defendants properly substituted in an action by the assignee of a labor claim cannot deprive the justice of jurisdiction by the interposition of the defense of fraud in the assignment, since such defense does not convert the cause into an equitable one. *Mettler v. The regulations, prescribed by the legislature under authority of the Constitution, for appealing cases from justices' courts to the district court, are found in section 7121 of the Revised Codes, as amended by Session Laws of 1911, page 8, and sections 7123 and 7124. State ex rel. Hackshaw v. District Court, 48 Mont. 479, 138 Pac. 1100.

Appeals from justices' courts to the district courts are allowed in all cases in such manner and under such regulations as may be prescribed by law. State ex rel. Rosenstein v. District Court, 41 Mont. 100, 21 Ann. Cas. 1307, 108 Pac. 580.

When an appeal from a justice's court to the district court has been determined and the determination is in question, the proceedings must show that jurisdiction was acquired in the manner prescribed by statute. Jenkins v. Carroll, 42 Mont. 312, 112 Pac. 1064.

Art. VIII, § 24.

This section is cited in State v. District Court, 37 Mont. 204, 95 Pac. 841, wherein the jurisdiction of police courts in vagrancy cases is considered.

Art. VIII, § 27.

Prosecutions for violation of local ordinances must be conducted in the name of the municipality and by its prosecuting officer, but criminal cases arising under the state laws must be prosecuted in the name of the state and by the county attorney. State ex rel. Streit v. Justice Court, 45 Mont. 380, 48 L. R. A. (N. S.) 156, 123 Pac. 405.

The word "process" employed in the constitutional provision, "the style of all process shall be 'The State of Montana,'" does not include the order of sale found in the decree of a court of equity in foreclosure proceedings. Thomas v. Thomas, 44 Mont. 109, Ann. Cas. 1913B, 616, 119 Pac. 282.

Art. IX.

§ 2. Every person of the age of twenty-one years or over, possessing the following qualifications shall be entitled to vote at all general elections and for all officers that now are, or hereafter may be, elective by the people and upon all questions which may be submitted to the vote of the people: First, he shall be a citizen of the United States; second, he shall have resided in this state one year immediately preceding the election at which he offers to vote, and in the town, county or precinct such time as may be prescribed by law; provided, first, that no person convicted of felony shall have the right to vote unless he has been pardoned; provided, second, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to deprive any person of the right to vote who has such right at the time of the adoption

Art. VIII, § 28.

The fact that a plaintiff formulates his pleadings on the theory that he is entitled to equitable relief does not deprive a justice's court of jurisdiction, if upon any theory of his pleadings he is entitled to other relief. Anderson v. Red Metal Min. Co., 36 Mont. 319, 93 Pac. 44.

Justices' courts, in the exercise of the powers granted them, must pursue the statute; it is the charter of their powers not only as to the classes of cases which they may try, but as to the procedure they must observe. State v. Houston, 36 Mont. 180, 12 Ann. Cas. 1027, 92 Pac. 476.

Art. VIII, § 34.

In the event of a tie vote for clerk of the district court, the board of county commissioners is authorized to appoint to fill the vacancy. State ex rel. Jones v. Foster, 39 Mont. 533, 104 Pac. 860.

Besides this section, the several provisions of the Constitution covering the tenure of office of one appointed to fill a vacancy in an elective office are: Article VII, sections 7 and 14; article XVI, sections 4 and 5. They all disclose the intention that the appointee shall hold only until the people who elected his predecessor have the first opportunity to fill the office with a person of their own choice. State ex rel. McGowan v. Sedgwick, 46 Mont. 189, 190, 127 Pac. 94.

In State ex rel. McGowan v. Sedgwick, 46 Mont. 187, 127 Pac. 94, the court considered the several provisions of the Constitution relating to vacancies in office, to the tenure of persons appointed to fill them, and to the time when their successors are to be chosen by the people. It is there said, in part, "In every instance of a vacancy in an elective office, where the vacancy is to be filled by appointment, the appointee shall hold only until the people who elected his predecessor have the first opportunity to fill the office with a person of their own choice." State ex rel. Patterson v. Lentz, 50 Mont. 339, 146 Pac. 932.

of this Constitution: Provided, that after the expiration of five years from the time of the adoption of this Constitution, no person except citizens of the United States shall have the right to vote. [Amendment adopted at general election November, 1914.]

Save where otherwise indicated, the term "qualified elector" means a person who possesses the qualifications prescribed by the Constitution as necessary to entitle him to vote; it does not mean simply a registered voter. State ex rel. Lang v. Furnish, 48 Mont. 32, 134 Pac. 297.

This section, along with section 12 of the same article, cannot be invoked to invalidate an election already held, under a statute providing for special elections, unless it is shown that the result of the election would have been contrary to what it was but for the disfranchisement of voters by virtue of the statute. Potter v. Furnish, 46 Mont. 394, 128 Pac. 542.

Laws of 1907, page 50, do not deny to voters opposed to the establishment of a high school the right to vote upon the question of the location of the school. Evers v. Hudson, 36 Mont. 151, 92 Pac. 462.

Town of Baker* (Mont.), 149 Pac. 960.

Art. XI, § 1.

This and section 11 are not exclusive so as to limit the legislative power to the establishment and maintenance of common schools and state institutions only. The purpose of this section is to insure a system of common schools, but there is nothing in it which limits the power of the legislature to provide for other schools. The section is not a limitation upon the legislative power, but is a solemn mandate to the legislature. Evers v. Hudson, 36 Mont. 150, 92 Pac. 462.

Art. XI, § 2.

Neither this provision nor article XVII, section 1, deals with the subject of the capacity of the state to acquire property, both being limitations upon the power of disposal by the legislature; they also contain an express injunction upon that body, lest the property they deal with be devoted otherwise than to the purposes for which it has been or may be acquired. In re Beck's Estate, 44 Mont. 576, 121 Pac. 784, 1057.

Art. XI, § 11.

This section does not limit the legislative authority to establishing and maintaining common schools and state institutions, and is not offended by Laws of 1907, page 50, relating to county free high schools. Evers v. Hudson, 36 Mont. 149, 92 Pac. 462.

The control of the state university is vested in the state board of education, which consists of the Governor of the state, the superintendent of public instruction, the Attorney General, and eight citizens appointed by the Governor, by and with the consent of the Senate; each of whom holds his office for four years. In re Beck's Estate, 44 Mont. 581, 121 Pac. 784, 1057.

Art. XII, § 1.

The Constitution gives the power to impose a license tax upon persons doing business in the state, and in exercising the power given the legislature is not required to tax all occupations equally or uniformly; it may single out one for the purpose, provided in imposing the tax it treats all persons alike who are engaged in it. Quong Wing v. Kirkendall, 39 Mont. 64, 101 Pac. 250.

All property in the state, except such as is specifically mentioned in the Constitution as exempt, is subject to taxation. Hale v. County of Jefferson, 39 Mont. 137, 101 Pac. 973.

The legislature is required to provide the necessary revenue for the support and maintenance of the state government by levying a tax at a uniform rate upon all property in the state not expressly exempt under constitutional provision. State v. State Board of Examiners, 40 Mont. 59, 104 Pac. 1055.

Property and occupation are alike legitimate objects of taxation. An occupation tax may be imposed either for regulation or revenue, or both, as provided for in Laws 1909, chapter 67, page 81, an act to create a state accident insurance and total permanent disability fund for coal miners, etc. Cunningham v. Northwestern Impr. Co., 44 Mont. 213, 119 Pac. 554.

The constitutional injunction upon the legislature to provide for a just measure of values for purposes of taxation, like other injunctions from the same source, ought to be heeded; but if it is not, there is no way of coercing the body except by public opinion. Northern Pac. Ry. Co. v. Mjelde, 48 Mont. 304, 137 Pac. 386.

In the case of an outside corporation charged with selling oleomargarine, butterine and imitation cheese within the state without first obtaining a license, it cannot be contended that the requiring such a license is, under the Constitution, an invalid exercise of the taxing power. State v. Hammond Packing Co., 45 Mont. 349, 123 Pac. 407.

This section is construed, with reference to inheritance taxation, in Estate of Tuohy, 35 Mont. 437, 90 Pac. 170.

The provisions of this section are prohibitory, and the legislature cannot delegate the authority conferred thereby to cities and towns. But the legislature may authorize them to impose a tax upon professions and occupations in aid of its police regulations, as it has done in Laws of 1897, page 203 (Ordinance of City of Great Falls imposing license tax on dentists, upheld). Johnson v. City of Great Falls, 38 Mont. 369, 16 Ann. Cas. 974, 99 Pac. 1059.

Art. XII, § 2.

Generally speaking, the public property of the United States and of the state and its subdivisions is exempt from taxation, while other property may be made exempt, to wit, that of eleemosynary and educational institutions and places of burial not used for profit. Northern Pac. Ry. Co. v. Mjelde, 48 Mont. 296 et seq., 137 Pac. 386.

It was not the design of the framers of the Constitution to write into that instrument useless or meaningless phrases; hence their declaring an exception from taxation in favor of public property implies that in the absence of some such declaration that kind of property would not be exempt. City of Kalispell v. School Dist. No. 5, 45 Mont. 228, Ann. Cas. 1913D, 1101, 122 Pac. 742.

The provision that taxes shall be levied and collected by general laws and for public purposes only indicates that the state was attempting to do no more than announce a rule a general rule applicable to property which is ordinarily subject to taxation. Monidah Trust v. Sheehan, 45 Mont. 431, 123 Pac. 692.

Special assessments are within the meaning of the Constitution where it prohibits imposition by the legislature of taxes upon any property or instrumentality of the federal government. Ford v. Great Falls, 46 Mont. 307, 127 Pac. 1004.

Rights of the government in lands it is the owner of cannot be prejudiced by the county treasurer in issuing a tax deed. The instrument conveys no title, inasmuch as the tax on which it is based is void. Johnson v. County of Lincoln, 50 Mont. 258, 146 Pac. 471.

The legislature is permitted in its discretion to exempt other property devoted to certain purposes, as in the case of mines and mining claims. Section 2500 of the Revised Codes is substantially a re-enactment of this provision in the form of a statute. Barnard Realty Co. v. City of Butte, 50 Mont. 163, 145 Pac. 946.

The surface ground of an unpatented mining claim, when used for other than mining purposes, and as so used has an independent value, is subject to taxation. Cobban v. Meagher, 42 Mont. 406, 113 Pac. 290.

At the time this section was under consideration mines and mining claims, as such, were exempt from taxation. The section does not itself so exempt, but is a revenue measure fixing an arbitrary valuation upon the surface of patented mining claims, as such, and providing the method by which the value of the mine shall be determined; but on the basis thus established neither is relieved from producing its proportion of the revenue. Northern Pac. Ry. Co. v. Mjelde, 48 Mont. 297 et seq., 137 Pac. 386.

The net proceeds of all mines and mining claims are taxable the same as other personal property, but the assessor is not required to follow up such proceeds in order to insure the collection of the tax, or to rely upon the solvency of the person who receives the money. The tax is a lien upon the mine from which the ores or minerals were extracted. Tong v. Maher, 45 Mont. 144, 122 Pac. 279.

Mines and mining claims of all sorts are exempt from taxation, the exemption having no reference, however, to the surface ground, used for some other purpose and having a separate value. Hale v. County of Jefferson, 39 Mont. 137, 101 Pac. 973.

This section is indulgent to mining companies in its provisions relative to taxation. Kipp v. Davis-Daly Copper Co., 41 Mont. 509, 21 Ann. Cas. 1372, 36 L. R. A. (N. S.) 666, 110 Pac. 237.

Art. XII, § 4.

Section 4637 of the Political Code, in so far as it exacts from petitioners filing letters of administration or guardianship sums ranging from five to ninety-five dollars, according to the value of the estate, is held unconstitutional in Hauser v. Miller, 37 Mont. 22, 94 Pac. 197.

This section does not absolutely limit the exercise of the taxing power to corporate authorities, and the Constitution nowhere commits corporate objects or purposes to authorities already existing but may commit them to some corporate authority created by the same law which creates the object or purpose. Billings Sugar Co. v. Fish, 40 Mont. 256, 20 Ann. Cas. 264, 26 L. R. A. (N. S.) 973, 106 Pac. 265.

The meaning to be attached to the words "corporate authorities," as used in the Constitution in vesting the power to assess and tax the population for county, town or municipal purposes, is municipal officers directly elected by such population, or appointed in some mode assented to by them. State ex rel. Gerry v. Edwards, 42 Mont. 142, Ann. Cas. 1912A, 1063, 32 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1078, 111 Pac. 734.

The Constitution by expressly withholding from the legislature the power to levy taxes upon the inhabitants or property of any county shows that the authority of that body over the affairs of counties is not plenary. Hersey v. Neilson, 47 Mont. 144, Ann. Cas. 1914C, 963, 131 Pac. 30.

Since this section deals exclusively with revenue and taxation and does not attempt to deal with police regulations, Laws of 1897, page 203, empowering cities and towns to impose occupation taxes, is not in contravention thereof. Johnson v. City of Great Falls, 38 Mont. 369, 16 Ann. Cas. 974, 99 Pac. 1059.

Art. XII, § 7.

Conceding that it is within the power of the state to divorce personal property from the person of its owner and give it a situs of its own for the purposes of taxation, the state has refrained from exercising any such power. Monidah Trust v. Sheehan, 45 Mont. 430, 123 Pac. 692.

In declaring that all corporations in the state shall be liable to be taxed on real and personal property owned by them, not exempted from taxation, it was not intended that a corporation should be taxed on shares of its capital stock; these being property of the stockholders, the taxes of whom it is under no obligation to pay. Butte Land & Investment Co. v. Sheehan, 44 Mont. 372, 120 Pac. 241.

Article XII.

§ 9. The rate of taxation on real and personal property for state purposes, except as hereinafter provided, shall never exceed two and one-half mills on each dollar of valuation; and whenever the taxable property of the state shall amount to six hundred million dollars ($600,000,000) the rate shall never exceed two (2) mills on each dollar of valuation, unless the proposition to increase such rate, specifying the rate proposed and the time during which the rate shall be levied shall have been submitted to the people at the general election and shall have received a majority of all votes cast for and against it at such election; provided, that in addition to the levy for state purposes above provided for, a special levy in addition may be made on livestock for the purpose of paying bounties on wild animals and for stock inspection, protection and indemnity purposes, as may be prescribed by law, and such special levy shall be made and levied annually in amount not exceeding four mills on the dollar by the state board of equalization, as may be provided by law. [Amendment approved December 6, 1910.]

This section is construed, with reference to inheritance taxation, in Estate of Tuohy, 35 Mont. 437, 90 Pac. 170.

The rate of taxation upon real and personal property is never to exceed for one year three mills on the dollar, and the rate is to decrease as the total value of property increases; thus two and a half mills when the total valuation reaches one hundred million and one and a half when it reaches three hundred million. State v. State Board of Examiners, 40 Mont. 59, 104 Pac. 1055.

Art. XII, § 11.

This section is construed, with reference to inheritance taxation, in Estate of Tuohy, 35 Mont. 437, 90 Pac. 170.

Section 4637 of the Political Code, in so far as it exacts from petitioners filing letters of administration or guardianship sums ranging from five to ninety-five dollars according to the value of the estate, is held unconstitutional in Hauser v. Miller, 37 Mont. 22, 94 Pac. 197.

Assessments for local improvements are not prohibited by the Constitution, notwithstanding this provision whereby "taxes shall be levied and collected by general laws and for public purposes only." Billings Sugar Co. v. Fish, 40 Mont. 256, 20 Ann. Cas. 264, 26 L. R. A. (N. S.) 973, 106 Pac. 565.

Art. XII, § 12.

This section provides that no appropriations shall be made nor any expenses be authorized by the legislature whereby the expenses of the state shall exceed the total amount of tax then provided for. State v. State Board of Examiners, 40 Mont. 59, 104 Pac. 1055.

Art. XII.

§ 14. The Governor, state auditor and state treasurer are hereby constituted a state depository board with full power and authority to designate depositories with which all funds in the hands of the state treasurer shall be deposited, and at such rate of interest as may be prescribed by law. When money shall have been deposited under direction of said depository board and in accordance with the law, the treasurer shall not be liable for loss on account of any such deposit occurring through damage by the elements or for any other cause or reason occasioned through means other than his own neglect, fraud, or dishonorable conduct. The making of profit out of public moneys or using the same for any purpose not authorized by law, by the state treasurer or by any other public officer, shall be deemed a felony, and shall be punished as provided for by law, and part of such punishment shall be disqualification to hold any public office. [Amendment approved March 6, 1907.]

See, in connection with this section, § 192b, p. 28, post.

Art. XII, § 17.

For purposes of taxation a water right is personal property. Helena Water Works Co. v. Settles, 37 Mont. 237, 95 Pac. 838.

This section, in defining that which may be made subject to taxation, is comprehensive enough to include all matters and things visible and invisible, tangible and intangible, corporeal and incorporeal, that is capable of private ownership. Cobban v. Meagher, 42 Mont. 407, 113 Pac. 290.

Art. XIII, § 4.

The Constitution preserves a distinction between a municipal corporation and a county, the latter possessing no powers of local legislation or control. Hersey v. Neilson, 47 Mont. 141, Ann. Cas. 1914C, 963, 131 Pac. 30.

Art. XIII, § 5.

The language here employed is, "No county shall incur any indebtedness or liability for any single purpose to an amount exceeding ten thousand dollars without the approval of a majority of the electors thereof," but in the case of an indebtedness or liability for building a bridge the "single purpose" would include also approaches to the bridge; it is to be considered, too, that a contract amounting to within two dollars of the maximum authorized would be invalid for obvious reasons. Jenkins v. Newman, 39 Mont. 77, 101 Pac. 625.

According to Tinkel v. Griffin, 26 Mont. 426, 68 Pac. 859, "the evident meaning of the Constitution is that the approval (of the increased indebtedness or liability incurred for a single purpose) must be the result of an expression of a majority of those voting" at the election; the required majority not being a majority of all the electors of the county. Morse v. Granite County, 44 Mont. 94, 119 Pac. 286.

Since the Constitution is "mandatory and prohibitory," this section is intended to limit the power of every county, though any agency whatever, as to an expenditure for a single purpose to a certain figure, unless the approval of the people for such an expenditure has been previously secured. Panchot v. Leet, 50 Mont. 321, 146 Pac. 927.

In case the result of an election has been favorable to having the board of high school trustees erect at once a high school building, and the cost of such a building is in excess of ten thousand dollars, and a statute makes it compulsory upon the board to proceed accordingly, the board may not proceed nevertheless, since the expenditure would be in violation of the Constitution unless previously approved by the electors. Panchot v. Leet, 50 Mont. 317, 146 Pac. 927.

The constitutional restriction is upon the authority of the board of county commissioners, and has no reference to the power of the people; the power of the board of county commissioners is limited, but that of the people is unlimited save as affected by other constitutional declarations. Reid v. Lincoln County, 46 Mont. 57, 125 Pac. 429.

Art. XIII, § 6.

This section is construed in Butler v. Andrus, 35 Mont. 575, 90 Pac. 785, with reference to an indebtedness for water and light, the court observing that the constitutional limitation is clear and means just what it says, namely, that no indebtedness may be contracted in any manner or amount, for any purpose, in excess of the prescribed limit.

The general policy of the Constitution tends to allowing the people in the different municipalities as far as possible to control their own affairs, and a legislature, bearing this in mind and also another constitutional provision, to wit, that "where a general law may be made applicable no special law shall be enacted," may by a general law grant permission to all the municipalities in the state to incur the additional indebtedness, to which this section refers, when the people residing and owning property therein shall judge it to be necessary to do so. Carlson v. City of Helena, 39 Mont. 82, 17 Ann. Cas. 1233, 102 Pac. 39.

A city may not, while already indebted beyond the constitutional limit, use its revenues to acquire an electric light plant, having at hand at the time a source of supply sufficient to meet all requirements. Palmer v. City of Helena, 40 Mont. 498, 107 Pac. 512.

A debt, once incurred by a municipality, does not stand as a fixed figure to which future debts are to be added in considering whether the tax limit has been reached, but varies according to payments made from time to time to diminish it, also it is possible that the difference between the original debt and the limit may grow meantime according to the increase of taxable property within the municipality. Arnold v. Miles City, 46 Mont. 479, 128 Pac. 915.

Codes, sec. 3888), a nonassessable corporation may become an assessable one by consent of two-thirds of the stock. Somerville v. St. Louis M. & M. Co., 46 Mont. 273, L. R. Art. XV, § 7.

This section and the cases of Rose v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 35 Mont. 70, 119 Am. St. Rep. 836, 88 Pac. 767, and Brian v. Oregon Short Line Ry. Co., 40 Mont. 109, 105 Pac. 489, recognize the distinction between a ticket sold at the regular fare and one sold at a reduced fare or special price. Miley v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 41 Mont. 51, 108 Pac. 5.

All persons, under this provision, are given equal right to have persons or property transported on and over any railroad. Kipp v. Davis-Daly Copper Co., 41 Mont. 509, 21 Ann. Cas. 1372, 36 L. R. A. (N. S.) 666, 110 Pac. 237.

This provision, when considered in connection with that in section 5 of the same article, demonstrates that the Constitution regards all railroads as public highways, subject to use by the public of right, amenable to the laws governing common carriers forever forbidding all obnoxious favoritisms between those who desire to use railroads. John v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 42 Mont. 36, 32 L. R. A. (N. S.) 85, 111 Pac. 632.

Art. XV, § 11.

Foreign corporations doing business in the state are not entitled to any greater rights than are enjoyed by domestic corporations engaged in the same kind of business. Lewis v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 36 Mont. 207, 92 Pac. 469.

The act of 1907, authorizing foreign corporations to exercise the right of eminent domain, is not violative of this section. Spratt v. Helena Power etc. Co., 37 Mont. 88, 94 Pac. 631.

This provision was intended to prohibit the passage of any law whereby a foreign corporation might be indulged with privileges greater than those enjoyed by domestic ones, and it is only when a foreign corporation attempts to exercise or enjoy a right or privilege expressly given it by the legislature that its right in that connection may be questioned. Uihlein v. Caplice Commercial Co., 39 Mont. 327, 102 Pac. 564.

This section enumerates generally the powers of building and loan associations, and, among other things, provides the terms upon which a member may secure the cancellation of his loan. Western Loan & Savings Co. v. Smith, 42 Mont. 448, 113 Pac. 475.

Laws intended to apply to foreign corporations must be framed on the theory that they are created under conditions and limitations over which the state legislature has no control; acts of the legislature are in harmony with the Constitution unless they discriminate against domestic corporations. Daily v. Marshall, 47 Mont. 397, 133 Pac. 681.

Art. XV, § 12.

"Town," when used in the Constitution as intended to convey the sense only of incorporated town, has always the qualifying word with it. State ex rel. Powers v. Dale, 47 Mont. 231, Ann. Cas. 1914D, 227, 131 Pac. 670.

The granting of a right of way, under statutory authority, to street railways or other such corporations, and the regulating the running and management of them in the use of the streets, etc., carries out, on the part of the municipality, the plain intent of this constitutional provision. Kipp v. Davis-Daly Copper Co., 41 Mont. 509, 21 Ann. Cas. 1372, 36 L. R. A. (N. S.) 666, 110 Pac. 237.

Art. XV, § 13.

The power of the legislature to re-create a right already lost is specifically withheld by the Constitution, this principle being here applied to the operation of the statute of limitations and to Revised Codes, section 2743, for the recovery of taxes paid under protest. Dolenty v. Broadwater County, 45 Mont. 268, 122 Pac. 919.

Art. XV, § 14.

The authority to prescribe regulations for the conduct of the telegraph and telephone business is lodged in the legislature, but not to the extent that no part of such authority can be delegated to, or conferred upon, the cities of the state. City of Butte v. Montana Independent Tel. Co., 50 Mont. 578, 148 Pac. 384.

Art. XV, § 16.

Assumption of risk, as a defense, is derived from the common-law doctrine of volenti non fit injuria, and is no part of the contract between master and servant; therefore, this section of the Constitution does not take away the defense. Osterholm v. Boston Min. Co., 40 Mont. 508, 107 Pac. 499.

Art. XVI, § 2.

This provision, denying power to the legislature to remove a county seat, is self-executing, under the uniform rule a prohibitive provision is self-executing. State v. Board of County Commrs. of Chouteau Co., 42 Mont. 75, 111 Pac. 144.

Art. XVI, § 4.

The statutes enacted to give effect to the provision are Revised Codes, section 2883 and Laws of 1913, chapter 5. The power of appointment need not be invoked by petition or complaint, and its exercise by the judge does not depend upon facts found judicially; no decree is pronounced and no rights are adjudicated. State ex rel. Downen v. District Court, 50 Mont. 251, 146 Pac. 249.

Besides this section, the several provisions of the Constitution covering the tenure of office of one appointed to fill a vacancy in an elective office are: Article VII, sections 7 and 14; article VIII, section 34; article XVI, section 5; they all disclose the intention that the appointee shall hold only until the people who elected his predecessor have the first opportunity to fill the office with a person of their own choice. State ex rel. McGowan v. Sedgwick, 46 Mont. 189, 127 Pac. 94.

Art. XVI, § 5.

Whether the Constitution fails to define the tenure of one appointed to fill a vacancy in the office of county commissioner depends upon the construction to be given to the language of this section. The theory of our law is that officers shall be elected whenever it can be conveniently done, and that appointments to office will be tolerated only in exceptional cases. State ex rel. McGowan v. Sedgwick, 49 Mont. 189 et seq., 127 Pac. 94.

The legislature in enacting the statute, Laws 1913, chapter 5, section 1, proceeded upon the theory that the words in the Constitution, "until the next general election" ought to be ignored as wholly without meaning, or must be construed as meaning, "until the person elected at the general election for the ensuing regular term of two years may assume the office"; that is, as expressed in the act, "until the first Monday in January next after the general election." State ex rel. Rowe v. Kehoe, 49 Mont. 587, 144 Pac. 159.

This section regulates the terms of all county officers. State ex rel. Jones v. Foster, 39 Mont. 583, 104 Pac. 860.

Art. XVI, § 6.

County officials are not limited to those expressly enumerated in the Constitution, for this section provides "for the election or appointment of such other county, precinct and municipal officers as public convenience may require." Billings Sugar Co. v. Fish, 40 Mont. 256, 20 Ann. Cas. 264, 26 L. R. A. (N. S.) 973, 106 Pac. 265.

It cannot be said that a "patrolman" is a local municipal officer, in contradistinction from a policeman, and that as such he comes within the designation of "municipal officer" as used in this section; the words are synonymous. State ex rel. Quintin v. Edwards, 40 Mont. 287, 20 Ann. Cas. 239, 106 Pac. 695.

To appoint a person captain of police for a life tenure would be in violation of this section. State ex rel. Bailey v. Edwards, 40 Mont. 313, 106 Pac. 703.

A policeman is a municipal officer within the class designated as "municipal officers" in this section. State ex rel. Wynne v. Quinn, 40 Mont. 472, 107 Pac. 506.

A policeman is not a "municipal officer" within the meaning of article 16, section 6, to limiting the term of such officers to two years; neither is he a mere servant or employee of the municipality. The term "municipal officers" as used in the Constitution means "city officers." So the provision of section 3 of the Police Commission Bill of 1907, that policemen shall hold office during good behavior, is valid. The various provisions of the Constitution prescribing the terms of particular officers mentioned therein do not deprive the legislature of the power to make a longer term where the Constitution fixes no term for officers. State ex rel. Quintin v. Edwards, 38 Mont. 250, 99 Pac. 940.

The Constitution is clear in preserving a distinction between a municipal corporation and a county, the latter possessing no more than a school district, the powers of local legislation and control. Hersey v. Neilson, 47 Mont. 141, Ann. Cas. 1914C, 963, 131 Pac. 30.

Art. XVII, § 1.

State lands are divided into four classes, of which class 4 comprises "lands within the limits of any town or city or within three miles of such limits." While lands of the first and third class may be sold or leased, the board is commanded to sell lands of the fourth class and nothing is said about leasing them. If, however, authority to lease such lands be held to be derived from the enabling act, the utmost that can be said is that permission was given the state to lease without requiring it to do so. State ex rel. Gibson v. Stewart, 50 Mont. 406, 147 Pac. 276.

Public lands granted to the state by the United States are subject to public sale, and it was so intended by Congress and the framers of the state Constitution, for the enhancement and enlargement of internal improvements and swelling the common school fund. State ex rel. Galen v. District Court, 42 Mont. 113, 112 Pac. 706.

Neither this provision nor article XI, section 2, deals with the subject of the capacity of the state to acquire property, both being limitations upon the power of disposal by the legislature; they also contain an express injunction upon that body, lest the property they deal with be devoted otherwise than to the purposes for which it has been or may be acquired. In re Beck's Estate, 44 Mont. 576, 121 Pac. 784, 1057.

Art. XIX, § 1.

On assuming office an alderman must swear that he will not knowingly receive, directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable thing for the performance or non-performance of any act or duty pertaining to his office other than the compensation allowed by law. State ex rel. Ryan v. Board of Aldermen, 45 Mont. 193, 122 Pac. 569.

Art. XIX, § 4.

Revised Codes, sections 6824 and 6825, were enacted in obedience to the injunction of the Constitution, and must be liberally construed. Mennell v. Wells (Mont.), 149 Pac. 954.

Art. XIX, § 6.

Every county must have a county seat. State ex rel. Geiger v. Long, 43 Mont. 414, 117 Pac. 104.

Art. XIX, § 9.

The initiative and referendum is to be regarded as a single measure, and not separable propositions which to be validly adopted at the same election should have been so prepared and distinguished by separate numbers or otherwise that each could have been voted upon separately. State ex rel. Hay v. Alderson, 49 Mont. 402 et seq., 142 Pac. 210.

Ord. 1, Subd. 7.

The state accepted public lands from the United States only upon the terms of the enabling act, and these terms were, in part, to the effect that the lands, surveyed or unsurveyed, should be reserved for school purposes only. State ex rel. Galen v. District Court, 42 Mont. 113, 112 Pac. 706.

its plain provisions. Harrington v. Butte etc. Ry. Co., 36 Mont. 478, 483, 93 Pac. 640.

§ 10a. Columbus Day.

The 12th day of October of each and every year is hereby made and declared a public holiday to be known as "Columbus Day," and shall be recognized, classed and treated as other legal holidays under the laws of this state. [Approved and in effect February 17, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 22, p. 24.]

§ 16.

"Person" includes corporation. See note

The term of office of a senator is four years, and of a representative two years; and the term of service thereof shall begin on the first Monday of January next succeeding his election, and if a senator or representative be elected to fill a vacancy, his term of service shall begin on the next day after his election. [Amendment approved February 16, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 20.]

§ 54a. Legislative Apportionment—Number of Representatives from Each County.

(Section 1.) After the expiration of the Twelfth Legislative Assembly of Montana the membership of the House of Representatives of all legislative assemblies of Montana shall be apportioned amongst and to the several countries of the state upon and according to the official federal census enumeration of the inhabitants of the several counties of Montana had and taken by authority of law in the year 1910 and upon the ratio of one representative or member therein from each county for each forty-eight hundred persons in such county or fractional part thereof in excess of twenty-four hundred persons; provided, each county shall be entitled to at least one member.

(Section 2.) (Section 3.) Whenever a new county is created it shall have and be entitled to one member of the House of Representatives until otherwise apportioned. [Approved February 21, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 38, p. 67.]

§ 62. Officers and Employees of Senate.

The officers and employees of the Senate shall consist of a president, president pro tem., one secretary, one assistant secretary, one sergeant-at-arms, two assistant sergeant-at-arms, one journal clerk, one assistant journal clerk, one enrolling clerk, one assistant enrolling clerk, one engrossing clerk, one assistant engrossing clerk, one reading clerk, one printing clerk, one bill clerk, one doorkeeper, two assistant doorkeepers, one janitor, two assistant janitors, one day watchman, one night watchman, one chaplain, five pages, and such number of committee clerks as the Senate may, by motion from time to time determine, not exceeding twenty-nine in number. [Amendment approved January 22, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 1.]

§ 63. Officers and Employees of House.

The officers and employees of the House of Representatives shall consist of a speaker, speaker pro tem., one chief clerk, one assistant chief clerk, one sergeant-at-arms, two assistant sergeant-at-arms, one journal clerk, one assistant journal clerk, one enrolling clerk, one assistant enrolling clerk, one engrossing clerk, one assistant engrossing clerk, one reading clerk, one printing clerk, one bill clerk, one doorkeeper, two assistant doorkeepers, one janitor, three assistant janitors, one day watchman, one night watchman, one chaplain, seven pages, and such number of committee clerks as the house may, by motion, from time to time determine, not exceeding seventy in number. § 70.

This section requires the journals to be authenticated. State v. Erickson, 39 Mont. 280, 289, 102 Pac. 336.

In determining whether an act has been passed, the enrolled bill, signed and approved by the proper officers, is conclusive upon the courts, and recourse cannot be had to any other evidence, except where the alleged infirmity of the act is based upon a failure to enter the names of those voting upon its final passage, in which case the journals may be consulted. State v. Erickson, 39 Mont. 280, 289, 102 Pac. 336.

§ 74. Duties of Clerks—Enrollment of Bills.

The engrossing clerks and enrolling clerks must, within forty-eight hours after their reception, engross or enroll all bills delivered to them for engrossment or enrollment, unless further time be granted. [Amendment approved January 22, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 1.]

By act approved January 22, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 3.

§ 76.

Just what is meant to be included in the phrase, "all bills and papers," is not clear;

but it would be extremely dangerous to impeach a duly authenticated record—an enrolled bill—by papers which are not authenticated or identified in any manner; this, however, does not apply to the journals, for they are required, by § 70, ante, to be authenticated. State v. Erickson, 39 Mont. 280, 289, 102 Pac. 336.

§ 77. Per Diem to Members of Legislature.

Members of the legislative assembly hereafter elected shall receive ten dollars per day, payable weekly during the session of the legislative assembly, and ten cents per mile for each mile of travel to and from their residence and the place of holding the session, by the nearest traveled route. [Amendment approved March 2, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 54.]

§ 78. Compensation of the President of Senate and Speaker of House.

The president of the Senate after the first Monday in January, 1913, and the speaker of the house shall receive the sum of twelve dollars per day during the session of the legislative assembly, and the same mileage as members. [Amendment approved March 2, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 54.]

§ 79. Compensation of Other Officers and Employees.

There must be paid to the secretary of the Senate, the chief clerk of the House of Representatives, and the sergeant-at-arms of each house, ten dollars per day each; to the assistant secretary of the Senate, the assistant chief clerk of the House of Representatives, the journal clerk, the engrossing clerk, enrolling clerk and assistant sergeant-at-arms, eight dollars per day each; to the bill clerk, assistant journal clerk, printing clerk, reading clerk, the clerks of the president of the Senate and speaker of the house, the judiciary clerk of each house, the clerks of the chief clerk of the house and the secretary of the Senate, six dollars per day each; to the committee clerks, doorkeepers, janitors, assistant janitors, watchman, and chaplain of each house, five dollars per day each; to each page and messenger, four dollars per day; to all employees of the legislative assembly not herein specifically enumerated, five dollars per day each. [Amendment approved January 22, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 1.]

Prior amendments: Laws 1913, p. 52; Laws 1909, p. 53.

By act approved March 2, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 45, p. 54.

§ 81a. Employment of Additional Help in Emergencies.

The Senate and House of Representatives may by a joint resolution, adopted and spread upon the minutes of each house, provide for the employment of additional help in cases of emergency where extraordinary conditions render such a course necessary for the orderly and expeditious conduct of the business of the legislative assembly. The resolution shall set forth the facts and circumstances which makes such action necessary and the number of additional employees required and the general nature of their duties. [Approved January 22, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 1.]

The method provided in this section, and succeeding ones, of instituting a contest is not exclusive; the power conferred on each house of the legislature to try a contest of the seats of members of that body is a continuing one, and may be exercised at any time during the member's term. State (ex rel. Smith) v. District Court, 50 Mont. 134, 145 Pac. 721.

§ 83.

The rights of a contestant are not abridged in any respect by a failure to commence his proceedings within the twenty-day period designated in this section; such failure operates only to preclude him from having depositions taken in the manner and at the time provided in §§ 84-87, post; it leaves him every other facility for a hearing. State (ex rel. Smith) v. District Court, 50 Mont. 134, 145 Pac. 721.

§ 110. Secretary of State to Certify Measures to be Voted upon—Title and Designation.

The Secretary of State, at the same time that he furnishes to the county clerk of the several counties certified copies of the names of the candidates for office, shall also furnish the said county clerks his certified copy of the titles and numbers of the various measures to be voted upon at the ensuing general or special, election, and he shall use for each measure, a title designated for that purpose by the legislative assembly, committee, or organization presenting and filing with him the act, or petition for the initiative or the referendum or in the petition or act; provided, that such title shall in no case exceed 100 words, and shall not resemble any such title previously filed for any measure to be submitted at that election which shall be descriptive of said measure, and he shall number such measures; and such title shall be printed on a separate official ballot in the order in which the acts referred by the legislative assembly and petitioned by the people shall be filed in his office.

The first measure filed after this act shall go into effect shall be numbered number 6, and the next succeeding measures shall be numbered in numerals consecutively 7, 8, 9, and so on from one election to another, no measure to be numbered with the same number of any other measure.

The affirmative and negative of each measure shall have the same number.

It shall be the duty of the several county clerks to print said titles and numbers upon a separate official ballot in the order presented to them by the Secretary of State and the relative position required by law.

Measures proposed by the initiative shall be designated and distinguished from measures proposed by the legislative assembly by the heading "Proposed Petition for Initiative." [Amendment approved March 8, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 129.]

§ 111. Manner of Voting—Ballot.

The manner of voting on measures submitted to the people shall be: By marking the ballot with a cross in or on the diagram opposite and to the left of the proposition for which the voter desires to vote. The following is a sample ballot representing negative vote:

- ☐ For Initiative Measure No. 6.
Relating to Duties of Sheriffs.
- ☒ Against said Measure No. 6.
- ☐ For Referendum Measure No. 7.
Relating to Purchase of Insane Asylum.
- ☒ Against said Measure No. 7.

and no title on a ballot shall contain more than ten words, which shall be descriptive of the measure proposed. [Amendment approved March 8, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 129.]

§ 120.

By adopting a statute from another state, after construction thereof by the highest court of that state, the legislature will be presumed to have adopted the construction thus placed upon it. Deer Lodge County v. United States F. & G. Co., 42 Mont. 315, 328, Ann. Cas. 1912A, 1010, 112 Pac. 1060.

§ 149. Salary of Governor.

The annual salary of the Governor, to include all services rendered ex officio as member of any board or commission, as now required, or which may be by law hereafter devolved upon him, is seven thousand five hundred dollars ($7,500). [Amendment approved February 14, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 23.]

§ 149a. Residence of Governor.

(Section 1.) The state furnishing board is hereby authorized and directed to provide an executive residence in the city of Helena, for the use of the Governor of the state. Said residence to be secured by purchase or otherwise as may seem best to said board.

(Section 2.) For the purpose of carrying out the provisions of section 1 of this act there is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated the sum of thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary.

(Section 3.) For the purpose of furnishing and maintaining said residence and accessories there is hereby appropriated for the year 1913 the sum of five thousand ($5,000) dollars, and for the year 1914 the sum of two thousand five hundred ($2,500) dollars, all of said sums to be expended under the direction of the state furnishing board in like manner as other state expenditures. [Approved March 4, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 51, p. 87.]

Amended as to fees required of foreign corporations. See § 4420a, post.

This section, in so far as it applies to foreign corporations seeking to engage in interstate commerce in this state, is inoperative and void. Chicago etc. Ry. Co.

v. Swindlehurst, 47 Mont. 119, 126, 130 Pac. 966.

This section, fixing a fee for the recording and filing of certificates of incorporation "of any foreign corporation," applies to foreign corporations that seek to conduct private intrastate business,—those over which this state has the right to exercise some degree of regulation or control; it has no application to foreign corporations that seek to engage in interstate commerce in this state. State v. Alderson, 49 Mont. 29, 39, 140 Pac. 82.

The fee demanded by this section is not a property tax; it is graduated according to the par value of the company's capital stock, without reference to the full cash value of the property owned by the corporation; and it does not become a lien upon any property which the corporation may have in this state, as does a property tax under § 2600, post. State v. Alderson, 49 Mont. 29, 32, 33, 140 Pac. 82.

The fee fixed by this section, for the recording and filing of certificates of incorporation, is an impost, an excise, or license tax exacted from every corporation, domestic or foreign, for the privilege of doing business within the state, and is authorized by the constitution. State v. Alderson, 49 Mont. 29, 33, 140 Pac. 82.

The Secretary of State cannot demand the fee mentioned in the fourth and tenth subdivisions of this section from a foreign corporation that seeks to engage in interstate commerce in this state; to permit him to do so would impose a burden upon interstate commerce. State v. Alderson, 49 Mont. 29, 37, 140 Pac. 82.

While the Secretary of State has no right to collect a fee for the recording and filing of certificates of incorporation of foreign corporations that seek to engage in interstate commerce in this state, yet this does not prevent him from insisting upon his legal right to exact a recording and filing fee from a foreign corporation that seeks to conduct a private intrastate business. State v. Alderson, 49 Mont. 29, 37, 140 Pac. 82.

Where one foreign corporation absorbs another, and files with the Secretary of State a paper, which amounts to a certificate of increase of capital stock, that official is not required to deduct the amount of the capital stock of the absorbed corporation, upon which the fees have once been paid, from the amount shown by the certificate of increase, but may lawfully charge a fee based upon the difference between its former capitalization and the present one. United Missouri Power Co. v. Yoder, 41 Mont. 245, 248, 108 Pac. 912.

§ 178a. Duplicate Warrants to be Issued by State Auditor.

The state auditor is hereby empowered and authorized to issue a duplicate warrant whenever any warrant drawn by him upon the treasurer of the state of Montana shall have been lost or destroyed. This duplicate warrant must be in the same form as the original, except that it must have plainly printed across its face the word "duplicate," and no such warrant shall be issued or delivered by the state auditor except the person entitled to receive the same shall deposit with the state auditor a bond in double the amount for which the duplicate warrant is issued, conditioned to save the state of Montana, and its officers harmless on account of the issuance of said duplicate warrant. [Approved February 16, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 19, p. 21.]

§ 178b. Commissioner of Insurance—Deputy—Actuary.

(Section 1.) The state auditor, in addition to his present title, shall be hereafter designated as commissioner of insurance, ex-officio. He shall appoint a deputy in addition to the deputy state auditor provided for in section 143, Revised Codes of Montana of 1907, who shall have same authority and powers granted by said section, and, in addition thereto, be known as deputy commissioner of insurance, and shall be in charge of the department of insurance in the said auditor's office under the direction and control of said state auditor and commissioner of insurance ex officio, provided, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to authorize an increase of the number of employees in said office, and the office of insurance clerk is hereby abolished.

(Section 2.) Said deputy authorized by this act shall receive a salary of twenty-one hundred ($2100) dollars per annum.

(Section 3.) COURT IN OTHER DISTRICT.

§ 294a. Expenses of Judges Holding Court in Other Counties.

(Section 1.) Each district judge of a judicial district, in this state, composed of more than one county, when, for the purpose of holding court and disposing of judicial business, he goes to a county of his judicial district, other than the county in which he resides, and therein holds court or transacts judicial business, shall be paid all of his actual and necessary expenses of transportation and living, incurred on account thereof, and all expenditures made therefor, from the time he leaves his place of residence until he returns thereto.

(Section 2.) Twice a year, on the first days of January and July of each year or within three days thereafter, such district judge who may desire to avail himself of the provisions of this act shall make out an itemized claim against the state of Montana, showing, with dates and particulars, all moneys by him within the last preceding six months paid out and expended for and on account of such expenses; and shall verify such claim by making thereon or appending thereto his sworn affidavit that the items of the claim are true and correct and are wholly unpaid and that the expenditures therein enumerated were actually and necessarily made in the discharge of official business while away from home. He shall then file such claim with the clerk of the state board of examiners. At the first meeting of the board thereafter, the state board of examiners shall allow such claim, if properly verified, as above provided, and order a warrant drawn in payment thereof and the state auditor shall thereupon and in pursuance thereof draw and issue a warrant of the state of Montana in payment of such claim and forward the same to the claimant and take a receipt therefor. [Approved March 4, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 91, p. 159.]

§ 297. Salary and Expenses of Marshal of Supreme Court.

The annual salary of the marshal of the supreme court for all services now required, or which may hereafter be imposed upon him by law, is fifteen hundred ($1,500) dollars. When serving process of court beyond the place where the court is held, in cases in which the state is not a party, the marshal is entitled to receive the same mileage as provided by law for sheriffs in performing similar services, to be taxed as costs, as in other cases. In cases in which the state is the real party in interest, he shall be entitled to receive only his actual expenses incurred in serving such process. [Amendment approved March 8, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 118.]

§ 305a. Attendant of Supreme Court Acting as Clerk.

Whenever the clerk of the supreme court is incapacitated or absent, the attendant of the supreme court is hereby authorized to perform all of the functions and duties of said clerk. [Approved February 14, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 20, p. 20.]

NOTARIES.

§ 317. Appointment of Notaries and Their Jurisdiction.

The Governor may appoint and commission as many notaries public for the state of Montana as in his judgment may be deemed best, whose jurisdiction shall be coextensive with the boundaries of the state, irrespective of their place of residence within the state. [Amendment approved March 6, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 140.]

§ 318. Citizenship and Residence of Notary.

Every person appointed as notary public, must, at the time of his appointment, be a citizen of the United States and of the state of Montana for at least one year preceding his appointment, and must continue to reside within the state of Montana. Removal from the state vacates his office and is equivalent to resignation. [Amendment approved March 6, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 140.]

§ 320. Duties of Notary.

It is the duty of a notary public:

(1.) When requested to demand acceptance and payment of foreign, domestic, and inland bills of exchange, or promissory notes, and protest the same for nonacceptance or nonpayment, and to exercise such other powers and duties as by the law of nations and according to commercial usages, or by the laws of any other state, government or country, may be performed by notaries, and keep a record of such acts.

(2.) To take the acknowledgment or proof of powers of attorneys, mortgages, deeds, grants, transfers and other instruments of writing executed by any person, and to give a certificate of such proof or acknowledgment, indorsed or attached to the instrument.

(3.) To take depositions and affidavits, and administer oaths and affirmations, in all matters incident to the duties of the office, or to be used before any court, judge, officer, or board in this state.

(4.) When request and upon payment of his fees therefor, to make and give a certified copy of any record in his office.

(5.) To provide and keep an official seal, upon which must be engraved the name of the state of Montana, and the words, "Notarial Seal," with the surname of the notary, and at least the initials of his Christian name.

(6.) To authenticate with his official seal all official acts. In all cases where the notary public signs his name officially as a notary public, he must add to his signature the words, notary public for the state of Montana, residing at . . . , (stating the name of his postoffice,) and must indorse upon the instrument the date of the expiration of his commission. [Amendment approved March 6, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 140.]

§ 320a. Jurisdiction of Notaries.

Every person receiving a commission as notary public shall have jurisdiction to perform his official duties and acts in every county of the state of Montana, and every notary now holding a commission from the Governor of the state of Montana shall have like jurisdiction. [Approved March 6, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 141.]

§ 325. Bond of Notary.

Each notary public must give an official bond in the sum of one thousand dollars, which bond must be approved by the Secretary of State. [Amendment approved March 6, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 141.]

§ 327. Certificate of Official Character by Secretary of State.

The Secretary of State may certify to the official character of such notary public, and any notary public may file a copy of his commission in the office of any county clerk of any county in the state, and thereafter said county clerk may certify to the official character of such notary public. [Amendment approved March 6, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 141.]

§ 328. Fees of Secretary of State and County Clerk for Filing Certificate.

The Secretary of State shall receive for each certificate of official character issued, with seal attached, the sum of one dollar. The county clerk of any county in this state, with whom a copy of notarial commission has been filed, shall receive for filing the same sum of fifty cents, and for each certificate of official character issued, with seal attached, the further sum of fifty cents. [Amendment approved March 6, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 142.]

§ 332a. Notaries Who are Stockholders or Officers of Corporations.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Montana:

That it shall be lawful for any notary public who is a stockholder, director, officer, or employee of a bank or other corporation to take the acknowledgment of any party to any written instrument executed to or by such corporation or to administer an oath to any other stockholder, director, officer, employee or agent of such corporation, or to protest for nonacceptance or nonpayment bills of exchange, drafts, checks, notes, and other negotiable instruments which may be owed or held for collection by such bank or other corporation; provided, it shall be unlawful for any notary public to take the acknowledgment of an instrument by or to a bank or other corporation of which he is a stockholder, director, officer, or employee, where such notary is a party to such instrument, either individually or as a representative of such bank or other corporation, or to protest any negotiable instrument owned or held for collection by such bank or other corporation, where such notary is individually a party to such instrument. [Approved March 4, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 77, p. 107.]

This section recognizes the principle that he who has the title to an office may receive the salary incident to it, whether he serves or not. Peterson v. City of Butte, 44 Mont. 401, 410, Ann. Cas. 1913B, 538, 120 Pac. 483.

If a police officer has been wrongfully removed, but is reinstated, and sues for his salary during the time that the office has been withheld from him, the city is not entitled to have credited upon the plaintiff's claim for salary the amount earned by him in other employment during the time of his wrongful exclusion from office; his claim does not rest upon contract; he is not an employee, but an officer, and the salary is an incident to the office. Wynne v. City of Butte, 45 Mont. 417, 423, 123 Pac. 531.

A police officer, who has been wrongfully removed, may sue for his salary during the time that the office has been wrongfully withheld from him, without filing with the city a verified claim for the salary due him; the auditing statute, section 3288, post, does not have any reference to a claim for salary fixed by ordinance. Wynne v. City of Butte, 45 Mont. 417, 423, 123 Pac. 531.

If a police officer has been wrongfully removed from his office, but is afterward reinstated, and he sues for his salary during the time that he was wrongfully deprived of his office, it is no defense for the city, under this section, that the salary was paid to a de facto officer after the plaintiff had instituted proceedings in quo warranto. Wynne v. City of Butte, 45 Mont. 417, 422, 123 Pac. 531.

The failure of the clerk to perform his duty, in giving notice of contest, cannot operate to deprive a police officer of the salary attached to the office, from which he has been wrongfully excluded. Wynne v. City of Butte, 45 Mont. 417, 422, 123 Pac. 531.

Action on county treasurer's bond. See note post, § 6445.

Where the statute authorizes the clerk of a district court and his deputies to issue certificates to persons who have served as jurors and witnesses, and the clerk has given a bond to the county for the faithful performance of his duties, any abuse of such authority, operating as an effective cause of loss to the county, is a lapse in the performance of duty for which the principal and the sureties on his bond are answerable; hence, if the chief deputy of the clerk issues spurious certificates, the clerk is clearly liable to the county, though the county treasurer was guilty of gross negligence in making payment, without which loss would not have occurred; a principal is answerable for the acts of his deputy, and the liability of one public officer, upon his bond, is not contingent upon the integrity of other public officers, nor upon the faithful performance by them of their official duties. County of Silver Bow v. Davies, 40 Mont. 418, 426, 429, 107 Pac. 81.

If a deputy clerk of a district court issues fraudulent jurors' certificates, none of which bear the imprint of the official seal, required by section 3179, post, and these certificates come into the hands of a bank, and are paid upon their presentation to the county treasurer; but the fraud is subsequently discovered, and the county recovers judgment against the surety company on the clerk's bond; whereupon the surety company pays the judgment and then seeks to be subrogated to the right that the county may have against the bank, it is necessary that something more be made to appear than that the bank can be made to repay to the county the amount it received upon the spurious certificates which it held; the surety company must show that, as between it and the bank, if either must suffer loss because of the clerk's peculations, the bank, in equity and good conscience, should be the one to lose; and, unless the complaint shows such facts, it does not state a cause of action. *American Bonding Co. v. (Section 1.) No foreign or other surety company shall hereafter be permitted to furnish the bond for any state, county, or city official where such company requires, in addition to the payment of reasonable premiums, any indemnity or other security.

(Section 2.) Whenever it shall appear to the satisfaction of the insurance commissioner that any surety company has violated the provisions of this act, its license shall be by him thereupon declared forfeited and such company shall not again be admitted to do business in this state until a period of four years shall have elapsed, nor until such company has shown a willingness to comply with the provision of this act.

(Section 3.) Whenever an official bond is required of any state, county, or city officer, such officer may furnish either a surety company bond, or a good and sufficient individual bond, executed and approved as required by law, or may furnish such other security as may be approved by the person, officer or board authorized by law to examine and approve such official bond provided that where such officer shall furnish a surety company bond, the premium therefor shall be a proper charge against the general fund of the state, county, or city, as the case may be. Vacancy where new judgeship is created. See note post, § 6269.

This section is not exclusive as to events that create vacancies in office; where the governor is authorized to appoint an additional judge for a designated district. State v. Lentz, 50 Mont. 322, 146 Pac. 932.

Upon the approval of an act creating an additional judgeship for a designated county, there is ipso facto a vacancy in the office until it is filled by the Governor by appointment. State v. Lentz, 50 Mont. 322, 146 Pac. 932.

Where the incumbent of an office may vacate it by his own act, a resignation occurs upon his acceptance of another office incompatible therewith; and offices are "incompatible" when one has the power of removal over the other, or when the nature and duties of the two offices are such as to render it improper, from considerations of public policy, for one person to retain both; thus, the offices of alderman and purchasing agent of a city, the latter office not having been created under sections 3216, 3217, or 3218, post, are incompatible. State v. Wittmer, 50 Mont. 22, 144 Pac. 648.

A special election is one held to supply a vacancy in a public office, or one in which is submitted to the electors a proposition to raise money for any public improvement. State v. Kehoe, 49 Mont. 582, 591, 144 Pac. 162.

The provisions of sections 452-455, relating to the manner of calling special elections to fill vacancies in county offices, while crude, are, nevertheless, sufficient for that purpose. State v. Lentz, 50 Mont. 322, 146 Pac. 932.

When this section is considered in connection with sections 453 and 6269, post, and with the provisions of the constitution, it is clear that the governor's proclamation should state the offices to be filled, especially where a state office, such as a judgeship, held by his appointee, is to be filled; but, if the people have actual notice that a judge is to be elected and indicate their choice, no insufficiency of notice, in the Governor's proclamation, of a vacancy in that office, in any particular district, or other informality in the election, will suffice to defeat their will, as expressed by their votes. State v. Lentz, 50 Mont. 322, 146 Pac. 932.

Governor's proclamation. See ante, § 453.

By this section and §§ 451 and 453, ante, the legislature intended to confer upon the several boards of county commissioners the power to call and provide for the holding of elections to fill vacancies in county offices. State v. Kehoe, 49 Mont. 582, 592, 144 Pac. 162.

The special elections referred to in this section are to fill vacancies in county offices; this section has no reference to elections held for raising money for public improvements, referred to in the latter part of section 451, ante; the power conferred in this behalf is exercised under special provisions on the subject, found in section 2933 et seq., post. State v. Kehoe, 49 Mont. 582, 592, 144 Pac. 162.

Where the general power to fill vacancies in county offices has been lodged by law in the various boards of county commissioners, it is their duty, when a vacancy occurs, to fill it, to prevent an interregnum in the office and the consequent suspension of the public business. State v. Kehoe, 49 Mont. 582, 590, 144 Pac. 162.

The legislature intended that special elections to fill vacancies in county offices should be proclaimed and notice thereof given by the board of county commissioners; apparently, a proclamation by the Governor is necessary only when an election is to be held to fill offices for the regular ensuing term, except to fill vacancies in the offices of state senator and member of the House of Representatives. State v. Kehoe, 49 Mont. 582, 591, 144 Pac. 162.

The notice of election does not take the place of the election proclamation. Evers v. Hudson, 36 Mont. 135, 154, 92 Pac. 462, construing Laws of 1907, p. 50, relating to the establishment of county free high schools.

If there is a clause in the Constitution providing that an officer shall hold for a definite term and until his successor is elected and qualified, and the people fail to elect his successor, there is no vacancy, and he is entitled to hold over until the people have chosen his successor in the usual way; but, in the case of judicial officers, whose terms end at the expiration of a definitely fixed period, the words, "and until his successor is elected and qualified," refer to those officers only who were first elected after the adoption of the Constitution; they have no application to those chosen after such first election. State v. Foster, 39 Mont. 583, 590, 104 Pac. 860.

The provisions of the Constitution, fixing the terms of judicial officers are exclusive, and vacancies occur by operation of law upon the expiration of the terms designated, even where the people fail to elect their successors; hence, if, by reason of a tie vote, there is a failure to elect the successor of a clerk of a district court upon the expiration of the incumbent's term, there is a vacancy which the county commissioners are authorized, under this section, to fill by appointment. State v. Foster, 39 Mont. 583, 592, 104 Pac. 860.

But on the same day that chapter 122 was approved, namely, March 8, 1915, the legislature, by another act, amended chapter 74 of the Laws of 1913, by enacting chapter 130, which is as follows:

CHAPTER 130.

"An act to amend sections 7 and 35 of chapter 74 of the Session Laws of the Thirteenth Legislative Assembly relating to the registration of electors in counties, cities, towns and school districts, and to repeal section 41 of said act."

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Montana:

Section 1. That sections 7 and 35 of chapter 74 of the Session Laws of the Thirteenth Legislative Assembly, relating to the registration of electors in counties, cities, towns and school districts, be and the same are hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 7. The county clerk and ex-officio registrar of each county shall keep and enter in registers, to be designated as precinct registers the names of the qualified electors in the respective precincts of said county, the county clerk shall register the names of all qualified electors at his office, and not elsewhere between the hours of 9 A. M. and 5 P. M. on all legal days, in the manner as hereinafter provided. Such general registration of all voters shall be required but once, and any person once registered shall thereafter, so long as he remains a qualified elector of the precinct from which he registers, be entitled to vote, provided the names of any qualified elector who shall fail to vote at any general election, shall, by the county clerk, in the manner hereinafter provided, be removed from the precinct register and he may not thereafter vote until he has again registered. During the period of thirty days immediately preceding any general or special election, and during a period of thirty days immediately preceding any primary nominating, municipal, or school election, in school districts of the first class, such registration shall be closed and no person during the period herein specified immediately preceding any general or special primary nominating, municipal or school election in school districts of the first class shall be permitted to register for such election. The county clerk as ex-officio registrar must write in red ink on the line below the last entry on each page of the precinct registers the words, "Closed on account of election to be held on —."

Section 2. Section 35 of said chapter 74 of the Session Laws of the Thirteenth Legislative Assembly, be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 35. No person shall be entitled to vote at any election mentioned in this act except at school elections in districts of the second and third class, unless his name shall, on the day of election, appear in the copy of the official precinct register or check list, furnished by the county clerk to the judges of election, at the precinct at which he offers to vote; and the fact that his name so appears in the check lists and in the copy of the official precinct register, in the possession of the judges of election, shall be prima facie evidence of this right to vote; provided that when the judges shall have good reason to believe or when they shall be informed by a qualified elector that the person offering to vote is not the person who was so registered in that name, the vote of such person shall not be received until he shall have proved his identity as the person who was registered in that name."

Section 3. Section 41 of said chapter of said Session Laws of the Thirteenth Legislative Assembly, be and the same is hereby repealed.

Section 4. This act shall be in force and effect from and after its passage and approval.

Section 5. All acts and parts of acts in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

Approved March 8, 1915.

The following decisions were rendered by the supreme court in construing chapter 113 of Laws of 1911 prior to the repeal of that chapter:

In a suit to enjoin a bond issue on the ground of the invalidity of the election held to sanction it the point that this section, dispensing with the necessity of a new registration in prospect of a special election, violates article IX, sections 2 and 12 of the Constitution, defining the qualifications of electors, can be made only prior to the election or, if after it, on a showing that by reason of the operation of the statute voters opposed to the issue in sufficient numbers to defeat it had been disfranchised. Potter v. Furnish, 46 Mont. 394, 128 Pac. 542.

It cannot be said that all persons residing on an Indian reservation are ineligible as voters as being other than residents of the state, since a person having once gained a residence in the state does not lose it or acquire another by living on a reservation; the residence of such person for voting purposes remains at the place where he acquired it before going on the reservation. Stephens v. Nacey, 49 Mont. 237, 141 Pac. 649.

The purpose of the statute is to provide a scheme for perpetual registration; it was re-enacted with amendments in Laws of 1913, chapter 74, and as amended is intended to apply to all elections under all conditions, the amendments extending the provisions to special as well as general elections. State ex rel. Kehoe v. Stromme, 49 Mont. 27 et seq., 139 Pac. 1002.

The purpose of Laws of 1911, chapter 113, here re-enacted with amendments, is to provide a scheme for perpetual registration suitable to all elections under all conditions, and the amendments consist largely in making the various provisions applicable to special as well as to general elections. State ex rel. Kehoe v. Stromme, 49 Mont. 27 et seq., 139 Pac. 1002.

By the great register law the county clerk is required to register all qualified electors, so that if "qualified electors" means registered electors, the requirement is that he register the registered electors. Inspection of the statute in its several parts will disclose the indiscriminate use of the words. State ex rel. Lang v. Furnish, 48 Mont. 32, 134 Pac. 297.

The duty is imposed upon the state horticulturist to attach his certificate of inspection to such lots or bills of nursery stock as are found free from disease or pests, and he is left with no discretion to refuse to do so because of any omission by the shipper to take out a license and give the bond required by law. Welch v. Dean, 49 Mont. 266, 141 Pac. 548.

It was held in Potter v. Furnish, 46 Mont. 391, 128 Pac. 542, that inasmuch as the contention was made after the election there had to be an actual showing that the voters disfranchised by reason of the act complained of were sufficient in number to have altered the result of the voting; but that if the proceeding had been one to prevent an election's being held only the question of the invalidity of holding it in the circumstances would have had to be brought before the court. State ex rel. Kehoe v. Stromme, 49 Mont. 26 et seq., 139 Pac. 1002.

In determining whether a petition for the division of a county, under the act of 1911, bears the signatures of the requisite number of qualified electors, the county commissioners may examine the names found upon the list of registered electors; and, in doing so, the board does not interfere with the power lodged in the registry agent, under this section, to cancel entries on the official registration books; the board does not remove any name. State v. Board of County Commissioners, 43 Mont. 533, 539, 117 Pac. 1062.

Whether former section 491 of the Revised Codes is unconstitutional or not, an election in pursuance thereof should be held valid, unless it appears that a sufficient number of legal voters, to have changed the result, were prevented by such law from casting their ballots. Reid v. Lincoln County, 46 Mont. 31, 59, 125 Pac. 429.

That section has been a part of the law since 1895; it appears as section 33 of the acts of 1911 and 1913; and the manifest effect of it is to exclude from special elections every elector whose name does not appear upon the registration books used at the last preceding general election; but the section is in utter contravention of the purposes of the act of 1913, relating to the registration of electors, as everywhere else expressed therein; hence, in construing the act of 1913, section 33 of that act must be considered an inadvertence, which section cannot be given effect without doing violence to the clear and plain intent of the law considered in its entirety. State v. Stromme, 49 Mont. 25, 28, 139 Pac. 1002.

§ 587a. Forms for Use in Transmitting Election Returns.

(Section 1.) In sending out election supplies to each precinct for each general election it shall be the duty of the county clerk in each county to send with such supplies not less than six printed forms, with a return envelope, for the use of judges of election in transmitting election returns for public information. Said printed forms shall be in ballot form on tinted paper, and the name of each candidate and each proposition voted on shall be printed on said blank. Brief instructions for the use of said blank, as contained in this act, shall also be printed on said blank. [Approved February 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 12, p. 14.]

§ 587b. Copying of Total Votes Cast for Each Candidate.

(Section 2.) As soon as all of the ballots have been counted in any precinct it shall be the duty of the election judges to correctly copy the total vote cast for each candidate and the total vote cast for and against each proposition on the blanks furnished by the county clerk, as provided in section 1 of this act. [Approved February 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 12, p. 14.]

§ 587c. Posting and Mailing Blanks.

(Section 3.) One of said blanks, properly filled out, shall be posted forthwith at the polling place; and one copy, correctly filled out, shall be sent by mail or by messenger, when the same can be done without expense, to the county clerk. Said copy may be sent by the same messenger carrying the official election returns, but the same shall not be inclosed or sealed with the other returns. [Approved February 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 12, p. 14.]

§ 587d. Penalty for Failure to Comply With Act.

(Section 4.) Any judge of election, or other officer, who shall fail or refuse to comply with the provisions of this act [§§ 587a to 587d herein] shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not exceeding fifty dollars ($50). [Approved February 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 12, p. 14.]

§ 593. Duties of Canvassing Boards—Tie Vote.

The board must declare elected the person having the highest number of votes given for each office to be filled by the votes of a single county or a subdivision thereof, and in the event of two or more persons receiving an equal and sufficient number of votes to elect to the office of state senator, or member of the House of Representatives, it shall be the duty of the board, under the direction of and in the presence of the district court, or judge thereof, to recount the ballots cast for such persons, and the board shall declare elected the person or persons shown by the recount to have the highest number of votes if such recount shall show that two or more such persons receive an equal and sufficient number of votes to elect to the same office, then and in that event, the board shall certify such facts to the Governor. [Amendment approved March 4, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 113.]

§ 611. Voting Machines.

The board of county commissioners of counties of the first class shall and the boards of county commissioners of other counties and city councils of all cities and towns, may, at their option, adopt and purchase for use in the various precincts, any voting machine approved in the manner above set forth in this act, by the voting machine commission and none other. If it shall be impracticable to supply each and every election district with a voting machine or voting machines at any election following the adoption of such machines in a city, village or town, as many may be supplied as it is practicable to procure, and the same shall be used in such precinct of the municipality, as the proper officers may order. The proper officers of any city, village or town may, not later than the tenth day of September, in any year in which a general election is held, unite two or more precincts into one for the purpose of using therein at such election a voting machine, and the notice of such uniting shall be given in the manner prescribed by law for the change of election districts. [Amendment approved February 5, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 7.]

§ 613. Elections—Manner of Conducting.

The room in which the election is held shall have a railing separating that part of the room to be occupied by the election officers from that part of the open occupied by the voting machine. The exterior of the voting machine and every part of the polling place shall be in plain view of the judges. The machine shall be so placed that no person on the opposite side of the railing can see or determine how the voter casts his vote, and that no person can so see or determine from the outside of the room. After the opening of the polls the judges shall not allow any person to pass within the railing to that part of the room where the machine is situated except for the purpose of voting and except as provided in the next succeeding section of this act; and they shall not permit more than one voter at a time to be in such part of the room. They shall not themselves remain or permit any person to remain in any position that would permit him or them to see or ascertain how the voter votes or how he has voted. No voter shall remain within the voting machine booth or compartment longer than one minute and if he should refuse to leave it after that lapse of time he shall at once be removed by the judges. The election board of each election precinct in which a voting machine is used shall consist of three judges of election. Where more than one machine is to be used in an election precinct, one additional judge shall be appointed for each additional machine. Before each election at which voting machines are to be used, the custodian shall instruct all judges of election that are to serve thereat, in the use of the machine, and their duties in connection therewith; and he shall give to each judge that has received such instruction and is fully qualified to conduct the election with a machine a certificate to that effect. For the purpose of giving such instruction, the custodian shall call such meeting or meetings of the judges of election as shall be necessary. Each judge of election shall attend such meeting or meetings and receive such instructions as shall be necessary for the proper conduct of the election with the machine; and, as compensation for the time spent in receiving such instruction, each judge that shall qualify for and serve in the election shall receive the sum of one dollar, to be paid to him at the same time and in the same manner as compensation is paid to him for his services on election day. No such judge of election shall serve in any election at which a voting machine is used, unless he shall have received such instruction and is fully qualified to perform his duties in connection with the machine, and has received a certificate to that effect from the custodian of the machines; provided, however, that this shall not prevent the appointment of a judge of election to fill a vacancy in an emergency. [Amendment approved March 6, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 130.]

§ 615. Ballots and Instructions to Voters.

Not more than ten or less than three days before each election at which voting machines are to be used, the board or officials charged with the duty of providing ballots shall publish in newspapers representing at least two political parties, a diagram of reduced size showing the fact of the voting machine after the official ballot labels are arranged thereon, together with illustrated instructions how to vote, and a statement of the locations of such voting machines as shall be on public exhibition; or in lieu of such publication said board or officials may send by mail or otherwise at least three days before the election a printed copy of said reduced diagram to each registered voter. Not later than forty days before each election at which voting machines are to be used, the Secretary of State shall prepare samples of the printed matter and supplies named in this section, and shall furnish one of each thereof to the board or officials having charge of election in each county, city, or village in which the machines are to be used; such samples to meet the requirements of the election to be held, and to suit the construction of the machine to be used. The board or officials charged with the duty of providing ballots shall provide for each voting machine for each election the following printed matter and supplies: Suitable printed or written directions to the custodian for testing and preparing the voting machine for the election: One certificate on which the custodian can certify that he has properly tested and prepared the voting machine for the election; one certificate on which some person other than the custodian preparing the machine can certify that the voting machine has been examined and found to have been properly prepared for the election; one certificate on which the party representatives can certify that they have witnessed the testing and preparation of the machines; one certificate on which the deliverer of the machines can certify that he has delivered the machines to the polling places in good order; one card stating the penalty for tampering with or injuring a voting machine; two seals for sealing the voting machine; one envelope in which the keys to the voting machine can be sealed and delivered to the election officers, said envelope to have printed or written thereon the designation and location of the election district in which the machine is to be used, the number of machine, the number shown on the protective counter thereof after the machine has been prepared for the election, and the number or other designation on such seal as the machine is sealed with; said envelope to have attached to it a detachable receipt for the delivery of the keys of the voting machine to the judges of election; one envelope in which keys to the voting machine can be returned by the election officers after the election; one card stating the name and telephone address of the custodian on the day of the election; two statements of canvass on which the election officers can report the canvass of the votes as shown on the voting machine, together with other necessary information relating to the election, said statements of canvass to take the place of all tally papers, statements, and returns as provided heretofore; three complete sets of ballot labels; two diagrams of the fact of the machine with the ballot labels thereon, each diagram to have printed above it the proper instructions to voters for voting on the machine; six suitable printed instructions to judges of election; six notices to judges of election to attend the instruction meeting; six certificates that the judges of election have attended the instruction meeting, have received the necessary instruction, and are qualified to conduct the election with the machine. The ballot labels shall be printed in black ink on clear white material of such size and arrangement as shall suit the construction of the machine; provided, however, that the ballot labels for the questions may contain a condensed statement of each question to be voted on, followed by the words "Yes" and "No", and provided further that the titles of the officers thereon shall be printed in type as large as the space for each office will reasonably permit, and wherever more than one candidate will be voted for for an office, there shall be printed below the office title thereof the words "vote for any two," or such number as the voter is lawfully entitled to vote for for such office. When any person is nominated for an office by more than one political party, his name shall be placed upon the ticket under the designation of the party which first nominated him; or, if nominated by more than one party at the same time, he shall, within the time fixed by law for filing certificates of nomination, file with the officer with whom his certificate of nomination is required to be filed, a written statement indicating the party designation under which he desires his name to appear upon the ballot, and it shall be so printed. If he shall refuse or neglect to so file such a statement, the officer with whom the certificate of nomination is required to be filed, shall place his name under the designation of either of the parties nominating him, but under no other designation whatsoever. If the election be one at which all the candidates for the office of presidential electors are to be voted for with one device, the county commissioners shall furnish for each machine twenty-five ballots for each political party, each ballot containing the names of the candidates for the office of presidential electors of such party and a suitable space for writing in names, so that the voter can vote thereon for part of the candidates for the office of presidential electors of one party and part of the candidates therefor of one or more other parties or for persons for that office not nominated by any party. For election precincts in which voting machines are to be used no paper ballots shall be furnished for any officer to be voted for on the machine. For election precincts in which voting machines are to be used no books or blanks for making poll lists shall be provided, but in lieu thereof, the registry lists shall contain a column in which can be entered the number of each voter's ballot as indicated by the number registered on the public counter as he emerges from the voting machine. [Amendment approved March 6, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 132.]

§ 625. Repair of Voting Machine—Unofficial Ballots.

In case any voting machine used in any election shall, during, or before, the time the polls are open, become injured so as to render it inoperative in whole or in part, it shall be the duty of the judges of election immediately to give notice thereof to the county commissioners, and it shall be the duty of said commissioners, if possible, to repair the machine at once or to substitute another machine for the injured machine; and, at the close of the polls if a machine has been so substituted, the records of both machines shall be taken and the votes shown on their corresponding counters shall be added together in ascertaining and determining the result of the election. If no other machine can be procured for use at such election, and the injured machine cannot be repaired in time for further use at such election, the judges of said election may permit the use of unofficial ballots by the voters, which ballots may be received by the judges of election and be placed by them in a receptacle to be provided therefor by them and counted with the votes registered on the voting machine, and the result declared the same as if there had been no accident to the voting machine; any marking of such unofficial ballots by the voters which shall clearly indicate their intentions shall be deemed a proper and sufficient manner of voting; for this purpose the printed diagram of reduced size referred to in section 615 may be used if same can be procured, or ballots may be made from such suitable paper of other material as the precinct election board can procure. The unofficial ballots thus voted shall be preserved and returned to the county commissioners with a statement setting forth how and why the same were used. [Amendment approved March 6, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 134.]

§ 637. Election for Full Term.

The election of senators in Congress of the United States for full terms and to fill vacancies therein must be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November next preceding the commencement of the term to be filled or following the occurrence of such vacancy, or if any election therefor be invalid, or not held at such time, then the same shall be held at the time of the next succeeding general state election. Nominations of candidates and elections to the office shall be made in the same manner as is provided by law in case of Governor. [Amendment approved March 8, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 281.]

§ 638. Election to Fill Vacancy.

When a vacancy happens in the office of one or more senators from the state of Montana in the Congress of the United States, the Governor of this state shall issue, under the seal of the state, a writ or writs of election, to be held at the next succeeding general state election, to fill such vacancy or vacancies by vote of the electors of the state; provided, however, that the Governor shall have power to make temporary appointments to fill such vacancy or vacancies until the electors shall have filled them. [Amendment approved March 8, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 281.]

CHAPTER I.

STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION.*

§ 642. Membership.

The state board of education shall consist of eleven members, of which number the Governor, state superintendent of public instruction and Attorney General shall be ex-officio members. [Amendment approved March 12, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 76, p. 197.]

The clerk is not a member of the board. Kenyon-Noble Co. v. School District, 40 Mont. 123, 130, 105 Pac. 551.

*Sections 642 to 665 of the Revised Codes of 1907, as well as sections 791 to 1044, were repealed by chapter 76 of the Laws of 1913, and the subject of public schools, to which those sections were addressed, was covered by such chapter 76. The portion of that chapter which has reference to the state board of education is here set forth and designated as sections 642 to 653, and the remainder of the chapter is set forth under sections 791 to 1044x, post.

Inserted between sections 665 to 791 herein are those sections which have to do with the State University, the School of Mines, the Agricultural College and the Normal School. The sections covering these subjects in the Revised Code of 1907 are 666 to 790, and they were undisturbed by Chapter 76 of the Laws of 1913. Some of such sections, however, have been amended at other times, and statutes have from time to time been enacted which affect these state education institutions, as will be seen from sections 673-786, post.

§ 643. Appointment and Term.

The Governor shall appoint, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, the remaining eight members of the board. The term of office for members so appointed upon the board shall be four (4) years and until their successors are appointed and qualified. [Amendment approved March 12, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 76, p. 197.]

§ 644. Oaths.

The persons so appointed as members of the state board of education shall before entering upon the duties of their office, take and subscribe the constitutional oath of office prescribed for civil officers, which shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of State. [Amendment approved March 12, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 76, p. 197.]

§ 645. Officers.

The Governor shall be the president of said board, and the superintendent of public instruction shall be the secretary thereof. The state treasurer shall be the treasurer of the board. [Amendment approved March 12, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 76, p. 197.]

§ 646. Quorum.

A majority of said board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. [Amendment approved March 12, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 76, p. 197.]

§ 647. Meetings.

The board shall hold semi-annual meetings at the state capitol on the first Monday in June and December in each year, and may hold special meetings at any time and place they may direct. The president and secretary of the board may also call special meetings of said board at any time and place, if in their judgment necessity requires it. The members of said board shall receive no compensation for their services, but shall be allowed their actual traveling expenses incurred in attending the meetings of the board, which expense and all other expenses, on the certificate of the secretary of the board, shall be audited and approved by the state board of examiners, and paid by warrant of the state auditor on the state treasurer. [Amendment approved March 12, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 76, p. 197.]

§ 648. Powers and Duties.

(1.) To have general control and supervision of the University of Montana, Montana State Normal College, Agricultural College of Montana, State Orphans' Home, Montana School of Mines, Montana School for the Deaf and Blind, and State Reform School.

(2.) To adopt rules and regulations, not inconsistent with the Constitution and the laws of this state, for its own government and proper and necessary for the execution of the powers and duties conferred upon it by law.

(3.) To provide, subject to the laws of the state, rules and regulations for the government of the affairs of the state educational institutions named in this section.

(4.) The results of these determinations shall be reported upon free of charge to the person sending such samples. Such of these tests as are of value to the public shall be reported in bulletin or pamphlet form, at least once a year.

[Amendment approved March 12, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 76, p. 253.]

In districts of the first and second class the board of trustees of such districts may appoint a superintendent of schools of the district. He shall be appointed for such term, not exceeding three years, as the board may deem proper and be paid such salary from the general school fund as is fixed by the board of trustees; provided, that after his second successive employment he shall be deemed elected from term to term of three years each thereafter, unless the board of trustees shall by a majority of the votes of its members give notice to such superintendent on or before the first of February of the last year of the term of his employment that his services will not be required for the ensuing term. CHAPTER XVI.

SCHOOLHOUSE SITES.

§ 883. Selection.

Whenever, in the judgment of the board of trustees of any school district of the third class, it is desirable to select, purchase, exchange or sell a schoolhouse site, or whenever petitioned so to do by one-third of the voters of such district, the district board, shall without delay call a meeting at some convenient time and place fixed by the board, to vote upon such question of selection, purchase, exchange or sale of schoolhouse site. Such election shall be conducted and votes canvassed in the same manner as at the annual election of school officers. Three notices giving the time, place, and purpose of such meeting shall be posted in three public places in the district by the clerk at least ten days prior to such meeting. If a majority of the voters present at such meeting shall by vote decide to select, purchase, exchange or sell the schoolhouse site, the board shall carry out the will of the voters thus expressed; provided, that it shall require the concurrence of a majority of the voters of the district to order the change of a schoolhouse site and any sites so changed cannot again be changed within three years from the date of such action.

The provision of section 1797 of the Political Code in regard to the removal of schoolhouses and the purchase or sale of school lots when directed by vote of the district, is not only a grant of power to school boards, but also a limitation upon their power, both as to its extent and as to the mode of its exercise, so that they cannot do any of the acts referred to without first obtaining the consent of the electors. State v. Lyons, 37 Mont. 354, 362, 96 Pac. 922.

Mandamus is the proper remedy to require the trustees of a school district to determine the location of a site for a schoolhouse, where they arbitrarily remove a school to a site selected by themselves, without consulting the electors; a resident and taxpayer of the school district is a party beneficially interested and entitled in such case to make the application. *State v. Such plans and specifications shall show in detail the ventilation, the heating and lighting of such building. [Amendment approved March 12, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 76, p. 266.]

§ 885. Floor Space—Air—Light.

The board of health shall not approve plans for the erection of any school building or addition thereto, or remodeling thereof, unless the same shall provide (a) at least fifteen square feet of floor space and two hundred cubic feet of air space for each pupil to be accommodated in each study or recitation room therein; (b) at least thirty cubic feet of pure air per minute per pupil shall be furnished by a satisfactory ventilating system, which should also provide means for exhausting the foul or vitiating air from the room.

The light shall come from the left or from the left and rear of each schoolroom, and the window space shall be not less than one-seventh of the floor space of each room. [Amendment approved March 12, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 76, p. 266.]

§ 886. Penalties.

The county treasurer shall not make any payments on any contract arising under the provisions of this chapter until the contractor furnishes a certified statement signed by the state board of health that the plans and specifications of the school building to be erected or remodeled, have been fully approved by the state board of health. [Amendment approved March 12, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 76, p. 266.]

§ 887. Suggestive Plans.

It shall be the duty of the state board of health to furnish to all districts of the third class suggestive plans for school buildings to be erected in conformity with the above rules. [Amendment approved March 12, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 76, p. 267.]

A certificate by the road supervisor that such moneys are not needed for immediate use in building or repairing roads in his district, accompanied by the petition of ten residents of such district that such transfer be made, shall be made sufficient warrant for the county treasurer to make such transfer when approved by the board of county commissioners, and the official maps of the several road and school districts of the county shall determine the districts to which the transfers are to be made. The county commissioners, at the time of making the levy of taxes for county purposes, must levy a tax for that year upon the taxable property in such district, for the interest and redemption of said bonds, and such tax must not be less than sufficient to pay the interest of said bonds for that year, and such portion of the principal as is to become due during such years and in any event must be high enough to raise annually for the first half of the term said bonds have to run, a sufficient sum to pay the interest thereon, and during the balance of the term, high enough to pay such annual interest, and to pay annually, a portion of the principal of said bonds, equal to a sum produced by taking the whole amount of said bonds outstanding and dividing it by the number of years said bonds have to run and all moneys so levied, when collected, must be paid into the county treasury to the credit of such district, kept in a separate fund and be used for the payment of principal and interest on said bonds, and for no other purpose.

1. Provided, that the board may with the surplus of such sinking fund, when the same shall be one thousand ($1,000) dollars or more, purchase any of the outstanding bonds issued by the board. Such purchase shall be made at the lowest price such bonds can be purchased at, but at no more than par value of such bonds; and whenever there shall be such a surplus of sinking fund amounting to the sum of one thousand ($1,000) dollars, the board shall purchase therewith like bonds, on the same terms and conditions as hereinbefore specified.

2. If for any reason such bonds cannot be purchased as hereinbefore specified, such sinking fund shall be invested by the treasurer under the direction of the board of trustees, at such times as the board shall direct, in interest-bearing bonds of the United States or of the state of Montana, which shall be purchased at the lowest market price. Interest accruing upon such bonds shall be invested in the same manner and for the same purpose as a sinking fund. Such bonds shall be held by the treasurer until the principal of any bonds issued by the board of trustees shall become due, and shall be sold at the highest market price, and the proceeds applied to the payment of bonds; provided, further, that if at any time the board shall deem it best, it shall be lawful to sell such bonds for the purpose of purchasing the bonds issued by such board; but all such sales shall be at the highest market price, and the bonds of the board purchased with the proceeds of such sale shall be purchased at the lowest price they can be obtained for, and not above the par value of such bonds; provided, further, that the bonds first maturing shall be purchased, if they can be purchased, on terms as favorable to the board as others offered for sale to the said board. All bonds of the said board purchased under the authority hereby given, or paid by the board, shall be forthwith cancelled as provided in the next succeeding section. [Amendment approved March 12, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 76, p. 287.]

§ 940. Duty of County Treasurer.

The county treasurer shall pay out of any moneys belonging to the school district the interest upon any bonds issued under this chapter by such district when the same shall become due, upon the presentation at his office of the proper coupon which shall show the amount due, and the number of the bond to which it belonged; and all coupons so paid shall be reported to the school trustees at their first meeting thereafter. But the board of trustees of any school district issuing bonds may, by resolution, direct that said bonds and the interest thereon shall be payable in any city in the United States, and then such bonds and coupons shall be made payable at such bank in said city as shall be designated by the county treasurer at the time of issue; and all bonds and coupons so paid must be returned to the county treasurer and by him canceled and exhibited to the county commissioners at their first meeting thereafter. If any of the school trustees of any district shall fail or refuse to pay into the proper county treasury the money arising from the sale of any bonds provided for by this chapter, they shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by imprisonment in the State Penitentiary for a term of not less than one year nor more than ten years. [Amendment approved March 12, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 76, p. 289.]

§ 943. Repayment of Money Borrowed for Maintenance of Schools.

That whenever, before the passage of this act, the taxes levied and collected in any school district upon the taxable property of said district, for the necessary maintenance of said schools, have been insufficient for the necessary maintenance of said schools, and for that reason the trustees of said school district have been compelled to borrow money for the necessary maintenance of said schools, in order to prevent the closing of the same for a portion of the regular school year of said district, and have borrowed money for the necessary maintenance of said schools, and such moneys so borrowed cannot be repaid out of the total amount of taxes that may be raised by maximum levy for school purposes in such district, without using the funds of the district needed to pay the necessary current expenses for the maintenance of the schools therein, and thereby necessitating the closing of such schools for the whole or a portion of the regular current school year of such district for one or more years, then the said trustees shall be, and are hereby empowered to raise money to repay, and to repay such loans, with interest thereon from the date thereof until paid at the rate of six per cent per annum, by levying a tax therefor upon all taxable property in said district in the manner provided in the following sections. [Amendment approved March 12, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 76, p. 290.]

That if the trustees of any school district under the circumstances mentioned in section 2025 [§ 953 herein] of this chapter shall determine to repay the moneys borrowed and used for the purpose mentioned in said section 2025, they shall ascertain the amount to be levied by finding the amount of the principal, of such loans and interest at six per cent per annum from the date thereof to December 15th, of the year in which such levy shall be made, that being the time when the tax will properly be collected, and shall, on or before the day when the county commissioners are required by law to make the annual tax levy, make and file with the county clerk of the county in which such school district shall be situated, their certificate, which shall be signed by a majority of such trustees, setting forth therein the amount to be raised as aforesaid, and requesting the county commissioners to levy the amount named in said certificate as a special tax upon all taxable property in said school district. The valuation of the property in said district as the same appears upon the assessment-roll of said county for the year for which the levy shall be made, shall be the basis for the assessment of such tax. It shall be the duty of the county commissioners at the time the annual tax levy is made to levy the sum named in said certificate as a special tax upon all of the taxable property in said district, and the duty of the county clerk to spread said tax upon the said assessment-roll against all of said property in the same manner as other taxes are spread upon said roll, and said tax being so assessed shall become a lien upon said property and be collected in the same manner as other taxes for school purposes are collected. [Amendment approved March 12, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 76, p. 290.]

§ 945. Disposition of Funds Collected.

That when the tax mentioned in the preceding sections has been collected, or any part thereof, the county treasurer shall place the same to the credit of said school district in a fund separate from all other funds, of said district and the moneys in such fund shall be forthwith paid out by the trustee to the persons and corporations to whom the same are payable, and until the debt for the payment of which such moneys were raised have been paid, no part of such funds shall be used for any other purpose. If from failure to collect the entire amount of such tax, or from any other cause, there shall not be moneys sufficient in said fund to pay the amount of principal and interest of the sum borrowed, the trustees shall pay the amount of such deficiency from the general fund to the credit of said district, and if after paying all of the debts payable out of such special fund, a balance shall remain therein, such balance shall be transferred to the general fund of said district. [Amendment approved March 12, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 76, p. 291.]

§ 946. Trustees may Issue Bonds.

All nominations of places for the location of said school shall be filed with the board of county commissioners within thirty days from the date of the first publication of said notice. Any number of places may be candidates for the location of said school but no freeholder shall append his name to more than one petition. [Amendment approved March 12, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 76, p. 296.]

§ 959. Election—Voting.

At the expiration of thirty days from the date of the first publication of said notice, the county commissioners shall call an election and appoint precinct judges and clerks. If the results in favor of establishing such high school, and any candidate for its location has a majority, the board of county commissioners, by an order duly entered on their minutes, shall so declare this fact, and the board shall immediately thereafter appoint six persons, residents and taxpayers of the county not less than three nor more than four of whom shall be residents of the village, town or city, where the school is located, who shall, with the county superintendent of schools, constitute a board of trustees for said school.

In case of a tie vote between two or more of the candidates having the highest number of votes for the location of said school, the county commissioners shall immediately call another election in the manner provided by law for general county elections, at which the only question to be submitted shall be the location of said school and only the names of those candidates so tied shall appear upon the ballot. Such bonds may run for a term of twenty years, or less, but no longer; provided, that any such issue of bonds

That as soon as practicable after receiving such certificate the board of county commissioners shall proceed to submit the question of issuing said bonds to the qualified electors of the county in the manner provided by law for the issuance of other county bonds. If such bonds are issued the county commissioners, at the time of making the levy of taxes for county purposes each year, must levy a tax for that year upon the taxable property in the county for the interest and redemption of said bonds, and such taxes must not be less than sufficient to pay the interest on said bonds for that year and such proportion of the principal as is to become due during the year, and in any event must be high enough to raise annually, for the first half of the term, a sufficient sum to pay the interest thereon and during the balance of the term, high enough to pay said annual interest and to pay annually a portion of the principal of said bond, equal to the sum produced by taking the whole amount of said bonds outstanding and dividing it by the number of years said bonds have to run, and all moneys so levied, when collected, must be paid into the county treasury to the credit of the county high school, kept in a separate fund and to be used for the payment of principal and interest on said bonds, and for no other purpose; provided, however, that the accumulated money may be invested as is provided for the investment of money collected for the payment of school district bonds. Said tax shall be levied and collected in the same manner as other county taxes.

In any county wherein there is now maintained a district high school, in which a county high school is hereafter created, the bonds to be issued for the county high school under the provisions of this section shall constitute an indebtedness only against so much of the said county as is not included in the district maintaining said high school, and the question of the issuance of said bonds shall be submitted to the electors only who reside outside of such district. The limitations on the indebtedness to be created by the issuance of bonds in such cases and the method of levy, assessment and collection of taxes for the payment of bonds so issued, hereinabove set forth, shall apply only to so much of the said county as is not included in the school district maintaining such district high school. 2. In any county where no county high school has been established, but in which one or more districts maintain high school classes duly accredited by the state superintendent of public instruction, a special tax levy not exceeding three mills on each dollar of taxable property in the district may be made for the benefit of such high schools. When such levy is to be made, the chairman of the board of trustees of each school district maintaining a high school shall, on or before the first day of August in each year, severally recommend and advise the board of county commissioners as to how many mills the tax levy should be on each dollar of taxable property, and the board of county commissioners shall thereupon fix the levy not exceeding three mills according to their own judgment at a rate which will raise sufficient money to meet the reasonable expenditures of such accredited high schools for maintenance during the ensuing school year, and the money derived from such levy shall be apportioned by the county superintendent of schools to the several districts, in which such tax is levied, according to the average daily attendance in accredited high school classes for the school year next preceding, as determined by the said county superintendent.

3. Attendance at any high school to whose support such money is apportioned in accordance with the provisions of this act shall be free to all eligible pupils residing within the district in the county in which such accredited high school is situated. THE REVISED CODES OF MONTANA.

Erratum.

The Military Code, printed as sections 1045 to 1110e herein, although it was adopted by the legislature and approved by the governor (Laws 1911, 145, p. 432), was rejected by the people when referred to them. It therefore never became a law, and sections 1045 to 1110 of the Revised Codes of 1907, which it purports to repeal, were not affected by it and they still remain the law (In re McDonald, 49 Mont. 454, 143 Pac. 947). The opinion of the supreme court in the McDonald case does not in terms refer to the Military Code, or chapter 145 of the Laws of 1911, but to the "Donohue Bill"; and the fact that the Military Code is identical with the Donohue Bill escaped attention in the completion of this 1915 Supplement until the volume had gone to the press.

MILITIA AND NATIONAL GUARD.

§ 1045. Military Code of State.

(Section 1.) This act, together with subsequent acts amendatory thereof, and all future acts relating to the militia and National Guard of Montana, shall be known as the Military Code of the state of Montana. [Amendment approved March 13, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 145, p. 432.]

The passage of the Donohue bill by the legislature, which was subsequently defeated on referendum, did not obliterate the state militia; it was necessary for that bill to have the approval of the people before it became a law, and this it never had. In re McDonald; In re Gillis, 49 Mont. 454, 477, 143 Pac. 947.

§ 1045a. Who Subject to Military Duty.

The enrollment shall be made in triplicate and shall state the name, residence, age, occupation and previous or existing military or naval service of each person enrolled.

When complete the rolls shall be verified under oath by the enrolling officer, who shall immediately thereupon file one copy with the adjutant general of the state and another with the county auditor, retaining the third copy for himself. [Amendment approved March 13, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 145, p. 432.]

§ 1048. Claiming Exemptions.

[Amendment approved March 13, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 145, p. 432.]

The duties of the advisory board shall be to aid in making the state fair a success and to see that each county in the state has proper exhibits to demonstrate such county's wealth and resources. [Approved March 3, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 77, p. 144.]

HIGHWAY LAW.

CHAPTER I.*

CLASSIFICATION AND DEFINITIONS.

§ 1337. Name or Title of Act.

(Section 1.) This act shall be known as "The General Highway Law." [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 319.]

§ 1338. Highway Deemed to Include What.

(Section 2.) Within the meaning of this act a highway shall be deemed to include its necessary embankments, retaining walls, culverts, sluices and drains, and a bridge shall be deemed to include its approaches, abutments and piers. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 319.]

§ 1339. Public Highways Defined.

(Section 3.) All highways, roads, lanes, streets, alleys, courts, places and bridges laid out or erected by the public or now traveled or used by the public, or if laid out or erected by others, dedicated or abandoned to the public, or made such by the petition of real property, are public highways. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 319.]

*Sections 1337 to 1421 herein embrace chapter 141 of the Laws of 1915. That chapter takes the place of chapter 72 of the Laws of 1913, and covers the subject of highways and roads embraced in sections 1337 to 1456 of the Revised Codes of 1907. Hence the editor here uses those section numbers, so far as necessary, in designating the sections of the present law.

The repealing clause of this chapter 141 of the Laws of 1915 expressly repeals sections 1337, 1338, 1340, 1341, 1344, 1345, 1346, 1347, 1348, 1349, 1350, 1351, 1352, 1353, 1354, 1355, 1356, 1357, 1358, 1359, 1360, 1361, 1362, 1363, 1364, 1365, 1366, 1367, 1368, 1371, 1372, 1390, 1392, 1393, 1394, 1395, 1396, 1405, 1410, 1427, 1430, 1436, 1437, 1438, 1439, 1440, 1441, 1442, 1443, 1444, 1445, 1446, 1447, 1448, 1449, 1450, 1451, 1452, 1454 and 1456 of the Revised Codes.

From an examination of this list of repealed sections it will be noticed that not all of the sections running from 1337 to 1456 of the Revised Codes of 1907 are expressly repealed. As a matter of fact, however, all those which are not expressly repealed are amended or re-enacted, with the possible exception of sections 1369, 1416, 1435, 1453 and 1455, and it is not improbable that the intention has been to repeal these also, for the evident purpose of the legislature, as expressed in chapter 141 of the laws of 1915, has been to cover the entire subject formerly included within sections 1337 and 1456 of the Revised Codes of 1907.

In construing chapter 72 of Laws of 1913, the supreme court has rendered the following decisions:

The legislative intention was not that all public highways, including roads, streets, alleys, courts, culverts and bridges composing the same should be appraised as county property, and the value, thus set upon them, considered in adjusting the county indebtedness. State ex rel. Foster v. Ritch, 49 Mont. 157, 140 Pac. 731.

If a complaint contains an averment to the effect that the pleader entered upon an existing public highway and for undisclosed reasons affixed thereto a structure which became a part of it, the inference is possible that he acted as a mere volunteer, intending such structure to be part of the highway and so belong to the public. State v. Board of Commrs., 49 Mont. 523, 143 Pac. 984.

§ 1340. Classification—Common and Main Highways.

(Section 4.) Public highways in this state shall hereafter be classed as common highways, main highways, and state highways. All highways which are not established or improved in the manner hereinafter provided for main highways, or state highways, shall be common highways. Main highways shall be such as are established or improved in the manner provided by chapter IV of this act. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 319.]

§ 1341. Abandonment or Vacation of Highways.

(Section 5.) All public highways once established must continue to be public highways until abandoned by operation of law, or by judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction, or by order of the board of county commissioners of the county in which they are situated; but no order to abandon any main highway shall be valid unless preceded by due notice and hearing as provided in this act; and no state highway can be abandoned except on the joint order of the board of county commissioners and the state highway commission. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 319.]

This section and section 1340 provide a general rule by which highways of every character, including streets as well as county roads, may be established or vacated, but this does not mean that the streets of cities and towns shall be exclusively under the control of the boards of county commissioners; sections 3212, 3213, 3259, 3466, 3479, and 3480, post, relating to the power of the authorities of incorporated cities and towns to establish, open, widen, and vacate streets, are still in force. Barnard Realty Co. v. City of Butte, 48 Mont. 102, 113, 136 Pac. 1064.

The mere use of land by the public as a street for the statutory period, not coupled with an assumption of jurisdiction over it by the city authorities, is insufficient to clothe the city with title by prescription. Barnard Realty Co. v. City of Butte, 48 Mont. 102, 114, 136 Pac. 1064.

A highway, whether a county road or a street, once established, cannot be vacated, except by an order of the public authorities having jurisdiction over it. Barnard Realty Co. v. City of Butte, 48 Mont. 102, 114, 136 Pac. 1064.

Travel by one or more persons over a given route, outside of an incorporated city or town, is not in itself, in the absence of an assumption of jurisdiction by the board of county commissioners, by some definite action, sufficient to constitute adverse use of it as a highway. Barnard Realty Co. v. City of Butte, 48 Mont. 102, 113, 136 Pac. 1064.

Where a person's land has been taken with his consent, and converted into a highway, established according to law, he cannot afterward destroy the highway, through the medium of an action in ejectment, though the county commissioners did not observe the conditions upon which consent was given; they could have taken the land without the owner's consent. Flynn v. Beaverhead Co., 49 Mont. 347, 353, 141 Pac. 673.

Where an owner consents to the opening of a road through his land, and the proceedings as to the opening are in strict conformity with the statute, the road becomes an established highway, though the county commissioners did not observe the conditions upon which consent was given, and must remain one until it has ceased to be such by one of the means prescribed by law; but the owner cannot be thus deprived of his land without full compensation of it; and, if he is not paid, he is entitled to maintain an action therefor. Flynn v. Beaverhead County, 49 Mont. 347, 352, 141 Pac. 673.

Negligence in maintaining guy wire on untraveled portion of highway. See note post, § 4400.

§ 1342. Width of Way or Road.

(Section 6.) The width of all public highways, except bridges, alleys, lanes, must be sixty (60) feet unless a greater or less width is ordered by the board of county commissioners on petition of the person interested. The width of all private highways and by-roads, except bridges, must be at least twenty (20) feet. Nothing in this act must be construed as to increase or diminish the width of either kind of a highway already established or used as such. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 320.]

"When a highway has been graded or otherwise prepared for travel, its use is confined to the prepared or used portion; and it is a question for the jury to say whether a telephone company, in constructing its line along a highway, was guilty of negligence in anchoring a guy wire to the ground at a point from one to three feet outside of the graded or traveled portion of the road. Howard v. Flathead etc. Tel. Co., 49 Mont. 197, 202, 141 Pac. 153.

In this state, the lawful width of public highways, generally, is sixty feet. City of Butte v. Miskosowitz, 39 Mont. 350, 357, 102 Pac. 593.

Theoretically, a public highway is sixty feet wide, but the county is not required to grade or keep it, for its entire width, in condition for public travel; the county's duty is fully discharged, in this respect, if the portion graded, or made ready for travel, is of sufficient width to accommodate the use which may fairly be anticipated to be made of it; and the authorities in control may use the remaining portions for purposes inconsistent with their use as drive-ways; as, for instance, for piling stones, cutting down and leaving steep embankments, or for drainage ditches. Howard v. Flathead Independent Tel. Co., 49 Mont. 197, 201, 141 Pac. 153.

§ 1343. Public Acquires Only Right of Way.

(Section 7.) By taking or accepting land for a highway the public acquired only the right of way and the incidents necessary to enjoying and maintaining the same, subject to the regulations in this act and the Civil Code provided. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 320.]

CHAPTER II.

§ 1344. Road Tax Levy.

(Section 1.) For the purpose of raising revenue for the construction, maintenance and improvement of public highways, the board of county commissioners of each county in this state shall annually levy and cause to be collected a general tax upon the taxable property in the county of not less than two mills, and not more than five mills on the dollar, which shall be payable to the county treasurer with other general taxes. There is also established a general road tax of two dollars ($2) per annum on each male person over the age of twenty-one (21) years, and under the age of sixty (60) years, inhabitant within the county, and payable by each person liable therefor at any time within the year. The collection of these taxes shall be under the direction of the board of county commissioners; taxes from freeholders to be collected the same as other taxes, and from nonfreeholders as commissioners may direct. Provided, that the foregoing provisions of this section shall not apply to the incorporated cities and towns, which, by ordinance, provide for the levy and collection of a like general tax and a like special tax within such cities and towns for road, street, and alley purposes. All moneys collected under the provisions of this act shall belong to the general road fund of the county. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 320.]

§ 1345. Issuance of Highway Bonds—Limit of Indebtedness.

(Section 2.) Wherever in the judgment of the board of county commissioners of any county, it becomes necessary or advisable for the construction or improvement of any main highway or state highway therein, to raise revenue in addition to that furnished by the taxes and licenses authorized by this act, it shall be lawful for such board to issue, on the credit of the county, coupon bonds to such amounts as said board may find necessary, provided that such bonds shall not, together with all other outstanding indebtedness of the county, exceed five per centum of the value of the taxable property within such county, to be ascertained by the last preceding general assessment therein and provided further that such proceedings be had prior to and in the issuance of such bonds, as is required in the case of other county bonds by Articles III and V of Chapter II, Title II, Part IV of the Political Code. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 320.]

§ 1346. Employers to Furnish Lists of Employees Liable to Tax.

(Section 3.) Every employer having in his or its employment any person or persons liable for the special road tax of two dollars ($2) mentioned in this act, must, on or before the third Monday of March in each year, and monthly thereafter until the first day of October, furnish to the county treasurer a complete list of all the persons so employed and if any such employer shall neglect or refuse to furnish such list, he shall forfeit to the county, in which said road tax is collectible, the sum of fifty dollars ($50) to be recovered by an action brought in the name of the state in any justice court of said county, and the further sum of fifty dollars ($50) for each refusal or neglect to furnish such list after any demand shall have been made by the county treasurer therefor. Upon the receipt of said lists it shall be the duty of said county treasurer to furnish to said employer, furnishing such lists, printed special road tax receipt books with proper stubs containing memorandum of name, amount and date attached. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 321.]

§ 1347. Notice from County Treasurer to Employer of Liability for Tax.

(Section 4.) If any person required to pay the special road tax mentioned in this act, does not pay the same and has no property subject to taxation, and the person owing the same is in the employment of any other person, the county treasurer must deliver to the employer a written notice, stating the amount of tax due for such employee and from the time of receiving said notice the employer is liable to pay said tax and the tax so paid may be deducted by such employer from the amount then due or to become due to such employee. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 321.]

CHAPTER III.

ROAD DISTRICTS AND DUTIES OF OFFICERS.

§ 1348. Minutes of County Clerk to Include Proceedings Relative to Highways.

(Section 1.) The county clerk must include in the minutes of the board of county commissioners all proceedings and orders of the board relative to each highway within the county. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 321.]

§ 1349. Powers and Duties of County Commissioners Respecting Highways.

(Section 2.) The board of county commissioners of the several counties of the state have general supervision over the highways within their respective counties.

1. They must in their discretion, keep the county divided into suitable road districts; place each of such road districts in charge of a competent road supervisor and order and direct each of such supervisors concerning the work to be done upon the public highway in his district.

2. They must provide and order the county surveyor, or if the county surveyor is incompetent, some other competent surveyor designated by the board, to prepare suitable plat-books and have recorded therein a full description of every public highway within the county, showing each course by bearing and distance, with a full and complete map thereof, together with a record of all other proceedings with reference to the same.

3. They must cause to be surveyed, viewed, laid out, recorded, opened, worked and maintained, such highways as are necessary for the public convenience, as in this act provided, and cause to be erected and maintained thereon guide posts, as provided in this act.

4. They must abolish or abandon in the manner provided in this act such public highways as are not necessary for the public convenience.

5. They must contract, agree for, purchase or otherwise lawfully acquire, the right of way over private property for the use of public highways, and for that purpose institute, when necessary, proceedings under Title VII, Part III, of the Code of Civil Procedure, paying for such right of way from the general road fund of the county.

6. They may, in their discretion, but subject to the limitations and provisions in the constitution and Revised Codes provided, issue bonds upon the faith and credit of the county for the construction or improvement of main highways, state highways and bridges.

7. They may, in their discretion, but subject to the limitations and restrictions provided in the Revised Code for the letting of public contracts, let out by contract the construction, maintenance and improvement of the public highways, and the construction, maintenance or repairs of bridges, when the amount of work to be done exceeds the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000).

8. They may, in their discretion, cause to be done whatever may be necessary for the best interests of the roads and road districts of their several counties.

9. They must make such reports, relating to the county roads under their supervision, to the state highway commission as may be requested by said commission.

10. They may, in their discretion, employ a competent road builder who shall be paid for his services not to exceed seven dollars per day; who shall serve during the pleasure of the board; whose duty it shall be, under the direction and control of said board, to prescribe the time and place, when and where, all work shall be done on the roads of the county; report any delinquency or any inefficiency of any road overseer or any other person employed upon such roads to the board of county commissioners and perform such other duties as may be prescribed by the said board. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 322.]

A board of county commissioners must have official notice, as a board, before its members can be made individually answerable for personal injuries arising from defective highways. Smith v. Zimmer, 45 Mont. 282, 306, 125 Pac. 420.

The individual liability of county commissioners for injuries arising from defective highways is not absolute, but depends upon whether they have been guilty of negligence. Smith v. Zimmer, 45 Mont. 282, 303, 125 Pac. 420.

Before the individual members of a board of county commissioners can be held personally answerable for negligent conduct in refusing to repair a public highway, the board of which they are members must have actual notice of such defective condition; but if, after such actual notice to the board, any two or more members thereof negligently or willfully refuse to cause the defect to be repaired, either directly or through the agency of the road supervisors, the members, so guilty of negligent conduct, are answerable to one who, without contributory negligence on his part, is injured thereby. Smith v. Zimmer, 45 Mont. 282, 306, 125 Pac. 420.

Though a road overseer, or a board of commissioners do not have sufficient money, at their disposal, to repair a dangerous place in a highway, this does not excuse the omission to take suitable measures to give notice of the obstruction, or to provide suitable barriers to prevent a traveler from being injured by it. Smith v. Zimmer, 45 Mont. 282, 293, 125 Pac. 420.

§ 1350. Purchase of Machinery and Materials.

(Section 3.) The board of county commissioners may also, in their discretion, out of the general road fund of the county, purchase and operate grading and rock-crushing machinery that they may deem necessary or desirable for the improvement of the public highways in the county, and may also acquire, out of the same fund, by purchase, condemnation, lease or gift, deposits or quarries of suitable road-building material; and any crushed rock or gravel, not directly used or needed by such county in the construction, repair or maintenance of its roads, may be sold at not less than actual cost of production to any person, firm or corporation, desiring to use the same upon any public street or highway within the county and the proceeds of any such sale shall be paid into the general road fund. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 323.]

§ 1351. Road Supervisor—Appointment and Compensation.

(Section 4.) Road supervisors, when appointed, shall serve during the pleasure of the board of county commissioners and shall in all things be under the direction and control of said board. Every road supervisor must, before entering upon the duties of his office, be a resident elector of the road district for which he is appointed and must file with the county clerk the customary oath of office, together with a bond approved by said board for the faithful performance of his duties. As compensation for his services he shall receive not less than two dollars ($2) nor more than four dollars ($4) per day for eight hours' labor, but the time taken in going to or from his home to the place of labor shall not be included within such period of eight hours. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 323.]

§ 1352. Duties of Road Supervisors—Reports, Accounts and Statements.

(Section 5.) Road supervisors when appointed and under the direction and the supervision of the board of county commissioners must:

1. Take charge of all highways, bridges and causeways within their respective districts; open all new roads when the same are duly established and ordered to be opened by the board of county commissioners; perform at the time and in the manner directed by the board of county commissioners whatever shall be lawfully directed by the board concerning the public highways within their respective districts.

2. Make and file with the county clerk verified reports quarterly, or oftener if required by the county commissioners, showing the number of days they have been employed during the previous three months and when and how employed; the number of days' labor performed upon the public highways in their respective districts, when and by whom performed, the character and kind of work done and the wages agreed to be paid per day; the number of teams and implements and the amount, value and kind of material used, by whom and where used and the price agreed to be paid therefor; the number and character of all the tools and implements belonging to the county within their respective districts.

3. Keep a correct account of all labor performed and animals, implements or material furnished by himself or others upon the public highways and give to persons performing such work or furnishing such animals, implements or materials, a certificate stating the number of days' work performed, the character and kinds of such work and the price agreed to be paid therefor; and the number of days any animals or implements have been used and the price to be paid therefor and the amount and character of all materials furnished. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 323.]

§ 1353. Employment of Laborers, Teams, etc.

(Section 6.) Whenever it becomes necessary for any road supervisor, in the construction or repairing of any public highway in his district, to secure the assistance of other persons, he shall be empowered to employ suitable laborers, teams and implements, and to contract as to the price to be paid therefor, which must not exceed the rate of four dollars ($4) per day of eight hours for each person and six dollars ($6) per day of eight hours for man and team; but the time taken by such person or teams in going to and from the place of labor shall not be included within such period of eight hours. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 324.]

§ 1354. Removal of Obstructions and Repairing of Bridges.

(Section 7.) Whenever any public highway becomes obstructed from any cause, or any bridge need repairing or becomes dangerous for the passage of teams or travelers, the board of county commissioners, or the supervisor of the road district, if there be one, upon being notified thereof, must forthwith cause such obstruction to be removed, or bridge repaired, for which purpose such person as the board of county commissioners may designate or the road supervisor of the district may order out such number of inhabitants of the district as may be necessary to aid in removing such obstruction or repairing such bridge; or if any person after three days' notice, whether said notice be oral or written, who being physically able to respond, shall fail to be present at the time and place designated, or who, having attended, refuses to obey the direction of the person in charge of the work, or passes his time in idleness, or inattention to the duty assigned him, shall be liable to punishment as for a misdemeanor. Provided, that every person responding to any such order and performing the duties assigned him, shall be compensated for his labor at the rate not to exceed four dollars ($4) per day for eight hours, the time taken in going to and from the place of labor, not included. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 324.]

Editorial Notes.

§ 1355. Limit on Amount Expended on Road District.

(Section 8.) The amount of expenditures in any road district for labor and teams together with the compensation to be paid to the supervisor, shall not exceed in the aggregate the sum apportioned quarterly by the board of county commissioners to such road district, but if such sum is not sufficient, said board may appropriate from the general road fund any amount which may be necessary in their judgment for the use and benefit of such district. Provided that not less than fifty per cent of the taxes collected from each road district shall be expended annually by the county commissioners on the roads within the boundaries of said district. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 325.]

§ 1356. Examination of Supervisor's Report and Issuance of Warrant for Claims.

(Section 9.) The board of county commissioners at the first monthly or quarterly meeting held after the filing of any supervisor's report, must examine the same and if found correct and the work reported to have been done was necessary and properly done, cause an order to be drawn on the county treasurer against the road fund for the amount due any road supervisor for his services; and upon the presentation of any certificate issued by road supervisors for labor performed by others and the verification by the owners thereof, as in other cases of claims against the county, the board shall cause to be issued to the owner or holder of such claims, a warrant for the amount thereof, drawn on the county treasurer against the road fund. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 325.]

§ 1357. Construction of Drains and Ditches—Penalty for Obstructions.

(Section 10.) The road supervisor, or other person designated by the board of county commissioners, has authority to open or construct drains and ditches for the making and preserving of roads and highways, doing as little injury as may be to the adjoining land, and any person stopping or obstructing the drains or ditches so made, forfeits the sum of fifty dollars ($50) to be recovered by the supervisor or board of county commissioners in a civil action in any court of competent jurisdiction. If any person feels aggrieved by the act of any supervisor, or other person designated by the board of county commissioners, he may make complaint in writing to the board of county commissioners who will allow just damages and pay the same out of the road fund. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 325.]

§ 1358. Tools and Implements for Use of Road Supervisor.

(Section 11.) Upon the requisition of any road supervisor, the board of county commissioners shall, whenever necessary, furnish to such supervisor any plows, scrapers, or other tools and implements necessary for the use of his road district and cause the same to be paid for out of the general road fund of the county. The supervisor must preserve such tools and implements, and must not allow the same to be used except on public highways; at the expiration of his term of office, or upon his removal therefrom, he must turn over all such tools and implements to his successor or to the board of county commissioners. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 326.]

§ 1359. Inspection of Construction Work.

(Section 12.) The board of county commissioners shall, by order, direct the county surveyor, or both the county surveyor and some member or members of said board, or if the county surveyor is incompetent, appoint a competent engineer in his place, to inspect the condition of any contract construction work on any highway or bridge in the county, before payment therefor. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 326.]

§ 1360. Compensation for Making Inspection.

(Section 13.) Such member or members of said board shall receive, for making said inspection, the sum of eight dollars ($8) per day, and actual traveling expenses, and the county surveyor shall receive for making said inspection and for all other work performed for the county under the direction of the board of county commissioners, the sum of seven dollars ($7) per day and actual traveling expenses, which shall be audited and allowed in the same manner as any other claims against the county. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 326.]

§ 1361. Minute Entry of Inspection.

(Section 14.) The county surveyor, or such member or members of said board, when they act jointly, must, at the next regular meeting of the board, make a minute entry of each inspection. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 326.]

CHAPTER IV.

COMMON HIGHWAYS.

§ 1362. Petition by Freeholders to Establish, Change or Discontinue Highway.

(Section 1.) Any ten or a majority of the freeholders of a road district, taxable therein for road purposes, may petition in writing the board of county commissioners to establish, change or discontinue any common highway therein. When such a highway is petitioned for, upon the dividing line between two (2) counties, the same course must be pursued as in other cases, except that a copy of the petition must be presented to the board of county commissioners of each county, who may appoint viewers to act jointly and the viewers so appointed must report their findings to both boards. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 326.]

The people of a county can establish and construct as many highways, bridges and ferries as they deem necessary, and by whatsoever method of procedure they may elect; and, incident to the authority given to a board of county commissioners to issue bonds, is the necessary power to proceed with the entire project for which the bonds are to issue. Reid v. Lincoln County, 46 Mont. 31, 64, 125 Pac. 429.

A county may establish a highway by any method of procedure it may elect, and its issue of bonds for that purpose, authorized at a valid election, will not be held invalid because the requisite number of freeholders may not petition therefor; or because the county may not be able to acquire the rights of way; or because Congress had not given permission, before the bond election, to erect a bridge across a navigable stream, where such permission has been given since the election. Reid v. Lincoln County, 46 Mont. 31, 65, 125 Pac. 429.

§ 1363. Contents of Petition.

(Section 2.) The petition must be set forth and describe particularly the highways to be abandoned, discontinued, altered or constructed, and if the same is to be altered, laid out or constructed, the general route thereof, over what lands, who are owners thereof, whether such of them as can be found consent thereto, and if not the probable cost of the right of way, where consent is not had, the necessity for and advantage of the proposed road. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 327.]

§ 1364. Viewing of Proposed Road—Viewers and Their Compensation.

(Section 3.) When any such petition is filed, the board of county commissioners at its next regular meeting, shall fix a time not exceeding sixty

(60) days from date of such meeting, for viewing of such proposed road, and shall appoint and cause to be notified three disinterested freeholders of the county, one of whom may be the county surveyor, or some other competent surveyor designated by the board, who shall act as viewers. The persons so appointed must, at time designated by the board, proceed to the discharge of their duties, taking an oath or affirmation before entering upon the same that they will faithfully and impartially discharge such duties according to law; such oath or affirmation may be administered by any proper officer, or by any one of the viewers who has been previously sworn by a proper officer. The viewers, except the county surveyors or surveyor designated in his stead, shall receive as compensation not to exceed five dollars ($5) each day for their services, out of the road fund of the county; the surveyor serving instead of the county surveyor shall receive the same compensation as may be provided for the county surveyor for like services. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 327.]

§ 1365. Refusal to Act as Viewer a Misdemeanor.

(Section 4.) Any person who shall be appointed by the county commissioners as a viewer, reviewer or surveyor of any road, who shall refuse or neglect to act as such without making to said board satisfactory excuse for such refusal or neglect, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be subject to a fine of not exceeding fifty dollars ($50). [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 327.]

§ 1366. Duty of Viewer—Report.

(Section 5.) It shall be the duty of the viewers to view and lay out the proposed road or change over the route and in the manner proposed; but they may also, in their discretion, or by order of the county commissioners, investigate and consider feasibility and cost of any other route than the one petitioned for which would serve the same purpose. They must notify all resident owners or agent of land over which the proposed road or change passes; ascertain whether the resident owners consent thereto, and the amount, if any, they claim or demand for the right of way over which it passes, together with the cost of additional fencing and of any bridging or grading necessary; the necessity for, or the public convenience to be subserved by the proposed road or change and whether, in their opinion, such proposed road should be opened or such change be made. When their view is completed, the viewers must report to the board of county commissioners:

1. The course, termini, length and probable cost of construction of the proposed highway or change.

2. The estimate of damages to the owners of any lands over which it is proposed to run the highway, or that may be affected by the proposed change, including the cost of any additional fencing required.

3. The names of land owners who consent to give the right of way, with their written consent thereto.

4. The names of those who do not consent, the amount of damages claimed by each, and when there are nonresident land owners and no agent upon the land upon whom notice can be served, such nonresident land owners must be considered as nonconsenting, unless their written consent is obtained.

5. The feasibility, desirability, and cost of any other route or change serving the same purpose, with the necessity for a greater, or the practicability of a less width than petitioned for. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 327.]

§ 1367. Hearing of Report of Viewers.

(Section 6.) The board of county commissioners at the next meeting after the filing of the report, or at the time when the report is filed, if then in session, must fix the day for hearing the same, must notify the owners of lands not consenting to give the right of way of the hearing, by having written notice served on them by registered mail, postage prepaid, to their postoffice address or to that of the occupant or agent of the owner; or if neither the owner, agent of the owner, or occupant, can be notified by reason of nonresidence or other cause, then by posting notices, one on a conspicuous place on the land, or left at the owner's, agent's or occupant's residence, and one at the courthouse, ten (10) days prior to the day fixed for the hearing, and must on that day fixed for the hearing or to which it may be postponed or adjourned, hear the evidence and proof from all parties interested for and against the proposed alteration of the new road, ascertain and by order declare the amount of damage awarded to each nonconsenting land owner and declare the report of the viewers to be approved or rejected. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 328.]

§ 1368. Ordering Highway to be Opened—Order Concerning Payment of Damages.

(Section 7.) If the board approve the report and there are no non-consenting land owners, the highway may by order be declared a public highway and the road supervisor or other person designated by the board of county commissioners ordered to open the same to the public, and the board shall order the county surveyor, or if the county surveyor is incompetent, some other competent surveyor designated by the board, to survey the same and plat it and file his field-notes with the county clerk and recorder, for which the surveyor shall receive seven dollars ($7) per day and actual traveling expenses.

The board of county commissioners upon making each and every order establishing the location or alteration of any highway, must order the amount of damages sustained by each and every person owning or claiming lands or any improvements thereon and affected thereby, as finally fixed and assigned by them, to be set apart in the treasury out of the proper funds, to be paid to the proper owner or claimant, if known, and to be kept for the owner or claimant if unknown, and to be paid to him or her upon showing or establishing their right or title to such lands or improvements. Any moneys set apart, as herein provided for, must be returned to the fund from which it was set apart, if not paid to or accepted by the proper owner or claimant. If the awards are all accepted the road must be declared a public highway and be opened as before provided. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 329.]

§ 1368a. Determination of Damages.

(Section 8.) The damage must be determined by ascertaining the benefits and damages accruing to any person by reason of altering, changing, or laying out such roads, and the sum estimated as benefits must be deducted from the sum estimated as damages, and the remainder, if any, shall be the amount of damages awarded. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 329.]

§ 1369. Condemnation Proceedings on Rejection of Damages.

(Section 9.) If any award of damages is not accepted within thirty days from the date of the award it shall be deemed rejected by the land owners. The board must, by order, direct proceedings to procure the right of way to be instituted by the county attorney of the county under and as provided by Title VII, Part III of the Code of Civil Procedure against all nonaccepting land owners, and when thereunder the right of way is procured, the roads must be declared a public highway and opened as hereinbefore provided. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 329.]

A person's land may be taken for a highway, upon payment of full compensation therefor. Flynn v. -Beaverhead County, 49 Mont. 347, 353, 141 Pac. 673.

§ 1370. Fund from Which Expenditures to be Paid.

(Section 10.) All awards by agreement, ascertainment by the board of county commissioners, or by the proper court, and all expenses of viewing, surveying, laying out, or altering any road must be paid out of the general road fund on the order of the board of commissioners. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 329.]

§ 1371. Record of Opening or Alteration of Road.

(Section 11.) If a highway is opened or altered, the final report of the viewers, including the plat, field-notes, and report of the surveyor, must be recorded in the office of the county clerk in books kept for that purpose. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 330.]

The record of a county road, kept by the county commissioners, under former sections 1341 and 1357, is a recognition of the road, by the board, as a public road; and this, together with other facts showing its use by the public, is a sufficient prima facie showing that it is a public road. Smith v. Zimmer, 45 Mont. 282, 293, 125 Pac. 420.

§ 1372. Notice of Opening or Altering Highway.

(Section 12.) If a highway is ordered to be altered, or opened, the board of county commissioners must cause notices thereof to be posted at three public places along the line of said highway, stating that said highway will be opened and worked after sixty days from the date of posting said notice. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 330.]

§ 1373. Opening Highway Through or Along Growing Crops.

(Section 13.) No highway must be ordered opened through field or growing crops or along the line where crops would thereby be exposed to stock until the owner thereof has sufficient time to harvest and care for such crops. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 330.]

§ 1374. Notice to District Supervisor of Opening Highway—Award of Contract—Bond of Contractor.

(Section 14.) When a highway is to be opened, constructed, altered, or widened, the county clerk must notify the supervisor of the proper district and furnish him with a certified copy of the order of the county commissioners; provided, that when the estimated cost of opening, constructing, altering, or widening exceeds two hundred dollars the work may, in the discretion of the county commissioners, be let by contract; and if such estimated cost exceeds the sum of five hundred dollars, such work may be let by contract, unless the board shall find that such work may be otherwise done at less cost; but before any contract shall be let, as provided herein, the board of county commissioners shall advertise for bids therefor at least once a week for two successive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the county, and the contract shall then be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder who shall, before entering upon the performance of the work, execute and deliver to the board of county commissioners an undertaking with two or more sureties, to be approved by the board of county commissioners, in a sum not less than equal the amount for which the contract is awarded and conditioned for the prompt, faithful, and efficient performance of such work; provided, however, the board of county commissioners may reserve the right to reject any and all bids. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 330.]

§ 1375. Recordation of Deeds and Judgments for Right of Way.

(Section 15.) In all cases where consent to use the right of way for a highway is voluntarily given, purchased, or condemned and paid for, either an instrument in writing, conveying the right of way and incidents thereto, signed and acknowledged by the party making it, or a certified copy of the judgment of the court condemning the same, must be made and filed and recorded in the office of the county clerk, in which the land so conveyed or condemned must be particularly described. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 330.]

§ 1376. Crossings of Railroad, Canals and Ditches.

(Section 16.) Whenever highways are laid out across railroads, canals, or ditches, or public lands, the owners or corporations using the same must, at their own expense, so prepare their roads, canals, or ditches, that the public highway may cross the same without damage or delay; and when the right of way for a public highway is obtained through the judgment of any court over any railroad, canal, or ditch, no damage must be awarded for the simple right to cross the same. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 331.]

§ 1377. Removal of Fences—Notice.

(Section 17.) When the alteration of an old or the opening up of a new road makes it necessary to remove the fences on land given, purchased, or condemned by order of the court for road or highway purposes, notice to remove the fence must be given by the road supervisor or other person designated by the board of county commissioners to the owner, the occupant or agent, by registered mail, postage prepaid, to his or her address; and if the same is not done within ten days thereafter, or commenced and prosecuted with due diligence, the road supervisor or other person designated by the board of county commissioners must cause it to be removed at the expense of the owner and recover of him the cost of such removal, and the fence material may be sold to satisfy the judgment. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 331.]

§ 1378. Highway to Follow Subdivision or Section Lines.

(Section 18.) Highways must be laid out and opened when practicable upon subdivision or section lines; provided, however, that this section shall not be construed to prevent roads being laid out on diagonal lines when public purposes shall be best subserved thereby. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 331.]

§ 1379. Change of Highway upon Petition of Freeholders.

(Section 19.) Upon a petition signed by a majority of the freeholders, or owners, residing upon any common highway, or portion thereof, petitioning that such highway, or a portion thereof, be so changed as to run on subdivision or section lines, the board of county commissioners must proceed to investigate the same, to all intents and purposes as though it were a petition to establish, change, or discontinue any common highway, as such proceedings are provided for in this chapter, and after such investigation or hearing may make such change, provided it can be done without material damage, injury, or serious inconvenience to the public customarily using such highway, or portion thereof; provided further, that those petitioning for such change shall bear all or such portion of the cost and expense thereof as the county commissioners may order. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 331.]

§ 1380. Defects in Proceedings Immaterial.

(Section 20.) None of the proceedings authorized by this chapter shall be invalid by reason of any defect, informality, or irregularity therein which does not materially affect the interests of the county or prejudice the substantial rights of property owners immediately concerned. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 331.]

BRIDGES.

§ 1381. County to Maintain Public Bridges.

(Section 1.) All public bridges are maintained by the county at large under the management and control of the board of county commissioners, the expense of construction, maintaining and repairing the same provided in this act. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 332.]

The word "bridge" includes the approaches thereto; hence, where the constitutional limitation of a county debt for a single purpose is ten thousand dollars, a contract whereby the county obligates itself to pay within a few dollars of that sum for the bridge alone, when an additional expenditure will be required to complete the bridge and its approaches, running the total expenditure beyond the constitutional limitation, is void. Jenkins v. Newman, 39 Mont. 77, 81, 101 Pac. 77.

A bridge is not such "county property" as that its value shall enter into consideration in the adjustment of indebtedness and property rights and liabilities, when a new county is created out of an old one; it is to be treated as but a portion of the public highway. State v. Ritch, 49 Mont. 155, 157, 140 Pac. 731.

Editorial Notes.

Approval as part of bridge. Ann. Cas. 1912B, 792.

§ 1382. Bridge Tax—Levy and Collection.

(Section 2.) The board of county commissioners may levy a special tax not to exceed two mills on the dollar of the taxable property of the county for the purpose of constructing, maintaining, and repairing free public bridges. Such tax must be levied and collected in the same manner as other taxes, and the money when collected and paid into the county treasury must be kept as a special bridge fund, subject to the order of the board of county commissioners, to be used in the construction, maintaining, and repairing of bridges at such places as said board directs. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 332.]

§ 1383. Construction or Repair of Bridges Costing More than Two Hundred Dollars.

(Section 3.) No bridge, the cost of construction or repairs of which exceeds two hundred dollars ($200), shall be constructed or repaired except on the order of the board of county commissioners; and when ordered to be constructed or repaired it may be done by contract; provided, that such construction shall be done according to the standard plans and specifications adopted and established by the state highway commission, and copies of which shall be on file at all times in the office of the county clerk in each county of the state; provided, however, that whenever such plans so furnished cannot be applied, the county commissioners shall have prepared such necessary plans and specifications which shall be on file in the office of the county clerk thirty days prior to the letting of any such contract. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 332.]

§ 1384. Letting of Contract.

(Section 4.) All bids must be sealed, opened at the time specified in the notices, and a contract awarded to the lowest bidder. The board of county commissioners may, however, reject any and all bids; provided, however, that if the state highway commission shall have adopted or established a standard plan and specification, the bids must be submitted upon such standard plan so adopted and established. The contract and bond for its performance must be entered into and approved by the said board, except in cases of great emergency, and by the unanimous consent of all its members. The said board may proceed at once to construct, replace, and repair any and all structures of whatever nature without notice. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 332.]

§ 1385. Construction of Bridges Crossing County Lines.

(Section 5.) Bridges crossing the line between counties must be constructed by the counties into which said bridges reach, and each of the counties must pay such portion of the cost as has been previously agreed upon by the board of county commissioners of the respective counties. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 333.]

CHAPTER VI.

OBSTRUCTIONS AND ENCROACHMENTS ON HIGHWAYS.

§ 1386. Construction of Sidewalks—Damage to Sidewalk by Team.

(Section 1.) Any owner or occupant of land may construct a sidewalk on the highway along the line of his land, subject, however, to the authority conferred by law on the board of county commissioners and the road supervisors; and any person using said sidewalk with mule, horse, or team without permission of the owner is liable to such owner or occupant in the sum of five dollars for each trespass, and for all damages suffered thereby. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 333.]

§ 1387. Fences and Buildings Encroaching upon Highway.

(Section 2.) If any highway duly laid out or erected is encroached upon by fences, buildings, or otherwise, the road supervisor of the district must give notices, orally or in writing, requiring the encroachment to be removed from the highway. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 333.]

§ 1388. Notice to Remove Encroachment.

(Section 3.) Notice must be given to the occupant or owner of the land, or person causing or owning the encroachment, or left at his place of residence, if he be known to the person giving such notice and resides in the county; if not, it must be posted on the encroachment specifying the breadth of the highway, the place and extent of the encroachment, and requiring him to remove the same forthwith. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 333.]

§ 1389. Penalty for Failure to Remove Encroachment Promptly.

(Section 4.) If the encroachment is not removed forthwith, or commenced to be removed forthwith, and the removal is not diligently prosecuted, the one who caused, owns, or controls the encroachment forfeits ten dollars for each day the same continues unremoved. If the encroachment is such as to effectually obstruct and prevent the use of the highway for vehicles, the road supervisor must forthwith remove the same. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 333.]

A road supervisor is personally answerable in damages for personal injuries sustained by reason of his negligent failure to repair, or give notice of a defect in a public highway, which had been known to him for several months prior to such injuries. Smith v. Zimmer, 45 Mont. 282, 301, 125 Pac. 420.

§ 1390. Action to Remove or Abate Encroachment—Costs and Damages.

(Section 5.) If the encroachment is denied and the owner, occupant, or person controlling the matter or thing charged with being an encroachment, refuses either to remove or permit the removal thereof, the road supervisor must commence in the proper court an action to abate the same as a nuisance; and if he recovers judgment, he may in addition to having the same abated, recover ten dollars for every day such nuisance remained after such notice, and also his costs in said action. The board of county commissioners may at any time order the supervisor to forthwith remove any encroachment without commencing an action. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 333.]

[Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 334.]

§ 1392. Liability for Permitting Water to Overflow Highway.

(Section 7.) Any person storing or distributing water for any purpose who permits the water to overflow any highway to the injury thereof, must, upon notification by the board of county commissioners or the road supervisor of the district where such overflow occurred, repair the damages occasioned by overflow; and should such repairs not be made within a reasonable time by such person the road supervisor must make such repairs and recover the expense thereof from such person in an action at law. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 334.]

§ 1393. Excavations Across Highway—Permit and Bridges.

(Section 8.) All persons contemplating the excavation of irrigating, mining, drainage, or other ditches across the public highways are required to obtain a permit in writing from the board of county commissioners or the supervisor of said district before beginning such excavations, and to bridge such irrigation, mining, drainage, or other ditches at once, substantially and in accordance with the plans and specifications furnished by the board of county commissioners; and thereafter said bridges shall be maintained by the county. And on failure or neglect to bridge as in this section provided, the supervisor of the road district must immediately remove any obstruction placed there, and refill such ditch, if necessary for the convenience of the traveling public. § 1396. Limit of Speed Posted on Bridges.

(Section 11.) Road supervisors must, when ordered by the board of county commissioners so to do, put upon bridges under their charge notices that there is "Five Dollars Fine for Riding or Driving on This Bridge Faster Than a Walk." It shall be the duty of the road supervisor to notify the county attorney of any and all violations of this act. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 335.]

§ 1399. Dumping Garbage upon or Near Highway.

(Section 14.) It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to dump or leave any garbage or dead animal in or upon any public highway, road, or alley of this state, or within two hundred yards of such public highway, road, or alley. Any person found guilty of a violation of this section shall be fined in a sum not exceeding twenty-five dollars ($25), or imprisoned in the county jail for a period not exceeding thirty days, or be punished by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. such further surveys, plans and specifications or estimates as in their opinion may be necessary, and said road shall be constructed or improved according to the plans, specifications and estimates finally approved by said commissioners.

All road construction, improvements or maintenance on state roads in the several counties shall be under the direction of the board of county commissioners of the county in which the work is done, in accordance with the rules and regulations and subject to the supervision and approval of the state highway commission, provided, that if any such construction, improvement or maintenance is upon a road on the boundary between two counties the boards of county commissioners of said counties shall determine by mutual agreement the portion of said road to be constructed, improved or maintained by each, and if said boards cannot agree, said apportionment shall be made by the state highway commission. For the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act, the board of county commissioners of any county may employ a competent civil engineer and road builder who shall be paid for his services not to exceed $12 per day; who shall serve during the pleasure of said board, whose duty it shall be, under the direction and control of said board, to make all surveys, establish grades, prepare plans and specifications and estimates, supervise the construction and repair of all roads within the county; prescribe the time and place when and where all work shall be done on such road; report any delinquency or inefficiency of any road overseer or other person employed upon such roads to the board of county commissioners, and perform such other duties as may be prescribed by said board.

All contracts for work on state roads shall be let by the board of county commissioners of the county where such work is to be done.

Where the estimated cost of such work exceeds one thousand dollars ($1,000) upon any road or part thereof, it shall be the duty of the county commissioners letting such contracts to give fourteen days' notice in one newspaper of general circulation in the county where the proposed road is located, or if located on the boundary line of two counties in one newspaper of general circulation of each of said counties calling for sealed bids upon such work, and if the lowest responsible bidder does not exceed the estimate of cost the contract may be let to such bidder. All of the bids may be rejected and new bids called for in the same manner, or the work may be done by day labor or convict or prison labor as may be deemed for the best interests of the general public.

The contractor shall at once after being awarded a contract for construction, improvement or maintenance work on a state road, and before entering upon the work thereunder, execute to the people of the state of Montana bond in a penal sum equal to one-half of the amount of such contract price, with approved securities conditioned upon the faithful discharge of his duties under such contract.

All payments made upon contract work upon state roads shall be made by the board of county commissioners of the county in which such road is located (except where the road is a county line between two counties, in which case each county shall pay its pro rata of the cost as fixed by the highway commission), upon estimates furnished by the engineer or superintendent in charge of such construction and approved by the highway commission, but at least twenty per cent of the amount of each estimate shall be withheld until the final completion and acceptance of the work, and then paid with the final estimate. The said commission may from time to time, as work progresses under contracts on state roads, direct the state auditor to draw warrant in favor of the treasurer of the county in which such work is being done, and charge the same to the amount set aside for such county. [Approved March 13, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 78, p. 323.]

The board of county commissioners of each county in the state shall, on or before December 30th, of each year, make to the state highway commission two detailed reports of all moneys expended by such county for the current year in the construction, improvement and maintenance of roads in said county. One of said reports shall cover all items expended upon state roads under this act under the supervision and direction of the highway commission and the other report shall cover all moneys expended by the county for other roads in said county or upon the line thereof.

The said county commissioners shall also in such reports make recommendations as to the roads in said county which in their judgment should be improved or constructed the following year, under this act, and report all new discoveries of road material, giving location, character and extent or amount of same as nearly as possible.

The state highway commission shall, on or before January 15th of each year, certify to the state auditor the amount of the state highway fund which each of the counties is to receive for the current year under the provisions of this act, and the state auditor shall at once draw his warrant on said fund in favor of the county treasurer of each county for the amount due the several counties in the state, remaining to the credit of such county. [Approved March 13, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 78, p. 325.]

That the state highway commission shall on the first day of December preceding the biennial session of each legislature, make to the Governor a detailed report of the work of such commission for the time intervening between its prior report, and such suggestions and recommendations as to legislation as will, in the judgment of the commission, advance the interest of good roads in the state.

(Section 13.) All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed.

(Section 14.) This act [§§ 1440-1451 herein] shall take effect from and after its passage and approval by the Governor. [Approved March 13, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 78, p. 326.]

§ 1452. Construction of Road—Use of Material from Neighboring Land.

The state board of land commissioners of the state of Montana is hereby authorized and directed, in its discretion, to permit any counties, or subdivisions thereof, road districts, or other persons desiring to construct public roads or highways, to remove and use, if desired, from the public lands owned, controlled, or held by the state, without payment or charge, all timber, stone, dirt, and gravel necessary for the construction or maintenance of any public highways within the state. [Approved March 5, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 66, p. 93.]

§ 1453. Good Roads Day.

The third Tuesday in June in each year is hereby designated "Good Roads Day" and the Governor shall annually, on or before the first day of June, by public proclamation, request the people of the state to contribute labor, material, or money toward the improvement of public highways in their respective communities upon that day. [In effect February 18, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 20, p. 29.]

(Section 1.) When heretofore proceedings have been taken by the board of county commissioners of any county in this state ordering the submission to the electors of the question of issuing the bonds of the county for the construction of necessary highways and bridges within the county, and an election has been had on said question, such proceedings so taken, and such election so held, and any bonds of such county hereafter issued pursuant thereto and not in excess of the constitutional limit of indebtedness, are hereby legalized and declared to be valid.

(Section 2.) This act shall not apply to any actions now pending in which the validity of said proceedings, election or bonds is called in question. [Approved March 18, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 129, p. 481.]

(Section 1.) When it shall be made to appear by petition to any board of county commissioners in this state that it is necessary to keep and maintain a public ferry across, or a wharf at any unfordable stream, lake, estuary, or bay, any county within the state, through its board of county commissioners, is hereby authorized to construct, or to acquire by condemnation or purchase, and to operate, maintain, direct, regulate and control the operation of a ferry across, or a wharf at, any unfordable stream, lake, estuary, or bay within, or bordering on said county, together with all the necessary boats, grounds, roads, approaches, landings, and improvements pertaining thereto, with full jurisdiction and authority to operate and maintain the same free or for toll.

(Section 2.) The board of county commissioners, in the exercise of the power herein bestowed, may acquire real property, as provided in the Code of Civil Procedure, Title VII, Part III, provided that no county ferry or wharf shall be established or maintained with a landing place in any incorporated town or city, which, by its charter, is vested with the power to build and regulate ferries, wharves or landings at the foot of streets terminating at a river or harbor.

(Section 3.) When public ferries, if constructed, would unite two counties, the boards of county commissioners may act jointly to construct, maintain and operate any such ferry or ferries, provided that each county shall acquire its own landings and approaches, and maintain the same separately. Where ferrymen are employed on joint ferries, each county board shall receive a quarterly report from said ferryman, giving such information as the board of county commissioners of either county may require.

(Section 4.) The board of county commissioners may employ one or more ferrymen to operate free or toll ferries, and the board may lease any ferries or wharves to a company, firm, or individual, to be operated for the use of the public, and said company, firm, or individual shall give bond in an amount deemed sufficient by the board of county commissioners, and conditioned for the careful and businesslike operation of such ferry or wharf, in accordance with law and the regulations of said board.

HEALTH.

§ 1497. Expenses of Board of Health.

All necessary expenses incurred by any local board of health and the salary of each local health officer, shall be paid from the treasury of the respective city or town, on presentation of an itemized and verified account; and all expenses incurred by a county board of health in the enforcement of the provisions of this act, shall be paid from the general fund of the respective counties, on presentation of an itemized and verified account. The city or town shall be liable for all expenses incurred with reference to residents of such city or town, except paupers and the county shall be liable for all expenses incurred with reference to persons who are not residents of such city or town; provided, that persons who are merely sojourning in such city or town, or delayed by the authorities, or transients therein, or temporarily stopping therein without employment shall not be deemed residents of such city or town. The county shall be liable for all expenses necessarily incurred by any local board of health with respect to any person not a resident of the city or town, and the city shall be liable for all expenses necessarily incurred by any county board of health with reference to any person except paupers who is a resident of such city or town. No county, city or town shall escape any such liability for such expenses by transporting any person infected with, or known to have been exposed to, any communicable disease to any other county, city or town, or by persuading or inducing such person to go to such other city or town, or county. [Amendment approved March 8, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 164.]

§ 1500. Definition of Communicable Disease.

The term "communicable disease" as used in this act, shall be understood to include the following diseases: Smallpox, diphtheria, membranous croup, so-called scarlet fever, "spotted" or "tick" fever, typhus fever, enteric or typhoid fever, cerebro-spinal meningitis, measles, whooping cough, mumps, antero-polio myelitis or infantile paralysis, and tuberculosis and other diseases as the state board of health may hereafter designate. [Amendment approved February 13, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 15.]

§ 1509. Sewer System to be Approved by Board of Health.

Whenever any city, town, or corporation, or person shall hereafter contemplate the construction of any sewer system that will empty into any stream or source of water supply in this state, they shall submit a plan of such proposed system to the state board of health and said board shall cause a thorough investigation to be made and if after such an investigation they shall determine that such sewerage will so pollute the waters of any stream or source of water supply as to endanger the health or lives of the citizens of this state, or any of them, they shall submit to the judge of the district court of the district in which such proposed sewerage system is located, the evidence on which their findings are based and if said judge upon that evidence, and such other evidence as the judge may receive on a hearing at which all parties in interest may be heard and present evidence if they desire, shall find that the action of the state board of health is just and unbiased, he shall issue an order preventing the construction of such sewerage system except under such conditions as the state board of health may designate.

A city or town may appeal to the district court of the county in which such city or town may be located from any order of the state board of health affecting such city or town at any time within thirty days after the service on the city or town council of such order. Such appeal may be taken by filing notice thereof in such court either before or after serving a copy of such notice on any member of the state board of health. The court may order pleadings to be filed to present the issues and such case shall be tried de novo the same as appeal from a justice court. [Amendment approved March 2, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 129.]

The prohibition of the statute relative to the protection of a public water supply, sections 1559-1572, is against the pollution of a stream at any place within the state; hence, an order of the state board of health, prohibiting a city from emptying sewage into a designated river, is not affected by the fact that the intake of the water supply of the next town, on the river, below the outfall of defendant's sewer, is many miles away. Miles City v. State Board of Health, 39 Mont. 405, 411, 25 L. R. A. (N. S.), 589, 102 Pac. 696.

A city or town shall not be prohibited or enjoined from discharging its sewerage into a river or body of water unless such sewerage so pollutes the waters thereof as to be dangerous to public health. [Amendment approved March 2, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 130.]

§ 1639. Appointment of Inspector of Boilers—Salary.

There must be appointed by the Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, one inspector of boilers, whose duty it is to inspect all steam boilers now in use in the state, not subject to inspection under the laws of the United States, and to examine and grant licenses to steam engineers intrusted with the care and management of steam boilers and steam machinery. The salary of the inspector of boilers is two thousand five hundred dollars per year, and his term of office is four years, unless sooner removed by the Governor. The inspector of boilers must execute an official bond in the sum of five thousand dollars. [Amendment approved February 24, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 32.]

§ 1640. Qualifications of Inspector.

No person is eligible to hold the office of inspector of boilers and steam engines who has not had at least ten (10) years of actual experience in the operation of steam engines, steam boilers and steam machinery, and who has not held for at least five years immediately preceding his appointment a first-class stationary engineer's license of the state of Montana, or who is directly or indirectly interested in the manufacture or sale of boilers or steam machinery or any patented article required to be sold relating thereto. [Amendment approved February 24, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 32.]

§ 1641. Assistants to Boiler Inspector.

There shall be three assistant inspectors of boilers, each of whom shall be called assistant inspector of boilers. Such assistant inspectors must be persons who have had at least five years' practical experience in the operation of steam engines and boilers and must have held a first-class stationary engineer's license within the state of Montana for at least one year immediately prior to appointment as assistant inspectors and must be persons of temperate habits and good character and qualified to perform the duties of their office. They shall be appointed by the Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and be subject to removal at the will of the Governor. The salary of each assistant inspector shall be two thousand one hundred dollars per year. Each assistant inspector must execute an official bond in the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars.

There shall be a clerk to the state boiler inspector to be appointed by the Governor who shall also perform the duties of clerk to the state quartz mining inspector and the clerk of the state coal mine inspector. The salary of such clerk shall be one thousand five hundred ($1,500) dollars per year, nine hundred ($900) dollars of which shall be charged to the state boiler inspector's department; three hundred ($300) dollars of which shall be charged to the state quartz mining inspector's department; and three hundred ($300) dollars of which shall be charged to the state coal mine inspector's department, provided that when such clerk ceases to perform the duties as clerk to any one of the departments no part of such salary shall be charged to that department. Such clerk shall execute an official bond in the sum of two thousand dollars. [Amendment approved February 24, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 33. Prior amendment: Laws 1911, p. 13.]

§ 1642. Place of Office—Rules and Regulations.

The inspector of boilers must have his office at the seat of government, and must adopt rules as nearly uniform as possible for the inspection of steam boilers and prescribe the nature and extent of the examination of applicants for licenses and adopt such rules for the issuing thereof as are required by the provisions of this article, and must adopt such rules as he may deem necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this article. [Amendment approved February 24, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 33.]

§ 1643. Inspection of Boilers.

The inspector of boilers must inspect all steam boilers and steam generators before the same are used and all persons who bring into this state any boiler or boilers must notify the boiler inspector stating the number and kind of boilers, where the same had theretofore been located and where they are to be located and operated in this state, and must secure from the boiler inspector a certificate of inspection before said boilers are placed in operation, except in the case of new boilers, which must be inspected within ninety (90) days after they are put in use, and all boilers must be inspected at least once in every year. Provided, that where a boiler has not been in use for more than sixty days during the year the inspector may, if he is satisfied that said boiler has been properly cared for and is in good condition, extend such certificate for an additional year without further inspection.

tion of such boiler, which extension shall be made without additional charge. Any person failing to give notice to the boiler inspector as herein provided, or who operates such boilers without a certificate from the boiler inspector shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred ($100) dollars nor more than five hundred ($500) dollars for each offense, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than thirty days nor more than ninety days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. The inspector of boilers must subject all boilers to hydrostatic pressure, which hydrostatic pressure must be thirty-three per cent greater than the steam pressure allowed on the boilers, providing there are no such leaks on such boilers which prevent the inspector from applying such hydrostatic pressure, and the inspector must satisfy himself by and through interior and exterior examination that the boilers are well made and good and suitable material; and the openings for the passage of water and steam, respectively, and all pipes and tubes exposed to heat are of the proper dimensions and free from obstructions; that the flues are circular in form; that the fire line of the furnace is at least two inches below prescribed minimum water line of the boilers; that the arrangement for delivering the feed water is such that the boilers cannot be injured thereby, and that such boilers and the steam connections may be safely employed without danger to life. [Amendment approved February 24, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 34.]

§ 1644. Further Requirements in Making Inspection.

The inspector must also satisfy himself that the safety valves are of suitable dimension, sufficient in number and area, and properly arranged, and that the safety valve weights are properly adjusted so as to allow no greater pressure in the boilers than the amount prescribed by the inspection certificate; that there are a sufficient number of gauge cocks properly inserted to indicate the amount of water, and suitable gauges that will correctly record the pressure of steam; and adequate and certain provisions for an ample supply of water to feed the boilers at all times, and that suitable means for blowing out are provided, so as to thoroughly remove mud and sediment from all parts of the boilers when they are under pressure or steam, and any renter, user or owner of a boiler or any person or persons who tamper with the safety valve to allow the boiler to carry greater pressure than is allowed by the inspection certificate shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

In subjecting the boilers to the hydrostatic test, the test applied must exceed the working pressure allowed in the ratio of one hundred to sixty-six and two-thirds, provided the valves and other conditions of piping on the boiler will allow the inspector to make such test. But where there are leaks on the boiler which make it impossible to apply such hydrostatic pressure or where the water cannot be procured with which to make such test, the inspector may make a hammer test of said boiler and inspect same closely and give to such boiler a rating for steam pressure as its condition will warrant. In all cases the inspector must use judgment in the steam pressure allowed on boilers. Where a boiler is constructed with lap horizontal seams on boiler, dome or drum, a factor of four and one-half shall be used in determining the safe working pressure allowed on such boiler. But where the boilers are constructed with butt-strap horizontal seams, a factor of four may be used in determining such safe working pressure. But in any case the inspector may use a higher factor if the conditions are such as to warrant it. If boiler rests on side wall on lugs, or is hung by eye-beams or is in any way set up so that the weight of the boiler is pulling against the horizontal seam of rivets, a factor of five must be used to determine the safe working pressure allowed on boiler. Where the horizontal lap seams of boiler are exposed to the fire, a factor of five must be used to determine the safe working pressure to be allowed on such boiler. On stay bolts, if new, seven thousand five hundred pounds pressure per square inch shall be allowed. If such stay bolts are corroded or defective the inspector must determine the pressure to be allowed on same. On braces made of solid material, eight thousand pounds' pressure per square inch shall be allowed. On welded braces or braces with only one crowfoot, six thousand pounds' pressure per square inch shall be allowed. No cast iron shall be used in the construction or reinforcements of any boiler where the pressure allowed on said boiler is more than one hundred pounds per square inch. [Amendment approved February 24, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 35.]

§ 1647. Duty of Owner to Permit Inspection—Sealing of Fire-box—Costs and Expenses.

It is the duty of the owners or managers of steam boilers to allow the inspector free access to the same. In case the owner or manager of any boiler is notified by the inspector to have said boiler ready for inspection on a day certain and fails to have such boiler ready for inspection at such time, the inspector shall at once seal up the fire-box in such boiler and such seal must not be removed from the fire door without a written order from the inspector. Any person tampering with or removing said seal shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than two months nor more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. If the owner or manager of any boiler that has been so sealed desires to have the same inspected before the next regular visit of the inspector to the district where said boiler is situated, he must pay all transportation and hotel expenses of the inspector who makes the inspection, in addition to the inspection fee provided by law. It shall be the duty of the engineer operating any boiler or boilers to assist the inspectors in their examination of the same and point out any defects known to him in the boilers or machinery under his charge. Any engineer not complying with this section shall have his license revoked or suspended. [Amendment approved February 24, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 36.]

§ 1648. Classification of Licenses—Who not Granted License.

No person must be granted a license to operate steam boilers or steam machinery under the provisions of this article who has not been examined by the inspector and found competent to perform the duties of an engineer and receive from such inspector a written or printed license so to act. Any person who operates any steam boiler or steam engine without first obtaining a license from the inspector or an assistant inspector is guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than sixty days or by both such fine and imprisonment. [Amendment approved February 24, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 37.]

The trade of engineer is a proper subject for police regulation. Johnson v. City of Great Falls, 38 Mont. 369, 374, 99 Pac. 1059.

§ 1649. Classification of Engineers.

Engineers intrusted with the care and management of steam machinery as specified in section 1648 must be divided into three classes, namely, first-class engineers, second-class engineers, and third-class engineers. No license shall be granted to any person to perform the duties of first-class engineer who has not taken and subscribed an oath that he has had at least three years' experience in the operation of steam boilers and steam machinery, or whose knowledge and experience is not such as to justify the belief that he is competent to take charge of all classes of steam boilers and steam machinery. No license must be granted to any person to act as second-class engineer who has not taken and subscribed an oath that he has had at least two years of experience in the operation of steam boilers and steam engines and at an examination found competent to take charge of all classes of steam boilers and steam machinery not exceeding one hundred horse-power. No license must be granted to any person to act as a third-class engineer who has not served at least one year as fireman under a competent engineer and found upon examination to be sufficiently acquainted with the duties of an engineer to be intrusted with steam boilers and steam machinery not exceeding twenty horse-power. All firemen who have charge of steam boilers as to the regulation of feed water and fuel where the boilers are so situated as not at all times to be under the eye of an engineer in charge, are required to pass a third-class engineer's examination and procure the same kind of license. All applicants for license as stationary engineers or firemen must be at least eighteen years of age. None of the licenses in this section above named shall entitle the holder thereof to operate a traction engine, but all persons who are intrusted with the care and management of traction engines or boilers on wheels, other than locomotives, are required to pass an examination as to their competency to operate such class of machinery and to procure a license to be known as a traction license. Such traction license shall not entitle the holder thereof to operate any other class of steam machinery specified in section 1648. No license shall be granted to any person to act as a traction engineer who has not had at least six months' experience as fireman on traction engines and who is not found upon examination to be sufficiently acquainted with the duties of traction engineer to be intrusted with the care of traction engines. Applicants for traction license must be at least eighteen years of age. [Amendment approved February 24, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 37.]

§ 1650. Complaints and Revocation of License.

Whenever complaint is made against an engineer holding a license from the inspector that he through negligence, want of skill, or inattention to duty, permitted his boiler to burn or otherwise become in bad condition, or that he has been found intoxicated while on duty, it is the duty of the inspector or assistant inspector to make a thorough investigation of the charge and upon satisfactory proof of such charge to revoke the license of such engineer. [Amendment approved February 24, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 38.]

§ 1651. Certificate of Inspection.

In making an inspection of the boilers and machinery herein provided for the inspectors may act jointly or separately but the inspector or assistant inspector making such inspection must in all cases certify the same under the seal of the boiler inspector's office. Any inspector or assistant inspector who willfully and feloniously certifies regarding any steam boilers or their attachments or grants a license to any person to act as engineer contrary to the provisions of this article is punishable under the provisions of section 8446, of the Revised Codes. [Amendment approved February 24, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 39.]

§ 1652. Fees for Inspection or Examination.

The inspector or assistant inspectors are authorized to charge a fee of ten dollars for the inspection of each single boiler and its steam connections and five dollars for each additional boiler when connected. The fee for the inspection of each traction engine boiler on wheels shall be ten dollars. The fee for the inspection of boilers in incorporated cities shall be five dollars. Such fees shall be payable at the time of the inspection. In case of the failure of the owner or manager or person in charge of any boiler to pay such fee upon the demand of the inspector, said inspector is authorized to seal the fire-box of said boiler and such seal shall not be removed until said fee is paid and the written order of the inspector authorizing its removal is received by said owner or manager. Any person who tampers with or removes said seal without such written order shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and punished as provided by section 1647. The fee for the examination of applicants for engineer's license is $7.50 for first-class engineer; $5 for second-class engineer; $3 for third-class engineers; and $3 for traction engineers; to be paid at the time of application for license. In case of the failure of any applicant to pass a successful examination, ninety days must elapse before he can again be examined as an applicant for a license. But the inspector may grant to the applicant a lower grade of license than that applied for upon such examination. All certificates of inspection and engineers' licenses must be displayed in a conspicuous place in the engine-room. [Amendment approved February 24, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 39.]

§ 1655. Locomotives and Low Pressure Boilers Exempted.

This article does not apply to locomotives in Montana nor to cast-iron boilers, nor to boilers used for heating purposes in private residences, nor to any boiler having a capacity of five horse-power or less; nor are locomotive engineers or persons operating any of the engines or boilers herein exempted from the operation of this article required to procure license from the inspector or assistant inspectors of boilers. It shall be the duty of the owner or user of any traction engine or boiler on wheels, other than locomotives, to notify the inspector of the location of such boiler on or before the first day of June of each year. Any owner or user of such traction engine or boiler who shall fail to notify the inspector shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. Any person purchasing any steam boiler, whether a traction or stationary boiler, shall be entitled to receive from the seller the certificates of inspection issued on such boiler, and any person purchasing any steam boiler, whether traction or stationary, not exempted by the provisions of this section, shall within ten days after such purchase report the fact of such purchase to the boiler inspector and notify such inspector where he intends to locate or operate said boiler. And any person failing to comply with this provision of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. [Amendment approved February 24, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 40.]

§ 1656. Annual Renewal of License—Annual Report of Inspector.

All certificates of license to engineers of all classes shall be renewed yearly. The fee for renewal is one dollar in all cases. Any engineer failing to renew his license as herein provided, or within at least thirty days thereafter, must forward the fee for the original license of the same grade, before license can be reissued. All moneys collected by virtue of the provisions of this article must be paid into the state treasury at least as often as once in each month. The inspector of boilers must make an annual report to the Governor on the tenth day of December of each year, setting forth the moneys collected by himself and assistant inspectors from any and all sources and the disbursements and the number of boilers inspected by them and the general results and experiences of his office together with such recommendations as to him may seem fit and proper. Said report must also refer to and account for the cause of any boiler explosion which may have occurred in the state during the year and the loss of life and property resulting therefrom. [Amendment approved February 24, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 40.]

§ 1657. Operation of Boiler Without License.

It is unlawful for any person in this state to operate a stationary boiler or steam engine or any boiler or steam engine other than railroad locomotives or other engines and boilers exempted by the provisions of section 1655, without a license granted under the provisions of this article. The owner, renter or user of any steam engine or boiler is equally liable for the violation of this action. But in case of accident, sickness, refusal to work or any unforeseen prevention of the licensed engineer employed by the owner, renter or user of a steam engine or boiler operated in remote districts which would retard the work to be performed, the owner, renter or user may, for the space of fifteen days employ any person of the age of eighteen years whom he may consider competent to run the engine or boiler, although such person so employed may not be the holder of an engineer's license. The person so employing the unlicensed engineer must immediately notify the inspector or assistant inspector. But no owner, renter or user of steam machinery shall be allowed to so employ unlicensed engineers for more than fifteen days in any one calendar year. And it shall be unlawful, except as stated in this section for any person, firm or corporation to employ any person not duly licensed as an engineer within the meaning of this act, to run or operate any of the boilers or engines subject to the provisions of this act. [Amendment approved February 24, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 41.]

By act approved February 24, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 42.

§ 1659. Sale of Second-hand Boilers.

Any person, firm or corporation who sells or offers to sell or who uses or attempts to use, or who rents to others for use or who delivers to others for use or who induces others to use any steam boiler that has theretofore been used, either within or without this state, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail for not longer than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Provided that the provisions of this section shall not apply to boilers or engines exempted by the provisions of section 1655, nor does it apply to boilers which have been inspected within one year prior to the commission of the act complained of and on which a certificate of inspection has been issued and has not been revoked, nor does it apply to boilers on which a certificate of inspection has been extended as provided in section 1643 within the time limit of such extension. [Amendment approved February 24, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 41.]

(Section 1.) This act [§§ 1679-1710q herein] shall be known as the Coal Mining Code of the state of Montana.

(Section 2.) The Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall appoint one state coal mine inspector qualified as herein-after provided, who shall hold office for a term of four years from the date of his appointment, unless otherwise removed by the Governor. A separate and similar map, drawn to the same scale in all cases, shall be made of each and every seam, which, after the passage of this act, shall be worked in any mine, and the maps of all such seams shall show all shafts, drifts, tunnels, incline planes or other passageways connecting the same. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1695. Map of the Surface.

(Section 40.) Every such map or plan, or at the option of the operator a separate map, shall show the surface boundary lines contiguous to the workings and pertaining to each mine, also all section or quarter-section lines and corners, town lots and streets, the tracks and side-tracks of all railroads, the location of all wagon roads, rivers, streams, ponds, buildings, landmarks and principal objects on the surface within the said boundary lines; and in all cases if of a separate surface map the same shall be drawn on transparent cloth or paper so that it can be laid upon the map of the underground workings and thus truly indicate the relative location of the lines and objects on the surface to the excavations of the mine. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1696. Copies of Maps for State Coal Mine Inspector.

(Section 41.) The original or true copies of all such maps shall be kept in the office at the mine, and true copies thereof shall also be furnished the state coal mine inspector within thirty days after completion of the same. The maps so delivered to the inspector shall be the property of the state and shall remain in the custody of the said inspector during his term of office and be delivered by him to his successor in office. They shall be kept at the office of the inspector and be open to inspection by all persons interested in the same, but such examination shall only be made in the presence of the inspector and he shall not permit any copies of the same to be made without the written consent of the operator or owner of the property, under penalty of removal from office. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1697. Annual Surveys.

(Section 42.) An extension of the last preceding survey of every mine in active operation shall be made once in every twelve months, prior to July 1st of every year, and the result of said survey, with the date thereon, shall be promptly and accurately entered upon the original maps so as to show all changes in plan or new work in the mine and all extensions of the workings to the most advanced face or boundary of said workings which have been made since the preceding survey. The said changes and extensions shall be entered upon the copies of the maps in the hands of the state coal mine inspector, or new copies thereof be furnished him, within thirty days after the last survey is made. Whenever the operator of any mine shall neglect or refuse, or for any cause not satisfactory to the state coal mine inspector fail, for a period of three months, to furnish to the said state coal mine inspector the map or plan of such mine, or a copy thereof or of the extension thereto, as provided for in this act, the said state coal mine inspector is hereby authorized to make or cause to be made an accurate map or plan of such mine at the expense of the owner or leaser thereof, and the cost of the same may be recovered by law from said owner, leaser or operator in the same manner as other debts by suit in the name of the state. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1698. Abandoned Mines.

(Section 43.) When any coal mine is worked out or is about to be abandoned or indefinitely closed the operator of the same shall make or cause to be made a final survey of all available parts of such mine, and the results of the same shall be duly extended on all maps of the mine and copies thereof, so as to show all excavations and the most advanced workings of the mine, and their exact relations to the boundary or section lines on the surface.

The state coal mine inspector may order a survey to be made of the workings of any mine which is about to be abandoned, or of which he has reason to believe the maps are inaccurate, whenever in his judgment the safety of the workmen, the support of the surface, the conservation of the property or the safety of an adjoining mine requires it. Such survey shall be paid for by the state. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1699. Mine Operators to Furnish Wash-houses for Employees.

(Section 44.) It shall be the duty of the owner, operator or superintendent of any coal mine in the state of Montana, to provide a suitable building, not an engine or boiler house, for the use of the persons employed in such mine for the purpose of washing themselves and changing their clothes when entering the mine and returning therefrom. The said building shall not be over eight hundred feet from and convenient to the principal entrance of such mine when practical to do so. When not practicable to build the wash-house within the said distance and still conform to the other requirements of this section the state coal mine inspector may give written permission to place the building at a greater distance from the mine than that herein specified and the operator shall not be guilty of violation of this section. The said building shall be maintained in good order, be properly lighted and heated and supplied with pure cold and warm water, and be provided with facilities for persons to wash and a suitable locker for each person to be used by him as a repository for his clothes.

If any person shall maliciously injure or destroy or cause to be injured or destroyed, the said building or any part thereof, or any of the appliances or fittings used for supplying light, heat or water therein or doing any act tending to the injury or destruction thereof, he shall be deemed guilty of an offense against this act and subject to a fine as hereinafter provided for. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1700. Oath of Weighman—Check Weighman.

(Section 45.) The weighman employed at any mine shall subscribe to an oath or affirmation before some officer authorized to administer oaths, to do justice between employer and employee, and to truly and correctly weigh the output of coal from the mines as herein provided. The miners employed by or engaged in working for any mine owner, operator or lessee of any mine in this state shall have the privilege, if they desire, of employing at their own expense a check weighman, who shall have like equal rights, powers and privileges in the weighing of coal as the regular weighman and be subject to the same oath and penalties as the regular weighman. Said oath or affirmation shall be kept conspicuously posted in the weight office, and any weigher of coal or person so employed, who shall knowingly violate any of the provisions of this section, or any owner, operator or agent of any coal mine in this state who shall forbid or hinder miners employing or using a check weighman as herein provided, or who shall prevent or willfully obstruct any such check weighman in the discharge of his duty, shall be deemed guilty of an offense against this act. Whenever the state coal mine inspector, or his deputy, shall be satisfied that the provisions of this section have been willfully violated, it shall be his duty to forthwith inform the prosecuting attorney of any such violation, together with all the facts within his knowledge and the prosecuting attorney shall thereupon investigate the charges so preferred, and if he is satisfied that the provisions of this section have been violated, it shall be his duty to prosecute the person or persons guilty thereof. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1701. Must not Use False Weights.

(Section 46.) Any person or persons having or using any scale or scales for the purpose of weighing the output of coal at mines must not arrange or construct them so that fraudulent weighing may be done thereby, and must not knowingly resort to or employ any means whatsoever by reason of which such coal is not correctly weighed and reported in accordance with the provisions of this act. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1702. General Equipment of Shafts.

(Section 47.) Every hoisting shaft must be equipped with safely constructed substantial cages fitted to guide-rails running from the top to the bottom of shaft. Said cages must be furnished with suitable boiler iron covers to protect persons riding thereon from falling objects and with sheet iron or steel casings on each side, not less than one-eighth inch in thickness, or wire netting of not less than one-eighth inch in diameter. They must be equipped with safety catches, said safety apparatus, whether consisting of eccentrics, springs or other devices, must be securely fastened to each cage and must be of sufficient strength to hold the cage loaded at any depth to which the shaft may be sunk. Every cage must be fitted with iron bars, chains or rings in proper place and sufficient in number to furnish a secure hand-hold for every person permitted to ride thereon. Gates not less than four feet high from the bottom of the cage shall be fitted to each cage and must be used during the regular hoisting or lowering of men; provided that when such cage is used for sinking only it need not be equipped with such doors as are hereinbefore provided for. At the top landing cage supports, when necessary, must be carefully set and adjusted so as to act automatically and securely hold the cage when at rest. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1703. Passageway Around the Bottom of Shafts.

(Section 48.) At the bottom of every shaft and at every caging place therein a safe and commodious passageway must be cut around such landing place to serve as a travelway by which men or animals may pass from one side of the shaft to the other without passing under or on the cage. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1704. Gates at the Top of Shafts.

(Section 49.) The upper and lower landings at the top of each shaft and the opening of each intermediate seam from or to the shaft, shall be kept free and clear from loose materials and shall be securely fenced with automatic or other gates, so as to prevent either men or materials from falling into the shaft. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1705. Two Places of Egress.

(Section 50.) For every coal mine in this state, whether worked by shaft, slope or drift, there shall be provided and maintained in addition to the hoisting shaft, slope or drift or other place of delivery a separate escapement shaft, slope or drift or opening to the surface, or an underground communication passageway between every such mine and some other contiguous mine, such as shall constitute two distinct and available means of egress to all persons employed in such coal mine. The time allowed for completing such escapement shaft or drift or making such connections with an adjacent mine, as is required by the terms of this act, shall be three months for shafts, slopes or drifts two hundred feet or less in depth or length, six months for shafts, slopes or drifts less than five hundred feet in depth or length and more than two hundred, and twelve months for all other shafts, slopes or drifts or connections with adjacent mines. The time to date in all cases from hoisting of coal from main shaft, slope or drift. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1706. Unlawful to Employ More Than Ten Men.

(Section 51.) It shall be unlawful to employ at any one time more men than in the judgment of the state coal mine inspector is absolutely necessary for speedily completing the connections with the escapement shaft, slope or drift or adjacent mine and said number must not exceed ten men at any one time for any purpose in said mine until such escapement connection is completed. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1706a. Passageways to Escapement.

(Section 52.) Such escapement shaft or opening, or communication with an adjacent mine aforesaid, shall be constructed in connection with every seam of coal worked in such mine, and all passageways communicating with the escapement shaft or place of exit, from the main hauling ways to said place of exit, shall be maintained free of obstructions, at least five feet wide and five feet in height. Such passageways must be so graded and drained that it will be impossible for water to accumulate in any depression or dip of the same, in quantities sufficient to obstruct the free and safe passage of men. At all points where the passageway to the escapement shaft or other place of exit is intersected by other roadways or entries, conspicuous sign-boards shall be placed indicating the direction it is necessary to take in order to reach such place of exit. Where pillars are being drawn on an entry outside of where other men are working, or where more than fifty per cent of the coal is taken out in rooms, connections for escapement shall be made with some adjoining entry to provide a safe exit for the men. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1706b. Distance of Escapement from Main Shaft.

(Section 53.) The distance between the main shaft and escapement shall not be less than one hundred feet where steel headframes are used, nor less than three hundred feet where wooden headframes are used, provided, that where slopes or drifts are driven in or on the coal strata, the distance between the escapement road or travelway and the slope drift or hauling way shall not be less than fifty feet. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1706c. Buildings on Surface.

(Section 54.) It shall be unlawful to erect any inflammable structure or building in any space intervening between the main shaft, slope or drift and the escapement shaft, slope or drift on the surface, or any powder magazine in such location or manner as to jeopardize the free and safe exit of the men from the mine by said escapement shaft, slope or drift in case of fire in the main shaft, slope or drift buildings. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1706d. Stairway or Cages in Escapement Shaft.

(Section 55.) The escapement shaft at every mine which does not exceed one hundred feet in vertical depth shall be equipped with safe and ready means for the prompt removal of men from the mine in time of danger, and such means shall be a substantial stairway which shall be provided with handrails and with platforms or landings not more than ten feet apart. Where the escapement exceeds one hundred feet in vertical depth, in place of the stairway, it may be equipped with a cage for hoisting men, and such cage must be suspended between guides and be so constructed that falling objects cannot strike persons being hoisted upon it. Such cage must be operated by steam or electricity which power shall be kept available for immediate use at all times and equipment of said hoisting apparatus shall include a depth indicator, a brake on the drum, a steel or iron cable and safety catches on the cage; and all such hoisting machinery must be inspected at least once each week by some competent person representing the operating company or owner. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1706e. Obstructions in Escapement Shaft.

(Section 56.) No accumulation of ice or obstruction of any kind shall be permitted in any escapement shaft, nor shall any steam be discharged into said shaft; and all surface or other water which flows therein shall be conducted by rings or otherwise, to receptacles for same so as to keep the stairway or cage free from falling water. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1706f. Weekly Inspection of Escapements.

(Section 57.) All escapement shafts and passageways leading thereto or to the works of a contiguous mine must be carefully examined at least once each week by the mine foreman or by a man specially delegated by him for that purpose, and the date and findings of such inspection must be entered in a record book in the office at the mine. If obstructions are found their location and nature must be stated together with the date on which they were removed. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1706g. Communication With Adjacent Mines.

(Section 58.) When operators of adjacent mines have by agreement established underground communication between said mines as an escape-outlet for the men employed in both mines, the roadways to the boundary on either side shall be regularly patrolled once each week and kept clear of all obstructions to travel by respective operators, and the intervening door shall remain unlocked and ready at all times for immediate use. When such communication has once been established between adjacent mines, it shall be unlawful for the operator of either mine to close the same without the consent of the contiguous operator and the state coal mine inspector; provided, that when either operator desires to abandon mining operations the expense and duty of maintaining such communications shall devolve upon the party continuing operations and using the same. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1707. Ventilation of Mines.

(Section 59.) The owner, operator or superintendent of every coal mine, whether operated by shaft, slope or drift, shall provide and hereafter maintain ample means of ventilation for the circulation of air through the main entries, cross-entries and all other working places, to an extent that will dilute, carry off and render harmless the noxious or dangerous gases generated in the mine, affording not less than one hundred cubic feet per minute for each and every person employed therein, and not less than six hundred cubic feet per minute for each and every animal in the mine; but in any mine, or section of a mine, where fire-damp is generated not less than one hundred and fifty cubic feet of air per minute shall be provided for each person or as much more as may be necessary to keep such section free from fire-damp. The quantities of air in circulation shall be ascertained with an anemometer or other efficient instrument; such measurement shall be made by the foreman or his assistants once a week at the inlet and outlet airways, and also at or near the face of each entry, and shall be recorded in a book kept for that purpose at the mine office. The quantity of air as provided for in this act for each person shall be conducted to each working place.

In rooms generating fire-damp the volume of air required by this act shall be conducted to the face thereof by the use of brattice cloth or other suitable means. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1707a. Pressure Gauges.

(Section 60.) At each mine generating fire-damp so as to be detected by a safety lamp a water-gauge for the purpose of recording the pressure or vacuum of the main air current shall be provided and maintained which shall be kept in constant use and records preserved subject to the inspection of the state coal mine inspector or his authorized representative. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1707b. Number of Persons Permitted to Work in Same Air Current.

(Section 61.) The current of air in mines must be split or subdivided so as to give a separate current to a number not exceeding one hundred men at work, and the inspector has the discretion to order a separate current for a smaller number of men if special conditions render it necessary. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1707c. Crosscuts and Brattices for Ventilation.

(Section 62.) Crosscuts between the entries, except where same are within the confines of shaft bottom pillars, shall be made not exceeding sixty feet apart, unless sufficient brattice is used to keep the air current up to the entry face in which case they shall not exceed one hundred feet apart. When there is a solid block on one side of the room, crosscuts shall be made between such room and the adjacent room not to exceed sixty feet apart; where there is a breast or group of rooms, a crosscut shall be made on one side or the other of each room, except the room adjoining said block not to exceed fifty feet from the outside corner of the crosscut to the nearest corner of the entrance of the room and on the opposite side of the same room a crosscut shall be made not to exceed ninety feet from the outside corner of the crosscut to the nearest corner of the entrance of the room, and thereafter crosscuts shall be made not to exceed eighty feet apart on each side of the room. The required air current shall be conducted to the crosscut nearest the face of each entry or room.

Brattices between permanent inlet and outlet airways shall hereafter be constructed in a substantial manner of brick, blocks, masonry, concrete or nonperishable material. Rooms must not be worked in advance of the ventilating current. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1707d. Operation of Ventilating Fans, Furnaces, etc.

(Section 63.) All ventilating fans, furnaces and any means in use to ventilate mines shall be kept in constant operation, day and night, in mines generating fire-damp or where two shifts are being worked. Where no fire-damp is generated, or only one shift is worked, the fan, furnace or other means of ventilation shall be started and kept running not less than two hours before the time to begin work. Should it at any time become necessary to stop the fan or other means of ventilation on account of accident or needed repairs to any part of the machinery, furnace or other means of ventilation connected therewith, or by reason of any unavoidable cause, it shall then be the duty of the mine foreman, or any official in charge, after first having provided as far as possible for the safety of the persons employed in the mine, to order said fan or other means of ventilation to be stopped so as to make the necessary repairs or to remove any other difficulty that may have been the cause of such stoppage. All ventilating furnaces in mines shall, for two hours before the appointed time to begin work and during working hours, be properly attended by a person employed for the purpose. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1707e. Overcasts, Air Bridges and Doors—How to be Constructed.

(Section 64.) In all mines, all main air bridges or overcasts built after the passage of this act shall be constructed of masonry or other incombustible material of ample strength, or be driven through the solid strata. In all mines the doors used in guiding and directing ventilation of the mine shall be so hung and adjusted that they will close themselves, or can be supplied with springs or pulleys so that they cannot be left standing open, and an attendant shall be employed at all principal doors through which cars are hauled, for the purpose of opening and closing said doors when trips of cars are passing to and from workings, unless an approved self-acting door is used. Necessary room shall be provided at each door so as to protect said attendant from being run over by the cars while attending to his duties, and persons employed for this purpose shall at all times remain at their post of duty during working hours. On every inclined plane, or where haulage is done by machinery, and where a door is used, an extra door shall be provided to use in case of necessity. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1707f. Underground Stables.

(Section 65.) Where livestock is kept underground the stables or stalls shall be separated from the main aircourse by not less than twenty feet of solid strata or a solid wall of brick masonry or concrete, not less than twelve inches in thickness. The construction of the stable shall, as far as possible, be free from all combustible material. No hay or straw shall be taken into the mine unless same be compressed into compact bales, and only from time to time in such quantities as will be required for two days' use. No greater quantity of hay or straw shall be stored in the mine or stable and when such is taken inside the mine it shall be taken to the stable at once and placed in a separate room provided therein for the same. The stable must be so placed that the air ventilating the same is returned immediately to the main outlet aircourse and not allowed to go further into the mine to where men are working. The connections between the air-courses and the stables must be fitted with substantial doors, placed so that they can be readily reached in the event of fire in the stable. Where conditions prohibit the use of entirely incombustible material in the construction of the stable the doors leading to or from the same shall be made of iron or steel plate, not less than one-quarter inch in thickness, set in masonry or concrete walls. The lights used in the stable shall be incandescent lamps placed so that same will not be injured by the stock or the persons required to enter the stable, or lanterns of railroad type suitable for using lard or signal oil, and only such oil shall be used therein. All refuse and waste shall be promptly removed from the stable in the mine and shall not be allowed to accumulate.

Stables constructed underground after the passage of this act shall be located not nearer than one hundred and fifty feet to any opening to the mine used as a means of ingress or egress. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1707g. Precautions When Approaching Abandoned Workings.

(Section 66.) Whenever any working place of a mine approaches within one hundred feet of the abandoned workings of another mine as indicated by an accurate survey, or while driving any working place parallel with the workings of such abandoned mine within one hundred feet thereof, and such abandoned mine cannot be explored or when same contains fire-damp or water which may inundate such working place, the mine foreman shall not permit such working place to be advanced until a drill hole has been extended not less than twelve feet in the center of such working place and a flank hole not less than twelve feet extended on each rib, starting at the working face after taking out each cut of breaking.

Whenever the limits of an abandoned mine are not known by actual survey the above rule shall apply whenever any working place approaches within two hundred feet of the supposed limits of such abandoned mine. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1708. Timber and Supplies.

(Section 67.) The operator of any mine shall keep an adequate supply of suitable timber constantly on hand, and deliver to the working place of each miner the props of approximate length, caps and other timbers necessary to securely prop the roof thereof. Such props, caps and other timbers shall be delivered in mine cars at the point where the miner receives his empty cars or unloaded at the entrance of the room. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1708a. Hauling Roads.

(Section 68.) On all hauling roads or entries on which the hauling is done by machinery, where men have to pass to or from their work, and on all entries on which the hauling is done by draft animals, there shall be a clearance on one side of at least two and one-half feet between the car and the rib of such entry. This place shall be kept free from all obstructions and no material shall be placed thereon. In mines already opened prior to the passage of this act where such clearance does not exist, or in mines where mining conditions prohibit the driving of entries wide enough to give such clearance, places of refuge must be cut in the side wall at least three feet wide, two and one-half feet deep, five feet high and not more than twenty yards apart, but such places of refuge shall not be required in entries from which rooms have been driven at regular intervals not exceeding twenty yards. All such places of refuge must be kept clear of obstructions and no material shall be stored nor allowed to accumulate therein. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1708b. Airways.

(Section 69.) It shall be the duty of the owner, lessee or operator of every coal mine to provide and maintain airways of sufficient dimensions and in no case shall the area of the aircourses be less than twenty-five feet in mines operated on the room and pillar system. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1708c. Drainage, Traveling-ways.

(Section 70.) Standing or stagnant water shall not be allowed to remain in traveling-ways, nor shall the intake airways be used by miners or other persons as a depository for excrement or any other refuse. Obstructions of any kind must not be placed in crosscuts, rooms or entries used as main airways. Where necessary to provide a traveling-way other than the main entries, slope or drift in any mine for men going to or returning from their work, the same shall be kept clear from debris or obstructions of any kind, and all loose coal, slate and rock overhead or in rib in traveling-ways, where miners have to travel to or from their work, must be taken down or carefully secured. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1708d. Examination by Foreman.

(Section 71.) All main airways or traveling-ways in any underground workings shall be examined at least twice a week by the mine foreman or some other competent person so directed by said mine foreman and a record of such inspections shall be kept at the mine office. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1708e. Removal of Combustible Matter.

(Section 72.) It shall be the duty of the mine foreman or his assistant in charge of any coal mine where coal-dust or any other inflammable material may accumulate to cause the same to be properly saturated with water or with some compounds or chemicals used for such purpose as often as necessary in either aircourses or entries, or all accumulated matter, explosive in its nature, shall be removed from the mine. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1708f. Mine Foreman and His Duties.

(Section 73.) In order to secure efficiency in the coal mines the operator or superintendent shall employ a competent and practical foreman; said mine foreman shall have passed an examination and obtained a certificate of competency as required by this act, and said mine foreman shall devote the whole of his time to his duties at the mine when in operation.

The mine foreman or his assistant shall visit and examine every working place in the mine at least each alternate day while the miners of such places are or should be at work and shall examine and see that each working place is secured by timbering so that the safety of the mine is assured; he shall see that a sufficient supply of timbers and material is always on hand at the working places in compliance with this act.

When the mine foreman is personally unable to carry out the requirements of this act as pertaining to his duties, on account of sickness or of other unavoidable conditions, a competent person shall be appointed to act in his place. The said person so appointed shall possess a certificate of competency, either as mine foreman or mine examiner as provided for in this act, or shall receive a permit to act as such from the state coal mine inspector's office within thirty days after taking charge.

Whenever such mine foreman, his assistant or assistants, shall have an unsafe place reported to him or them, he or they shall order and direct that the same be placed in a safe condition and until such is done no person or persons shall enter such unsafe place except for the purpose of making it safe. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1708g. Mine Examiners and Their Duties.

(Section 74.) A mine examiner shall be required at all coal mines generating dangerous and explosive gases.

His duty shall be to visit the mine before the men are permitted to enter it and, first, he shall see that the air current is traveling in its proper course and quantity. He shall inspect all places where men are expected to pass or to work and observe if there are any recent falls or obstructions in rooms and roadways or accumulations of fire-damp or other unsafe conditions.

He shall especially examine the edges and accessible parts of recent falls and old gobs and aircourses. As evidence of such examination he shall mark with chalk upon the face of the coal his initial and the date of the month and year; if there is any standing gas discovered he shall leave a danger signal across every entrance to such place.

He shall make a report on a blackboard provided on the outside of the mine, or at some other convenient place, for that purpose and arranged so that the men can inspect it while passing to their work, showing the conditions of the mine as to the presence of fire-damp, and indicating the place or places where present if any is present, before he permits any person or persons to enter the mine. He shall complete his inspection before the time for the day shift men to go to work and shall personally check each miner or loader into the mine, advising each as to the condition of his working place and holding back any man whose working place is in dangerous condition. He shall return to the mine with such miners or loaders thus held back and remain there attending to the removal of any standing gas.

He shall examine parts of the mine not in actual course of working and available, not less than once each three days. He shall see that every part of the mine is kept free from standing gas and all old workings are properly fenced off. He shall examine the mine on idle days and Sundays if any men are required to work in any part of it, and, if any time elapse between the day turn leaving and night turn starting, the places to be worked by night turn must be examined by him with a safety lamp and reported safe before persons go to them. He shall make a daily record of the conditions of the mine as he has found them, in a book kept for that purpose, which shall be preserved in the office of the company. No miner or loader, when advised by the mine examiner that his working place is dangerous, shall leave the bottom of the shaft or the main partings on slopes or drifts until accompanied by the mine examiner. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911, Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1708h. Safety Lamps.

(Section 75.) At any mine where fire-damp or other explosive gases are being generated so as to require the use of safety lamps in any part thereof the operator of such mine, upon receiving notice from the state coal mine inspector or the mine examiner that one or more lamps are necessary to the safety of the men in such mine, shall at once procure and keep for use such number of the most improved safety lamps as may be necessary. All safety lamps used for working therein shall be the property of the operator and shall remain in the custody of the mine foreman or other competent person, who shall clean, trim and fill, examine and deliver the same, locked and in safe condition, to the men when entering the mine, and shall receive the same from the men at the end of their shift. Persons using such lamps shall be responsible for the condition and proper use of safety lamps while in their possession. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1708i. Only Safety Lamps to be Used.

(Section 76.) In every working approaching any place where there is likely to be an accumulation of explosive gases, or in any working where danger is imminent from explosive gases, no light or fire other than a locked safety lamp shall be allowed or used. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1708j. Keys for Safety Lamps.

(Section 77.) No one except a duly authorized person shall have in his possession a key or other contrivance for the purpose of unlocking any safety lamp in any mine where locked safety lamps are used. No lucifer matches or any other apparatus for striking light shall be taken into said mine or parts thereof. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1709. Firing of Blasts Where Safety Lamps are Used.

(Section 78.) In any mine where locked safety lamps are used no blast shall be fired in such portion of the mine except by permission of the mine foreman or his assistants, and before a blast is fired the person in charge must examine the place and adjoining places and satisfy himself that it is safe to fire such blast before such permission is given. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1709a. Storing of Explosives in Mines.

(Section 79.) No workman shall have at any time more than one twenty-five pound keg of black powder in the mine nor more than five pounds of high explosives. Every person who has powder or other explosives in a mine shall keep it or them in a wooden or metallic box or boxes, securely locked, and said boxes shall be kept at least five feet from the track and no two powder boxes shall be kept within twenty-five feet of each other nor shall black powder and high explosives be kept in the same box. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1709b. Manner of Handling Explosives.

(Section 80.) Whenever a workman is about to open a box or keg containing powder or other explosives and while handling the same he shall place and keep his lamp at least five feet distance from such explosive, and in such position that the air current cannot carry sparks to it, and no person shall approach nearer than five feet to any open box containing powder or other explosives with a lighted lamp, lighted pipe or other thing containing fire. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1709c. Copper Tools.

(Section 81.) In the process of charging and tamping a hole, no person shall use an iron or steel pointed needle. The needle used in preparing a blast shall be made of copper and the tamping bar shall be tipped with at least five inches of copper. Some soft material must always be placed next the cartridge or explosive. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1709d. System of Blasting.

(Section 82.) A workman who is about to explode a blast with a squib shall not shorten the match, saturate it with oil, or ignite it except at the extreme end; he shall see that all persons are out of danger from probable effects of such shots, and shall take measures to prevent anyone from approaching by shouting "Fire" immediately before lighting the fuse or squib.

When firing shots in close proximity to other workmen on rib or in cross-cut driven for air or other purposes, he or they, firing such shots, shall notify in person or by signals the workmen in adjoining rooms or other place of entry.

When a squib is used and a shot misses fire no person shall return until five minutes shall have elapsed. When a fuse is used and a shot misses fire no person shall return until one hour for each foot of fuse shall have elapsed. When it is necessary to tamp dynamite, nothing but a wooden tamper shall be used.

No hole shall be drilled to a greater depth than the cut or shearing, neither shall fine coal, coal-dust or any combustible material be used for tamping any hole.

No workman shall put off any blast in any mine known as a "following shot."

At all coal mines the firing of shots shall be restricted to a specific time at the end of each shift, except that in entries, slants and doom necks, when necessary, one snubbing shot may be fired in each at the middle of the shift. No miner shall fire a shot until the time appointed for him to do so and then only in such rotation as designated by the proper authority. After each blast he shall exercise great care in examining the roof and coal and shall secure them safely before beginning to load coal. Where shooting is done by shift work the same precaution shall be used by some person or persons designated by the operator.

When draw-slate is over the coal the miner shall not go underneath the draw-slate until it is made safe from falling by securely posting it, and he shall not remove the posts until the coal is removed and he is ready to take down the draw-slate. He shall not place in the gob or refuse pile any fine coal or coal-dust but shall load same into cars. When more than one shot is to be fired at the same time with fuse, in the same working place, different lengths of fuse shall be used so as to prevent any possibility of the shots going off simultaneously. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1709e. Care of Working Places.

(Section 83.) Each miner shall examine his working place upon entering the same and shall not commence to mine or load until it is made safe. He shall be very careful to keep his working place in safe condition at all time.

Should he at any time find his place becoming dangerous from any cause or condition, to such an extent that he is unable to take care of the same personally, he shall at once cease work and notify the mine foreman, or his assistant as provided for hereinbefore in this act, of such danger, and upon leaving such place he shall place some plain warning at the entrance thereto to warn others from entering into the said danger and he shall not return to his place until ordered to do so by the mine foreman or his assistant. Each miner, or other person employed in a mine, shall securely prop the roof of the working place therein under his control, and shall obey any order or orders given by the superintendent or mine foreman relating to the width of his working place or safety of the same. Such miner or other person shall not be held to have violated the provisions of this section if the owner, lessee, agent, superintendent or mine foreman fail to supply the necessary props, caps, timber or necessary material as provided for in this act.

Each miner or other person shall avoid waste of props, caps, timber or other material. When he has props, caps, timber or other material unsuited for his purpose he shall not cover them up or destroy them but shall place same near the track where they can be readily seen. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

The working place which it is presumed the miner will keep safe for himself is confined to the particular locality which his duty all the time calls him, to work in, whether mining, loading or anything else. Killio v. Northwestern Improvement Co., 47 Mont. 321, 322, Ann. Cas. 1915A, 1228, 132 Pac. 419.

§ 1709f. Duties of Machine-men.

(Section 84.) Machine runners and helpers shall use care while operating mining machines. They shall not operate a machine unless the shields are in place and shall warn all persons not engaged in the operating of a machine of the danger in going near a machine while in operation, and shall not permit such persons to remain near the machine while in operation. They shall examine the roof of the working place and see that it is safe before starting to operate the machinery. They shall not move the machine while the cutter chain is in motion.

When connecting the power cable to electric wires they shall make the negative or grounded connections before connecting to the positive and, when disconnecting the power cable, shall disconnect from the positive line before disconnecting the negative, or grounded. When positive feed wires extend into rooms they shall connect such wires to the positive wire on the entry before connecting the power cable and as soon as the power cable is disconnected shall disconnect such wire from the wire on the entry. They shall use care that the cable does not come in contact with metallic rails of the track and shall avoid, where possible, leaving the cable in water. If any machine men remove props which have been placed by the miner for the security of the roof, they shall reset such props as promptly as possible. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1709g. Duties of Motormen, Trip Riders and Drivers.

(Section 85.) Motormen and trip riders shall use care in handling the motors and cars and shall see that signals or markers, as provided for, are used as provided, and shall be governed by the speed provided for in this act in handling cars. They shall not run the motors with the trolley ahead of the motors, except in case where they cannot do the alternative, and then only at a speed of two miles an hour. They shall warn persons forbidden to ride on the motors or cars, and shall not permit such persons to ride on motors or cars contrary to the provisions of this act.

Drivers shall use care in handling cars, especially when going down extreme grades and at junction points.

Motormen, trip riders and drivers in charge of haulage trips passing through doors used as a means of directing the ventilation, shall see that such doors are closed promptly after the trip passes through. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1709h. Duties of Other Employees.

(Section 86.) No person shall enter a mine generating fire-damp so as to be detected by a safety lamp until the mine examiners make a report on the blackboard for that purpose as hereinbefore provided for in this act.

No person, unless accompanied by the mine examiner, shall go beyond a danger-signal until all standing gas discovered has been removed or diluted and rendered harmless by a current of air. Any person being ordered to withdraw by the mine foreman or mine examiner from the mine on account of the interruption of the ventilation shall not re-enter the mine until given permission to do so by the mine foreman.

No person other than the mine examiner shall remove any caution board or danger signal placed at the entrance to any working place or at the entrance to any old workings in a mine.

No person shall erase or change a mark of reference or monument made in connection with a measurement; change marks or dates or any caution board, or erase or change the dates at room or entry face, when made by the mine examiner; change the checks on cars, wrongfully check a car or do any act with intent to defraud. No person shall take a lighted pipe or other thing containing fire, except lanterns as provided for in this act, into any underground stable or barn.

No person shall place refuse in or obstruct any airway or break-through used as an airway. No workman or other person shall injure a water-gauge, barometer, aircourse, brattice equipment, machinery or livestock; obstruct or throw upon any airway; handle or disturb any part of the machinery of the hoisting engine of a mine; open a door of a mine and neglect to close it; endanger the miners or those working therein; disobey an order given in pursuance of law, or do a willful act whereby the lives and health of persons working therein or the security of a mine or machinery connected therewith may be endangered. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1709i. Persons Permitted to Ride on Haulage Trips.

(Section 87.) No person or persons except those in charge of trips, superintendents, mine foremen, mine examiners, electricians, mechanics, and blacksmiths, when required by their duty, shall ride on haulage trips, except where by mutual agreement in writing between the superintendent or agent and the employees a special trip of empty cars is run for the purpose of taking employees into or out of the mine, or empty cars are attached to loaded trips, which shall not be run at a speed exceeding six miles per hour. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1709j. Employees Shall not Loiter nor Use Intoxicants Around the Mine.

(Section 88.) Each employee of a mine shall go to or from his place of duty by the traveling-ways provided; shall not travel around the mine or the buildings, where duty does not require, and when not on duty shall not loiter at, in or around the mine, the buildings or machinery connected therewith, except by permission of the owner, lessee, operator, superintendent or foreman.

No person shall go into or around a mine, the buildings or the machinery connected therewith, while under the influence of intoxicants. No person shall use, carry or have in his possession, at, in or around a mine, the buildings or the machinery connected therewith, any intoxicants. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1710. Top and Bottom Men.

(Section 89.) At every shaft, operated by steam or other power, the operator must station at the top and the bottom of such shaft a competent man, charged with the duty of attending to signals, preserving order and enforcing rules, during the carriage of the men on cages. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1710a. Lights on Landings.

(Section 90.) Whenever the hoisting or lowering of men occurs before daylight or after dark, or when the landing at which men leave or take the cage, car or cars is at all obscured by steam or otherwise, there must always be maintained at such landing a light sufficient to show the landing and surrounding objects distinctly. Lights shall also be maintained at each landing and the bottom of all shafts while men are at work underground. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1710b. Regulations for Hoisting or Lowering of Men.

(Section 91.) Cages in shafts, or cars in any slope, on which men are riding shall not be lifted or lowered at a rate of speed greater than six hundred feet per minute.

No more than (12) twelve persons shall ride on any cage or car at any one time except where specially constructed man-cars are used on a slope.

No person shall carry any explosives, tools, timber or other material with him on a cage, car or cars in motion, in any shaft or any slope or incline plane while the men are being hoisted or lowered, except for use in repairing the shaft, slope or incline plane.

No cage having an unstable or self-dumping platform shall be used for the carriage of men or materials unless the same is provided with some device by which the platform can be securely locked, and unless it is so locked whenever men or materials are being conveyed thereon.

The rope rider on any slope or incline plane shall, during working hours, see that all ropes and signals are in perfect working order, and, if he perceives anything wrong, he shall at once report the same to the mine foreman or his assistant.

He must be cautious when men are being hoisted out of or lowered into any slope and shall see that all safety appliances are properly attached and that all cars are securely coupled. He shall pay strict attention to all signals.

When more than twelve persons get on a cage or on one car on a slope or incline plane, except as above provided for, the bottom man, top man, or rope rider in charge of the lowering and hoisting of such persons shall order a sufficient number to get off to reduce the number to twelve persons on the cage or car, and the person or persons so ordered shall immediately comply.

The car or cars used to hoist or lower men into or out of any slope or on any plane shall be connected by safety chains, or some safety appliance must be used to maintain the trip in case of breakage of coupling or other connection. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1710c. Rights of Men to Come Out.

(Section 92.) Whenever men who have finished their day's work, or who have been prevented from further work for any cause, shall come to the bottom of any shaft to be hoisted out, a cage shall be given them for that purpose, unless there is an available exit by slope or stairway in an escapement shaft, and providing there is no coal at the bottom to be hoisted. Whenever the designated number of persons for a cage-load shall arrive at the bottom of the shaft in which persons are regularly hoisted or lowered they shall be furnished with an empty cage and be hoisted. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1710d. Stretchers, Blankets, etc.

(Section 93.) At every mine where men are employed underground it shall be the duty of the operator thereof to keep always on hand and at some readily accessible place a properly constructed stretcher, a woolen and waterproof blanket, and a roll of bandages, in good condition and ready for immediate use, for binding, covering and carrying anyone who may be injured at the mine; also to provide a comfortable apartment near the mouth of the mine in which anyone so injured may rest while awaiting transportation home, and to provide for the speedy transportation of anyone injured in such mine to his home. When more than one hundred and fifty men are employed in any one mine two stretchers, two woolen and two waterproof blankets, with a corresponding supply of bandages, shall be provided and kept on hand. There shall also be provided and kept in store a suitable supply of linseed or olive oil for use in case men are burned by an explosion or otherwise. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1710e. Oils to be Used in Coal Mines.

(Section 94.) (a) No person, firm or corporation shall compound, sell or offer for sale, for illuminating purposes in any coal mine, any oil other than oil composed of not less than eighty-four per cent of pure animal or vegetable oil, or both, and not more than sixteen per cent pure mineral oil, the gravity of such animal or vegetable oil shall not be less than twenty-one and one-half and not more than twenty-two and one-half degrees Baume scale measured by Tagliabue or other standard hydrometer, at a temperature of sixty degrees Fahrenheit; the gravity of such mineral oil shall not be less than thirty-four and not more than thirty-six degrees Baume scale, measured by Tagliabue or other standard hydrometer, at a temperature of sixty degrees Fahrenheit, and gravity of the mixture shall not exceed twenty-four degrees Baume scale, measured by Tagliabue or other standard, hydrometer, at a temperature of sixty degrees Fahrenheit. It is provided, however, that any material that is as free from smoke and bad odor, and of equal merit as an illuminant as a pure animal or vegetable oil, may be used at the pleasure of mine operators and miners.

(b) Each person, firm or corporation compounding oil for illuminating purposes in a coal mine or mines, shall, before shipment thereof is made, securely brand, stencil or paste upon the head of such barrel or package, a label which shall have plainly printed, marked or written thereon the name and address of the person, firm or corporation compounding the oil therein contained, the name and address of the person, firm or corporation having purchased same, the date of shipment, the percentage and gravity in degrees Baume scale, at a temperature of sixty degrees Fahrenheit, of each of the component parts of animal, vegetable and mineral oil contained in the mixture, and the gravity in degrees Baume scale of the mixture, at a temperature of sixty degrees Fahrenheit.

Each label shall have printed thereon, over the facsimile signature of the person, firm or corporation having compounded the oil, the following: "This package contains oil for illuminating purposes in coal mines in the state of Montana, and the composition thereof as shown herein is correct."

(c) No person, firm or corporation shall sell or offer for sale any oil for illuminating purposes in any coal mine unless the barrel or package in which such oil was received bears the label of the compounder as provided for in this act.

Each person, firm or corporation selling or offering for sale any oil for illuminating purposes in any coal mine, shall, upon request of the state coal mine inspector, or of any officer or duly authorized agent of any owner or lessee of a coal mine located within five miles of the point where such oil is offered for sale, or of any coal miner, submit such oil for examination, and upon request give a sample of such oil from one or more original containers selected by such inspector, officer, agent or miner for the purpose of making a test thereof.

(d) No person shall adulterate any oil, either before or after taking same from original containers, and shall not alter, transfer or reuse any label placed upon any container.

(e) No person shall use for illuminating purposes in any coal mine any oil other than oil sufficiently provided for in this act. Each person while in a coal mine shall, upon request of the inspector of mines or any officer or duly authorized agent of the owner or lessee, submit his lamp and supply of oil for examination and upon request give sample of oil for purpose of making test thereof, and state from whom purchased.

The provisions of this act relating to compounding, sale and use of oil for illuminating purposes in coal mines shall apply to oil used in lamps for open lights only, but do not apply to drivers, rope riders or motor men while acting in such capacity. The oil used in safety lamps may be of such composition as will best serve the purpose. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1710f. Boundary Lines.

(Section 95.) In no case shall the workings of a coal mine be driven nearer than ten feet to the boundary line of the coal rights pertaining to said mine, except for the purpose of establishing connecting workings between properties owned by the same person or an underground communication between contiguous mines as provided for elsewhere in this act. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1710g. Notice to Inspectors.

(Section 96.) Immediate notice must be conveyed to the state coal mine inspector by the operator interested:

First: Whenever an accident occurs whereby any person receives serious or fatal injury:

Second: Whenever work is commenced to sink a shaft, slope or drift, either for hoisting or escapement purposes.

Third: Whenever it is intended to abandon any mine or to reopen any abandoned mine.

Fourth: Upon the appearance of any large body of fire-damp in mine, whether accompanied by explosion or not, and upon the occurrence of any serious fire within the mine or on the surface around the mine.

Fifth: When the workings of any mine are approaching near any abandoned mine believed to contain accumulation of water or gas.

Sixth: Upon the accidental closing or intended abandonment of any regularly established passageway to an escapement outlet. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1710h. Duty of Inspectors.

(Section 97.) When advised by an operator of any accident in a coal mine involving loss of life or serious personal injury the state coal mine inspector shall, if he deem it necessary from the facts reported, and in all cases of loss of life, immediately go to the scene of said accident or send some competent person authorized by him. It shall, moreover, be the duty of every operator of a coal mine, or his agent, to make and preserve for the information of the inspector, upon uniform blanks furnished by the said inspector, a record of all injuries sustained by any employees in the pursuance of their regular occupation.

The state coal mine inspector may also make any original or supplementary investigation which he may deem necessary as to the nature and cause of any accident within his jurisdiction and shall make a record of the circumstances attending the same and of the result of his investigations for preservation in the files of his office.

To enable him to make such investigation he shall have the power to compel the attendance of the witnesses and to administer oaths or affirmations to them, and the cost of such investigation shall be paid by the county in which such accident has occurred in the same manner as the cost of coroner's inquest is paid. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1710i. Coroner's Inquest.

(Section 98.) If any person is killed by any explosion, or other accident, the operator must also notify the coroner of the county, his authorized deputy or, in the absence of either or in the inability of either to act, any justice of the peace of said county for the purpose of holding an inquest concerning the cause of such death. At such inquest the state coal mine inspector, his deputy or authorized representative shall offer such testimony as he may be possessed of, and he may question or cross-question any witness appearing in the case; and the owner, agent or manager of the coal mine, either in person or by counsel, shall also be at liberty to examine or cross-examine any witness at any such inquest.

Any person having personal interest in or employed in the management of the mine in which the accident occurred shall not be qualified to serve on the jury impaneled on the inquest; and it shall be the duty of the constable or other officer not to summon any person disqualified under this provision, and it shall be the duty of the coroner not to allow any such to be sworn or sit on the jury; nevertheless, when possible, one-third of the jury-men shall be miners.

Unless the state coal mine inspector, or some person authorized by him, is present at an inquest held upon the body of any person, where death may have been caused by any such accident, the coroner shall adjourn the same and, by written notice or telegram delivered or sent to the state coal mine inspector at least two days before holding the adjourned inquest, given notice of the time and place of the holding of the same. Before such adjournment the coroner, his authorized deputy or the justice of the peace, may take evidence to identify the body and order the interment thereof. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1710j. Code of Signals at Coal Mines.

(Section 99.) At any coal mine operated by shaft more than one hundred feet in depth, or by slope, the manner of signaling to and from the bottom man, the top man, the rope riders and the engineer shall consist of wires or a tube or tubes through which signals shall be communicated by electricity, compressed air or other pneumatic devices.

The following signals are provided for use at coal mines where signals are required:

One ring or whistle:—One ring or whistle shall signify to hoist coal or the empty cars or cage, and also to stop either when in motion.

Two rings or whistles:—Two rings or whistles shall signify to lower cage or car.

Three rings or whistles:—Three rings or whistles shall signify that men are coming up; when return signal is received from engineer, either by bell, whistle or slight movement of the trip, men will get on cage or cars and the cager or rope rider shall ring or whistle "one" to start.

Four rings or whistles:—Four rings or whistles shall signify to hoist slowly, implying danger.

Five rings or whistles:—Five rings or whistles shall signify accident in the mine and call for stretchers.

From top to bottom:—One ring or whistle shall signify—All ready, get on cage or cars.

From top to bottom:—Two rings or whistles shall signify—To send away empty cage or cars.

Provided: That the management of any mine may, with the consent of the state coal mine inspector, add to or change this code of signals at their discretion for the purpose of increasing its efficiency or of promoting the safety of the men in said mine, but, whatever code may be established and in use at any mine it must be approved by the state coal mine inspector, and shall be conspicuously posted at the top and at the bottom of every shaft or slope, and at the landing place on all rope haulage systems, also in all engine-rooms for the information and instruction of all persons. In any coal mine, where more than fifty men are employed underground, one or more telephones shall be installed communicating with the surface. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1710k. Duties of Hoisting Engineers.

(Section 100.) The hoisting engineer on any shaft, slope or drift at any mine shall be in constant attendance at his engine during working hours when there are workmen underground. He shall not permit anyone to enter or to loiter in the engine-room, except those authorized by their positions or duties to do so, and he shall hold no conversation with any officer of the company or other person, or leave his engine, while in motion or while his attention is occupied with the signals. A notice to this effect shall be posted on the door of the engine-house.

The hoisting engineer must thoroughly understand the established code of signals, and such signals must be delivered in the engine-room in a clear and unmistakable manner, and he shall not recognize any signals other than those provided for in this act, or such as have been approved by the state coal mine inspector; and when he has the signal that men are on the cage, car or cars, he must work his engine only at the rate of speed herein provided for by this act. He shall permit no one to handle or meddle with any machinery under his charge, nor suffer anyone who is not a certified engineer to operate his engine except for the purpose of learning to operate it or repair same, and then only in the presence of the engineer in charge and when men are not on the cages, car or cars. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1710l. Qualifications of Miners.

(Section 101.) Each person desiring to work by himself at mining or loading shall first produce satisfactory evidence, in writing, to the mine foreman of the mine in which he is employed, or to be employed, that he has worked at least nine months with, under the direction of, or as a practical miner, provided, however, that if the mine in which such person is to be employed generated explosive gas or fire-damp, he shall have worked not less than twelve months with, under the direction of, or as practical miner. Until a person has so satisfied the mine foreman of his competency, he shall not work or be permitted to work at mining or loading unless accompanied by a miner holding the foregoing qualifications. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1710m. Operators must Make Reply to Statistical Inquiry.

(Section 102.) Every coal mine operator, whether person, copartnership or corporation, shall within thirty days after receipt of blanks from the state coal mine inspector asking for statistical data relative to any coal mine operated by the person, copartnership or corporation addressed, fill in the blanks of such forms, answering all interrogations correctly and mail the same to the state coal mine inspector. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 120, p. 261.]

§ 1710n. Penalties.

(Section 103.) If any operator, company or corporation neglects to comply with, or violate, the requirements of this act, either in part or in whole, or if any owner, operator, manager, superintendent, mine foreman or his assistant coerces, intimidates or causes any employee to do the things prohibited, or causes them to do as provided against in this act, such operator, company, corporation, manager, superintendent, mine foreman or his assistant shall be liable to a penalty of twenty-five dollars for each and every day during which the offense continues; proceedings to be instituted in any court of competent jurisdiction in the county in which such offense is committed.

§ 1803a. Employment of Stock Inspector by County Commissioners.

The board of county commissioners of each county, except in counties of the first class, has the power, to employ a stock inspector whenever the board is satisfied from its own knowledge, or from facts and circumstances submitted to it by the county attorney or sheriff, that livestock are being stolen, slaughtered, or otherwise disposed of contrary to law in such county, and in such manner that the public officers of the county are not in position to apprehend the criminals or obtain the necessary evidence upon which to base a prosecution. Whenever such a stock inspector is so employed, the employment shall be only for the case or cases then under investigation, and his compensation shall be at the rate of not to exceed the sum of seven dollars and fifty cents per day, and necessary expenses for the time actually engaged in such work, and he shall be paid by a warrant on the general fund of the county, and during the existence of such appointment he shall be vested with the same police power and authority as the sheriff; within the limitation of the purposes for which he is appointed.

Whenever a stock inspector is so employed in the investigation of a crime, and a reward has been offered under section 1 of this act for the apprehension and conviction of the party or parties guilty of such crime, such inspector shall not be entitled to any part of said reward.

The proceedings and meetings of the board of county commissioners relating to the employment of a stock inspector shall not be made public until after the investigation of the crime or crimes by said inspector is completed, and any officer who divulges the name of the stock inspector employed, or the purpose of his employment during such period shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [Approved March 3, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 61, p. 67.]

§ 1811a. Inspection of Cattle Before Their Removal to Another County—Penalty for Transporting Uninspected Animals.

(Section 1.) From and after the passage of this act it shall be the duty of any or all persons, associations or corporations, removing or taking any cow, ox, bull, stag, heifer, steer or calf from one county to another within the state of Montana by railroad or in any other manner whatsoever for the purpose of selling such stock or of offering the same for sale at any public sale to cause the same to be inspected by state stock inspector as hereinafter provided and no railroad company shall accept any of such animals for shipment unless the shipper shall produce a certificate of their inspection by a state stock inspector as herein required; provided, however, that the provisions of this act shall not apply to stock removed or taken from one county to another for the purpose of pasturing, feeding or changing of range thereof nor to stock so removed or taken for the use of any person, association or corporation in the usual and ordinary conduct of their business nor shall it be required that registered livestock be inspected for brands when the owner or shipper shall present to the transportation company or to the state stock inspector or other proper authority a certificate of registration of such animal or animals, which certificate when so presented shall be taken in lieu of a brand certificate of inspection.

(Section 2.) On receiving notice from any person, association or corporation that he or it desires to remove, ship or take from one county to another within this state any of the classes of animals named in section 1 of this act, it shall be the duty of the stock inspector immediately to inspect the same by carefully noting the brands upon such animals and otherwise describing such animals and to keep a full and complete record of all such inspection in a book to be provided for that purpose by the state board of stock commissioners which description shall contain:

II. The number of animals inspected for removal.

III. The name of the owner or person removing the same.

V. The date of such inspection with the destination to which such animals are to be taken and the means of their transportation.

VI. That none of such animals are afflicted with any infectious or contagious disease.

If in the opinion of the inspector making the inspection the person proposing to remove such stock is rightfully in the possession of the same and that such animals are not infected with disease, he shall grant such person or persons, corporation or association, certificate of inspection containing a statement of the matters herein above required with a further statement that permission is granted to such person to remove such animals from the county. If, however, the officer or officers making such inspection shall be of the opinion that such stock or any portion thereof is stolen or otherwise wrongfully in the possession of the person or persons proposing to remove the same or if such stock or any portion thereof is infected with disease, the inspection certificate and permit to remove shall be withheld until satisfactory evidence is given to the inspector of the rightful possession of such property by the person or persons proposing to remove the same and in case of disease, until the state veterinary surgeon shall have made examination of the animals withheld on account of disease and made written order and direction respecting their disposal. Such certificate of inspection and permit to remove shall be by the holder thereof exhibited to any person or persons demanding to see the same.

(Section 3.) It shall be the duty of the stock inspector immediately upon making the inspection herein required, in case he passes such livestock, to issue the certificate herein provided for, and to immediately transmit a duplicate of such certificate to the state board of stock commissioners, to be by said board held and kept as a permanent record, and in case he refuses to grant such inspection certificate because of question as to the ownership of the property, he shall immediately notify the state board of stock commissioners of his refusal to grant such certificate and his reasons therefor; and, should he refuse to grant a certificate because of his belief that such livestock are infected with disease, the state veterinary surgeon shall be at once notified and requested to make inspection and examination.

(Section 4.) Any person removing or attempting to remove any livestock of the kind named in section 1 of this act, without first having received the certificate of inspection and removal, herein provided for, and any railroad accepting for shipment any such property, without compelling the shipper to first give satisfactory evidence of his having received an inspection and removal certificate as herein provided, and any person refusing to exhibit such certificate upon proper demand, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall be fined in a sum of not less than fifty nor more than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for a period of not more than six months, or shall be punished by both such fine and imprisonment. All fines assessed and collected under the provisions of this act shall be turned into the state treasury, and placed to the credit of the stock detective and inspection fund.

(Section 5.) All acts and parts of acts in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

§ 1815. Public Markets—Record Books of Sales of Livestock.

That, hereafter, any person, firm, corporation or association of individuals desiring to establish, maintain or conduct a market for the sale of horses or other livestock at public auction, or otherwise, shall keep a full and complete record book in which must be recorded the name or names of any person, corporation or association of individuals bringing to the said market, or offering for sale at such market, any horses or other livestock, together with a description thereof as to their kind, and of all brands of every kind thereon. And if requested by the sheriff of the county or a stock inspector, in case question arises respecting the ownership, particular description shall be recorded showing in addition to all the brands, the color and sex of such animals; and, in addition, such record shall clearly show the name of the person for whom such animal or animals were sold, the date of the sale, and the person to whom such animal or animals were sold, and the particular character of the animal or animals. Such record book must be open for inspection by the public for persons interested at any and all reasonable times. [Amendment approved February 16, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 23.]

§ 1840. Quarantine Against Diseases of Livestock.

In all cases of contagious or infectious diseases among domestic animals or Texas cattle in this state, the state veterinarian has authority to order the quarantine of the infected premises, provided, however, that before quarantine can be ordered against animals, the owner of said animals can if so desired, immediately obtain the option of some licensed veterinarian other than the inspector, making said inspection and if, however, the two are of a different opinion in regard to condition of said stock, then the state veterinarian shall be called to the locality where the case exists to give a decision, which decision shall be final, and if said stock are found to be infected, it shall be the duty of the state veterinarian to order same dipped on or before the expiration of sixty days, and in case such disease becomes epidemic in any locality in this state, and the state veterinarian has ordered the locality quarantined, he, the state veterinarian must immediately notify the Governor, who must thereupon issue his proclamation forbidding any animal of the kind among which such epidemic exists to be transferred from said locality without a certificate from the state veterinarian showing such animal to be healthy. Provided, however, that when such animals are infected with a disease caused by a parasite which is commonly known, and the exhibition of which to the owner or person in charge will furnish practical information to him of the parasite or disease with which the animals are suffering, and it is practical to exhibit a specimen of such parasite, before declaring a quarantine upon any such premises or animals, the state veterinarian shall, on demand, in person, or by a duly authorized inspector, exhibit to the owner or person in charge of such animals a specimen of the parasite with which they are alleged to be infected, under a microscope, or in such other manner as to be plainly visible, for his inspection. The expenses of holding, feeding, and taking care of all animals quarantined under the provisions of this act must be paid by the owner, agent, or person in charge of such animals. (Section 1.) The owners of cattle, horses, mules, sheep, asses, goats, ruminants, and swine afflicted with any communicable or contagious disease that shall hereafter be killed, as prescribed by law, shall have recompense therefor as herein provided.

(Section 2.) That said recompense shall be paid, one-half from the funds, by this act appropriated, and one-half from the general funds in the county where said animals are killed.

(Section 3.) When the state veterinarian, or his deputy, or the state livestock board, has deemed it advisable to slaughter such animals as provided by law, the valuation of such animals so ordered to be killed shall be the actual full assessed valuation thereof as shown on the last assessment-roll of the county in which such stock was assessed; but such assessment shall not in any case exceed the actual value of such stock at the time of such assessment, and where such stock does not appear on the last assessment-roll of the county, then its value shall be the minimum value as found on the last assessment-roll for that class of stock of the county in which such stock is owned. The value of any animal shall not exceed the sum of five hundred dollars, nor shall any compensation be paid for any stock whose owner has intentionally evaded the taxation thereof, nor for any stock that has not been in the state three months prior to the time the disease is discovered; provided, that where an epidemic is declared to exist by the state livestock sanitary board, the value of such stock ascertained as above, may be paid, although such stock has not been in the state for three months prior to such declaration, if it shall appear that the same was shipped into the state without fraud and under certificate of health of a recognized state or federal inspector, and if such payment is authorized by the executive committees of the various stock boards of the state, including the state livestock sanitary board, and approved by the state board of examiners; provided, that in all cases where the federal government compensates the owner of livestock for any portion of the value thereof, such payment as has been made by, or is due from the federal government will be deducted from the payment herein provided.

(Section 4.) Claims against the state and county arising from the slaughter of animals as herein provided, shall be made by filing with the state auditor and also with the board of county commissioners, an affidavit from the owner that the animal has been killed and buried in accordance with law and a certificate by the state veterinarian that such animal or animals were ordered to be slaughtered; together with a certificate from the county assessor of the county where such animals have been assessed. The state auditor shall examine the same and if found correct, he shall issue a warrant on the state treasurer for fifty per cent of the sum named in the return, and the board of county commissioners shall audit and cause to be paid fifty per cent of the sum named in the return, from the general fund of the county in which said animals were killed.

(Section 5.) This act shall not apply to animals that may be killed and found to be healthy, and the law relative to the killing of healthy animals, as now existing, shall prevail and remain in full force and effect, notwithstanding the provisions of this act.

(Section 6.) There is hereby appropriated out of any money in the state treasury, not otherwise appropriated, the sum of eight thousand ($8,000) dollars for the year ending March 1, 1914, and in the sum of six thousand ($6,000) dollars for the year ending March 1, 1915. § 1872. Dipping and Quarantining Sheep Temporarily in State.

Any sheep that are shipped or driven into this state, with the intention on the part of the owner of holding them within the state longer than is necessary to feed them in transit, which feeding must be done in the railroad stockyards, corrals, or buildings, must be at once quarantined and dipped under the supervision of the state veterinary surgeon or inspector, at the point of entry or unloading, or as near such point as may be deemed safe by the state veterinary surgeon or inspector in charge, without danger of scattering infection, and when so dipped shall be branded with a red letter "S" on the right side. After said sheep are so dipped and branded, they may be moved to the ranch or range where it is the intention of the owner to keep them, providing they can be moved to such ranch or range within ten days, when they must be dipped a second time; provided, that any sheep that are shipped into the state of Montana over any railroad with the intention on the part of the owner of holding them within the state longer than is necessary to feed them in transit (which feeding must be done as hereinbefore provided) may be accompanied by a certificate of a federal veterinarian, setting forth that such sheep are clean, are free from scab or other contagious or infectious diseases; that they come from a locality which is free from scab or other contagious or infectious diseases, and that the cars in which they were shipped were properly disinfected and were free from infection by any of such diseases. Sheep accompanied by a certificate of such federal veterinarian shall be inspected at the first unloading point in this state under the direction of the state veterinary surgeon, and when accompanied by such certificate and so inspected and found free from scab or other infectious or contagious disease, such animal need not be dipped as hereinbefore provided, but shall be branded with a red letter "S" on the right side, and then be trailed from their final unloading point under the direction of the state veterinary surgeon to their range, which range shall be owned or occupied previously by the owner of said sheep, and thereupon quarantined for a period of not less than ninety days, and as much longer as is necessary at the discretion of the state veterinary surgeon. Provided: That sheep so shipped into the state shall not be trailed through the state for any distance exceeding fifty miles from the point of unloading at which such trailing begins, without being quarantined and dipped as herein first provided. And provided further: that sheep that have been unloaded in transit outside of the state of Montana, shall not be deemed clean or free from scab or other infectious or contagious disease, and shall be quarantined and dipped as herein first provided. And provided further, that sheep driven into this state (which sheep shall be animals that are habitually grazed in this state, or an adjoining state, and not otherwise), may be accompanied by the certificate of a federal veterinarian, as above provided, shall be inspected at the state line under the direction of the state veterinary surgeon of Montana; and before driving such sheep in this state, the owner or person in charge shall procure from the state veterinary surgeon a permit to drive said sheep over a certain route to their destination; which destination shall not exceed seventy-five miles from the state line. If said sheep are accompanied by such certificate, and, upon inspection, are found to be free from scab or other contagious or infectious disease, they need not be dipped, but shall be branded with a red letter "S" on the right side, and shall then be trailed from the state line, under the direction of the state veterinary surgeon to their range, which range shall be owned or previously occupied by the owner of said sheep, and shall be quarantined on such range for a period of not less than ninety days and as much longer as is necessary, in the judgment of the state veterinary surgeon; otherwise, and in either instance, they shall be quarantined and dipped as herein first provided. And provided further that the state veterinary surgeon may, if in his judgment the circumstances of any particular case, warrant such action on his part, order any sheep shipped or driven into the state to be quarantined and dipped as herein first provided, if, before making such order he shall receive from the executive board of the state board of sheep commissioners, its approval in writing for such action on his part. Provided further: that all rams entering the state of Montana from other states, must be dipped twice at an interval of not exceeding ten days, according to the rules as laid down by the Montana sheep commission, at or as near the point of entry as is practical; and after the second dipping, such rams may or may not be quarantined, in the discretion of the state veterinary surgeon. [Amendment approved March 18, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 470.]

If buck sheep are allowed to run at large and cause injury and loss by getting into a band of ewes, the owner of the ewes has a right of action under the statute; but, if he bases his action simply on negligence in permitting the rams to stray away from the herd in which they were kept, he is not entitled to take advantage of the statute; in each case a different rule as to proof prevails. Ball Ranch Co. v. Hendrickson, 50 Mont. 220, 146 Pac. 278.

(Section 4.) Whenever tuberculosis is discovered in any bovine animal supplying milk to the public, or any male bovine animal in a herd supplying milk to the public, the owner of such tuberculous animal must either retain such animal or animals in quarantine under such restrictions, rules and regulations as the state livestock sanitary board may direct, or such owner may ship such tuberculous animal or animals within the boundaries of this state under the direction of said board to any abattoir where meat inspection is maintained under the supervision of the United States bureau of animal industry, or where such inspection is maintained by an official inspector of the state; in the event that such animal or animals are shipped to any abattoir where such meat inspection is maintained and such animal or animals are sold, the owner shall receive the net proceeds of the sale thereof and shall have no further claim against the state on account of such slaughter. In the event that it is impracticable or impossible to ship such tuberculous animals to an abattoir where meat inspection is so maintained, then the animal may be slaughtered by order of the state livestock sanitary board. [Amendment approved February 25, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 87.]

§ 1906. Sheriff and Deputies to Act as Bounty Inspectors—Claims for Bounties.

It shall be the duty of the sheriff of any county in this state, and of all under-sheriffs and deputy sheriffs located at the county seat, but not elsewhere, to receive and examine all skins and pelts presented for bounty within their respective counties; the said sheriff shall receive ten cents for each skin examined, said amount to be paid by the owner of the skin. Each sheriff, under-sheriff, and deputy sheriff shall, to prevent fraud, minutely examine each skin presented, and should such examination disclose that the scalp and ears with the skin from the entire head of such animal or animals have not been severed, punched, patched, or in any manner marked, he shall there, in the presence of the person presenting such skin, mark such skin by severing the skin from the head, including the ears, and and no two punches in the same county to contain the same letter, numbering seal with a number corresponding with the number of bounty certificate issued for the skin or skins contained thereon, together with his letter; all wolf, coyote, pup wolf, and pup coyote heads to be strung on separate wires respectively, and so noted on said certificate the number of heads on said wire. Neither the sheriff, under-sheriff, nor deputy sheriff shall perform any duties under the provisions of this act except at the county seat.

Willfully making a false certificate or written statement in any material portion thereof by any taxpayer as herein provided shall be a felony, punishable the same as the crime of perjury. The sheriff, under-sheriff, or deputy sheriff is not authorized to examine any skin or issue any certificate except on the first ten days of each month; and any examination made or certificate issued on any other day is void. The sheriff shall not later than the 15th of each month render to the county clerk and recorder a report setting forth the names of the persons presenting skins, with the number of the certificate, the kind and number of the skins so presented, as to each and every certificate which he has issued during said month. The county clerk shall upon the receipt of each said certificate file the same in the order in which they are received and safely keep them until the arrival of the skin or skins mentioned in such certificate, properly sealed as hereinbefore provided; and upon the receipt of said skin or skins so sealed he shall call to his assistance either the county treasurer, or in his absence, the clerk of the district court, who, being present, shall both, in order to prevent fraud, minutely examine each scalp strung upon each wire; and should such examination disclose that the scalps as heretofore specified, of such animal or animals, agree with the number and kind of scalps or lower jaw of mountain lion mentioned in the said certificate, the county clerk shall thereupon, in the presence of said treasurer or clerk of the district court, destroy said scalps, without removing same from said wire, by fire; and said county clerk shall then make out and deliver to the person named in said certificate a second certificate showing the same statement of facts as contained in the certificate of the sheriff, under-sheriff, or deputy sheriff, with the additional statement of the examination so made by him, and that he found said scalp to agree with the number and kind mentioned in the certificate of said sheriff, under-sheriff, or deputy sheriff, and so stated therein said certificate. In no case should a bounty certificate be issued by the county clerk for more scalps than are actually received and counted by him; and the county clerk shall receive for each scalp, or mountain lion lower jaw, accounted for by him, the sum of five cents, to be paid quarterly by the treasurer out of the bounty fund. The county clerk shall keep a record in a bound book of all certificates so received and issued, showing the date, and description of the number and kind of hides, and the names of the persons presenting the same, which book shall be an official record. [Amendment approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 419.]

§ 1916a. Unpaid Bounty Claims—Registration and Interest.

All claims for bounties which shall have been heretofore presented to the state board of examiners and which have not been paid by the state because of lack of funds available for such purpose shall be by the board immediately registered in a book provided for that purpose, and from and after the date of registration and same shall bear interest at the rate of four (4%) per annum, payable as hereinafter provided.

Unless the bounty claims presented to said board, or now on file with said board, are objectionable because of fraud, noncompliance with law, or other good and sufficient reason appearing to said board, all such claims shall be at once registered.

For the purpose of paying interest upon such claims there is hereby appropriated from the general treasury out of any moneys not otherwise appropriated, four thousand ($4,000) dollars for the year 1911 and a like amount for the year 1912. [Approved March 9, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 134, p. 377.]

The members shall reside in the districts for which they are appointed. They shall be selected with reference to their study of, and practical experience in horticulture, and the industries dependent thereon. They shall hold office for a term of four years, and until their successors are appointed and qualified, provided, however, that two of the board first appointed to be determined by lot shall retire at the expiration of two years. For further prevention of the spread of diseases dangerous to fruit and fruit trees, it shall be unlawful for any person, or persons, dealer or dealers, to allow or caused to be used a second time any crate, box, barrel, package or wrapping once having contained fruit or nursery stock, except that at the written request of a nurseryman, an inspector may permit boxes or packages having contained nursery stock to be thoroughly fumigated by him, or in his presence, at the expense of the nurseryman, for which said inspector shall give a receipt and duly mark the box or package; otherwise the destruction of the same must be made in its entirety, and that the finding of such crate, box, barrel, package or wrapping in possession of any person or persons, dealer or dealers, other than the consignee, shall be considered prima facie evidence of a violation of this act.

If the funds permit he may hold an annual inspectors' institute at least once each year for the purpose of instructing and training the inspectors in their work, giving each inspector a written notice of such meetings at least ten days before the date of such meeting. He shall preside over and formulate the proceedings of the institute, which shall consist of lectures on insect pests and diseases, methods of control of the same and other matters pertaining to the horticultural interests. The state horticulturalist shall prescribe the duties of the office clerk who shall hold appointment at the pleasure of the state horticulturalist. § 1924. Nurserymen to Give Notice of Intended Delivery of Uninspected Stock.

It shall be the duty of every person or persons, corporation or corporations who sell or deliver to any person or persons, corporation or corporations, any trees, plants, vines, scions or grafts, not previously inspected under the provisions of this act, to notify the state horticulturalist whose duty it shall be to notify the inspector of said district wherein such vines, etc., are to be delivered at least five days before said goods are to be delivered, giving the date and nursery, or railroad station where said trees, plants, scions, etc., are to be delivered, together with the name of the party or parties who are to receive the same. It shall be the duty of the inspector receiving said notice, to inspect the said trees, plants, grafts, scions, etc., as soon thereafter as practicable and if the same be found free from any and all diseases and pests, as designated by said state board of horticulture, he shall so certify and attach a certificate of inspection to each lot or bill of trees, grafts, plants, scions, etc., which said certificate must contain a list of the said trees, grafts, scions, vines or plants so inspected. But if any of the trees, grafts, scions, vines or plants so inspected shall be found to be diseased or infested with any of the pests, as described by the said board, then the inspector shall order the disinfection or destruction of said trees, grafts, scions, vines, etc., so diseased or infested, together with all boxes, wrapping or packing pertaining thereto, provided, that when any fruit or nursery stock is condemned by any inspector, said inspector shall notify the owner thereof, who may appeal to the state horticulturalist and from the ruling of the said state horticulturalist to the state board of horticulture whose decision shall be final, and charge and collect the sum of ten dollars ($10) for the disinfection and inspection of each carload of said nursery stock, and a proportionate sum for less than carload lots as fixed by the board; provided that the state board of horticulture shall have power to designate certain places as quarantine stations, where all nursery stock brought into the state shall be inspected and disinfected; provided, that the provisions of this act shall not apply to any plants known as greenhouse plants and grown under glass. The inspectors shall collect such fees and shall not give certificates of inspection until the fees are paid. [Amendment approved March 7, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 313.]

The inspector cannot rightfully refuse to issue a certificate of inspection because of the seller's failure to take out a license, or provide a bond, as provided in sections 1935 and 1936, post; the failure of the seller to obey the law does not justify the inspector in violating it. Welch v. Dean, 49 Mont. 263, 266, 141 Pac. 548.

[Approved March 8, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 61, p. 117.]

§ 1953.

The amendment of 1909, increasing the number of deputies, was an invalid act; it was not in the form of a bill; had no enacting clause; and had no title; hence, it did not meet the requirements of the Constitution, and was of no avail as an authoritative expression of the legislative will, though it was passed by both houses and was approved by the Governor. State v. Cunningham, 39 Mont. 197, 200, 18 Ann. Cas. 705, 103 Pac. 497.

FISH AND GAME.

§ 1957a. Additional Deputy Fish and Game Wardens.

The state game and fish warden is hereby authorized to appoint in addition to the number of special deputy game and fish wardens now allowed by law six additional special deputy game and fish wardens who shall be deputies at large, and may be assigned by the state game and fish warden to any of the districts of the state as he may deem it necessary to protect the fish and game interests. The salary of each shall not exceed the sum of fifteen hundred ($1500) dollars per annum and actual necessary traveling expenses not to exceed nine hundred ($900) dollars per annum, to be paid out of the fish and game fund in the state treasury in the same manner as salaries and expenses are provided to be paid in the laws of Montana relating to the salaries and expenses paid to special deputy game and fish wardens. [Approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 96, p. 429.]

Sections 1957a-1957d, and section 1961, all relating to deputy game and fish warden, and enacted at different times, are

§ 1957b. Special Game and Fish Deputy Wardens.

The state game and fish warden is hereby authorized to appoint, in addition to the special deputy game and fish wardens now allowed by law, such additional deputy game and fish wardens, at such times as he may deem necessary, to protect the fish and game interests of the state, to be removed at his pleasure, at a salary not to exceed one hundred twenty-five ($125) dollars per month and actual necessary traveling expenses while in the discharge of their duties, not to exceed twenty-five ($25) dollars per month, to be paid out of the fish and game fund in the state treasury, upon vouchers duly audited by the state board of examiners, and said total sum so paid for such salaries and traveling expenses is not to exceed the sum of twenty-five hundred ($2500) dollars in any one year. [Approved March 2, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 63, p. 126.]

§ 1957c. Extra Office Clerk for Game and Fish Warden.

The state game and fish warden is hereby authorized to employ an extra office clerk at such times as may be necessary at a salary of seventy-five ($75) dollars per month, payable monthly out of the fish and game fund in the state treasury, by warrant drawn on said fund by the state auditor in the same manner as for the salaries of special deputy game and fish wardens; provided that no clerk shall be so employed until authority for so doing is first obtained from the state board of examiners, by the state game and fish warden. [Approved March 2, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 63, p. 127.]

§ 1957d. Chief Deputy Game and Fish Warden.

The state game and fish warden is hereby authorized and empowered to appoint one chief deputy state game and fish warden whose term of office shall be coextensive with that of the state game and fish warden, but such chief deputy so appointed may at any time be removed at the will of said state game and fish warden. Said chief deputy shall perform such duties as are by law prescribed for deputy state game and fish wardens, and such other duties as may be prescribed by the state game and fish warden, and during his absence or inability to act for any reason, shall perform the duties of state game and fish warden.

This act shall not increase the number of deputies now by law allowed the state game and fish warden, which is fifteen, and said chief deputy shall be one of said number. [Approved February 16, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 28, p. 46.]

§ 1961. Game and Fish Warden—New Districts and Additional Deputies.

The state game and fish warden is hereby authorized and empowered to create seven (7) additional game and fish districts, and to appoint and employ seven (7) additional special deputy game and fish wardens whose duties and compensation shall be the same as is already provided for by the Revised Codes of Montana of 1907; such appointments may be made by the state game and fish warden any time as in his judgment the needs of the state may require. [Amendment approved March 5, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 118.]

See section 1957a, ante, and note.

The number of deputies the state game and fish warden was allowed to appoint, under section 1953 of the Revised Codes, was eight, but the law of 1909 increased this number to fifteen. State v. Cunningham, 39 Mont. 197, 18 Ann. Cas. 705, 103 Pac. 497.

§ 1968. Salaries and Expenses of Deputies.

The compensation of all special deputy game and fish wardens shall hereafter be at the rate of fifteen hundred ($1500) dollars per annum, except the chief deputy, whose compensation shall be at the rate of eighteen hundred ($1800) dollars per annum, payable in monthly installments at the end of each month.

Each special deputy game and fish warden, including the chief deputy, shall be allowed six hundred ($600) dollars per annum, or as much thereof as may be necessary for his actual and necessary traveling expenses in his own district, when actually engaged in discharging the duties of his office, to be paid out of the game and fish fund upon vouchers duly audited by the state board of examiners. [Amendment approved February 16, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 46.]

§ 1978. Compensation for Issuing Hunting or Fishing Licenses.

All persons who are allowed by law to sell or issue hunting and fishing licenses, except the state game warden or his salaried deputies, shall be allowed to collect and to receive and retain as his compensation for issuing the said license, the sum of ten per cent of the amount paid for said license in addition to the sum provided by law for such license, and the said sum of ten per cent shall be retained by such seller of such license and shall be held to be payment in full for any and all services rendered by said person in so issuing said license. Any and all persons who may be empowered to sell and issue hunting or fishing license shall be personally liable to the state of Montana, for any amount of money collected or received for the sale of such license at the face amount thereof, and action may be commenced and prosecuted in the name of the state of Montana to recover same, or at the discretion of the state game warden such person may be prosecuted for embezzlement and punished as provided by law. [Amendment approved March 8, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 239.]

See, also, section 1987a, post.

§ 1978a. Expiration of Hunting and Fishing Licenses.

All hunting and fishing licenses shall expire on the thirtieth day of April, next after their issuance. The provisions of this act shall be construed to apply to all hunting and fishing licenses, including resident citizens' hunting and fishing licenses, nonresident citizens' fishing licenses, general nonresident citizens' hunting and fishing licenses, limited nonresident citizens' hunting and fishing licenses, alien fishing licenses, general alien hunting licenses and limited alien hunting licenses. [Approved February 25, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 31, p. 43.]

§ 1980. Definition of "Game Fish."

Section 1 of the act approved March 13, 1913, be amended so as to read as follows:

That whenever the term "game fish" is used in this act it shall be held and construed to mean the following named varieties of fish, to wit:

Mountain or cut-throat trout (salme clarkii).

Eastern brook trout (salvilinus fontinalis).

Grayling (thymallus).

Rainbow trout (salmo irrodus).

Rocky mountain whitefish (correyonus williamsoni).

Steelhead trout (salmo rivularis).

Dolly Varden trout or char or bull trout (salvelinus malma). [Approved March 13, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 79, p. 326. Amended March 8, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 107, p. 235.]

§ 1981. Catching Fish Except With Pole, Line and Hook.

Every person who takes or catches fish in any of the streams, lakes or ponds of this state, except with a pole, line and hooks, or any person who takes or catches fish with a hook baited with any poisonous substance, or by means of dams, or by the use of fish-traps and grab-hooks, seines, or similar means for catching fish, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

It shall be lawful, however, to use a seine of not less than two and a half (2½) inch mesh in the following waters: Ashly Lake, Flathead Lake, Whitefish Lake, Swan Lake, Dicky Lake, Smith Lake, and the Upper and Lower Stillwater Lakes in Flathead county, and Thompson Lake, Loon Lake, McGregor Lake in Lincoln county, and in the Pondera river, and Clark's Fork of the Columbia. All fish so taken by seine, except bull trout, char, or Dolly Varden trout, suckers, German carp, Lake Superior whitefish and squaw fish, shall be returned to the waters from which they are taken, uninjured. Any person desiring to use a net or seine for the purpose of catching fish, not herein designated as "game fish," in any of the lakes, ponds, rivers, or streams above mentioned, shall make application to the state game warden for a license so to do, stating thereon the lake, river, pond or stream in which the applicant wishes to catch fish by use of said net or seine; whereupon the said state game warden may, in his discretion and upon the payment of a license fee of five dollars ($5), issue to the applicant a license authorizing said applicant to use one seine in any of the rivers, streams, ponds or lakes above mentioned, as applied for. And the state game warden shall issue with each license a metal tag, having a number thereon corresponding with the number of the license issued to said applicant, which shall be, by the license, attached to the seine so used, and shall remain on said seine during the time of use, and it shall be unlawful to use any net or seine unless said tag is attached, as herein provided. Said license shall authorize the person to whom issued to use the same for the purpose of catching and selling, within the limits of the state of Montana for consumption therein, any fish not herein named as "game fish." And the license [licensee] shall make monthly reports of fish caught to the state game warden. The license herein provided for may be issued and remain in force for the term of one year from and after the date of issue, and shall authorize the holder to ship fish to any point within the state, and may, for cause, be revoked at any time by the state game warden.

Said license shall be in substantially the following form:

License to Net Fish, No.

Office of State Game Warden, Helena, Montana.

This will certify that I hereby license of, county of, state of Montana, to take by means of a net, fish from the waters of that certain lake, river, stream or pond known as and called, in county, Montana, for a period of one year; and that when said fish are so taken that the said may ship the same to any point within this state.

This license allows the taking of fish by means of a net having not less than three inch mesh in the waters above named; and that all fish defined by the law of Montana as "game fish" shall be returned to the waters from which taken without injury.

Witness my hand, this day of

State Game Warden.

The provisions of this section shall be construed to apply to and amend section 8793 of the Revised Codes of Montana of 1907, in so far as it refers to a license for seining in streams mentioned in said section 8793.

Any person violating the provisions of this section, upon conviction, shall be fined in any sum not less than twenty-five dollars ($25), nor more than two hundred dollars ($200), or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than ten (10) days nor more than ninety (90) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. [Approved March 13, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 79, p. 327.]

§ 1982. Record of Seining Licenses.

(Section 3.) It shall be the duty of the state game warden to keep a record of all licenses issued by him for the use of a net for the taking of fish, showing the name of the applicant, the date of issue, the waters to be used in, and when revoked (should the same be so revoked), and to pay all fees received for such licenses into the state treasury to the credit of the fish and game fund. Should an application be made for a license by any person who has theretofore had a license revoked for cause, it shall be the duty of the state game warden to refuse the same, and no license shall be issued to any person who has theretofore used any such license, or whose license has been revoked for cause. [Approved March 13, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 79, p. 329.]

§ 1983. Fishing in Private Ponds or Lakes.

(Section 4.) That any person who has or owns a lake or pond, or who owns or controls the land entirely surrounding such lake or pond, may take fish for spawning purposes therefrom to be used in stocking same, and any person who has heretofore, or who shall hereafter cause the said lake or pond to be stocked from year to year and every year for not less than three years with not less than two thousand fry for every acre of the superficial area of such lake or pond, shall have the right and privilege, under the terms and restrictions of law to take from said lake or pond in any manner, except by the use of poisons or explosives the fish contained therein, and to sell and dispose of the same as well as the eggs and fry so taken, provided, however, that any such owner or holder of a lake or pond shall sell or offer to sell at the going market price, to the state of Montana, any eggs or fry, over and above the amount required to restock such lake or pond to the extent required by this section, and provided, that nothing herein contained shall be construed as forbidding the general public from lawfully fishing in, and taking the trout caught from said pond, except that when the land entirely surrounding said pond is owned in fee by the person stocking same, that the law with reference to trespass upon land shall and may be applicable thereto, provided, further, that such owner shall procure a license as herein provided and shall furnish a good and sufficient bond to the state of Montana, in the sum of two hundred dollars ($200) conditioned to the effect that he will not sell fish caught in any of the public waters of this state, and also conditioned to the effect that such owner or holder will report to the state game warden the quantity of fish, fish eggs and spawn taken from said lake or pond and sold from and planted in said lake or pond during any calendar year. Said report to be made under oath annually in the month of January of each year.

It shall be the duty of the state game warden upon application made, and when satisfied that the person applying therefor is entitled thereto to issue a license in such form as may be adopted by him to any person so entitled under the provisions hereof upon the payment of the sum of five dollars ($5), the said license to be renewed annually, upon the payment of a like fee, so long as the person applying therefor shall continue to stock said lake or pond as herein provided. Any license issued hereunder may be revoked by the state game warden at any time should the person to whom the same has been issued be convicted of a violation of the laws of Montana, with reference to the protection of fish and game. [Approved March 13, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 79, p. 330. Amendment approved March 8, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 107, p. 235.]

(Section 5.) It shall hereafter be unlawful for any one person to catch from the public waters of this state more than twenty-five (25) pounds of any of the varieties of fish designated as game fish (except Dolly Varden trout) in any one day (said weight to be computed after the cleaning of said fish but with the head reckoned in the weight), or more than ten of any such game fish which are less than six inches in length in any one day. It shall be lawful to catch fifty (50) pounds, and no more, of the Dolly Varden variety of game fish in any one day, the weight of the catch to be computed as hereinabove mentioned. It is hereby declared to be the intention of this act to provide that twenty-five (25) pounds of all or any game fish over six inches in length, and ten fish less than six (6) inches in length shall constitute the limit for a day's fishing except in the case of Dolly Varden trout, and that in this variety of fish fifty (50) pounds thereof shall constitute the limit of a day's fishing, and that when the day's catch shall consist of both Dolly Varden trout and other varieties of game fish that twenty-five (25) pounds shall then and in that event constitute the limit for a day's catch.

It shall be unlawful for any one person to be in possession of more than one hundred (100) pounds of Dolly Varden trout, or more than fifty (50) pounds of any other kind of game fish at any one time. Any person violating the provisions of this section upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not less than twenty dollars ($20) nor more than one hundred dollars ($100), or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than ten, nor more than thirty (30) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. [Approved March 13, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 79, p. 331. Amendment approved March 8, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 107, p. 237.]

[Approved March 13, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 79, p. 331. Prior Amendment; Laws 1911, c. 90, p. 158.]

§ 1986. Fish or Ladder-way in Streams.

(Section 7.) There shall be constructed at all dams now existing, or any that may be hereafter constructed on any of the streams of the state, when such is considered necessary by the state game warden, a fishway or ladder to conform to the plans to be furnished by the state game warden. Any person or corporation who shall violate the provisions of this section, shall, upon conviction, be fined not less than two hundred dollars ($200), nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000), or by imprisonment in the county jail for a period of not less than thirty (30) days, nor more than ninety (90) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the court. (Section 8.) Any person or persons, or the agent of any stage, express or railway company, or association of persons who shall receive, for transportation or carriage, or shall sell or offer for sale any of the game fish that have been taken or killed contrary to the provisions of this act, knowing or having reason to know or believe that such fish were so illegally caught, taken or killed, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not less than twenty-five dollars ($25), nor more than two hundred dollars ($200), or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than ten (10) days, nor more than thirty (30) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Provided, however, that any person having in his possession a fishing license for the current year, may ship not to exceed twenty-five (25) pounds of game fish by express, stage, or freight, upon showing said license to the agent of any carrying company. [Approved March 13, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 79, p. 332.]

§ 1987a. Fishing or Hunting Licenses Required.

(Section 9.) From and after the passing of this act, it shall be unlawful for any person to fish or hunt within Montana, who, by the terms hereof, is required to have a license without first procuring a license of the class required for either hunting or fishing, as the case may be. Licenses for hunting and fishing shall be issued by the authority of the state game warden, and under his hand, from time to time, in the manner herein provided, and in such form as he may adopt.

Licenses shall be divided into the following classes:

Class A. A general hunting and fishing license, as hereinafter described.

Class B. Fishing licenses to those who are not citizens of the United States.

Class C. Hunting and fishing licenses to nonresident citizens, general and limited.

Class D. Hunting and fishing licenses to aliens, general and limited.

No license shall be issued to, nor be required of any female, or of any male under fourteen years of age.

All other persons must procure a license before hunting or fishing within the limits of Montana as follows:

1. A class "A" license may be issued to a person who is a bona fide resident citizen of this state, and who desires to hunt, take, kill, catch and have in his possession any of the fish, game birds and wild animals of this state, except coyotes, wolves and mountain lions, upon the payment of one dollar ($1):

2. A class "B" license may be issued to a person entitled thereto upon the payment of five dollars ($5):

3. Any citizen who is a nonresident of the state of Montana, who desires to hunt, take, kill, catch or have in his possession any of the wild animals, game birds and fish of this state, shall procure a license therefor, for which he shall pay the state game and fish warden, or deputy state game and fish warden, the sum of twenty-five dollars ($25), and such license shall be a general license which shall entitle the holder thereof to hunt large or big game, small and feathered game, and to catch fish from the waters of this state; or the sum of ten dollars ($10) for a limited license, which shall entitle the holder thereof to hunt small and feathered game and to catch fish.

Nonresident's fishing license: A license to fish in the waters of this state shall be issued to any citizen of the United States not a resident of the state of Montana, upon the payment of a license fee of two ($2) dollars.

4. Any person who is not a citizen of the United States, and has not declared his intention to become such citizen, who desires to hunt, take, kill, catch or have in his possession any of the wild animals, game birds and fish of this state, shall procure a license therefor for which he shall pay the state game and fish warden, or deputy state game and fish warden the sum of thirty ($30) dollars, and such license shall be a general license which shall entitle the holder thereof to hunt large or big game, small and feathered game and to catch fish from the waters of this state.

All licenses shall contain a complete description of the licensee, together with his age, business, residence and postoffice address, and shall grant to the owner thereof permission to fish, or hunt and fish, as the case may be, at a time and in a manner not prohibited by law. Every applicant for such license shall, upon applying for the same, state his occupation, residence and postoffice address, and shall place his signature in ink upon such license in a place designated by the officer issuing the same, which signature must be in the presence of such officer. The applicant shall pay the state game and fish warden, or deputy, or the person issuing the license, the sum hereinabove mentioned, and such license, when issued, shall entitle the holder to hunt or fish, or to both hunt and fish, in accordance with the terms of the license held by him.

Any nonresident of this state who shall hunt, take, kill, catch or have in his possession any of the wild animals, game birds or fish of this state, or any part thereof, without having taken out and being at the time in possession of a nonresident's license as provided in this act, and in the case of large or big game, being entitled by virtue of the same to hunt for large or big game, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and punished as hereinafter provided for in this section. All citizens of the United States, who have lived in Montana for six months, all officers and soldiers of the United States army, and all students at any institution of learning within the state of Montana, shall be deemed resident citizens for the purpose of this act, as well as all forest rangers and officers of the Forestry Department of the United States.

Any person violating any of the provisions of this section, upon conviction, shall be fined in any sum not less than twenty-five ($25) dollars, nor more than five hundred ($500) dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than thirty (30) days, nor more than ninety (90) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. [Approved March 13, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 79, p. 332.]

This section seems to repeal section 1977a of the Revised Codes and chapter 38 of Laws of 1913, relating to alien or nonresident gun, hunting, or fishing licenses.

§ 1987b. Application for and Issuance of Licenses.

(Section 10.) Before issuing a license, it shall be the duty of the person issuing the same, to ascertain which class of licenses the applicant is entitled to receive, or desires to purchase, and for that purpose may require of the applicant a written statement in which shall be given all the facts necessary to be known, so that the proper amount may be collected and the proper form of license given to the applicant, and any false statement given, either in writing or otherwise, shall be deemed a misdemeanor and punished as hereinafter provided. Licenses may be issued upon written application to the state game warden, in which shall be stated the name and age of the applicant, his residence, height, weight, color of hair and eyes, occupation and postoffice address, and whether a resident or non-resident, citizen or not, upon the payment of the amount above stated for the class of license applied for. Any person violating any of the provisions of this section, upon conviction, shall be fined in any sum not less than twenty-five ($25) dollars, nor more than two hundred ($200) dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than ten (10) days, nor more than thirty (30) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. § 1987c. Catching Fish for Scientific Purposes.

(Section 11.) It shall hereafter be lawful for the duly accredited representative of any school, college, university or other institution of learning, who may be investigating a scientific subject making the same necessary, to take, kill, capture and have in his possession for such purpose, any of the birds, fish or animals found in this state, and to take, kill and capture the same in any way, except by the explosion of dynamite; provided that no more of any such birds, fish or animals shall be taken than are necessary for such investigation, and provided also that any person who shall desire to engage in such scientific investigation shall apply to the state game warden for a license so to do. If the state game warden is satisfied of the good faith of the applicant, he shall issue to him a permit, which shall place a time limit upon such investigation, and shall place a restriction upon the number of birds, fish or animals to be taken thereunder; and the person to whom such license is issued shall pay therefor the sum of five ($5) dollars, and shall have no right or authority to take, have or capture any other or greater number of the birds, fish or animals than are mentioned in said license. Any person violating the provisions of this section, upon conviction, shall be fined in any sum not less than twenty-five ($25) dollars, nor more than two hundred ($200) dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than ten (10) days, nor more than thirty (30) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. [Approved March 13, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 79, p. 335.]

§ 1987d. Receipts for License Fees.

(Section 12.) It shall be unlawful for any person authorized by law to issue hunting or fishing licenses, to issue any temporary receipt, or other evidence of payment of money for a fishing or hunting license to be thereafter issued, and it shall be no defense to any prosecution for fishing or hunting without a license to make such payment, or to have such receipt; provided that in all cases when a license is applied for by a person entitled thereto to a person authorized to sell the same, and it is not possible, at the time, to deliver the same, such person shall issue an official receipt, which shall be furnished by the state game warden to all persons entitled to issue licenses; said official receipts shall be numbered consecutively, and shall be charged to the account of the justice of the peace, or deputy game warden, to whom licenses are furnished for issuance; and said receipts, when replaced by licenses, shall be returned to the state game and fish warden, or unused receipts and stubs shall be returned at the end of the year to the state game and fish warden to be credited to the account of persons to whom they have been charged. Any person violating any of the provisions of this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction, shall be fined in any sum not less than twenty-five ($25) dollars, nor more than one hundred ($100) dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than ten (10) days, nor more than twenty (20) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. [Approved March 13, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 79, p. 336.]

(Section 13.) It shall be the duty of the state game warden and his deputies, as well as of all peace officers of the state, to discover and make complaint and cause proceedings to be instituted against any and all persons who violate the law with reference to the protection of fish and game in this state, and in all cases no bond for costs shall be required, but all such cases shall be prosecuted by the county attorney of the proper county at the cost of the state. [Approved March 13, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 79, p. 336.]

The state game warden, or any of his deputies, shall, at any and all times, have the power and authority to seize and take possession of any and all birds, animals or fish which have been caught, taken or killed at any time in a manner or for a purpose contrary to law, and such search and seizure may be made without warrant. [Approved March 13, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 79, p. 337.]

(Section 15.) § 2054. Care of County Poor—Letting of Contracts by Commissioners.

The board must, at its regular session in September, 1909, and at each regular September session thereafter immediately preceding the expiration of any contract previously made for the care, support and maintenance of the county poor, make an order directing the clerk of the board to publish a notice in a newspaper inviting sealed proposals for the care, support and maintenance of the indigent sick, poor and infirm of the county, per capita, by the week, for a period of not less than one nor more than two years, said proposals to include the entire cost of feeding, clothing and nursing of the indigent sick, poor and infirm, and the burial expenses. The notice must be published in a newspaper printed in the county for four successive weeks, at least once a week. [Amendment approved February 25, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 34.]

The several provisions of the statute relating to county charges are to be construed together. State v. Hindson, 44 Mont. 429, 439, 441, 120 Pac. 485.

There is a manifest contradiction of terms in this section, as amended in 1909, but, when read in connection with section 2055, post, as amended in 1911, it was manifestly the intention that bids should be asked for one year only, and that any contract for the care of the county poor should run but one year. State v. Hindson, 44 Mont. 429, 441, 120 Pac. 485.

Section 2054, as amended, commands the board of county commissioners every September to advertise for bids for the care of the county poor "for a period of not less than one nor more than two years," and, though there is a seeming contradiction of terms here, the legislative intention is apparent when there is read in this connection the further provision found in section 2055, as amended by Laws of 1911, Chapter 45, page 78. State ex rel. Stuewe v. Hindson, 44 Mont. 429, 441, 120 Pac. 485.

§ 2055. Contract for Care of Poor and Infirm.

The proposal must be addressed to the clerk of the board, and the board must annually at their September session award the contract for the care, support and maintenance of the sick, poor and infirm of the county to the lowest responsible bidder for the ensuing year. Provided, however, that in a county owning a county poor farm with suitable buildings of sufficient size to care for the indigent, sick, poor and infirm of such county, the county commissioners of such county may employ some suitable person as superintendent of such poor farm, and the county may maintain the said indigent, poor, sick and infirm at said farm at the expense of such county. Such superintendent shall at all times be under the control of and subject to the orders of the board of county commissioners, and may be removed by them at any time. [Amendment approved February 23, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 78. Prior amendment: Laws 1909, p. 34.]

Under this section, as amended in 1911, the board must award the contract to the lowest responsible bidder, provided, however, that if the county owns its own poor farm, properly equipped, the commissioners may employ a superintendent and care for the charges themselves. State v. Hindson, 44 Mont. 429, 439, 120 Pac. 485.

The board having the power, under section 2057, post, to reject bids, it is not its absolute duty to accept the lowest responsible bid; hence, mandamus does not lie, either at the suit of an unsuccessful bidder or a taxpayer, to coerce the board into letting a contract to the lowest responsible bidder. State v. Hindson, 44 Mont. 429, 440, 120 Pac. 485.

The letting of contracts to the lowest bidder is for the benefit of the public; the provision requiring it does not confer any right upon the lowest bidder as such; but an unsuccessful bidder may, as a taxpayer, invoke the aid of a court, by mandamus, to compel action by the board, where it has failed to act; that is, it may be compelled to exercise its discretion in the matter, but the particular conclusion which the board should reach, after such discretion has been honestly exercised, cannot be directed. State v. Hindson, 44 Mont. 429, 440, 120 Pac. 485.

In advertising for bids for two years, and in assuming to let a contract to the highest bidder, the board exceeds its authority. State v. Hindson, 44 Mont. 429, 441, 120 Pac. 485.

A contract fraudulently let is a nullity. State v. Hindson, 44 Mont. 429, 441, 120 Pac. 485.

This section provides that the board of county commissioners must award the contract, for the care of the poor, sick and infirm of the county, to the lowest responsible bidder; provided, however, that, if the county owns its own poor farm, properly equipped, the commissioners may employ a superintendent and care for the charges themselves. State ex rel. Stuewe v. Hindson, 44 Mont. 429, 439, 120 Pac. 485.

Compelling award of contract. See note ante, § 2055.

The authority of the board to reject all bids is necessarily implied; and, if the situation warrants it, the board may re-advertise. State v. Hindson, 44 Mont. 429, 440, 120 Pac. 485.

§ 2065. Burial of Soldiers, Sailors and Marines.

It shall be the duty of the board of county commissioners of each county in this state, to designate some proper person in the county, whose duty it shall be to cause to be decently interred, the body of any honorably discharged soldier, sailor or marine, who shall have served in the army or navy of the United States, who may hereafter die. Such burial shall not be made in any burial grounds or cemetery, or in any portion of such burial grounds or cemetery, used exclusively for the burial of pauper dead. Provided, the expense of each burial shall not exceed the sum of one hundred ($100) dollars. [Amendment approved March 6, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 196. Prior amendment: Laws 1909, p. 119.]

§ 2067. Duty of Persons Appointed to Make Interment.

It shall be the duty of the person appointed as provided in section 1 of this act [§ 2065 herein] to cause such deceased person to be buried as provided in this act, and he shall immediately report his action to the clerk of the board of county commissioners, setting forth all the facts, together with the name, rank or command, so far as is known, to which the deceased belonged, as such soldier, sailor or marine. The date of death, place of burial, and his occupation while living, and also an itemized statement of the expenses incurred by reason of such burial. [Amendment approved March 6, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 196.]

§ 2081. Fire Protection.

The board of county commissioners are authorized to establish the fire limits in any unincorporated town or village, and at the time of the annual levy of taxes, may levy a special tax upon all the property within such limits for the purpose of buying apparatus and maintaining the fire department of any such town or village, and such tax must be collected as are other taxes. All moneys so collected by the county treasurer shall be disbursed by him upon warrants signed by the treasurer of the fire company and countersigned by its foreman. In the drawing of such warrants against the funds so collected by the county treasurer, the foreman and treasurer of the fire company shall be governed by the by-laws of such fire company. It is provided that the provisions of this section shall not apply to payment of bonds and interest thereon as provided by Chapter 107 of the Laws of the Twelfth Legislative Assembly of the State of Montana. [Amendment approved February 18, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 27.]

§ 2082. Requirements of Legal Fence.

Any one of the following, if not less than forty-four inches or more than forty-eight inches in height, shall be a legal fence in the state of Montana:

(1.) All fences constructed of at least three barbed, horizontal, well-stretched wires, the lowest of which must not be less than fifteen inches nor more than eighteen inches from the ground, securely fastened as nearly equidistant as possible to substantial posts, firmly set in the ground, or to well-supported leaning posts not exceeding twenty feet apart or thirty-three feet apart where two or more stays or pickets are used equidistant between posts; provided, that all corral fences used exclusively for the purpose of inclosing stacks which are situated outside of any lawful inclosure shall not be less than sixteen feet from such stack so inclosed, and shall be substantially built with posts not more than eight feet distant from each other and not less than five strands of well-stretched barb-wire, and shall not be less than five nor more than six feet high; provided further, that any kind of a fence equally as effectual for the purpose of a corral fence may be made in lieu thereof.

(2.) All fences constructed of any standard woven wire not less than twenty-eight inches in height securely fastened to substantial posts not more than thirty feet apart shall be a legal fence, provided one barbed wire shall be placed above the same at a height of not less than forty-eight inches from the ground.

(3.) All other fences made of barb-wires which shall be as strong and as well calculated to protect inclosures as those above described, shall be considered legal fences.

(4.) All other fences consisting of four boards, rails or poles with posts not over fourteen feet apart.

(5.) All rivers, hedges, mountain ridges and bluffs or other barrier over or through which it is impossible for stock to pass. [Amendment approved March 8, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 127.]

Provisions not applicable to animals in charge of a herder. See note, post, § 2090.

Liability for herding or driving animals upon another's land. See note, post, §§ 2090 and 8474.

Liability for herding or driving stock upon another's land. See note, post, § 8474.

The provisions of this section apply to all domestic animals, except those enumerated in § 8836, post, which the owner must keep within his own inclosures, under the common law rule; but such provisions have no application to animals in charge of a herder. Herrin v. Sieben, 46 Mont. 226, 232, 127 Pac. 323.

An owner of sheep has no right to willfully and unlawfully drive them upon the lands of another, whether such lands are inclosed or not; the owner, in such a case, to avoid encroaching upon his neighbor, must, at his peril, ascertain the line at which his rights end and his neighbor's begin. Herrin v. Sieben, 46 Mont. 226, 233, 127 Pac. 323.

The commissioner of agriculture and publicity must annually prepare from official reports and from other reliable sources to which he may obtain access, as full tables of the statistics of the state as may be in his power, and report the result of his labor to the Governor. [Amendment approved March 8, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 289.]

§ 2099. Officers to Answer Questions.

In order to insure a more perfect collection of the statistical information contemplated by this chapter, every officer within this state must answer fully and promptly the special and general questions the commissioner of agriculture and publicity may propound in carrying out the objects mentioned in this chapter, and no person must receive any compensation for answering such questions. Any and all of said mortgages which run for a greater period than five (5) years may be satisfied at any time after five years from date thereof, upon the payment of the full amount due. The applicant for the loan upon any farm land shall furnish a complete and satisfactory abstract, at his own expense of the title of the land, and before any loan is made the Attorney General of Montana shall examine said title, and if he shall find title resting in said applicant, he shall certify the same to the state board of land commissioners. The cost of appraising such loan shall be estimated by the board and the amount of said estimate paid by the applicant to the state board in advance of and before any appraisalment of such land shall be made. [Amendment approved March 18, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 468.]

By act approved March 8, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 111, p. 159.

§ 2283.

The rights of all persons to enter upon and make exploration of the public mineral lands, for the purpose of making locations, are equal; but the one who first makes a discovery has the exclusive right, during the time allowed him, to make the first location. Ferris v. McNally, 45 Mont. 20, 27, 121 Pac. 889.

The locator must do his exploration work, within sixty days after posting his notice, by sinking the discovery shaft, as provided herein. Ferris v. McNally, 45 Mont. 20, 25, 121 Pac. 889.

By discovery and the posting of notice of claim, the discoverer acquires a right to make a location to the exclusion of one who thereafter enters and makes a location, pending the time allowed by the statute to complete the marking of the boundaries and the required excavation work. Ferris v. McNally, 45 Mont. 20, 26, 121 Pac. 889.

The location of a quartz lode is not valid unless there has been a discovery and a compliance with the requirements of this section. Ferris v. McNally, 45 Mont. 20, 25, 121 Pac. 889.

The state may rightly exact of a locator certain things enumerated in the code, in addition to what is required by the laws of the United States, for making a quartz lode mining location. Butte etc. Min. Co. v. Barker, 35 Mont. 327, 341, 89 Pac. 302.

While the code does not in express terms declare that the opening of the cut, crosscut, or tunnel, which is designated the equivalent of the discovery shaft, must be on the claim sought to be located, still no other conclusion can be drawn from the language employed in sections 3611 and 3612 of the Political Code. Butte etc. Min. Co. v. Barker, 35 Mont. 327, 341, 89 Pac. 302.

§ 2292a. Validity of Prior Mining Locations.

All placer mining locations or locations of valuable mineral deposits which have heretofore been recorded in the office of the county clerk or recorder have the same force and effect as though such records had been authorized by law, except in cases where the rights of third persons had been acquired before the passage of this code; and such record is entitled to be admitted in evidence in any court.

provided for by the federal statute, is not in a position to take advantage of an alleged defect in a declaratory statement. Consolidated etc. Min. Co. v. Struthers, 41 Mont. 565, 575, 111 Pac. 152.

§ 2296a. Annual Work on Mining Claim—Filing of Affidavit.

The owner of a lode or placer claim who performs or causes to be performed the annual work or makes the improvements required by the laws of the United States in order to prevent the forfeiture of the claim, may, within twenty days after the annual work, file in the office of the county clerk of the county in which such claim is situated, an affidavit of his own, or an affidavit of the person who performed such work or made the improvements, showing:

1. The name of the mining claim and where situated.
2. The number of days' work done, and the character and value of the improvements placed thereon.
3. The date of performing such work and of making the improvements.
4. At whose instance the work was done or the improvements made.
5. The actual amount paid for work and improvements, by whom paid when the same was not done by the owner.

Such affidavits, or a certified copy thereof, are prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated.

§ 2296b. Official Survey of Mining Claim and Certificate Thereof.

Where a locator or owner of a mining claim has the boundaries and corners of his claim established by a United States deputy mineral surveyor and his claim connected with a corner of the public or minor surveys or an established initial point, and incorporates into the declaratory statement the field-notes of such survey, and attaches to and files with such declaratory statement, a certificate by the surveyor setting forth:

1. That said survey was actually made by him, giving the date thereof.
2. The name of the claim surveyed and the locators thereof.

3. That the description incorporated in the declaratory statement is sufficient to identify the claim.

Such survey and certificate becomes a part of the declaratory statement and such declaratory statement is prima facie evidence of the facts therein contained. The provisions of this chapter apply only to locations made after this code takes effect.

This is section 3616 of the Political Code of 1895, which was inadvertently omitted from the Revised Codes of 1907.

IRRIGATION DISTRICTS.

§ 2309. Who may Organize.

(Section 1.) A majority in number of the holders of title or evidence of title to lands susceptible of irrigation from the same general source, and by the same general system of works, such holders of title or evidence of title, also representing a majority in acreage of said lands, may propose the establishment and organization of an irrigation district under the provisions of this act. The county assessment-roll or rolls for the year last preceding, or the certificate of the county clerk and recorder, or the certificate of the register of the state land office, shall be sufficient evidence of title for the purpose of this act. Where lands have been purchased from the state and part or all of the purchase money has been paid but the patents or deeds from the state to such lands have not been issued, the receipt or receipts held by the purchasers, or the certificate of the register of the state land office showing the payments on account of purchase, shall be evidence of title to such lands, under this act. Provided, however, that lands already under irrigation or lands having water rights appurtenant thereto, or lands that can be irrigated from sources more feasible than the district system, shall not be included unless the owner or owners thereof shall file their consent in writing to the inclusion of such lands in the proposed district, as hereinafter provided. [Amendment approved March 18, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 146, p. 254.]

This act provides for the creation, organization, government and extension of irrigation districts and for the repeal, with certain reservations, the provisions of sections 2309 to 2402, both inclusive, of the Revised Codes. Billings Sugar Co. v. Fish, 40 Mont. 256, 20 Ann. Cas. 264, 26 L. R. A. (N. S.) 973, 106 Pac. 565.

The power to create an irrigation district is lodged with the district court, as is also supervisory control to some extent over its affairs, but the court must first acquire jurisdiction of the subject matter and of the parties. The act provides for the obtaining of this jurisdiction; this obtained, then the provisions of the act and the rules of procedure are to be given the most liberal construction, to the end that the purpose of the act may be carried into effect. In re Gallatin Irrigation District, 48 Mont. 605, 607 et seq., 140 Pac. 92.

In this act, "to provide for the creation, etc., of irrigation districts," there is no delegation of legislative functions, the legislation being complete in itself; and in enacting it the legislature prescribed the conditions which must be complied with in order to effect the organization of the enterprise, and has declared that, when this compliance has been ascertained by the procedure prescribed for that purpose, the corporation is organized with the powers described in the act. O'Neill v. Yellowstone Irr. Dist., 44 Mont. 492, 501, 121 Pac. 283.

Sections 2303-2402, both inclusive, were, with certain reservations, repealed by the act of 1909. Billings Sugar Co. v. Fish, 40 Mont. 256, 272, 20 Ann. Cas. 264, 26 L. R. A. (N. S.) 973, 106 Pac. 565.

§ 2310. Petition for Organization.

(Section 2.) For the purpose of establishing and organizing an irrigation district hereunder, a petition signed by the required number of holders of title or evidence of title to lands within such proposed district mentioned in section 1 of this act [§ 2309 herein], shall be filed with the clerk of the district court of the county in which the lands of the proposed district, or the greater portion thereof, are situated. Provided if there are three or more counties embraced in the proposed district, and no one county embraces the greater portion of said lands, then and in that event said petition shall be filed in the county which embraces a greater portion of said lands than any one of the other counties embraced in said proposed district. Such petition shall set forth:

(1) The name suggested for the proposed district.

(2) A general description of the lands to be included in the proposed district.

(3) The name of the holders of title, or evidence of title to the lands in the proposed district, ascertained in the manner mentioned in section 1 of this act; and if any such holder is a nonresident of the county or counties in which the proposed district lies, the postoffice address of such non-resident owner, if known.

(4) Generally the source from which the lands in the proposed district are to be irrigated, the character of the works, water rights, canals, and other property proposed to be acquired or constructed for irrigation purposes in the proposed district.

(5) A prayer that the lands embraced within the proposed district be organized as an irrigation district according to the provisions of this act.

The petition shall be accompanied with (1) a map or plat of the proposed district, and (2) a good and sufficient bond or undertaking to be approved by the district court or judge thereof of the county in which the petition is required to be filed under the provisions of this act, to pay all costs in and about the proceedings preliminary to the organization of the district in the event that said organization shall not be effected.

Mere error or omission in the description of any lands or in the names of any of the holders of title or evidence of title to lands, shall not operate to render invalid any proceedings hereunder or to deprive the district court of jurisdiction of the subject matter. Provided such misdescribed lands or misnamed persons shall not be included in said district. [Amendment approved March 18, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 146, p. 254.]

§ 2311. Order and Notice of Hearing on Petition.

(Section 3.) On such petition being filed, the district court or judge thereof shall make an order fixing the time and place of hearing on the petition and directing that notice thereof be given. Thereupon the clerk of said court shall cause to be published at least once a week for two successive calendar weeks in some newspaper published in the county where the said petition is filed, a copy of such petition, together with a notice, stating the time and place, by the said district court fixed, when and where the hearing on said petition will be had; and if any portion of the lands within the proposed district lies within any other county or counties, then said petition and notice shall be published as above provided in a newspaper published in each such other county. If there be no newspaper published in such county said petition and notice may be published in a newspaper published in an adjoining county.

The first publication of said petition and notice shall be not less than thirty days prior to the time mentioned in said notice for said hearing.

Nonresidents.—If any holder of title or evidence of title to lands within the proposed district is a nonresident of the county or counties in which the proposed district lies, the clerk of said court shall, within three days after the first publication aforesaid, mail a copy of said petition and notice to each such nonresident whose postoffice address is stated in said petition.

Proof of Notice.—The certificate of the clerk of the district court, under the seal of the court, as to the facts of the publishing and mailing of said petition and notice, affixed to a copy of said notice, shall be sufficient evidence of such facts. [Amendment approved March 18, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 146, p. 254.]

§ 2312. Hearing on Petition and Appointment of Commissioners.

(Section 4.) At the time specified in the notice mentioned in the preceding section, the district court in which the petition aforesaid is filed shall hear the petition, but may adjourn such hearing from time to time, not exceeding three weeks in all, and may continue the hearing for want of sufficient notice or other good cause. The court, upon application of the petitioners, or any other person or persons interested, shall permit the petition to be amended, and may order further or additional notice to be given. Upon such hearing all persons interested whose lands or rights may be damaged or benefited by the organization of the district or the irrigation works or improvements therein or to be acquired or constructed as hereinafter set forth, may appear and contest the necessity or utility of the proposed district, or any part thereof, and the contestants and petitioners, may offer any competent evidence in regard thereto.

It shall be the duty of the court to hear and determine whether the requirements of sections one (1), two (2) and three (3) of this act have been complied with and for that purpose shall hear all competent and relevant testimony that may be offered.

The court may make such changes in the proposed district as may be deemed advisable, or as fact, right, and justice may require; but shall not exclude from such proposed district any land which is susceptible of irrigation from the same general source and by the same general system of works applicable to the other lands of such proposed district if the owner or owners of such lands shall file in such district court a written request that such lands be included in such district; nor shall any lands which will not, in the judgment of the court, be benefited by irrigation by means of said system of works, nor shall lands already under irrigation, nor lands having water rights appurtenant thereto, nor lands that can be irrigated from sources more feasible than the district system, be included within such proposed district, unless the owner of such lands shall consent in writing to the inclusion of such lands, in the proposed district, as hereinafter provided, and to this end the court may subdivide lands included within the petition or proposed at the hearing to be included within such district into forty-acre tracts or smaller subdivisions thereof. Lands of the district need not be contiguous, and any particular tract or tracts, irrespective of the location in the district, may be excluded.

If, on final hearing, it is found by the court that the petition does not substantially comply with the aforesaid requirements of this act, or that the facts therein stated are not sustained by the evidence, then the court shall dismiss the petition at the cost of the petitioners, and shall make and enter an order to that effect; but if it is found that said petition substantially complies with said requirements and that the facts therein stated are sustained by the evidence, then the court shall make and enter an order:

- (1.) Setting forth said finding and allowing said petition.
- (2.) Establishing the proposed district.
- (3.) Giving accurate descriptions of the lands included within the proposed district.
- (4.) Dividing the proposed district into three divisions, as nearly equal in size as practicable.

(5.) Appointing three competent persons, having the qualifications as provided by section 5 of this act, as commissioners, one commissioner to be appointed for each division of the district.

Such finding and order shall be conclusive upon all the owners of lands within the district that they have assented to and accepted the provisions of this act; and shall be final unless appealed from to the supreme court within sixty days from the date of entry of such order. A copy of such order duly certified to by the clerk of said court, shall be filed for record within thirty days after such order is made and entered with the county clerk and recorder of the county wherein lands included within such district are situated; provided, however, there shall be omitted from such copy lands not situated in the county in which such copy is filed.

Every irrigation district so established hereunder is hereby declared to be a public corporation for the promotion of the public welfare, and the lands included therein shall constitute all the taxable and assessable property of such district for the purposes of this act. [Amendment approved March 18, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 146, p. 254.]

§ 2313. Board of Commissioners—Qualifications of Commissioners and Term of Office.

(Section 5.) No person shall be qualified to hold the position of commissioner unless he be an owner of land within the district, and shall be a resident of the county in which the division of the district, or some portion thereof for which such commissioner so elected is situated.

The commissioners appointed as aforesaid shall hold their respective offices until the second Saturday in April following their appointment and until their respective successors are elected and qualified as and in the manner hereinafter provided. Each of such commissioners shall qualify in the same manner as justices of the peace, and shall give a bond in the sum of two thousand dollars, conditioned upon the faithful performance of his duties, to be made payable to the state for the benefit of the district; which bond shall be approved by the district court or judge thereof and filed in the office of the clerk of said court.

Provided, that in case any district organized under this title is appointed fiscal agent of the United States or by the United States is authorized to make collections of moneys for and on behalf of the United States in connection with any federal reclamation project, each such commissioner shall execute a further and additional official bond in such sum as the Secretary of the Interior may require, conditioned for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office and the faithful discharge by the district of its duties as fiscal or other agent of the United States under any such appointment or authorization, and any such bond may be sued upon by the United States or any person injured by the failure of such commissioner or the district to fully, promptly, and completely perform their respective duties. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 145, p. 359.]

§ 2314. Organization of Board of Commissioners.

(Section 6.) The commissioners shall meet within ten days after their appointment and shall organize as a board by the election of one of their number as president; they shall also elect a secretary (who may or may not be a commissioner). The compensation of the secretary and all other employees authorized under this act shall be fixed by the board.

The board shall also at this meeting designate the place in the district where the office of the board shall be established and maintained and its records kept, which place shall be in the county containing the major portion of the lands of the district; and such place shall not be changed except by resolution of the board, of which notice shall be given by at least one publication in some newspaper published or of general circulation in the county wherein the office of the district is located, and by posting in at least three public places in each division of the district. [Amendment approved March 18, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 146, p. 254.]

§ 2315. Meetings of the Board.

(Section 7.) All meetings of the board of commissioners shall be public and a complete record of all proceedings shall be kept by the secretary.

Regular meetings of the board shall be held at such times as the board may by rule or by-laws prescribe; and special meetings may be called on twenty-four hours' notice by the president or any two members of the board, or in such other manner and upon such other notice as the board may by rule or by law prescribe. All meetings of the board may be adjourned as the board shall order or direct. A majority of the commissioners shall constitute a quorum. [Amendment approved March 18, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 146, p. 254.]

§ 2316. Compensation of Commissioners.

(Section 8.) The commissioners when sitting as a board, or when engaged in the business of the district, shall each receive not to exceed three dollars per day and their actual and necessary expenses. No commissioner or any other officer named in this act shall in any manner be interested directly or indirectly, in any contract, awarded or to be awarded by the board or in the profits to be derived therefrom; and for any violation of this provision such officer shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and his conviction thereof shall work a forfeiture of his office and he shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred ($500) dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six (6) months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. [Amendment approved March 18, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 146, p. 254.]

§ 2317. Board of Commissioners.

(Section 9.) The board of commissioners of every irrigation district established and organized under and by virtue of this act shall constitute the corporate authority of said district. They shall have the power, and it shall be their duty to manage and conduct the business and affairs of the district; adopt a corporate seal therefor; make and execute all necessary contracts; employ and appoint such agents, officers, and employees as may be required, and prescribe their duties. The board and its agents and employees shall have the right to enter upon any land to make surveys, and may locate the necessary irrigation works and the line for any canal or canals, and the necessary branches for the same, on any lands which in the judgment of the board may be deemed best suited for such location. Said board shall have power and authority to appropriate water in the name of the district, and to acquire by purchase water and water rights, and to acquire by purchase, condemnation, or other legal means, lands for rights of way, lands for reservoirs for the storage of needful waters, lands for dam sites, and such other lands as may be necessary for the construction, use, maintenance, repairs, and improvement of such system of works, and also to acquire by purchase canals and works already constructed, or in course of construction, and to contract with the owner or owners of such canals and works so purchased and in course of construction for the completion thereof. But no purchase of any water, or water rights, or canals, or reservoirs, or reservoir sites or irrigation works, or other property of any nature or kind for a price in excess of ten thousand dollars shall be final or binding on the district, nor shall the purchase price thereof be paid without the written consent or petition of at least a majority in number and acreage of the holders of title, or evidence of title to the lands within the district. Said board may enter into any obligation or contract with the United States for the construction, operation, and maintenance of the necessary works for the delivery and distribution of water therefrom under the provisions of the federal reclamation act and all acts amendatory thereof or supplementary thereto and the rules and regulations established thereunder; or the board may contract with the United States for a water supply under any act of Congress providing for or permitting such contract, and in case contract has been or may hereafter be made with the United States as herein provided, bonds of the district may be deposited with the United States at ninety per cent of their par value, to the amount to be paid by the district to the United States under any such contract, the interest on said bonds to be provided for by assessment and levy as in the case of other bonds of the district, and regularly paid to the United States to be applied as provided in such contract, and if bonds of the district are not so deposited it shall be the duty of the board of commissioners to include as part of any levy or assessment provided for in section 46, an amount sufficient to meet each year all payments accruing under the terms of any such contract; and the board may accept on behalf of the district, appointment of the district as fiscal agent of the United States, or authorization of the district by the United States to make collections of moneys for or on behalf of the United States in connection with any federal reclamation project, whereupon the district shall be authorized to so act and to assume the duties and liabilities incident to such action, and the said board shall have full power to do any and all things required by the federal statutes now or hereafter enacted in connection therewith, and all things required by the rules and regulations now or that may hereafter be established by any department of the federal government in regard thereto. Said board may also construct and maintain the necessary dams, reservoirs and works for the collection and distribution of water for the district, and do any and every lawful act necessary to be done in order that sufficient water may be furnished to each land owner in the district for irrigation purposes. The said board is hereby authorized and empowered to take conveyances or other assurances for all property acquired by it under the provisions of this act, in the name of the district, to and for the uses and purposes herein expressed, and to institute and maintain any and all actions and proceedings, suits at law or in equity, necessary or proper in order to fully carry out the provisions of this act, or to enforce, maintain, protect or preserve any and all rights, privileges and immunities created by this act, or acquired in pursuance thereof, and in all courts, suits, or proceedings, the said board may sue, appear and defend in person or by attorneys, and in the name of such irrigation district. The said board may adopt rules and by-laws governing the calling and holding of meetings of the board, the manner of transacting business thereat, and the publishing or posting of the orders, resolutions, and proceedings of the board. It shall be the duty of said board to pass or adopt by-laws, rules and regulations for the apportionment and distribution of water to the lands of the district, and for the protection and preservation of the works and other property of the district, which shall be printed in convenient form for distribution in the district. Said board shall have power generally to do and perform all such other acts as shall be necessary or appropriate to fully carry out the purposes of this act. All orders and resolutions shall be passed or adopted by a majority of the commissioners by a yea and nay vote, to be entered upon the records of the board. For the purpose of purchasing or constructing necessary irrigation canals or works or acquiring the necessary property and rights therefor and otherwise carrying out the provisions of this act, the board of commissioners of any such irrigation district must as soon after such district has been organized, as practicable, formulate a general plan for such purchase, construction, and acquisition of such property, and shall cause such surveys, examinations, and plans to be made as shall demonstrate the practicability of such plan, the amount of land that can be irrigated thereunder, and furnish the proper basis for an estimate of the cost of carrying out such plan and the value of any canal, works, property, or system of irrigation proposed to be purchased. All such surveys, examinations, maps, plans, and estimates shall be made by or under the direction and supervision of an irrigation engineer of well-known standing and competency, and all such necessary surveys, examinations, maps, plans, and estimates must be certified to by him. When all such are completed, he shall submit them with all proper field-notes to and file them with the board of commissioners accompanied by his report and recommendation thereon. This report shall include a discussion of said plans by him submitted to said board, of the question of water supply, of the sufficiency of the works proposed to accomplish the desired results, of the practicability of the proposed system from an engineering standpoint, of the probability of being acquired or constructed within the estimate of the cost stated, and such general discussion and recommendations in regard to the engineering and financial features of the whole matter as in the judgment of such engineer shall be desirable for the information of the people of the district. Such report shall be accompanied by a map when such is necessary for a proper explanation or understanding of the same. Upon receiving such report said board of commissioners shall proceed to determine the amount of money necessary to be raised for the purchase or construction of said proposed property, canals, or irrigation works and system, and within ten days after arriving at such determination shall cause the secretary of said board to notify all persons or corporations holding, or evidence of title, to lands within said district (ascertained as provided in section 1 of this act [§ 2309 herein]) of the filing of said report and their determination thereon. Said notices shall be given through the United States mail by letter addressed to such persons or corporations at their last known postoffice address of each person or corporation aforesaid. A certificate of the secretary of the board as to the fact of mailing said notice, affixed to a copy of said notice and recorded in the record book of said board of commissioners, shall be sufficient and conclusive evidence of such fact. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 145, p. 359.]

§ 2318. Change in Divisions and Election Precincts.

(Section 10.) The board of commissioners shall within six months after the organization of the district divide the district into one or more election precincts.

Said board when they deem it advisable for the best interests of the district and the convenience of the electors thereof, may, at any time, but no less than thirty days before any election to be held in the district, change the boundaries of the divisions and election precincts of the district; provided that such [action] of the board, to be effective, shall be approved by the district court, and provided also that in making such changes the several divisions of the district shall be kept as nearly equal in area and population as practicable.

Such division into election precincts and such change of boundaries of the divisions or election precincts shall be made by resolution or order of the board to be recorded in the minutes of the board, together with the order of the district court, approving the same, and a certified copy of the same shall be filed in the office of the county clerk and recorder in each county in which any of the lands of the district are situated. [Amendment approved March 18, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 146, p. 254.]

§ 2319. Elections—First Election of Commissioners and Regular Elections.

The commissioners so elected shall hold their respective offices until the second Saturday in April of the year succeeding their election and until their respective successors are elected and qualified.

The regular election for commissioners in each district shall be held annually on the first Saturday in April of each year, and on the second Saturday in April next following their election the commissioners-elect shall meet and organize as a board by electing a president, from their number and a secretary, who may or may not be a commissioner and who shall each hold office during the pleasure of the board. Fifteen days before any election held under this act, the secretary of the board of commissioners shall post notices in three public places in each election precinct of the time and places of holding the election, and shall also post a notice of the same in the office of said board. Prior to the time for posting notices the board by a resolution or order entered on their records, shall designate the house or place within each precinct where the election shall be held, and shall appoint from each precinct, from the electors thereof three judges who shall constitute a board of election for such precinct. Said judges shall appoint one of their number to act as clerk. If the board fail to appoint a board of election, or the members appointed do not attend at the opening of the polls on the morning of election, the electors of the precinct present at that hour may appoint the board, or supply the place of an absent member thereof. The board shall prescribe the forms and provide for the printing and distribution of the ballots for all elections held under this act. Before opening the polls, each member of the board must take and subscribe an oath faithfully to perform the duties imposed upon him by law. Any elector of the precinct may administer and certify any such oath. [Amendment approved March 18, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 146, p. 254.]

As soon as all the votes are counted, a certificate shall be drawn upon each of the papers containing the poll list and tallies, or attached thereto, stating the number of votes cast for each candidate or for each proposition, and designating the office or proposition voted for which number shall be written in figures and in words at full length. Each certificate shall be signed by the clerk and judges. One of said certificates, with the poll list and the tally paper to which it is attached, shall be retained by one of the judges, and preserved by him at least six months. [Amendment approved March 18, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 146, p. 254.]

§ 2325. Canvass.

(Section 17.) No list, tally paper, or certificate returned from any election, shall be set aside or rejected merely for want of form, if it can be satisfactorily understood. If, at the time of the meeting, the returns from each precinct in the district in which the polls were opened have been received, the board shall then and there proceed to canvass the returns thereof; but if all the returns have not been received, the canvass shall be postponed from day to day until all the returns have been received. Such election shall be called, noticed and conducted and the result thereof determined and declared in the manner provided in this act relative to general district elections; provided, however, that the notice thereof shall in addition to being posted, also be published at least once, not less than ten days prior to the date of the election, in some newspaper published in the county in which the office of the board of commissioners of the district is located. [Amendment approved March 18, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 146, p. 254.]

§ 2331. Change in Boundaries of Districts—Not to Affect Organization or Rights.

(Section 23.) The boundaries of any irrigation district organized hereunder may be changed in the manner herein prescribed; but such change of the boundaries of the district shall not impair or affect its organization, or its rights in or to property, or any of its rights or privileges of whatsoever kind or nature; nor shall it affect, impair or discharge any contract, obligation, lien, or charge for or upon which it was or might become liable or chargeable, had such change of its boundaries not been made. [Amendment approved March 18, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 146, p. 254.]

§ 2332. Election of Commissioners of Irrigation Districts.

(Section 23a.) The regular election of commissioners in each district shall be held annually on the first Saturday in April of each year, at which three commissioners, one for each division of the district, shall be chosen by the electors of the entire district. On the second Saturday in April next following their election the commissioners shall meet and organize as a board by electing a president from their number, and a secretary, who may or may not be a commissioner, and who shall each hold office during the pleasure of the board. [Amendment approved February 16, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 19.]

§ 2332a. Change in Area of Districts.

(Section 24.) (a) The boundaries of any irrigation district may be extended at any time to include lands susceptible of irrigation by the works of the district or through exchange or substitution of water, as hereinafter provided, excluding and excepting therefrom, however, all lands already under irrigation, or lands having water rights appurtenant thereto, or lands that can be irrigated from sources more feasible than the district system, unless the owner of such lands shall consent in writing to have such lands included in said district; provided, however, that a petition be presented to the district court of the judicial district in which the irrigation district was organized, asking for such extension, upon terms to be fixed by the court, signed by the holders of title, or evidence of title (evidenced as in section 1 of this act provided) of the lands proposed to be included in the district, representing not less than two-thirds in acreage of said lands. When such petition is presented, the district court or judge thereof shall appoint a day for a public hearing, notice of which shall be given by the clerk of the court by publication at least once a week for at least two weeks in a newspaper published or of general circulation in the county in which the office of the district is situated; and if any of said lands sought to be included in the district lie in a county or counties other than that in which the office of the district is situated, such notice shall also be likewise published in some newspaper published or of general circulation in each such other county or counties; or if there be no such newspaper, then such notice shall be posted in at least three public places in the territory sought to be included. At such public hearing, the district court shall hear those who may desire changes made in the proposed extension, and all those whose lands are included or sought to be included in the district, and all other persons whose rights may be affected by the proposed extension. Such public hearing may be adjourned from day to day, not exceeding twenty days in all, and the court shall make an order, either granting or denying said petition; and if said petition is granted, said order shall describe the lands included in said extension and the terms on which said land shall be included, and a copy of said order shall be filed with the county clerk and recorder in the county wherein said lands are situated. The order of the district court shall be final and conclusive, the same as the order originally creating the district, unless appealed from to the supreme court within ten days from the entry of the order; provided, however, that the extension of such boundaries shall not deprive the lands already in said district of an adequate supply of water for irrigation purposes.

(b) That whenever any lot, tract, or parcel of land has been heretofore, or may hereafter be included within the boundaries of any public irrigation district formed under the laws of this state, and the acreage thereof fixed and stated in the decree for the creation of said district or in any other proceeding relating thereto, is fixed at a greater number of acres than actually exists within such lot, tract, or parcel of land, or at a greater number of acres than can be irrigated from the reclamation system of said district; or whenever from any action or proceeding by or on behalf of said district or its commissioners, any such lot, tract, or parcel of land included therein has been or is about to be assessed for a greater acreage than exists therein, or can be irrigated from the reclamation system of said district, the owner or holder of title, or evidence of title to said lands as defined by the irrigation district acts, may have the taxable acreage contained therein fixed and adjudicated as provided for by this act.

(c) That the owner or holder of title, or evidence of title, as defined by the irrigation district acts, may file in the district court of the county wherein said lands are situated a petition praying that the acreage of the lands set forth and described in such petition may be permanently fixed and adjudicated, which petition shall set forth:

1. The name or names of the owner or owners, holder of title, or evidence of title thereto, who shall be the party or parties "plaintiff" therein.

2. The names and kind and character of interest of every person owning, holding, or claiming any right, title, or interest in or to the lands described in said petition, who shall, where they do not appear as parties plaintiff under subdivision 1 hereof, sit as parties "defendant."

3. The name of the district in which said lands are included, together with the name of the board of commissioners thereof, and the secretary thereof, and the name or names of the bondholders, if any, thereof, if known; and said district, its commissioners, secretary, and the known or unknown bondholders thereof shall be made parties defendant therein.

4. A statement of the substance of all proceedings, orders, and decrees creating said districts and fixing the acreage of the lands therein described, together with any proceedings of the board of commissioners of said district, or its officers, relating to the acreage thereof, to such extent as to fully inform the court of the manner and extent to which said lands have been included and taxed or assessed in said district.

5. The actual acreage of the lands described irrigable from the reclamation system of said district.

6. The excess of acreage complained of.

7. The amount of taxes previously paid on such excess acreage.

8. A general statement of the exact nature of the relief sought and the grounds therefor.

(d) That upon the filing of such petition, summons shall be issued thereon and served upon all parties defendant thereto, with a copy of the petition attached thereto, in the same manner and in the same form as are issued in civil actions.

(e) That whenever the bondholders of any district who are necessary parties to such a proceeding are unknown, they may be joined as the unknown bondholders of said district, and whenever said bondholders are unknown or any necessary party thereto cannot after due diligence be found within the state of Montana, service upon such party or parties, including said bondholders, may be had by publication of a summons which shall be obtained, issued, and published in the same manner as a published summons in a civil action.

(f) That the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure of the state of Montana, and the rules of pleading and practice applicable to civil actions generally shall apply, so far as applicable, to this proceeding.

(g) That if the allegations of such petition be denied the district court shall, when the time for appearance of the parties defendant thereto has expired and said parties have appeared by answer or made default, proceed to hear and determine the issues in said proceedings as joined.

(h) Upon the hearing of said petition the court shall by its decree, fix, and determine the irrigable acreage contained in the lots, tracts, or parcels of land complained of, and the acreage so fixed by such decree shall be the acreage upon which all assessments of said lands in said irrigation district shall thereafter be based, and upon said hearing the court shall determine the amount of taxes, if any, which have theretofore been levied and assessed upon any excess or nonexistent acreage, and shall enter judgment in favor of the owner or holder thereof and against said district for the excess of taxes theretofore collected by said district, or shall cancel such excess if the same shall not have been collected for the benefit of said district: Provided, however, that no judgment for the recovery of excess taxes paid shall be entered against any district until there shall have been deducted therefrom any unpaid valid taxes and assessments levied and assessed for the benefit of said district against the lands described in said petition, and all sums so recovered shall bear interest at the rate of eight per cent per annum from the date of payment by the land holder, and said judgment shall bear legal interest from the date of entry; and the judgment so rendered may be paid by warrants or funds of said future taxation upon said lands, and costs shall be allowed to the plaintiff in the same manner as other civil actions.

(i) From any such judgment or decree an appeal may be taken to the supreme court by any party thereto, at any time within ten days of the entry of said judgment or decree. Such appeal shall be taken, perfected, and heard in the manner prescribed by the Civil Code of Procedure governing appeals from the district court to the supreme court. If no such appeal be taken within the time aforesaid, or if taken, the judgment or decree of the district court shall be affirmed by the supreme court, such judgment or decree shall be forever conclusive upon the parties thereto.

Provided, that in case contract has been made between the district and the United States as in section 9 [§ 2317 herein] provided, no change shall be made in the boundaries of the district, and the district court shall make no order changing the boundaries of the district until the Secretary of the Interior shall assent thereto in writing and such assent be filed with the district court. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 145, p. 359.]

(Section 25.) The construction by the district of all irrigation works of every kind whatsoever, amounting to five thousand dollars or more, shall be done by contract, and before any such contract is let, the board of commissioners shall employ competent engineers to make surveys, plans, maps, and estimates which shall include everything necessary to show the entire cost in detail of everything necessary to complete the work required to irrigate any of the lands in the district under the proposed system. Notice of any contract to be awarded for construction of such works shall state where the plans and specifications may be seen and shall be published at least once a week for three successive calendar weeks in a newspaper published or of general circulation in the county where the office of the district is located. Sealed bids shall be called for in such published notice and bids shall be opened in public, and the contract shall be awarded only to the lowest responsible bidder, who shall be required to give bond for the faithful performance and completion of the contract. The board shall have the right to reject any and all bids in its discretion. The provisions of this section shall not apply to any contract for the completion of works in course of construction by private owners from whom said works may be acquired under the provisions of section 9 [§ 2317 herein] of this act. Provided, that the provisions of this section shall not apply in the case of any contract between the district and the United States. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 145, p. 359.]

§ 2334. Right of Way.

(Section 26.) The board of commissioners shall have the right to construct the said irrigation works across any stream of water, watercourse, street, avenue, highway, railway, canal, ditch or flume which the route of said canal or canals may intersect or cross, in such manner as to afford security to life and property; but said board shall restore the same, when so crossed or intersected, to its former state as near as may be so as not to destroy its usefulness; and every company whose railroad shall be intersected or crossed by said works, shall unite with said board in forming said intersection and crossing; and if such railroad company and said board, or the owners and controllers of said property, thing or franchise so to be crossed cannot agree upon the amount to be paid therefor, or the points or the manner of said crossing or intersections, the same shall be ascertained and determined in all respects as herein provided in respect to taking of land for public use.

But nothing herein contained shall require the payment to the state, or any subdivision thereof, of any sum for the right to cross any public highway with any such works. The right of way is hereby given, dedicated, and set apart, to locate, construct and maintain said works over and through any of the lands which are now or hereafter may be the property of the state. [Amendment approved March 18, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 146, p. 254.]

§ 2335. Noninterference With Navigation or Water Rights.

(Section 27.) Navigation shall never in any wise be impeded by the operation of this act, nor shall any vested interest in or to any mining or agricultural water rights or ditches, or in or to any water rights, or reservoirs or dams now used beneficially by the owners or possessors thereof, in connection with any mining, or agricultural industry, or by persons purchasing or renting the use thereof, or in or to any other property now used, directly or indirectly, in carrying on or in promoting the mining or agricultural industry, ever be affected by or taken under its provisions save and except that rights of way may be acquired over the same. Provided, further, that the right of eminent domain shall not be otherwise considered abridged by the provisions hereof. [Amendment approved March 18, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 146, p. 254.]

§ 2336. Diversion of Waters.

(Section 28.) Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to authorize the diversion of the waters of any river, creek, stream, canal, or ditch from its channel, to the detriment of any person or persons having an interest in such river, creek, stream, canal or ditch, or the waters therein. [Amendment approved March 18, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 146, p. 254.]

§ 2337. Use and Distribution of Water—Leasing of Works or Water.

(Section 29.) The board of commissioners shall have the power, with the written consent of a majority in number and acreage of the owners of the lands in the district, to lease in whole or in part the system of canals and works or water belonging to the district, whenever such leasing may be considered for the benefit of the district; provided, that when said board contemplates the leasing of the canals or works, or water of such district, they shall so declare by resolution or order, and give notice thereof by publishing the same in some newspaper published in the county in which the office of such irrigation district is situated, at least two calendar weeks prior to the making of any lease. Provided, however, that no such lease shall be made unless a majority in number and acreage of the holders of title or evidence to the lands in the district, shall file with the board a written consent to make such lease. Such lease shall in no way interfere with any rights that may have been established by law at the time such lease is made, nor shall such lease operate so as to deprive any owner or owners of land in such district of the use of water from such works upon such lands; and further provided, that the board of commissioners shall require a good and sufficient bond to secure the faithful performance of the lease by the lessee. [Amendment approved March 18, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 146, p. 254.]

§ 2338. Title of Property of District.

(Section 30.) The legal title to all property acquired by or for any irrigation district under the provisions of this act shall immediately and by operation of law vest in such district, to be by it held in trust for the uses and purposes of the district as set forth in this act. And the board of commissioners is hereby authorized and empowered to hold, use, maintain, acquire, manage, occupy and possess said property as herein provided. [Amendment approved March 18, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 146, p. 254.]

§ 2339. Use of Waters, etc., a Public Use.

(Section 31.) The use of all water required for the irrigation of the land of any district formed under the provisions of this act, together with the rights of way for canals and ditches, sites for reservoirs, and all property required in fully carrying out the provisions of this act, is hereby declared to be a public use, subject to the regulations and control of the state, in the manner prescribed by law. Provided, all water, the right to the use of which is acquired by the district under any contract with the United States, shall be distributed and apportioned by the district in accordance with the acts of Congress, and rules and regulations of the Secretary of the Interior, and the provisions of said contract in relation thereto. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 145, p. 359.]

§ 2340. Board to Apportion Water.

(Section 32.) The board of commissioners shall apportion the water for irrigation among the lands in the district in a just and equitable manner and the maximum amount apportioned to any land shall be the amount that can be beneficially used on said land, and such amount of water shall become and shall be appurtenant to the land and inseparable from the same, but subject to reduction as hereinafter provided; provided, however, that any water owner of the district shall have the right to sell or assign for one season any of the water apportioned to him and not required for use upon the land to which such water belongs. Provided all water, the right to the use of which is acquired by the district under any contract with the United States, shall be distributed and apportioned by the district in accordance with the acts of Congress, and rules and regulations of the Secretary of the Interior, and the provisions of said contract in relation thereto. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 145, p. 359.]

§ 2341. Reduction in Case of Shortage.

(Section 33.) In the event of a shortage of water, the amount of water delivered to each particular tract or piece of land shall be reduced proportionately. Provided, all water, the right to the use of which is acquired by the district under any contract with the United States, shall be distributed and apportioned by the district in accordance with the acts of Congress, and rules and regulations of the Secretary of the Interior, and the provisions of said contract in relation thereto. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 145, p. 359.]

§ 2342. Surplus Water.

(Section 34.) All surplus water belonging to the district may be sold or disposed of by the board for the benefit of the district. Provided, all water, the right to the use of which is acquired by the district under any contract with the United States, shall be distributed and apportioned by the district in accordance with the acts of Congress, and rules and regulations of the Secretary of the Interior, and the provisions of said contract in relation thereto. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 145, p. 359.]

§ 2343. Lands Under Irrigation from Same or Other Sources.

(Section 35.) Any land under irrigation from any source may be included in any irrigation district either at the time of the organization of such district, or at any time thereafter, and such land shall be entitled to receive and shall be given the same amount of water necessarily used thereon at the time of such inclusion; and the canals, ditches, flumes, dams, or other works previously used to irrigate such land, may be used or supplanted either wholly or in part by the district works; provided, however, that the owner of such land, canals, ditches, flumes, dams or other works shall be entitled to compensation for any and all damage sustained by reason of the appropriation of the same, or by the construction of said district works; provided, however, that lands already under irrigation, or lands having water rights appurtenant thereto, or lands which can be irrigated from sources more feasible than the district system, shall not be included within such district, unless the owner of such lands shall consent in writing to have such lands included in said district. [Amendment approved March 18, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 146, p. 254.]

§ 2344. Substitution of Water.

(Section 36.) Whenever any canal constructed, owned, or controlled by the district crosses any creek, stream, water channel or course, the water of which is used to irrigate land lying below such canal, the district shall have the right to contract with the owner or owners of the right to the use of the water or waters in any such stream, creek, water channel or course, for an exchange of water, and to supply him with water from the district system which contract shall be in writing, signed and acknowledged by all the parties thereto before some officer authorized to take acknowledgments, which acknowledgment shall be certified by such officer in the manner that deeds are now required to be certified to entitle them to be recorded, and shall be filed and recorded in the office of the clerk and recorder of the county in which the creek, stream, water channel or course is situated, and thereafter such district shall have the right to supply such land below the canal, whether such land is included in the district or not, with water from the works of the district, and the owner or lessee of such land shall, in such case, be furnished with the same quantity of water as that to which such owner or lessee would be entitled out of such creek, stream, water channel or course, had the district works not been built. The district shall have the right to appropriate and take possession of the water so replaced and shall have the same right to such water as the owner or lessee of the land had, so long as such water shall be replaced by a like quantity of water from such works, but the appropriating and taking of such water by the district shall never deprive such owner or lessee of the right to retake and use the same, should such owner or lessee at any time be prevented from having or using a like quantity of water from such works; and the district shall also have the right to make appropriation and take possession of such water at any point, and to sell, lease, or use such water on any land either above or below the canal, and the appropriation of such water at any point or selling, leasing, or using the same shall not prejudice the right of the district to the water and shall not increase the rights of the owner or owners of any other water right on such creek, stream, water channel or course. Provided, all water, the right to the use of which is acquired by the district under any contract with the United States, shall be distributed and apportioned by the district in accordance with the acts of Congress, and rules and regulations of the Secretary of the Interior, and the provisions of said contract in relation thereto. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 145, p. 359.]

§ 2345. All Lands Already Under Irrigation not Chargeable Except by Consent and for Certain Purposes.

(Section 37.) Where lands already under irrigation, the water and irrigation works irrigating the same belonging to the owner of said lands, are included in any district, such lands shall not be charged with any tax or assessment for construction or for payment of the interest or principal of any bonds issued to secure money for construction or purchase of the district irrigation works, or for any payments other than for operation and maintenance, due or to become due under any contract between the district and the United States, accompanying which bonds of the district have not been deposited with the United States as in section 9 [§ 2317 herein] provided, except with the consent of the owner thereof, which consent shall be filed with the recorder of deeds of the county in which such lands are situated, but such lands shall be assessed for administrative and maintenance purposes the same as other lands in the district. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 145, p. 359.]

§ 2346. Limitation on Debt Incurring Power.

(Section 38.) The board of commissioners, or other officers of the district, shall have no power to incur any debt or liability whatever, either by issuing bonds, or otherwise, except as provided in this act; and any debt or liability incurred in excess of such express provisions shall be, and remain absolutely void except that for the purpose of organization, or for any of the immediate purposes of this act, or to make or purchase surveys, plans and specifications, or for stream gauging and gathering data, or to make any repairs occasioned by any calamity or other unforeseen contingency, the board of commissioners may, in any one year, incur the indebtedness of as many dollars as there are acres in the district, and may cause warrants of the district to issue therefor, bearing interest at the rate not to exceed six per centum per annum. [Amendment approved March 10, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 127, p. 475.]

§ 2347. Exemption of Irrigation District Property.

(Section 39.) The bonds issued under the provisions of this act, rights of way, ditches, flumes, pipe-lines, dams, water rights, reservoirs and other property of like character, belonging to any irrigation district, shall not be taxed for state, county or municipal purposes. [Amendment approved March 18, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 146, p. 254.]

§ 2348. Bonds—Petition for Bonds and Action Thereon.

(Section 40.) For the purpose of providing the necessary funds for constructing necessary irrigation canals and works, and acquiring the necessary property and rights therefor, and meeting the expenses incident thereto, and for the purpose of acquiring by purchase or otherwise, water rights, canals, and irrigation works constructed or partially constructed, and for the purpose of otherwise carrying out the provisions of this act, the board of commissioners of any district organized hereunder may issue the negotiable coupon bonds of the district as and in the manner herein-after provided. No bonds shall be issued by or on behalf of any irrigation district organized hereunder, except upon petition signed by at least a majority in number and acreage of the holders of title or evidence of title to the lands included within said district. Such petition shall be addressed to the board of commissioners; shall set forth the aggregate amount of bonds to be issued, and the purpose or purposes thereof; shall have attached thereto an affidavit verifying the signatures; and shall be filed with the secretary of the board of commissioners. Upon the filing of such petition the board of commissioners shall by appropriate order or resolution authorize and direct the issuance of the bonds of the district to the amount and for the purpose or purposes specified in the petition; fix the numbers, denominations, and maturity or maturities of said bonds; specify the rate of interest thereon; and whether payable annually or semi-annually; designate the place of payment of said bonds and interest coupons; prescribe the forms of said bonds and interest coupons to be attached thereto; but if contract is to be made with the United States as in section 9 [§ 2317 herein] provided and bonds are not to be deposited with the United States in connection with such contract, the board of commissioners need not authorize the issuance of bonds, or if bonds are required in addition to such contract, may authorize bonds only for the amount needed in addition to such contract; and provide for the levy of a special tax or assessment as in this act provided on all the lands in the district for the irrigation and benefit of which said district was organized and said bonds are issued, or said contract is to be made, sufficient in amount to pay the interest on and principal of said bonds when due, and all amounts to be paid to the United States under any contract between the district and the United States accompanying which bonds of the district have not been deposited with the United States as in section 9 [§ 2317 herein] provided.

Such order or resolution shall also provide for the confirmation proceedings in the district court hereinafter mentioned. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 145, p. 359.]

§ 2349. Confirmation by District Court.

(Section 41.) Within ten days after the adoption of the order or resolution mentioned in section 40 of this act [§ 2348 herein], the board of commissioners shall file a petition in the district court of the judicial district wherein is located the office of said board, to determine the validity of the proceedings had relative to the issuance of said bonds and to the levy of said special tax or assessment.

Such action shall be in the nature of a proceeding in rem, and jurisdiction of all parties interested shall be had by notice given as hereinafter provided. Such petition shall set forth (1) generally, the establishment and organization of the district; (2) a certified copy of the petition mentioned in section 40 of this act; (3) a certified copy of the order or resolution mentioned in section 40 of this act [§ 2348 herein]; (4) a prayer for the confirmation of the proceedings of the board stated in the petition, and for the confirmation of the bond issue and the special tax or assessment levied to pay the bonds and interest thereon. Upon the filing of said petition in the district court, the court or judge thereof shall fix the time for the hearing of said petition, which shall not be less than fifteen days from the date of filing the petition in said court, and shall order the clerk of the court to give notice of the filing of said petition and the date of the hearing thereon by publication at least once a week for two calendar weeks in a newspaper published or of general circulation in the county where the office of the board of commissioners of the district is situated, and also by posting a written or printed copy of such notice in at least three public places in each division of the district, the first of such publications and such posting to be not less than fifteen days prior to the date fixed for said hearing.

Said notice shall state the substance of the petition and the time and place fixed for the hearing thereon, and that any person interested in or whose rights may be affected by the issuance or sale of said bonds, or the levy of said special tax or assessment or the proceedings had or to be had by the said board of commissioners with respect to said matters, may on or before the day fixed for the hearing of said petition, demur to or answer said petition, and may appear at said hearing and contest the granting of the prayer of said petition and the entry of any order of confirmation pursuant thereto.

Any person interested in or whose rights may be affected by the issuance or sale of said bonds, or the levy of said special tax or assessment, or the proceedings had or to be had by the board of commissioners of the district in connection with said matters and the entry of any order of confirmation pursuant thereto may enter his appearance in such proceedings and demur to or answer said petition and contest the granting of the prayer of said petition.

The provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure respecting the demurrer or answer to a verified complaint shall be applicable to a demurrer or answer to said petition. The persons so demurring to or answering said petition shall be the defendants in the proceeding, and the board of commissioners shall be the plaintiff. Every material statement of the petition not specifically controverted by the answer shall be taken as true and every holder of title or evidence of title to lands included in the district failing to answer or demur to the petition shall be deemed to admit as true all the material statements thereof. The procedure in such action shall be determined by the Code of Civil Procedure.

Upon the hearing the district court shall find and determine whether the provisions and requirements of section 40 of this act [§ 2348 herein] have been complied with, and notice of the filing of the petition in the district court and of the time and place of the hearing thereon has been duly given for the time and in the manner herein prescribed, and shall have power and jurisdiction to examine and determine the regularity, legality and validity of the proceedings had preliminary and relative to the issuance of the bonds and the levy of the special tax or assessment in the petition mentioned, and the legality and validity of said bonds and special tax or assessment, and any and all actions taken by the board of commissioners in connection with said matters, and shall hear all objections filed to said proceedings, or any part thereof, or to the issuance of said bonds or the levy of the said special tax or assessment or any portion thereof. The court in inquiring into the regularity, legality and validity of said proceedings, shall disregard any error, omission or other irregularity which does not affect the substantial rights of the parties to said proceedings. The court may ratify, approve and confirm said proceedings in whole or in part, and may ratify, approve, and confirm said bonds and special tax or assessment, and enter its judgment or decree accordingly. From any such judgment or decree an appeal may be taken to the supreme court at any time within ten days from the entry of such judgment or decree. Such appeal shall be taken, perfected, and heard in the manner prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure covering appeals from district court to the supreme court. If no such appeal be taken within the time aforesaid, or if taken and the judgment or decree of the district court be affirmed by the supreme court, such judgment or decree shall be forever conclusive upon all the world as to the validity of said bonds and said special tax or assessment and the same shall never be called into question in any court in the state. The costs of said proceedings shall be allowed or apportioned between the parties in the discretion of the court. [Amendment approved March 18, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 146, p. 254.]

§ 2350. Details of Bonds.

(Section 42.) All bonds issued under the provisions of this act shall be payable in gold coin of the United States, of the standard weight and fineness existing at the time of the issue; and shall run for a period not longer than thirty years from their date, but may contain a clause providing for their prior redemption and payment at the option of the board of commissioners of the district on any interest payment date after five years from their date.

Said bonds shall bear interest from their date until paid at a rate not to exceed six per centum per annum, payable annually or semi-annually, the installments of interest to date of maturity of principal to be evidenced by appropriate coupons attached to each bond. Said bonds and interest coupons shall be payable at such place or places as the board of commissioners shall prescribe. Instead of straight maturity bonds, bonds may be issued to mature serially at such times and in such amounts as the board of commissioners shall determine, but no bonds so issued shall run for a longer period than thirty years from date of issue.

All bonds issued under this act shall be of such denomination or denominations, and in such form as the board of commissioners shall prescribe, and shall be signed by the president and attested by the secretary of the board under the corporate seal of the district; and each of the interest coupons to be attached to said bonds shall be executed by the original or engraved or lithographed facsimile signatures of said president and secretary.

The board may provide for the registration of bonds in their discretion.

The secretary of the board of commissioners shall keep a record of the bonds sold, their date, number, amount, maturity or maturities, to whom sold, rate of interest, and the place or places of payment thereof. [Amendment approved March 18, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 146, p. 254.]

§ 2351. Lien of Bonds.

(Section 43.) All bonds issued hereunder, and all amounts to be paid to the United States under any contract between the district and the United States accompanying which bonds of the district have not been deposited with the United States as in section 9 [§ 2317 herein] provided, shall be a lien upon all the lands originally or at any time included in the district for the irrigation and benefit of which said irrigation district was organized and said bonds were issued; and for the benefit of which such contract between the district and the United States was made; except upon such lands as may at any time be included in such district, on account of the exchange or substitution of water under the provisions of section 36 of this act and if any there be; and all such lands shall be subject to a special tax or assessment for the payment of the interest on and principal of said bonds; and all amounts to be paid to the United States under any such contract between the district and the United States; and said special tax or assessment shall constitute a first and prior lien on the lands against which levied to the same extent and with like force and effect as taxes levied for state and county purposes. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 145, p. 359.]

§ 2352. Sale of Bonds.

(Section 44.) Bonds issued hereunder shall be issued, negotiated, and sold by or under the direction of the board of commissioners, but shall never be sold for less than ninety (90) per cent of their par value and accrued interest thereon to date of delivery.

Any bonds issued hereunder may in the discretion of the board of commissioners be issued direct in payment and satisfaction of the contract or purchase price of any irrigation works, canals, water, water rights, or other property constructed or acquired by or for the district, or may be deposited with the United States as in section 9 [§ 2317 herein] provided. [Amendment approved March 10, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 145, p. 359.]

§ 2353. Disposition of Proceeds of Bonds.

(Section 45.) In the event that bonds are sold for cash, they shall be delivered to the county treasurer of the county wherein the office of the district is located, who shall deliver them to the purchaser upon receipt of the purchase price therefor and after making a complete record of the same. The said county treasurer shall receive the proceeds of the sale of said bonds from the purchaser, and place the same to the credit of said district; and the same shall be paid out by the county treasurer only upon the written order of the board of commissioners, signed by the president and secretary under the seal of the district. Said proceeds shall be expended for the purpose or purposes for which said bonds were issued and for no other. [Amendment approved March 18, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 146, p. 254.]

§ 2354. Tax or Assessment to Pay Bonds and Interest.

(Section 46.) All bonds and the interest thereon issued hereunder, and all payments due or to become due to the United States under any contract between the district and the United States, accompanying which bonds of the district have not been deposited with the United States as in section 9 [§ 2317 herein] provided, shall be paid by revenue derived from a special tax or assessment levied as hereinafter provided, upon all the lands included in the district, except upon such lands as have been included in such district, on account of the exchange or substitution of water under the provisions of section 36 of this act [§ 2344 herein] if any there be; and all the lands in the district at the time said bonds are issued and all lands subsequently included which are so chargeable under the provisions of this act, shall be and remain liable to be taxed and assessed for the payment of said bonds and interest, and all payments due or to become due to the United States under any contract between the district and the United States, accompanying which bonds of the district have not been deposited with the United States as in section 9 [§ 2317 herein] provided.

It shall be the duty of the board of commissioners of the district in the order or resolution authorizing and directing the issuance of bonds of the district, mentioned in section 40 of this act [§ 2348 herein], to provide for the annual levy and collection of a special tax or assessment upon all the lands included in the district and subject to taxation and assessment as aforesaid, sufficient in amount to meet the interest on said bonds promptly when and as the same accrues, and to discharge the principal thereof at their maturity, or respective maturities, and to meet all payments due or to become due to the United States under any contract between the district and the United States, accompanying which bonds of the district have not been deposited with the United States as in section 9 [§ 2317 herein] provided at the times such payments by such contract become due and payable. Where straight maturity bonds are issued, it shall be the duty of the board of commissioners of the district to create and maintain a sinking fund sufficient to pay and discharge said bonds at maturity. If said bonds shall be issued for twenty years or less, there shall be annually levied for such sinking fund a special tax or assessment as aforesaid, sufficient to produce a net amount represented by the quotient found by dividing the aggregate amount of the principal of the bonds by the number of years the bonds have to run; but if said bonds are issued for more than twenty years, then it shall not be necessary to levy a special tax or assessment for sinking fund until the twentieth year prior to the maturity of the bonds, at which time and each year thereafter there shall be levied and collected a special tax or assessment sufficient to produce a net sum equal to one-twentieth part of the aggregate amount of the principal of the bonds. A certified copy of such resolution shall be filed with the clerk of the board of county commissioners of each county in which the lands of the irrigation district lie, and the special tax or assessment therein provided for shall be levied and collected as hereinafter prescribed, and when so collected shall by the county treasurer having custody of the funds of the district, be placed in a special fund and used solely for the payment of all amounts due or to become due to the United States under any contract between the district and the United States, accompanying which bonds of the district have not been deposited with the United States as in section 9 [§ 2317 herein] provided, and for the payment of the interest on and principal of said bonds when due so long as any of said bonds or the interest coupons thereto appertaining remain outstanding and unpaid. In the event that for any reason, any special tax or assessment hereinabove provided for cannot or shall not be levied and collected in time to meet any interest falling due on any bonds issued hereinunder, then the board of commissioners shall have the power and authority and it shall be their duty to provide for and pay such interest when due either out of any of the funds in hand in the treasury of the district not otherwise appropriated, or by warrants (which may bear interest at a rate not to exceed six per centum per annum), drawn against the next district tax or assessment levied or to be levied. Said warrants shall be in addition to those mentioned in section 38 of this act [§ 2346 herein].

The board of commissioners shall have power and authority to direct the investment of the funds in any bond sinking fund aforesaid, in interest bearing securities, whenever in their judgment the same may be to the best interest of the district. But all such securities shall be converted into cash in time to meet the principal on the bonds payable from such sinking fund, promptly at their maturity. (Section 5.) In case it is proposed to run a part or parts of a drain through any incorporated city or town, all of such drains shall be located, established and constructed, and the assessment for its construction made by the county drain commissioner in the same manner as herein provided for the construction of other drains. Whenever such part or parts of said drain shall be located within any street, highway or public place of any town or city, then a resolution adopted by a majority vote of the council of said town or city granting leave to construct such drain therein, and designating the name of the street or pointing out the alley or other public place to be traversed by such drain, shall be sufficient release of the right of way, and shall be deemed a sufficient conveyance under the provisions of this act, and said council may permit the construction of an open drain if such consent be expressly set forth in such resolution. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 379.]

§ 2408. Duties of Drain Commissioner—Records.

(Section 6.) It shall be the duty of each county drain commissioner to make and keep a full financial statement of each drain laid out by him. The county drain commissioner shall also make and keep in his office, in a book to be provided for that purpose, a complete record of each drain laid out or applied for under his supervision, under the provisions of this act, which record shall include a copy of the application for the laying out of the drain, of the minutes of the survey, of the releases of the right of way where the same has been released, together with the minutes of his doings, of his orders of determination of the necessity for, and of the establishing the drain, and his assessments. Where special commissioners have been called it shall also contain a copy of the application to the district court, of the return of the special commissioners, and of all other papers in his office necessary to show a complete history of each drain. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 380.]

§ 2409. Releases of Rights of Way.

(Section 7.) Drain commissioners may take acknowledgments of releases of right of way and administer oaths in all proceedings in any way pertaining to drains under this act. A simple form of release or easement of right of way and damages, that shall set forth by reference to the survey of the drain, or by other convenient description, the particular land intended to be released and signed and acknowledged by the person having the right to convey, or release shall be deemed a sufficient release or easement under the provisions of this act. All releases for rights of way shall be deemed to include sufficient ground on each side of the center line of such drain for the deposit of the excavation therefrom. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 380.]

§ 2410. Report of Drain Commissioner.

(Section 8.) Every county drain commissioner shall make an annual report to the board of county commissioners on the second day of its December session. This report shall include complete and concise statements concerning all drains, or parts of drains, constructed, finished or begun during the year then ending; all repair and other work done for maintaining the several drains in proper running order; condition of each drain, and any other information necessary to make such report complete. This report shall also include an estimate of the probable amount of funds necessary and required for the inspection, superintending, repairing, protecting and maintaining of each and every drain under his supervision for the coming year. Such estimate shall be determined after a careful inspection of each and every drain shall have been made by him or at his direction. The funds shown in such estimate for the several drains, shall be provided by special assessments levied in the several drainage districts as hereinafter provided for. Each county drain commissioner shall be liable on his bond for any gross neglect of duty or any misapplication of moneys coming under his control as such drain commissioner. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 380.]

§ 2411. Eligibility to Office of Drain Commissioner.

(Section 9.) No person holding the office of county commissioner or county clerk and recorder shall be eligible to the office of county drain commissioner, and any county drain commissioner accepting the office of county commissioner or county clerk and recorder shall thereupon be considered as having vacated the office of county drain commissioner. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 381.]

ARTICLE II.

LOCATION OF DRAINS.

§ 2412. Application for Location of Drain—Signatures—Liability of Applicants.

(Section 1.) Before the commissioner takes any action toward locating or establishing any drain, there shall be filed with him an application giving a general description of the beginning, the route and the terminus thereof, signed by not less than ten freeholders of the county or counties in which such drain or the lands to be drained thereby and to be assessed therefor may be situated; also that five or more of said signers shall be owners of lands liable to an assessment for benefits in the construction of such drain; provided, that where there are five or less property owners liable to assessments, not less than half of such owners of lands so liable, shall be necessary upon such application. And in case any county drain commissioner shall directly or indirectly solicit signatures to an application for any drain he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not to exceed fifty dollars or imprisoned in the county jail not to exceed ninety days or be punished by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court, and the office of such drain commissioner shall be deemed vacant, and the drain commissioner, so convicted, shall be incapable of again holding the office of county drain commissioner. Such applicants shall be jointly and severally liable for all costs and expenses in case the county drain commissioner upon examination or upon examination and survey shall determine that the same is unnecessary or impracticable or in case the proceedings shall be dismissed upon application of a majority of the petitioners. If the persons signing such application shall refuse to pay such costs and expenses the county drain commissioner shall bring suit in a court of competent jurisdiction and collect such costs and expenses with costs of suit. If upon the presentation of such application the county drain commissioner shall deem the financial responsibility of the applicants insufficient he shall have the right to return such application for additional signatures. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 381.]

While the laying out of a public drain across farm lands may possibly cause a depreciation of their value, by reason of impairing water rights appurtenant thereto, this does not, of itself, justify the issuance of an injunction to prevent the construction of the drain, but is an element to be considered in assessing damages to the owner in proceedings had under this and the following sections of the drain statute. Summers v. Sullivan, 39 Mont. 42, 44, 101 Pac. 166.

§ 2413. Proceedings upon Application—Survey.

(Section 2.) Upon the filing of such application the county drain commissioner authorized to act thereon shall as soon as practicable thereafter proceed to personally examine the route of the proposed drain, and if in his opinion it is necessary and conducive to the improvement or reclamation of agricultural lands, to the public health, convenience or welfare, that the application should be granted, he shall, as a means of determining the practicability thereof, make a survey, map and estimate of the cost of the proposed drain, or cause the same to be made by a competent civil engineer. After such survey and estimate are made, if he shall find such drain to be practicable, he shall within ninety days make his first order of determination in writing in accordance therewith, therein particularly naming such drain by which it shall thereafter be known and shall establish the commencement, route, and terminus of said drain, and the width, length and depth thereof, and shall set survey or grade stakes not more than one hundred feet apart. For such purpose he shall have the right to enter upon any such lands traversed by the route of the proposed drain, or any land that will be benefited by such drain. In locating such drain the county drain commissioner shall not be limited or confined to the precise starting point, route or terminus set forth in the application. The record or minutes of the survey shall show the line and route of the drain, the points where the line of the drain crosses the boundary lines of each owner's land and the length thereof upon his land, and, provided the drain is to be an open drain, the width of surface excavation that will be required in its construction and shall also show by words, or letters and figures, the width of ground that will be required for the disposition of earth, and every release of right of way shall be deemed to include the extreme width thus shown. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 382.]

§ 2414. Owners may Construct Drain.

(Section 3.) If at any time after the county drain commissioner has issued his first order of determination, establishing such drain as provided in the preceding section, and before the letting of any contract for constructing the same, all the owners of the lands through which, or for the benefit of which such drain is located, shall, by themselves, their agents or attorneys pay to the county drain commissioner all the costs and expenses thus far incurred by him, and shall severally or jointly enter into a contract, with good and sufficient sureties and in such sum as the county drain commissioner may require, to construct so much of said drain, and on such route, and of such dimensions as the said commissioner may, in such contract determine, and to pay all expenses necessary to be incurred in the construction of same, then the county drain commissioner may so contract with such owner or owners and such drain, when so finished and accepted shall be certified by the county drain commissioner as a drain lawfully constructed in pursuance of the provisions of this act, and shall be recorded in the same manner as other drains. If any such contracts are not fulfilled by the time limited therein, the county drain commissioner may contract with other parties for the completion of the work, and the parties so in default, and their sureties, shall be liable for all costs and expenses attending such default. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 382.]

§ 2415. Application for Assessment of Damages for Right of Way—Special Commissioners.

(Section 4.) If within thirty days after the making of such first order of determination, all the persons through whose lands the proposed drain is to pass shall not have executed a release of the right of way, and all damages on account thereof, the county drain commissioner shall, as soon as practicable, make application to the district court of the county in which such lands are situated, for the appointment of three disinterested special commissioners, who shall be resident freeholders of the county, but not of the district or districts traversed by such drain, to determine the necessity therefor, and for the taking of private property for the use and benefit of the public for the purpose thereof, and the just compensation to be made therefor. Such application shall be in writing and shall set forth:

First. The fact that an application for a drain was made and when, filing with said court a certified copy of such application, also giving the route, survey and specifications of said drain as set forth in the first order of determination.

Second. That an order determining the necessity for such drain was made by the county drain commissioner, giving the time when such order was made, in accordance with such route, survey and specifications as above set forth.

Third. (1) The several descriptions of tracts of lands with the names of the owner or owners of every such tract who have refused or neglected to execute a release of right of way and damages in any way arising or incident to the opening or maintaining of the said proposed drain. If any such owner is a minor, incompetent person, or unknown person, or non-resident of the county or counties, the application shall so state; (2) It shall not be necessary to set forth in said application to the district court the names of the several owners nor the descriptions of the several tracts or parcels of lands liable to an assessment for benefits, in case the drain applied for should be located and established, except those who have not released the right of way and through whose land the drain passes; nor shall the same be included in the citation issued from the district court. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 383.]

This section, though mandatory in form, does not require the drain commissioner, in his application to the district court for the appointment of special commissioners, to state the names of the land owners accurately, under pain of having the proceedings held void for his failure to do so; the mere misnaming of a party, or a failure to give the name of a particular nonconsenting land owner, does not invalidate the whole proceeding. Summers v. Sullivan, 39 Mont. 42, 45, 101 Pac. 166.

Where a right of way for a public drain is sought to be secured, under the drain statute, over certain lands, the wife of the owner, who has only an inchoate right of dower in his lands, need not be made a party to the proceedings. Summers v. Sullivan, 39 Mont. 42, 46, 101 Pac. 166.

§ 2416. Hearing of Application—Minors and Incompetents.

(Section 5.) The court to whom such application is made shall make an examination at the time of such application of all the proceedings of the county drain commissioner so far as had, and if such proceedings be found to be in accordance with the statute, such court shall at once appoint a time and place of hearing upon the application, which time shall be fixed not less than fifteen nor more than forty days thereafter and the court shall issue a citation to all persons whose lands are traversed by such drain, who have not released the right of way, and all damages on account thereof, to appear at the time and place designated in said citation, and be heard with respect to such application, if they so desire, and show cause, if any there be, why said application should not be granted, and any error or errors that may have been made in any of the proceedings thus far shall be raised and taken advantage of at such time and before such court, and if not so raised and taken advantage of at such time and before such court, the same shall be deemed to have been waived by all persons cited to appear under this notice. If any person on whom such service is to be made is a minor or an incompetent person who resides in this state, such service shall be made as herein provided on his guardian, or if none, then on the person who may for such purpose be appointed special guardian and also on the person who has the care of, or with whom such minor or incompetent person resides. In case any person whose lands are traversed by said drain is a minor or an incompetent person, and has no guardian, the said court or the judge of said court shall appoint a special guardian, to appear for and attend to the interests of such minor or incompetent person and all notices to be served in the process of the proceeding shall be served on such special guardian. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 384.]

§ 2417. Citation and Service Thereof—Publication Against Nonresidents.

(Section 6.) The citation shall recite so much of the premises as will show jurisdiction, giving a description of the land traversed by such drain, and shall be addressed to all owners by name, except in case of nonresidents of the county whose names are not known. It shall describe the drain by its commencement, terminus and general course, and shall set forth that land owned by the persons to whom it is addressed will be crossed by such drain and may be subject to assessment for its construction, and that a description and survey of such drain is on file with the court issuing such citation, and describe the land to be taken. Such citation shall be personally served by the county drain commissioner or some other competent person, upon every person whose lands are traversed by the said drain, who has not released the right of way and all damages on account thereof, and who resides within the county, by delivering to him or her a copy thereof or by leaving the same at his or her residence with some person of suitable age and discretion, who shall be informed of its contents. In all cases of personal service at least ten days shall intervene between the day of service and the day of hearing, and the court issuing such citation shall require proof of such service by affidavit showing the time, place and manner of such service. Citation shall be served upon cities and incorporated towns by leaving a copy thereof with the mayor and city or town clerk; upon the state by leaving with or mailing a copy thereof to the state land commissioner; upon railroad companies by leaving a copy thereof with the agent of any ticket or freight office of the company operating such railroads, and upon other corporations by serving the same upon the officer or person designated by law in cases of serving civil process. If any lands involved are owned by nonresidents of the county or counties, a copy of the citation so far as it affects such lands shall be published in some newspaper published and circulated in the county in which such lands are located, once a week for three weeks previous to the day of hearing and mailing to such nonresident owner at his place of residence, if known, which shall be deemed to be sufficient notice to all such parties. The first publication of such notice shall be at least fourteen full days before the day of hearing, and proof of its publication shall be made as above provided in the case of personal service. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 384.]

§ 2418. Proceedings at Hearing.

(Section 7.) The court to whom such application is made shall at the time and place fixed in the citation, or at any time to which it may adjourn, and upon proof of service when required, proceed to hear all persons whose lands are traversed by said proposed drain, and all such persons may show cause against the prayer set forth in the application, and may disprove any of the facts alleged therein, and may raise any and all objections to any errors or irregularities made in the proceedings had thus far, if any, and the said court shall hear the proofs and allegations of the parties, and the objections so made to the proceedings, if any there be, and if no sufficient cause is shown against granting the prayer set forth in said application the said court shall make an order appointing three disinterested and competent resident freeholders of said county not residents of the district traversed or benefited by the drain, as special commissioners to ascertain and determine the damages or compensation to be allowed to the owners or parties interested in the real estate proposed to be taken for the right of way for such drain. Such court shall immediately upon the appointment of such commissioners, and with the concurrence of the county drain commissioner, appoint a time and place, such time to be not less than five nor more than fifteen days thereafter at which such special commissioners shall meet the county drain commissioner and other parties, who have not released the right of way, to consider the matters and things with respect to which they have been appointed, and the said court shall make public announcement thereof, and thereupon the proceedings shall be deemed a continuing proceeding, and no further notice of the time and place of hearing shall be required, and such appointment and announcement shall be made a part of the record in the case; provided, that if it shall appear at such hearing that all parties have not been duly notified, the court may adjourn such hearing for a period sufficiently long to enable the county drain commissioner to duly notify such parties in the manner heretofore provided and it shall not be necessary to again notify the parties who have received legal notice in the first instance. The district court shall, if necessary, allow the county drain commissioner to amend his application at any time before the appointment of special commissioners and in case there is shown to be error in the proceedings of the county drain commissioner the district court shall adjourn the hearing for sufficient time to allow the said commissioner to correct such error or errors; provided, that application to establish the drain is shown to be sufficient under the statute. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 385.]

§ 2419. Appointment of Special Commissioners.

(Section 8.) If the court shall have granted the prayer set forth in the application, such court shall proceed to deliver to the county drain commissioner a copy of the order appointing the special commissioners, and fixing the time and place of the first meeting of said commissioners, and the drain commissioner shall deliver a copy of such order to each of said special commissioners. In case any such special commissioner neglects or refuses to meet at such time and place with said county drain commissioner, the said county drain commissioner shall adjourn such day of meeting for a period not to exceed thirty days, and he shall give public notice by proclamation of the date, time and place of such adjourned meeting, and he and the parties who appear at the hearing before the court in obedience to the aforesaid citation may appoint some competent person to act as commissioner in lieu of the special commissioner so neglecting or refusing to meet at the time and place designated, which appointment shall be in writing and signed by the drain commissioner and said parties and filed in the court appointing such special commissioners in the first instance. If the drain commissioner and said parties cannot agree upon a special commissioner to fill said vacancy then the county drain commissioner shall, as soon as practicable, make application to the judge of the district court, who shall appoint a special commissioner to fill such vacancy. The parties appearing in obedience to the citation of the court hereinbefore mentioned shall have notice of the time and place when and where such vacancy will be filled by the judge of the district court. Said special commissioners shall be sworn to faithfully discharge the duties of special commissioners in the matter in which they are called to act, and to well and truly determine the necessity for such drain, and the taking of private property for the use and benefit of the public for the purpose thereof and the just compensation to be paid therefor. The said special commissioners, with the county drain commissioner and the other parties in interest who may be present, who have not released the right of way for said proposed drain, shall meet at the time and place ordered by said court and proceed at that time, or at any time to which they may adjourn, to view such premises, and for such purpose they shall have the right to enter upon any lands traversed by the route of the proposed drain. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 386.]

§ 2420. Duties of Commissioners—Compensation for Property.

(Section 9.) The said special commissioners shall hear the proofs and allegations of the several parties in interest, and shall ascertain and determine the necessity for such drain, and for the taking of such private property for the use and benefit of the public, the purpose thereof, and the just compensation to be made therefor in each case, which compensation shall be determined without reference to any benefits that may accrue to the land in consequence of the construction of such proposed drain. There shall be produced by the county drain commissioner at such hearing, the original application for the laying out of such drain, and the minutes of his action thereon, so far as had, also copies of the first order of determination and the application to the district court, with the citation annexed and a copy of all proceedings in the district court, a copy of the map, and estimate of cost signed by the civil engineer and the order appointing the special commissioners, as the case may be. The special commissioners may adjourn such hearing from day to day, for any cause, not exceeding in all thirty days, announcement of which adjournment shall be then and there publicly made. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 387.]

§ 2421. Return of Commissioners.

(Section 10.) The said special commissioners shall within forty days from the date of their first meeting make a return in writing of their hearing, determination and of their several awards. The special commissioners shall file their return with the county drain commissioner, who shall examine the same, and if he shall find such return not to be in substantial conformity with the statute, he shall return the same to the special commissioners for correction. The special commissioners shall thereupon proceed to correct their return, and file the same with the county drain commissioner within five days. When the county drain commissioner shall find such return to be without material error, he shall file the same with the other papers in his possession pertaining to such drain. Such return shall be deemed sufficient release of the lands necessary to be used for such drain, and upon which damages are awarded in the county in which they are situated, in trust to and for the uses and purposes of drainage, and for no other use or purpose whatever; provided, that no appeal therefrom is taken as hereinafter provided. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 388.]

§ 2422. Dismissal of Proceedings When Drain Unnecessary.

(Section 11.) In case the special commissioners shall decide such drain to be unnecessary they shall so state in their return, and the county drain commissioner shall thereupon dismiss the proceedings at the cost of the applicants, and no further application for the same shall be entertained within one year thereafter. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 388.]

§ 2423. Release of Right of Way.

(Section 12.) If at any time before the appointment of special commissioners provided for in this act or at any time before the filing of their return and award of damages, all of the parties through whose lands the proposed drain is to pass shall execute a release for right of way, and all damages on account thereof, then all proceedings for the appointment of special commissioners and all actions taken by them after their appointment, shall be discontinued and void, and the county drain commissioner shall proceed as if no application for special commissioner had been made, except that the per diem and expense of such special commissioners, up to the time that their services are discontinued shall be considered part of the expense of said drain. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 388.]

§ 2424. Payment of Assessment for Damages.

(Section 13.) The county drain commissioner shall deduct the award of damages from the assessment, when made, on the tract which includes the right of way of said drain. In case the award of damages shall exceed the assessment of benefits, the county commissioners shall draw orders on the county treasurer, for the amounts awarded in the return of the special commissioners in excess of assessments, describing in each order the lands in payment whereof it is drawn, and before such drain shall be constructed such order shall be tendered by the county drain commissioner to the party entitled thereto; provided, that if the owner of any lands upon which damages have been awarded in excess of assessments, be a nonresident of the county, or be unknown, or in case of a minor or otherwise incompetent person, such order shall be deposited with the county clerk and recorder, payable to the owner of such description of land upon which such damages were awarded. Such order shall be held by such clerk and recorder and be delivered by him to the owner of such lands when called for or otherwise legally demanded, and the same shall thereby be deemed to have been lawfully tendered to the owner of such lands. It shall be the duty of the county treasurer at any time upon presentation to him of any such drain order drawn for the payment of such right of way or damages to pay the same out of any moneys in his hands belonging to the general fund of such county and refund such amount out of the first moneys collected by him on account of such drain. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 389.]

§ 2425. Refusal of Tender of Damages.

(Section 14.) If the owner of any lands upon which such damages have been awarded in excess of assessments shall, upon the tender of such order to him, refuse to accept the same, the county drain commissioner shall make, such tender in lawful money, and for that purpose he shall be authorized to indorse such order and present the same to the county treasurer for payment, and it shall be the duty of such treasurer to pay such order as hereinbefore provided. If, however, there shall be no money in the general fund of such county treasury, the county drain commissioner shall be authorized to have such order discounted, wherever he may be able to do so; provided, such discount shall not be more than at the rate of eight per cent, and he shall charge the amount of such discount to the expense and cost of such drain, and the county commissioner shall draw an order therefor. The county drain commissioner shall thereupon make to such owner a tender in lawful money of the amount awarded to him in excess of the apportionment of benefits, and if he shall refuse to accept such money, the county drain commissioner shall deposit the same with the county treasurer, taking duplicate receipts therefor, one of which he may retain, and the other he shall file with the county clerk. Such money shall be held by such treasurer and be delivered by him to such owner when called for or otherwise legally demanded. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 389.]

§ 2426. Construction of Drain Along Railroad Right of Way.

(Section 15.) Drains may be laid along the line of any railroad within its right of way; provided, such drain shall not be to the injury of the roadbed. Whenever it is proposed to construct a drain along the line, and within the right of way of any railroad, and the company owning or operating such road shall refuse or neglect to permit such drain to be constructed or release the right of way therefor within the time prescribed in this act, such release shall be obtained in the same manner as is provided in this act for obtaining the release to private lands; provided, that no drain shall be constructed along the line of any railroad without the consent of the company owning or operating such road, if it shall appear to the special commissioners that such drain, can equally well be laid on private lands. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 390.]

§ 2427. Construction of Drain Across Railroad Right of Way.

(Section 16.) Whenever it is necessary to run a drain across the right of way or roadbed of any railroad, the same proceedings shall be had throughout, in all respects, as in cases provided in this act for obtaining private lands for the construction of drains, except as hereinafter provided. It shall be the duty of the railroad company when notified by the county drain commissioner so to do, to make and maintain the necessary opening through said roadbed, by building and maintaining a suitable culvert, or to install the necessary temporary bridge, or other means of supporting the track, so that the drain may be constructed through said roadbed, in case of a blind drain. Notice in writing to make such opening and to construct such culvert, or to install such temporary bridge, or such other means of supporting the track, shall be served upon such railroad company by leaving a copy thereof with the ticket or freight agent or general officer of such railroad company, at least thirty days before such railroad company shall become liable. Such railway company shall be reimbursed for the actual expense involved in such work by warrants drawn on the drain fund of said drain. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 390.]

§ 2428. Refusal of Railroad Company to Construct Culvert.

(Section 17.) In case such railroad company shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of the preceding section, it shall be liable to a penalty of ten dollars for each day's refusal or neglect to make such opening and construct such culvert. The county attorney of the county in which said railroad company shall have refused or neglected to comply with the provisions of the preceding section shall, upon complaint being made by the county drain commissioner, bring suit to collect such penalty or fines, and it shall be his duty to prosecute the same to a final determination in any court having competent jurisdiction. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 390.]

§ 2429. Construction of Drain Along Highway.

(Section 18.) Drains may be laid along and within the limits of or across any public highway; provided, that when it is proposed to construct a drain in whole or in part along a public highway, it shall be necessary for the county drain commissioner to obtain from the county commissioners a release of right of way of said drain, and for all damages on account thereof. In case such release is not executed within the time prescribed in this act, such release shall be obtained in the same manner as is provided in this act for obtaining private lands. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 391.]

§ 2430. Construction of Drain Across Highway.

(Section 19.) When any drain crosses a highway, the cost of constructing the necessary bridge or culvert shall be charged in the first instance as part of the cost of construction of such drain, after which such bridge or culvert shall be maintained as a part of the highway. When an open drain passes along a highway, there shall be constructed at least one bridge or passageway across such drain, connecting the highway with each inclosed field and with each farm house entrance, which bridge or passageway shall be constructed and maintained out of the funds hereinafter provided for the construction and maintenance of such drain. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 391.]

§ 2431. Construction of Blind Drains.

(Section 20.) The county drain commissioner may order the construction of blind drains by the use of drain tiles, wooden box, vitrified clay, concrete or other kind of pipe, when such construction is most suitable. When any such blind drain is to be constructed across any land, so that the surface of the land can be restored, the special commissioners in making their award of damages shall take that fact into account. Any person through whose land an open drain has been constructed, may make a written request to the county drain commissioner to be permitted to tile and cover with earth the whole or any part thereof, that may traverse his land, and the county drain commissioner may grant such request but in doing so he shall prescribe the size of the tile, pipe or wooden box to be used. When blind drains are constructed the entrance thereto shall be substantially protected from driftwood and debris. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 391.]

§ 2432. Extending Drain into Lake or Other Body of Water.

(Section 21.) Drains may be laid or extended into or along or from any lake or other body of water surrounded wholly or in part by a swamp, marsh or other lowlands for the general purpose of drainage contemplated by this act but not so as to impair the navigation of any navigable water. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 391.]

§ 2432a. Contract for Drainage Ditches.

(Section 22.) Whenever in the judgment of the county drain commissioner a district can be drained to the best advantage or most economically through any irrigating ditch, drain or waterway used for other purposes by any individual corporation or other drainage district, such commissioner may contract with such individual corporation or other drainage district for draining such district or for diverting the water before the same reaches the district to be drained. Before making such contract the county drain commissioner shall publish a notice in a newspaper of general circulation in the district, giving the exterior boundaries of the district to be drained and the approximate cost of the proposed contract to each acre lot or parcel of land to be benefited. Such notice shall designate a time and place for a public hearing and said notice shall be published once a week for three weeks, preceding such hearing. If the owners representing more than one-half of the lands to be benefited protest against the proposed contract, or if it appear that such contract is not to the best interest of the district or that owners of land in the district will undertake to provide drainage at the same or less expense to the district, such contract shall not be made. If none of the foregoing objections or conditions are disclosed at the hearing the commissioner may enter into a contract with any individual corporation or other drainage district for the draining of such district through any ditch, canal or drain belonging to such individual corporation or district. Payment on any such contract shall be made and assessments shall be levied and collected in the same manner as provided in this act for other districts. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 392.]

§ 2432b. District Partly Within Incorporated City or Town.

(Section 23.) When all or any portion of any drain district is included within the limits of any incorporated town or city the land in such district belonging to such town or city including streets, alleys and parks shall be subject to assessment the same as other lands. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 392.]

§ 2432c. Appeal to District Court.

(Section 24.) Any owner of lands taken for right of way for a drain who is dissatisfied with the award made by the special commissioners under this article, may appeal from such award to the district court, and such appeal shall be taken, tried and determined as are appeals from awards of commissioners in action for condemnations of land under Title VII, Part III of the Code of Civil Procedure, in so far as the same may be applicable. A certified copy of the final determination of the court on such appeal shall be filed with the county drain commissioner. In case of such appeal being taken, a certified copy of the final determination by the court shall be deemed sufficient release of the lands necessary to be taken for such drain and upon which damages are awarded in the county in which they are situated, in trust to and for the uses and purposes of drainage, and for no other purpose whatever. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 392.]

ARTICLE III.

CONSTRUCTION OF DRAINS.

§§ 2433, 2434. Order for Construction—Contracts—Assessment.

(Section 1.) Upon the release of right of way and the award of damages, or upon the determination and return of the special commissioners, or order of the district court, as the case may be, the county drain commissioner shall make his final order of determination establishing the drain, a certified copy of which order of determination shall be filed with the county clerk and recorder within five days after such order is made. He shall include in such order a description of the several tracts or parcels of land and the names of cities, towns, counties, railways and irrigation ditches to be assessed for the construction of such drain, which said tracts or parcels of land together with said cities, towns, counties, railways and irrigation ditches shall constitute the drainage district for that purpose, to be known and designated in such order by the same name as the drain. After the final order of determination is made, he shall then prepare, or cause to be prepared, detailed plans and specifications of the proposed work, and also forms of proposal of bid and form of contract. Such specifications shall state whether all of the taxes to be spread for the construction of such drain shall be assessed and collected in that same year, or whether the same shall be divided into two or more equal installments, one installment to be collected in that same year, and the other installment or installments within the ten years next following. He shall give not less than ten days' notice of the time and place of letting contracts by serving personal notice on every person whose lands are affected by such assessments and who resides in the county, which notice shall be served in the same manner as provided in this act for the personal service of citations, and by causing a copy thereof to be published, not less than two insertions, in one or more newspapers published and of general circulation in the county, and by mailing a copy of such notice to nonresident owners, at their places of residence, if known; provided, that in case an incorporated city or town, or any portion thereof, is included in a drain district, it shall not be necessary to serve personal notice on any of the owners of land included in such incorporated city or town, but that such notice shall be served upon such owners by mailing a copy thereof to each of such owners or his agent at his last known address, upon the same day such notice is first published. Such notice shall contain a description of the several tracts or parcels of lands and other elements constituting the drainage district, as above provided. It shall also contain a statement of the exact time at which bids will be received for the construction of the drain; the amount of the certified check required to accompany all bids, the manner in which the funds for the construction of the drain will be raised, expressing the number of annual installments in which the taxes will be payable, and a statement that the apportionment of the assessment to be levied upon the lands, irrigation ditches and other elements comprising such district, will be subject to review ten days after the day that the contract for the construction of the drain is let or awarded. This assessment sheet shall be subject to review as hereinbefore stated ten days after the day of letting the contract until noon and from 1 o'clock until 5 o'clock in the afternoon. At such review, the county drain commissioner shall hear the proofs and allegations of all parties in interest, and shall carefully reconsider and review the descriptions of lands comprised within the drainage district, and the manner of assessing each of the said descriptions of land, and equalize the same as may seem just and equitable. At such review he may change the rate or amount to be assessed against any tract or parcel of land, or against the county, incorporated town, railroads or any irrigation ditch, or may omit from said drainage district any parcel or tract of land which in his judgment, after such review is had, is not liable for a portion of the cost of such construction under the provisions of this act. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 393.]

§ 2435. Awarding of Contracts.

(Section 2.) The county drain commissioner shall on the date fixed upon by him, and named in the notice of letting of contract, proceed to receive bids and let contracts for the construction of the drain, and make contracts with the lowest responsible bidder giving adequate security for the performance of the work. Such security shall cover the completion of the job in the manner and within the time fixed in the contract, and shall be in a sum to be fixed and determined by the county drain commissioner. The county drain commissioner shall reserve the right to reject any and all bids, and may adjourn such letting in whole or in part, from time to time to such other time or place, to be by him at the time of such adjournment publicly announced, as shall to him seem proper, but not in all more than forty days from and after the time of letting advertised. The parties who are assessed a tax for the construction of such drain, and who may be bidders for the contracts thereon, shall, if equal bidder with other parties, be preferred in awarding such contracts. And it shall be the duty of the county drain commissioner to supervise the construction of said drain and see that the work is done substantially in conformity with the contract and specifications. When the drain is completed, the county drain commissioner shall inspect the same, and after he has found all the work completed according to the plans and specifications, he shall certify in writing that the drain is so completed, and file such certificate with the county clerk and recorder. It shall not be lawful for the county commissioners to issue orders on the fund of any drain exceeding eighty-five per cent of the amount earned on any contract, until after the acceptance of said work by the county drain commissioner, and the said certificate of the drain commissioner is filed. In case of any open drain, the dirt excavated therefrom shall be placed, as near as may be, equally on each side of the drain, and shall be left in piles more than four feet high except where the drain runs along a highway, or where the drain commissioner, for good cause, may permit the same to be done; provided, that the owner of said lands may, by written consent, allow the dirt taken from said drain to be otherwise disposed of. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 394.]

§ 2436. Power of Commissioner Regarding Performance of Contract—Forfeiture and Reletting.

(Section 3.) The drain commissioner shall have the power to grant a reasonable extension of time for the completion of any contract. When any contract is not finished within the time specified, or to which it may be extended, the county drain commissioner may declare such contract forfeited, and shall within a reasonable time thereafter, relet the unfinished portion thereof to the lowest responsible bidder, by public letting after not less than five days' notice thereof, by posting in five public places in the district, or by private letting when such can be done at a price per foot for the uncompleted portion thereof not exceeding the price per foot at which the job was first let; and he shall make contract and take security in each case as hereinbefore provided. The cost of completing such part over and above the contract price, if any, and the expense of notice and reletting shall be collected by the county drain commissioner from the parties first contracting or from their bondsmen, which moneys, when so collected, shall be deposited with the county treasurer, and placed to the credit of such drain; provided, that in no case shall the county drain commissioner declare any such contract forfeited without first giving five days' notice thereof to the contractor, if he can be found, and if not found then by a written notice left at his last place of residence, with some person of suitable age and discretion, who shall be informed of its contents, if such contractor have a known residence within the county. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 395.]

ARTICLE IV.

ASSESSMENT OF BENEFITS.

§ 2437. Commissioner to Apportion Cost of Construction.

(Section 1.) Before the day of review, the county drain commissioner shall apportion the per cent of the cost of construction which each tract of land, railroad, city, town, county or irrigation ditch shall bear. In apportioning such cost to defray the expenses involved in the construction of the drain, the following principles shall be regarded, and assessments made in accordance therewith:

All lands which are swampy, bogged or water-logged and will be relieved and improved by virtue of the construction of the drain;

All lands which are becoming, or are liable to become, swampy, bogged, or water-logged, and which the construction of the drain will prevent from being thus affected;

All lands included within the watershed of the drain;

All lands from which surface or seepage waters will enter the drain, or can be conducted into the drain;

All lands upon which or through which, the surface or seepage water will be prevented from flowing, or can be prevented from flowing by virtue of the construction of the drain;

All lands which will sustain any direct benefit of any kind or character whatsoever, other than that sustained by all other lands in the same vicinity;

All railways, whether operated by steam, electricity or otherwise, whose right of way or roadbed will be benefited or can be benefited by reason of the construction of the drain;

All owners of irrigation ditches or canals from which water seeps, drains or wastes to, upon or through lands included within the district served by the drain;

The county or counties which the drain traverses, or which will be benefited as to public health, convenience, welfare or improvement of any public highway;

All incorporated cities or towns, and lands included within town sites and subdivisions, in whole or in part, directly benefited by reason of the construction of the drain;

All of the above classes of lands, railways, irrigation ditches, counties, cities, towns, town sites and subdivisions shall be liable to assessment for the construction of drains in such proportions as may seem just and equitable.

The benefits to accrue from the construction of the drain, to a railway, county, incorporated city or town, and lands included within a platted town site or subdivision being of a different character than those to accrue to agricultural lands, shall be considered in apportioning the assessment, and also, the damages and inconvenience caused by seepage and waste waters from irrigation ditches and from the higher lands, shall be considered in apportioning the assessment to them.

Such apportionment of the per cent of the cost of construction shall be subject to review and correction, and may be appealed from in the manner provided for in this act. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 396.]

§ 2438. Appeal from Assessment.

(Section 2.) The owner of any land, ditch or railway assessed for the construction of any drain, who may conceive himself aggrieved by the assessment made by the county drain commissioner, may, within ten days after the day of review provided for in the preceding article of this act, appeal therefrom and for such purpose make an application to the district court of the proper county for the appointment of a board of review as hereinafter provided, by serving upon the drain commissioner and by filing with said district court a notice to that effect, and by filing also a bond with such court in the sum of two hundred dollars with one or more sureties to be approved by the clerk of said district court conditioned upon the payment of all costs in case the assessment made by the county drain commissioner shall be sustained. Any county, incorporated city or town assessed a per cent of the cost of the construction of any drain that may conceive itself or themselves aggrieved by the assessment made by the county drain commissioner, may, within ten days after the date of review provided for in the preceding section, appeal therefrom as herein provided. Only one application for a board of review shall be entertained by such district court for any one drain. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 397.]

§ 2439. Appointment of Board of Review—Proceedings Leading Up to Hearing.

(Section 3.) The district court upon receipt of any such application, as hereinbefore provided for, shall forthwith notify the county drain commissioner in writing of such appeal and shall thereupon make an order appointing three disinterested and competent freeholders of such county, not residents of the district or districts affected by said drain, as members of a board of review. The persons so appointed shall constitute the board of review. The court shall thereupon, with the concurrence of the county drain commissioner, immediately fix a time and place when and where said board of review shall meet to review said assessments, which time shall not be less than ten nor more than fifteen days from the date of such appointment. The county drain commissioner shall thereupon give notice to the persons so appointed of their appointment, and of the time and place of meeting and shall give notice of such meeting by posting notices in at least five public places in each district affected by such assessment, and shall serve a like notice upon the appellant if he be a resident of any district affected and upon the county attorney of the county in all cases where the state or county is an interested party. Such services shall be made not less than five days before the day of hearing, and may be made either by personal service or by causing a copy thereof to be left at their several places of residence. Proof of service of notice of such meeting shall be made by the person serving said notice and shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court. At such hearing the board of review shall have the right and it shall be its duty to review all assessments made by the county drain commissioner on such drain. The person so appointed shall be sworn by the county drain commissioner to faithfully discharge the duties of such board of review; provided, that the proceedings in establishing any drain shall be subject to review upon certiorari, as herein provided. Notice of such certiorari shall be served upon the county drain commissioner within ten days after the copy of the final order of determination of such commissioner in establishing any drain has been filed with the county clerk and recorder as provided herein in the same manner as notice is required to be given of certiorari for reviewing judgments rendered by justices of the peace and the writ shall be issued and served, and bond given and approved and the subject matter brought to issue in the same time and manner, as near as may be, as in such cases provided, except that such certiorari may be heard by the court during term, or at chambers, upon five days' notice given to the opposite party; and the district court of the county shall hear and determine the same without unnecessary delay, and if any material defect be found in the proceedings for establishing the drain such proceedings shall be set aside. If the proceedings be sustained, the party bringing the certiorari shall be liable for the cost thereof, and if they be not sustained, the parties making application for the drain shall be liable for the costs. If no certiorari be brought within the time herein prescribed, the drain shall be deemed to have been legally established, and its legality shall not thereafter be questioned in any suit at law or equity; provided, no court shall allow any certiorari questioning the legality of any drain by any person, unless notice has been given to the county drain commissioner in accordance with the provisions of this section; provided further, that when such proceedings are brought, the county drain commissioner shall postpone the letting of contracts and all other proceedings until after the determination of the court. And if any error be found in the proceedings, the court shall direct the county drain commissioner to correct such error or errors and then proceed the same as though no error had been made. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 397.]

§ 2440. Powers of Board of Review on Hearing.

(Section 4.) The board of review shall proceed at the time and place specified in the notice to hear the proofs and allegations of all the parties in respect to the matter of appeal and shall thereupon proceed to view the lands benefited by such drain and the drainage area, and review all the assessments made by the county drain commissioner on such drain, and if in its judgment there be manifest error or inequality in such assessment, it shall order and make such changes therein as it may deem just and equitable. Should the board of review find upon personal examination that any land, railway, irrigation ditch, city or town, or any portion thereof, has been included in the drain district and assessed, which is not liable to assessment in accordance with the provisions of section 1 of this article [§ 2437 herein], then said board of review shall omit such land, railway, irrigation ditch, city or town, or such portion thereof, from such drain district and annul the assessment against it or such portion of it. Should the board of review find upon personal examination that there is any tract of land, railway, irrigation ditch, city or town, or any portion thereof, liable to assessment for the construction of the drain in accordance with the provisions of section 1 of this article [§ 2437 herein], which has not been assessed, it shall add such land or portion thereof to the drain district, and apportion the per cent of the cost to such. The board of review shall thereupon adjourn such review, to such other time or place, to be by it at the time of such adjournment, publicly announced, as shall to it seem proper, but not in all more than twenty (20) days from and after the time of review first advertised and shall serve a notice on all such owners of lands, railways or irrigation ditches living in the district; and on such cities and towns; such notice shall give the time and place of said review, also the description of lands, etc., added to said district, and shall be served at least ten days before the adjourned day of review. Should such owners liable to an assessment be nonresidents of the county there shall be a personal notice served on said owners as required above or a notice shall be published in some newspaper published in said county in at least two issues thereof, giving the description or descriptions of lands added to said assessment district; also giving the time and place where said board of review shall meet. The action and decision of said board shall be final, except in case of an appeal therefrom. The action and decision shall be reduced to writing and signed by a majority of the board, making the same, and shall be delivered to the county drain commissioner, together with all other papers relating thereto. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 399.]

§ 2441. Costs of Appeal.

(Section 5.) In case the assessments of the county drain commissioner shall be sustained by such board of review, the appellant shall pay the whole costs and expenses of such appeal. Such cost and expenses shall be ascertained and determined by the judge of the district court, and if not paid the applicant shall be liable on his bond for the full amount of such costs in an action at law, to be brought by the county drain commissioner, on the bond before any court having competent jurisdiction. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 400.]

§ 2442. Description of Lands.

(Section 6.) All descriptions of land under the provisions of this act shall be made by giving the legal subdivisions thereof, whenever practicable, and when a tract to be benefited or affected by such drain is less than such legal subdivision, it may be described by designation of the lot or other boundaries, or in some way by which it may be known. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 400.]

§ 2443. Assessment of School and State Lands.

(Section 7.) School and state lands shall be assessed their per cent of the cost of construction and the collection thereof be enforced as state and county taxes against lands are collected and enforced. School and state lands shall be included in all assessments the same as other lands, but the sum of all such drain taxes that may be assessed against any tract of school or state lands shall not aggregate a sum greater than fifty per cent of the price of which said lands are held by the state. Any amount apportioned and assessed upon school or state lands shall be reported by the county commissioners to the registrar of the state land office within ten days after delivery of the assessment-roll of the county treasurer. Said registrar of the state land office shall enter on the books of his office, against each description of such state lands, the amount of drain taxes assessed thereon, and shall certify the same to the auditor who shall draw his warrant on the state treasurer therefor, to be paid out of any funds in his hands not otherwise appropriated. Such amount shall be forwarded by the registrar of the state land office to the county commissioners on or before the fifteenth day of January next, and shall by him be applied in payment of such taxes. No deed shall issue for such lands until all such drain taxes are paid with interest at six per cent. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 400.]

§ 2444. Additional Assessments.

(Section 8.) Whenever the amount assessed for the construction of any drain shall not be sufficient to complete the same, and to pay all the costs and incidental expenses, a further assessment shall be made to meet the deficit or additional expense. Such further assessment shall be apportioned, assessed, levied and collected as provided in the first instance, and on the same percentage, and shall be collected in one year, but there shall be no review of, nor appeal from such further assessment. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 401.]

§ 2445. Refusal of Persons Appointed to Act as Board of Review—Compensation.

(Section 9.) Should any or all the persons so appointed as a board of review, neglect or refuse to serve, or be unable to act, the county drain commissioner shall adjourn the hearing for a sufficient length of time not exceeding in all thirty days, to enable him to apply to the district court for the appointment of other persons to act on such board of review and shall make public announcement of the time and place of such adjournment. The review shall thereupon be deemed a continuous proceeding and no further notice shall be required. The district court shall, upon the showing being made, either that any or all the persons appointed as aforesaid have neglected, refused or were unable to act as the case may be and of the adjourned day of meeting, at once, by order appoint such other person or persons or [of] like qualifications as before to fill such vacancy. And the county drain commissioner shall notify the person or persons so appointed to fill such vacancy of his appointment and of the adjourned day of meeting. The person so appointed shall have the same power and perform the same duties as are herein provided for the board of review in the first instance. The persons acting as such board of review shall receive the sum of five ($5) dollars per day for each day actually and necessarily spent in the discharge of their duties as members of such board of review, and also the actual, necessary expenses incurred by them. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 401.]

§ 2445a. Objection by Owners of Twenty-five Per Cent of Area.

(Section 10.) On the day of review, if objection is made in writing by land owners, the combined area of whose lands, comprise at least twenty-five per cent of the total area of the lands included in the district, to the construction of the proposed drain, on the ground that the cost will be greater than the benefits, then the said drain commissioner shall delay entering into a contract for the construction of the said proposed drain, for ten days. If at any time before the expiration of the said ten days, a petition is filed with said county drain commissioner, by land owners, the combined area of whose lands, will bear more than half of the total assessment levied against the whole district, requesting that the drain be not constructed, and if such petition is accompanied by the tender of money, or certified check on some approved bank, made payable to the county drain commissioner, in amount sufficient to cover all costs thus far involved in the proceedings of the proposed drain, then the said county drain commissioner shall abandon all further proceedings, in regard to the said proposed drain. If such objection to the construction of the drain is not made on the day of review in the manner described herein, then the county drain commissioner shall proceed forthwith with the letting of the contract for construction, and if such objection is made in the manner herein described but the request for the abandonment of the proceedings is not made in the manner described herein, or within the time specified herein, then the county drain commissioners shall at the expiration of ten days after such day of review, proceed with the letting of a contract or contracts for the construction of the said proposed drain. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 401.]

§ 2445b. Correction of Errors by Commissioner.

(Section 11.) If at any time before the assessment-roll is filed in the office of the county clerk and recorder, the county drain commissioner shall discover that an error had been made in any of the proceedings, he shall have the right, and it shall be his duty to correct the same. If such error occurs in the omission or description of any tract of land in the final order of determination, or in the notice of letting of contract or in the assessment-roll, he shall correct the same, and such error shall not exempt such tract from liability to proper assessment; provided that when such correction is made, the county drain commissioner shall serve notice on the owner, or owners, affected, in the same manner as is provided for serving notice for letting of contract. In case such owner or owners, conceive themselves aggrieved by such action of the county drain commissioner, they may make application for a board of review, in the same manner as is provided for reviewing the assessment, and the same proceeding shall follow as is provided therein. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 402.]

§ 2445c. Misnomer of Owner Immaterial.

(Section 12.) When, under any of the provisions of this act, special taxes and assessments are assessed against any tract of land, any railway or irrigation ditch as the property of a particular person or company, no misnomer of the owner or supposed owner, or other mistake relating to the ownership thereof, shall affect such assessment, or render it void or voidable. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 402.]

ARTICLE V.LEVY AND COLLECTION OF DRAIN TAXES.*§ 2446. Determination of Costs of Construction.

(Section 1.) After the day of review and in case of an appeal, then forthwith after such appeal shall have been decided and before the first day of August next following, the county drain commissioner shall make a computation of the entire cost of such drain, which shall include all the expenses of locating, establishing and constructing the same, including the commissioner's fees, cost of engineering, inspection and supervision, fees and expenses of special commissioners, and the amount of contracts for construction; also the cost of appeal in case the assessment of benefits made by the county drain commissioner shall not be sustained and all other expenses, and he shall add the whole into a gross sum and add thereto ten per centum of said gross sum to cover contingent expenses, and the entire sum so ascertained shall be deemed to be the cost of construction of said drain; provided, that when the drain shall have been completed before said assessment-roll is made and filed with the county clerk and recorder, the said ten per centum shall not be added to said gross sum. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 403.]

§ 2447. Preparation of Assessment-roll.

(Section 2.) The county drain commissioner shall thereupon make an assessment-roll for such drain, which roll shall be designated "[giving name] drain assessment-roll," and he shall enter therein a correct description of the tracts, parcels or subdivisions of land or against the county, incorporated town, railroads or any irrigation ditch assessed, as provided herein, and place opposite each description the amount of the assessment heretofore determined upon by him or by the board of review or court, as the case may be. He shall also enter thereon the amount of the taxes assessed against the county and the owners of irrigation ditches, railways, cities and towns, and in case such amount be payable in installments as provided in this act, he shall also enter thereon a memorandum of the installments thereof and of the year or years when such installments shall be spread, and shall add a certificate in writing of his determination made and stated in the specifications, whether the taxes assessed for the construction of the drain shall be paid in one or more years. Such rolls shall be dated and signed by said drain commissioner and filed on or before the first day of August in each year, in the office of the clerk and recorder of the county in which such lands may be located. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 403.]

§ 2448. County Clerk and Recorder to Deliver Assessment to County Commissioner.

(Section 3.) The county clerk and recorder shall, on or before the fifth day of August of each year, make and deliver to the county commis-§§ 2449, 2450. Clerk and Recorder to Spread Drain Taxes on Assessment-roll.

(Section 4.) The county clerk and recorder shall spread upon the assessment-roll of the county all drain taxes levied and assessed, as provided for in this act. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 404.]

§ 2451. Collections and Penalties.

(Section 5.) All drain taxes assessed under the provisions of this act shall be subject to the same interest and charges, and shall be collected in the same manner as state and other general taxes are collected, and collecting officers are hereby vested with the same power and authority in the collection of such taxes as are or may be conferred by law for collecting general taxes. In all cases where suit is brought against the county treasurer arising out of the collection of any drain tax, the county shall defend such officer in the same manner that he had now the right to be defended in the collection of general taxes. No suit shall be instituted to recover any drain tax or money paid or property said [sold] therefor, or for damages on account thereof, unless brought within thirty days from the time of payment of such money to or sale of property by the collecting officer; and if such tax shall be paid under protest the reasons therefor shall be specified; and the same procedure observed as is or may be required by the general tax law. All taxes levied under the provisions of this act, with all lawful costs, interest and charges, shall be and remain a perpetual lien upon the lands upon which they are assessed, and a personal claim against the owner or owners of such lands until they are paid. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 404.]

§ 2452. Delinquent Taxes—Laws for Enforcement.

(Section 6.) If the taxes levied for the construction, cleaning out, widening, deepening, extending or maintenance of any drain are not collected by the county treasurer, they shall by him be returned, together with the lands upon which they were levied, to the county commissioners in the same return, at the same time, and in the manner, in every respect as lands are returned for state, county and city taxes, and such taxes, and all the general provisions of law now existing or that may be hereafter enacted for enforcing the payment of city, county and state taxes, shall apply to such drain taxes, and to the lands returned delinquent therefor, in the same manner and with like effect. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 404.]

§ 2453. Orders or Warrants for Payment of Contract.

(Section 7.) All orders or warrants for the payment of services rendered, work performed or material supplied, or in payment for lands for right of way or for damages awarded, shall be drawn by the county commissioners, upon the drain fund of each particular drain, after the claims for such services rendered, work performed, material supplied, right of way or damage awards have been approved by the county drain commissioner. All orders or warrants for the payment of right of way, lands or awarded damages in excess of the amount of the assessment levied for benefits in each instance, shall, upon presentation, be paid out of the general fund of the county treasurer. The general fund shall be reimbursed for the amounts so paid out, from the first year's taxes of the particular drain on account of which they were drawn. All orders or warrants drawn for the payment of services rendered or expenses incurred, in the process of establishing, locating or supervising the construction of drains in the first instance, and the expenses incurred in the supervision of repairs, cleaning out, deepening, widening, extending or relocating established drains, shall be paid out of the first year's taxes, if they be sufficient therefor. Orders or warrants issued for labor and material furnished under construction contracts, shall be paid as follows: Such funds as shall remain of the first year's taxes, if any, after the hereinbefore mentioned amounts shall have been paid, shall be prorated among the different contractors, if there be more than one, and warrants issued therefor. Where the assessment for construction is spread over succeeding year, the funds shall be prorated among the different contractors, if there be more than one, and warrants issued for such prorated amounts. Provided, that orders or warrants drawn for the payment of all other claims than those specifically mentioned herein, shall be payable in the same manner and under the same conditions as warrants drawn on other county funds. Warrants shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, from the time they are drawn until they are paid, or until notices are given to those to whom they are issued or, when registered, in whose names they are registered, that money is available for their payment. Whenever the drain commissioner or the county commissioner deem it expedient, a claim may be paid by issuing warrants therefor, of various denominations, the sum of which will equal the amount of the claim, instead of issuing one warrant for the entire claim. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 404.]

§ 2454. Interest on Warrants—Form, Denomination, Registration, Redemption and Payment of Bonds and Warrants.

Provided further, that the amount of such annual assessment in any drain district shall not exceed five per cent of the total cost of construction of the drain in that district. Provided further, that in case the benefits for inspection, superintending, repairing, protecting and maintaining the drain, shall accrue to the various tracts of land, comprising the district in a different proportion than the benefits for the construction in the first instance, then the county drain commissioner shall make such changes in the manner of assessment as shall equalize the same. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 409.]

ARTICLE VI.

DRAINS TRAVERSING MORE THAN ONE COUNTY.

§ 2461. Application to Drain Commissioner of Either County.

(Section 1.) Whenever it may be desired to construct a drain traversing more than one county, or affecting lands lying in more than one county, application therefor shall be made to the county drain commissioner of either county traversed by the proposed drain. Such application shall be subject to the same conditions and the applicants to the same obligations and liabilities as in other drains under this act. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 410.]

§ 2462. Commissioners of Other Counties Affected to be Notified of Application.

(Section 2.) If, upon examination, the county drain commissioner shall deem the same to be necessary and for the good of the public health, convenience or welfare, he shall, as soon as practicable thereafter, fix a time and place of meeting, and notify the county drain commissioner or commissioners of such other county or counties to that effect, and furnish him or each of them with a certified copy of such application. Such county drain commissioner or commissioners shall, at the time and place as fixed above, meet with the county drain commissioners having the original application, and they shall thereupon and thereafter jointly take all steps, and perform all acts and sign all papers, as county drain commissioners are required to do singly in the case of other drains, including the application to the district court. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 410.]

§ 2463. Appointment of Special Commissioners.

(Section 3.) In case all the persons whose lands are traversed by such drain, as proposed in this article, shall not within twenty days after the issue of the first order of determination as provided in this act, have voluntarily released the right of way therefor and all damages on account thereof, the county drain commissioners shall apply to the judge of each judicial district in which any such unreleased lands may be situated for the appointment of three special commissioners. When such application shall be made and when all papers shall have been found to be in conformity with the provisions of this act, the court to whom such application has been made shall appoint such special commissioners and shall deliver to each commissioner a certified copy of the order of the appointment of such special commissioners. Such special commissioners shall be resident freeholders of the county or counties and not residents of the district or districts, to be traversed by the proposed drain, in which they are appointed. The same commissioners may be appointed by each court. All proceedings had in the appointment of special commissioners, under the provisions of this article shall be similar to those provided herein for the appointment of other special commissioners. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 410.]

§ 2464. Proceedings of Commissioner.

(Section 4.) When such special drain commissioners shall have been notified of their appointment in the manner as provided herein, they shall at the time and place fixed by the district court, meet with the county drain commissioners of the respective counties in which such proposed drain is applied for, and view the whole line of such drain, or such portion thereof as shall be deemed sufficient, and shall, under the same oath and condition, perform their services in the same manner and with like effect as hereinbefore provided in this act, for other special commissioner. Before any contract for the construction of any part of any such drain shall be let, the county drain commissioners shall agree and determine upon the just per cent of the whole cost of construction which each county shall bear, which determination shall be in writing and signed by them, and a copy thereof made for each county drain commissioner whose county is affected by said drain; provided, if said county drain commissioners cannot agree and determine the just per cent of the cost of construction that each county shall bear, then it shall be their duty to select a county commissioner from some adjoining county not affected by such drain, who shall have the power to determine said per cent for them, and said county commissioner's decision of the just per cent shall be final, and they shall make copies of said determination as above provided. The costs and expense of said county commissioner shall be paid the same as those of the county drain commissioners of the counties affected by such drain. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 411.]

§ 2465. Apportionment of Benefits Between Counties.

(Section 5.) Each commissioner shall thereupon assess within his own jurisdiction such amount as may have been determined upon, and shall assess against the county, railways, irrigation ditches, cities or towns, or any portion thereof subject to assessment such per cent thereof as may be justly charged against them severally for the construction of such drain, and the balance he shall apportion against the lands in proportion as they will be benefited thereby. Each county drain commissioner shall furnish such several assessments to the clerk and recorder of his own county, in which the lands affected thereby may be situated, and such assessments shall be computed, divided, spread, collected and returned in the same manner, in every respect, as provided in the case of other drains constructed under this act. Such assessments shall be subject to the same right of appeal and under the same conditions as hereinbefore provided. The taxes for such drains shall be collected by the county treasurer of their respective counties to be disbursed by him. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 411.]

§ 2466. Record of Drains—Care of Drains.

(Section 6.) A full record of such drains shall be made and entered by the several drain commissioners in the drain record books of their respective counties, and a certified copy of all the papers relative to the construction of such drain shall be delivered to the other county drain commissioners by the drain commissioner having the original application which certified copies shall be filed in the office of the county clerk of their respective counties. The parts of each of such drains situated and lying in one county shall thereafter be under the care and supervision of the county drain commissioner of such county, subject, however, to the provisions of sections 8 and 9 of this article. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 412.]

§ 2467. Drains in Adjoining State.

(Section 7.) Whenever any proposed drain lies wholly or partly in an adjoining state, or the lands to be drained thereby lie partly in an adjoining state, application for the construction of such drain may be made to any county drain commissioner representing any county in this state in which any portion of such proposed drain or lands to be affected thereby lie, and the same proceedings shall be had touching the portion of such drain or the lands to be drained or affected thereby, lying within this state, as are provided in this act in the case of drains and lands lying wholly within this state; provided, that before any expense shall be incurred in relation to any such proposed drain, a voluntary release of the right of way for construction of such portion of such drain as may lie without this state, and an agreement to keep the same or permit the same to be kept clear from obstruction, shall first be obtained from the parties owning lands outside of this state through which such drain or portion thereof is to pass and such release and agreement shall be filed with the said drain commissioner, and shall form a part of the record of his proceedings in the premises. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 412.]

§ 2467a. Repairing Drains Traversing More Than One County.

(Section 8.) Each county drain commissioner shall maintain and keep in repair and good order, the portions of all joint county drains which are in his county, so far as the funds, herein provided for such purpose, will permit. All work and expenses involved in such maintenance shall be done only after the same has been ordered jointly by the county drain commissioners, having jurisdiction over the entire drain. Provided, that all such work shall be done under the same provisions which govern the maintaining and repairing of drains, as are made in section 1 of Article VII of this act. For the purpose of providing funds for inspecting, superintending, repairing, protecting and maintaining joint county drains which have been established and constructed, the county drain commissioners, having jurisdiction over such drains, shall determine the amount of funds necessary for such purpose, and the proportion which shall be levied against the drainage districts in each county, and each shall include this amount in the report made to the county commissioners at their regular June meetings. Each drain commissioner shall make an assessment-roll for the portions of the drainage district in his county, under the same provisions as are made in section 13 of article V of this act. Provided, that, when in the opinion of such drain commissioners, the cost of any contemplated repairs will exceed the amount of funds available for such purpose, no proceedings shall be had until an application shall have been made, as provided for in section 9 of this article. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 412.]

§ 2468. Procedure When Repair is Necessary and Funds not Available.

(Section 9.) Whenever a drain heretofore established and which was constructed in and traverses more than one county needs cleaning out, deepening, widening, extending, repairing or any protective work, the cost of which will, in the judgment of the drain commissioner, exceed the funds available, any five freeholders of either county by which such drain is traversed (or affected) one or more of whom shall be owners of land which at the time of its construction was assessed therefor, may make application to the county drain commissioner of either county in which such drain is situated, setting forth the necessity thereof. If, upon examination such drain commissioner shall deem the same to be necessary and for the good of the public health, he shall as soon as practicable thereafter, notify the county drain commissioner or commissioners of such other counties and furnish them with a certified copy of such application, and they shall thereupon meet and jointly take such measures as are provided in this article relative to drains traversing more than one county, and act in like manner, as provided in this act in the manner of establishing drains. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 413.]

ARTICLE VII.

MAINTENANCE OF DRAINS.

§ 2469. Duty of Commissioner—Assessments and Contracts.

(Section 1.) The county drain commissioner shall have jurisdiction over all established drains, and it shall be his duty to keep them in proper condition and repair, in so far as the funds at his disposal herein provided for, will permit. He shall have the power and authority, and it shall be his duty, to expend such amounts for properly maintaining and protecting such drains at such times and in such manner, as he may deem proper, provided that the amount or amounts so expended on any drain during any year, shall not exceed the amount of the funds available for such purposes within such year. He may have such work performed and may purchase the materials therefor, provided such work and materials for any one drain do not exceed an expenditure of five hundred dollars ($500), without receiving bids, and awarding a contract therefor. Whenever the said county drain commissioner may deem it advantageous he may enter into a contract upon the best terms obtainable to have such work performed, or materials furnished but under no circumstances shall he expend more than five hundred dollars ($500) for any one purpose, on any one drain, portion or section thereof, without receiving bids for doing the work and furnishing the materials therefor after advertising the same for at least ten days, and awarding a contract for the same. Whenever a drain, or any portion thereof, needs cleaning out, straightening, deepening, widening, repairing or extending, or whenever any protective work, such as the construction of surface ditches, inlets, subsidiary drains, lateral drains, branch drains or any appurtenances, is necessary; or whenever an increase in the size of a conduit of a blind or covered drain is necessary, or a relocation of a portion of such drain is necessary, or would be more conducive to subserving the purpose or purposes of such drain, and the total cost of such work, in the judgment of the drain commissioner, will exceed the amount of funds available for such purpose, it shall be necessary, before any proceedings are commenced, for at least five freeholders of the districts in which such drain is situated, one or more of whom shall be owners of land liable to an assessment for benefits in having such work performed, to make application, in writing, to the county drain commissioner, setting forth the necessity therefor and if in his judgment, the request of the applicants should be granted, he shall proceed in the same manner as is provided in this act, for the location and construction of a drain in the first instance, expecting that he shall issue but one order of determination, instead of two. This order of determination shall describe the petition received for the proposed work, and shall contain a statement that plans and specifications have been prepared for the work, the manner of providing the funds for payment of the work, a description of the work which it is proposed to do, a description in the change in location of any portion of the drain, if any there be, and a description of the route of any extensions, branches or laterals, and the dimensions of the same. The assessments against the various tracts of land in the district, in which this work is to be performed, shall be in proportion to the benefits so far as it is possible to determine, and the damage caused by seepage or overflow from irrigation ditches and from higher lands, and for this purpose the county drain commissioner may use the same manner of making the assessment as was used in the construction of the drain, in the first instance, or he may make such changes, as in his judgment, shall be deemed just and equitable. The application need only refer to the drain by name, and the county drain commissioner may have such work performed as will best accomplish the results sought for in the application, and need not be limited to what is specifically set forth in such application. Before the contract of any work is let the necessary right of way required for the purposed drain, branches, or laterals shall be obtained. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 414.]

§ 2470. Application for Cleaning or Widening Drains.

(Section 2.) Such assessment, and the collection, returns and enforcement thereof, shall be made in the same manner and under the same provisions as in this act is provided for drain taxes assessed, collected, returned and enforced in the first instance. In case the necessity for any cleaning out or repair work arises from the act or neglect of any land owner or tenant, said act or neglect shall be taken into consideration by the county drain commissioner, in such assessment, and he shall make a record in the minutes of such drain kept by him, of the facts taken into such consideration in making such assessment. The work involved in placing the drain in a proper condition as sought for in the application shall be advertised and let, and the contracts therefor, awarded and accepted and paid for, as provided for in the first instance. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 415.]

§ 2471. Legal Drains—What are.

(Section 3.) All drains regularly established, opened or constructed under any provisions of law heretofore existing, shall be deemed to be legal drains under this act, and shall hereafter be under the jurisdiction of the county drain commissioners, and in all drains traversing more than one county and heretofore constructed shall hereafter be under the jurisdiction of the county drain commissioner of the counties traversed by said drain acting jointly, and any drain that has been established for ten years shall be conclusively deemed to have been regularly established, and it shall be the duty of the county drain commissioner, where no records of such drains have been preserved, to see that the records of such drains are made in the most practicable manner in the drain records of their respective counties. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 415.]

§ 2472. Powers of Commissioner Respecting Repairs.

(Section 4.) All powers conferred by this act for establishing and constructing drains and for the enforcement of assessments thereof, shall also extend to and include the cleaning out, straightening, deepening, widening, extending, protecting and repairing, of any drains which heretofore have been laid, or may hereafter be constructed; also to straightening, cleaning out and deepening the channels of creeks and streams, and the constructing, maintaining, remodeling and repairing of levees, dikes, and barriers for the purpose of drainage. The county drain commissioners may relocate portions of any drain in order to make it more serviceable, or more easily maintained, and he may relocate or extend the line of any drain, if the same be necessary in order to provide a suitable outlet, in which case he shall cause a survey thereof to be made; provided, that no proceeding affecting the rights of persons or property, shall be had under this section, except upon a like application, notice, hearing and award prescribed in this act, for the construction of drains in the first instance. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 416.]

§ 2473. Vacation or Abandonment of Drain.

(Section 5.) The county drain commissioner may, upon proper application as required in this act for repairing a drain, and upon giving fifteen days' notice thereof by posting said notice in three conspicuous places along the drain, declare any drain vacated and abandoned if in his judgment the same has ceased to be of public utility; provided, that private rights of persons acquired by reason of the location and establishment of such drain shall not be interfered with, or in any way be impaired thereby. The parties so applying shall pay all expenses of such vacating and abandonment. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 416.]

§ 2474. Maintenance of Drains Heretofore Established.

(Section 6.) Drains for which an application has been made or which has been constructed, under the provisions of any law heretofore enacted, may be laid, constructed, completed, relaid, cleaned out, widened, deepened, extended or maintained, as the case may be, under the provisions of this act. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 416.]

§ 2475. Use of Drain to Conduct Waste Water—Obstructions.

(Section 7.) Where blind drains are constructed, they shall not be used for conducting waste water, resulting from irrigation, or from other sources, when possible to avoid the same. The county drain commissioner may, in exceptional cases, where good cause can be shown for so doing, grant permission in writing to allow such waste water to enter such blind drain; provided, that the capacity of such drain is ample enough to carry such waste water in addition to the normal flow in such drain. Whenever any person shall obstruct any established drain or allow waste water to enter it without the permission, in writing, of the county drain commissioner, it shall be the duty of said drain commissioner to cause such obstruction to be removed, and to prevent the inflow of such waste water. The person or persons, causing such obstruction, or allowing such waste water to enter such drain, shall be liable for the expense attending the removal of such obstruction, or the repairing of the damage caused by such waste water, entering the drain, or both, together with charges of the drain commissioner, and the same shall be a lien upon the lands of the party, or parties, causing or permitting such acts to be done; and all of the expenses, shall, by the drain commissioner, be reported to the board of county commissioners, together with the report of his doings in the premises, and by such board, shall be ordered spread upon the land of the offending party or parties, should the same remain unpaid until the first day of August next following. Provided, that the owner or occupants of the land on which the obstruction is claimed to exist, or who are responsible for allowing such waste water to enter the drain, shall be given a notice of at least five days, to remove such obstruction or repair such damage, or both, resulting from such obstruction or waste water. This provision as to the obstruction of any drain, shall not apply where the obstruction was caused by natural causes, but the owner of stock who shall permit his horses, cattle, pigs or other stock to obstruct any drain by tramping in it or otherwise, shall be deemed to be the party causing such obstruction. Nothing contained in this section shall in any way impede or bar the right of any person to make criminal complaint, under any existing law, for any obstruction or damaging of a drain. [Amendment approved March 11, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 147, p. 416.]

ARTICLE VIII.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

§ 2476. Appointment of Deputies.

(Section 1.) When in the opinion of the board of county commissioners it becomes necessary the county drain commissioner may appoint one deputy or more whose duty it shall be to act in conjunction with him or in his place. Such deputy or deputies when so appointed, shall file a bond with the county commissioners, to be approved by them in the sum of one thousand dollars, for the faithful performance of duties. § 2499. Exemptions from Taxation.

§ 2500.

History of acts subjecting mines to taxation, and of acts exempting them. Northern Pac. Ry. Co. v. Mjelde, 48 Mont. 287, 296, 137 Pac. 386.

Mines and mining claims are, by article XII, section 3, of the Constitution, and by this section, subjected to their equitable proportion of the burden of governmental expense, to be raised by taxation. Northern Pac. Ry. Co. v. Mjelde, 48 Mont. 287, 297, 137 Pac. 386.

The taxing authorities are not authorized to impose any additional burden upon mining property before they ascertain whether the conditions justifying its imposition exist; the constitutional and statutory provision, respecting the taxation of mines, is really a revenue measure, and not an exemption provision, within the rule that he who alleges that his property is exempt from taxation must sustain the burden of establishing the exemption. Barnard Realty Co. v. City of Butte, 50 Mont. 159, 145 Pac. 946.

Taxation is the rule, exemption is the exception; and the burden is upon the party who claims an exemption to allege and prove the facts necessary to bring his property within the favored class. Northern Pac. Ry. Co. v. Mjelde, 48 Mont. 287, 304, 137 Pac. 386.

A "mine," independently of the surface, is, within the meaning of the Constitution and from the standpoint of raising revenue, a mineral deposit, whether metallic or nonmetallic, developed to the point of production and actually yielding, or capable of yielding, proceeds. Northern Pac. Ry. Co. v. Mjelde, 48 Mont. 287, 303, 137 Pac. 386.

A "mining claim," as used in the Constitution, indicates a tract of land to which the right of possession or the title has been acquired pursuant to the acts of Congress relating to the disposition of mineral lands, including coal lands. Northern Pac. Ry. Co. v. Mjelde, 48 Mont. 287, 303, 137 Pac. 386.

If land under which coal is believed to lie, is conveyed, with a reservation of all mineral, including coal, with the use of the necessary surface ground for exploring it, but no explorations are made, such reservation is not a "mine" or "mining claim," either within this section or article XII, section 3, of the Constitution, and does not fall within any class of exempt property, but is an interest in "real estate," which is subject to assessment for taxation, in the absence of anything showing that it is valueless. Northern Pac. Ry. v. Mjelde, 48 Mont. 287, 304, 137 Pac. 386.

The surface ground of an unpatented mining claim, when used for other than mining purposes and when it has a separate value for such other purposes, is subject to taxation. Cobban v. Meagher, 42 Mont. 399, 409, 113 Pac. 290.

Though mining property is situated within the limits of a city, and has streets, and sewers running through it, the fact that these matters give the property an additional value to that which it has for mining purposes, does not authorize an increased taxation of the property, unless it appears that the owner has devoted it to a purpose other than mining. Barnard Realty Co. v. City of Butte, 50 Mont. 159, 145 Pac. 946.

When the state claims the right to tax a ditch that is appurtenant to placer mining claims, the burden is upon it to show that it has a value, separate and independent of such claims, and that it has a right to impose the tax. Hale v. County of Jefferson, 39 Mont. 137, 143, 101 Pac. 973.

A ditch, and the water conveyed therein for use on placer mining claims, are not taxable, unless it is shown that they have an independent value by reason of profitable use for some other purpose, and the value for that purpose would be determined by the amount of the profits; the fact that the ditch, together with the water conveyed by it, which has never been a source of any profit except as connected with such mining claim, could be sold and used for irrigating farm lands and for other purposes, and that it would be valuable for these purposes is not such a showing of an independent value by reason of a profitable use for some other purpose, as entitles the state to tax the ditch and water. Hale v. County of Jefferson, 39 Mont. 137, 142, 101 Pac. 973.

The net proceeds of mines are subject to taxation, but a nonproducing mine has no value. Northern Pac. Ry. Co. v. Mjelde, 48 Mont. 287, 301, 137 Pac. 386; and compare sections 2563-2571, post.

The net proceeds of all mines and mining claims are taxable the same as other personal property; and the assessor is not required to follow up such proceeds to insure the collection of the tax, or to rely upon the solvency of the person who receives the money; the tax, under section 2571, post, is a lien upon the mine from which the ores or minerals were extracted. Tong v. Maher, 45 Mont. 142, 145, 122 Pac. 279.

The net proceeds of a mine are assessable and taxable against the owner thereof, as personal property, whether the statement required by section 2563, post, is made or not; all property must be assessed to the owner. Tong v. Maher, 45 Mont. 142, 145, 122 Pac. 279.

(Section 1.) All shares of stock in state and national banks and banking corporations, whether of issue or note, existing by authority of the United States or of this state, and located within this state, and doing business within the state shall be assessed to the owners thereof, in the cities, towns, or places where such banks and banking corporations herein named, are located and not elsewhere, in the assessment of all state, county, school districts, and municipal taxes, imposed and levied in such place, whether the owner is a resident of such city, town, or place or not; all such shares must be listed and assessed with regard to their value at 12 o'clock noon, on the first Monday of March of each year, to be ascertained by adding the surplus and undivided profits to the face value of such shares, provided, that if any portion of the capital stock of any bank or banking corporation herein named, shall be invested in real estate and such bank or banking corporation shall hold title thereto, the assessed valuation of such real estate shall be deducted from the total value of the shares of stock of such bank or banking corporation and such real estate shall be deducted from the total value of the shares of stock of such bank or banking corporation and such real estate shall be assessed to the bank or banking corporation holding the same, as other real estate. The persons or corporations who appear upon the records of the bank or banking corporation herein named, to be the owners of shares at the close of the business day next preceding the first Monday in March in each year, shall be taken and deemed to be the owners thereof for the purpose of this section. Such shares of stock shall not be assessed at any higher rate than other property and shall be subject to all deductions allowed or given in the assessment of other property. [Amendment approved February 26, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 31, p. 45.]

§ 2504. Payment of Taxes—Entry of Assessment.

(Section 2.) Such bank or banking corporation shall pay to the collector or other person authorized to collect the taxes of the state, county, city, town or place, in which the same is located at the time of each year when other taxes assessed in said state, county, city, town or place, become due, the amount of the tax so assessed in each year upon the shares in such bank or banking corporation herein referred to. The said bank or banking corporation herein referred to shall be liable for the payment of the said tax. If such is not paid on or before the 30th day of November of each year at 6 o'clock P. M., the said tax shall become delinquent and shall be collected in the same manner and be subject to the same laws as all other delinquent taxes.

For convenience the assessment of shares of stock in banks and banking corporations herein referred to, shall be entered on the personal property assessment list under the name of the bank and in such statement the names of the holders of bank stock shall be set forth and the shares owned by each and such assessment when so entered, shall have all the force and effect as if made in the name and against the holder of bank stock individually. [Amendment approved February 26, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 46.]

§ 2505. Statements to be Furnished by Officers.

(Section 3.) The cashier of every such bank and the secretary or other officer corresponding to a cashier of any banking corporation herein referred to, shall make and deliver to the assessor of the county in which the said bank or banking corporation herein referred to is located, within five days after demand therefor, a statement verified by the oath of such cashier or secretary or other corresponding officer, showing the name of each shareholder, with his residence and the number of shares belonging to him at the close of business, the day next preceding the first Monday in March in each year, as the same then appeared on the books of the bank or banking corporation; and shall furnish a further verified statement showing the face value of the capital stock and the amount of surplus and undivided profits of the bank or banking corporation and an estimate of the value for which such stock shall be assessed. If the cashier, secretary or corresponding officer fails to make the former statement, the assessor shall forthwith upon such failure, obtain from the officers of the bank or banking corporation, such list of shareholders with the residence and number of shares belonging to each and for which purpose he shall have access to the books of the bank or banking corporation and if the cashier or secretary or other corresponding officer fails to furnish the latter statement, the assessor shall make an assessment of such stock which will be as fair and equitable as he may be able to make from the best information available or he may adopt the figures disclosed by any prior report of the bank or banking corporation of its officers or directors to the comptroller of the currency or the state examiner or the Secretary of State, as the case may be. Any cashier, secretary or corresponding officer, failing to make such statements or either of them, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punished accordingly, provided that nothing herein shall be construed as authorizing or permitting the county assessor to place a higher valuation upon the shares of banks or banking corporations than that placed upon the same class or other classes of property. [Amendment approved February 26, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 46.]

A statement in a deed conveying land sold to a county for taxes, that the property was offered for sale "in accordance with law," being merely a conclusion of law, imparts no validity to the deed if the recitals therein show that the sale was had at public auction at which the county was a competitive bidder. Rush v. Lewis & Clark County, 37 Mont. 240, 95 Pac. 836.

Provisions such as appear in this section and in section 2652, post, are a limitation upon the power of the treasurer to issue the tax deed; and any deed issued by the treasurer, where such statutory requirements are not complied with, is void. Cullen v. Western M. & W. Title Co., 47 Mont. 513, 527, 134 Pac. 302.

The affidavit, in particular, is the basis upon which the treasurer is to act; and

Such deed, duly acknowledged or proved, is (except as against actual fraud) conclusive evidence of all other proceedings, from the assessment by the assessor, inclusive, up to the execution of the deed, and no action can be maintained to set aside or annul a tax deed, upon any ground whatever, unless the action is commenced within two years from and after the date of issuance of such tax deed; provided, that any existing right of action to set aside or annul any tax deed, heretofore issued, shall be barred unless instituted within two years from and after the passage and approval of this act. § 2682. Sale of Real Estate for Delinquent Taxes.

Whenever the county has become the purchaser of any real estate sold for delinquent taxes and the same has not been redeemed by the person entitled so to do, and the time for such redemption has expired, the board of county commissioners may, at any time, by an order made and duly entered upon the minutes of its proceedings sell the same at public auction, provided, however, that no such sale shall be made or confirmed unless the price offered shall be sufficient to discharge all accrued taxes to date of sale together with interest and cost, then the chairman of the board is authorized to execute a title therefor vesting in the purchaser all the title of state and county to the real estate so sold. The money arising from such sale must be paid into the county treasury, and the treasurer must settle for money so received as other state and county money. [Amendment approved March 8, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 175.]

§ 2682a. Redemption from Tax Sales.

In all cases where real estate has been sold for delinquent taxes, the purchaser at such tax sale, or his assignee, may, subsequent thereto, pay the subsequent taxes assessed against said land, and upon the redemption of said land from such tax sale, the redemptioner shall, in addition to the amount for which the said land was sold, with interest thereon, pay the subsequent taxes paid by the purchaser of such tax sale, or his assignee, with interest thereon at the rate of twelve per cent per annum from the date of the payment of such taxes, and in all notices of application for tax deed, the applicant shall state in addition to the amount paid at the tax sale, the amount of subsequent taxes paid by the applicant or his assignee upon such land, with interest thereon at the rate of twelve per cent per annum from the date of such payment, and no redemption shall be made until the amount of such sale, with interest and such subsequent taxes and interest shall have been paid by the person seeking to redeem such lands. [Approved March 15, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 98, p. 434.]

§ 2736a. Expenses of County Assessors and Deputies.

The assessor and his deputies in each county in this state shall be paid the actual and necessary traveling expenses by them incurred, not to exceed fifty dollars in any one month, during the months of March, April, May and June of each year while in the performance of official duty, upon presenting and filing a verified claim thereof, supported by vouchers, for each item of expense, to the board of county commissioners of their respective county. [Approved March 2, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 44, p. 53.]

§ 2736b. County Assessor—Chief Deputy.

The assessor in counties of the first class may appoint one chief deputy assessor, who shall receive a salary of eighteen hundred ($1800) dollars per annum, in lieu of the regular deputy as now provided by law; and such assessor may also appoint such other deputy assessors for the months of March, April, May, June, July and August, as now provided by law. [Approved March 3, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 53, p. 60.]

Construction of section. See note, post, § 2742.

This section, by necessary implication, provides a remedy by injunction in cases where the tax demanded is illegal or not authorized by law. Cunningham v. Northwestern Imp. Co., 44 Mont. 180, 119 Pac. 554.

A court cannot restrain the collection of a tax levied on the surface of an unpatented mining claim, having a value for town-site purposes, because of the assessor's failure to set forth, in his assessment, the fact that such surface ground was assessed for other than mining purposes by reason of its having a separate and independent value for town-site purposes; a mere irregularity in the method of assessment is not sufficient to give the court jurisdiction to enjoin the collection of the tax or the sale of the property. Cobban v. Meagher, 42 Mont. 399, 410, 113 Pac. 290.

§ 2742. Payment of Taxes Under Protest—Action to Recover.

That in all cases of levy of taxes, licenses, or other demands for public revenue, which are deemed unlawful, by the party whose property is thus taxed, or from whom such tax or license is demanded or enforced, such party may pay under protest such tax or license, or any part thereof, deemed unlawful, to the officers designated and authorized to collect same; and thereupon, the party so paying, or his legal representatives, may bring an action in any court of competent jurisdiction against the officer to whom said license or tax was paid, or against the county or municipality in whose behalf the same was collected, to recover such tax or license, or any portion thereof, paid under protest; provided, that any action instituted to recover any tax paid under protest, shall be commenced within sixty days after the thirtieth day of November, of the year in which such tax was paid. The tax so paid under protest, shall be held by the county treasurer, and no part thereof paid to the state treasurer until the determination of any action brought for the recovery thereof; and provided further, that in all cases where taxes, licenses or other demands have been paid under protest, during the year 1907, or 1908, and no suit has been brought to recover the same, action to recover the same as herein provided shall be brought within sixty days after the passage and approval of this act; and if not so brought, the same shall be forever barred. [Amendment approved March 10, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 201.]

Suit within time as essence of right. See note, post, § 2743.

This section is applicable to unauthorized demands by the state auditor. Cunningham v. Northwestern Imp. Co., 44 Mont. 180, 119 Pac. 554.

The amendment of 1909, to this section, providing that an action to recover taxes paid under protest must be commenced within sixty days after November 30th of the year in which the taxes are paid, applies generally to any action instituted to recover any tax paid under protest. Dolenty v. Broadwater County, 45 Mont. 261, 265, 122 Pac. 919.

An action to recover an unlawful license fee, exacted by a city ordinance, and paid under protest, is properly brought under this section; the plaintiff is not required to resort to the remedy provided in section 2741, ante; the remedy in equity, under section 2741, is limited; but this section, 2742, gives a cause of action, at law, in all cases where taxes are paid under protest, the remedy being unlimited. Reilly v. Hatheway, 46 Mont. 1, 11, 125 Pac. 417.

It is possible for taxes to be paid under protest and contested for reasons other than those referred to in section 2743, and it was, doubtless, for the purpose of covering such cases that the amendment of 1909, to this section, 2742, was made, and a uniform rule established covering all causes of actions to recover taxes paid under protest. Dolenty v. Broadwater County, 45 Mont. 261, 265, 122 Pac. 919.

If the owner of the surface of an unpatented mining claim objects to its assessment for town-site purposes, he has a remedy by paying the taxes under protest, and then suing for their recovery, under section 2745, post, in an action at law, and the remedy thus provided is, made by section 2745, post, to supersede all others. Cobban v. Meagher, 42 Mont. 399, 410, 113 Pac. 290.

The legislature apparently assumed that taxes might be paid under protest and contested for reasons other than those referred to in section 2743, and it was for the purpose of covering such cases that the statute was passed amending section 2742, thus establishing a uniform rule for all actions to recover taxes paid under protest. Dolenty v. Broadwater County, 45 Mont. 261, 265, 122 Pac. 919.

If the taxing authorities undertake to levy a tax not authorized by law or upon property not subject to be taxed, their action is without jurisdiction and void. Clark v. Maher, 34 Mont. 391, 87 Pac. 272. The taxpayer may enjoin the collection even after disregarding a notice by the assessor or the board to file timely objection. Barnard Realty Co. v. City of Butte, 50 Mont. 167, 145 Pac. 946.

The provision of this section, prescribing a limit upon the time for bringing an action, is something more than a mere statute of limitation; it is of the essence of the right to sue. Dolenty v. Broadwater County, 45 Mont. 261, 266, 122 Pac. 919.

This section, before its amendment in 1909, containing a limitation of time as to the bringing of an action to recover taxes paid under protest, applied only to actions brought to recover taxes paid under protest for any of the reasons mentioned in the section; and such is its application since the amendment. Dolenty v. Broadwater County, 45 Mont. 261, 265, 122 Pac. 919.

Whenever a statute grants a right that did not exist at common law, and prescribes the time within which the right must be exercised, the limitation thus imposed does not affect the remedy merely, but is of the essence of the right itself; and one who seeks to enforce such right must show affirmatively that he has brought his action within the time fixed by the statute; if he does not do so, he fails to disclose any right to relief under the statute. Dolenty v. Broadwater County, 45 Mont. 261, 267, 122 Pac. 919.

The right to sue for taxes paid under protest is purely statutory; without the statute, the right would not exist; and, where the statute that confers the right fixes the time within which it must be exercised and the grounds upon which it may be asserted, the statute must be complied with or the right is lost. Dolenty v. Broadwater County, 45 Mont. 261, 266, 122 Pac. 919.

After the right to sue, under this section, was lost by a failure to sue within the time prescribed, such right could not be recreated by the legislature, as it attempted to do by the retroactive amendment of 1909, it was prohibited by the Constitution. Dolenty v. Broadwater County, 45 Mont. 261, 268, 122 Pac. 919.

Notwithstanding this section, as amended in 1909, and section 2745, post, an injunction lies to restrain the collection of a tax wholly void. Barnard Realty Co. v. City of Butte, 50 Mont. 167, 145 Pac. 946.

§ 2743. Assessment for Taxation—Increase Over Statement of Owner.

Whenever any person has delivered to the assessor a sworn statement of his property subject to taxation as now provided by law, and giving the estimated value of such property, and the assessor shall increase such estimated value, or add property to such assessment list, he shall at least ten days prior to the meeting of the county board of equalization, give to such person written notice of such change, which notice shall be substantially in the following form:

(Date)....

Mr.

A change has been made in your assessment list as follows:

Assessor, County.

Such person may then appear before the county board of equalization, ascertain the nature of such change, and contest the same; and if the assessment of any such person has been added to or changed, either by the assessor or by the county board of equalization, and such person has not been notified thereof and given an opportunity to contest the same before the county board of equalization, the tax of such increased value or added property shall, upon such facts being established, be adjudged by the court to be void, and such facts and all questions relating thereto, when said tax has been paid under protest, may be heard and determined in the action provided for in said section 2742 (4024) of the Political Code. When any person has appeared before the county board of equalization, and has contested the increase in the estimated value of his property, or the additions of other property to his assessment list, and is aggrieved at the final action of the board in making or allowing such increase or addition, he may, in the action provided for in said section 2742 (4024) of the Political Code, contest and litigate the payment of taxes on such increased valuation or added property list on the same grounds and for the same reasons that he has contested the same before the county board of equalization, and for no other reason and on no other reason and on no other ground. Provided, that any action instituted for the purpose of recovering any tax paid under protest for any of the reasons mentioned in this section shall be commenced within sixty days after the thirtieth day of November, of the year in which such tax was paid. Provided, further, that when any action is instituted to recover any tax paid the valuation of the property as increased by the board of equalization or assessor, is an over-valuation of such property, the jury in the case shall determine the actual value of such property at the time the same became liable for taxes, and if the value as fixed by the jury is in excess of the amount on which taxes were levied, the plaintiff shall be liable in damages equal to the product obtained by multiplying such excess valuation as found by the jury by the rate per cent at which taxes were levied in the municipality where the property was assessed for the year the protest was made. [Amendment approved March 10, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 202.]

LICENSES.

§ 2746. License Blanks to be Furnished by County Clerk.

The county clerk must prepare and have printed blank licenses of all classes mentioned in this chapter, with the blank receipt attached for the signature of the county treasurer, when sold. The printer shall deliver to the clerk of the court all the license blanks ordered, with bill for same, showing forms and numbers. The clerk of the court shall verify same, record in book the forms and numbers, then deliver said licenses to the county clerk, taking his receipt for same in the record book. The county clerk shall keep all license blanks delivered to him under lock and key and be accountable for same. [Amendment approved February 26, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 39.]

Nothing herein contained shall be construed so as to require the board of county commissioners to issue any such order for a license as a matter of right, but such license may be ordered issued entirely within the discretion of said board of county commissioners, provided that no license shall be issued to any person not a citizen of the United States of America, nor to any company, or corporation not authorized to do business under the laws of Montana. [Amendment approved March 17, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 461.]

§ 2763a. Itinerant Venders to Obtain License.

(Section 1.) Every person, company or corporation, who at temporary quarters sells or offers or exhibits for sale any goods, wares or merchandise, and every person who travels about from place to place and transports by any mode of conveyance and sells, offers or exhibits for sale any goods, wares or merchandise, and every person who personally solicits orders for the future delivery of any goods, wares or merchandise, either by or without sample, including peddlers and hawkers, is an itinerant vender within the meaning of this act; provided, however, that this section shall not apply to wholesale dealers selling to dealers or merchants, nor shall it apply to any person or the representative of any person, company or corporation, doing business at a fixed place of business and taking orders for the future delivery of any goods, wares or merchandise, kept at or in connection with and handled through such fixed place of business, nor shall it apply to the sale of books, papers or school supplies or the sale of any fruits, vegetables, meats or other farm produce when sold by the grower or producer thereof.

(Section 2.) A "person, company or corporation doing business at a fixed place of business," within the meaning of this act, is any person, company or corporation who keeps, offers or exposes for sale to the general public, in a building of permanent nature any goods, wares or merchandise of any description; provided, however, that this definition must not be construed as including any person, company or corporation keeping any goods, wares or merchandise, or transacting any such business in any rented apartment or apartments, in any hotel, boarding-house, lodging-house, or private residence, or in any other building or structure not designated for or commonly used as a store or shop.

(Section 3.) Every person, company or corporation desiring to do business in any county in this state as an itinerant vender must, before commencing such business, obtain a license from the treasurer of such county, for which he shall pay as follows:

If such itinerant vender travels on foot and sells, offers or exhibits for sale only such goods, wares or merchandise as he carries upon his person, the sum of twelve dollars and fifty cents, ($12.50) per quarter.

If such itinerant vender travels or carries and sells, or offers or exhibits for sale any goods, wares, or merchandise, by any other mode than walking and carrying such goods, wares or merchandise upon his person, the sum of one hundred dollars, ($100) per quarter.

(Section 4.) Any person, company or corporation desiring to obtain a license under the provisions of this act must file with the county treasurer of each county in which he desires to do business an application in writing, subscribed and sworn to by such applicant before an officer in this state authorized to take oaths, which application shall set forth the name of the applicant, his residence and principal place of doing business, the business for which he asks the license; whether he is acting as principal, or as agent, and if acting as agent, the name and place of business of his principal, and such applicant must at the time of filing such application as above provided, pay to the county treasurer with whom such application is filed, the sum specified in section 3 hereof as a quarterly license for conducting and transacting such business.

(Section 5.) Upon filing of the application required by section 4 of this act, in proper form, and upon the payment to him of the sum required by section 3 of this act, the county treasurer shall issue to such applicant a license to carry on the business described in such application, in the county in which such license is so issued, for the period of three months from and after the first day of the month in which such license is so issued, which license shall be nontransferable, and shall have printed across the face thereof in large letters the word "Nontransferable."

The county treasurer shall indorse upon each application the date of issuance of the license, and shall file such application, with the county clerk and recorder of his county, who shall file the same and keep an appropriate index thereof, which shall show the date filed, the name of the applicant, his address and the business for which the license is issued, and an appropriate reference to the file number and the number of the file box in which said application may be found. Such index and such application shall be open to the inspection of any person during the regular office hours in the county clerk's office.

(Section 6.) Every such itinerant vender doing business under the provisions of this act must, upon demand of any citizen of this state, exhibit his license and permit the same to be then and there read by the citizen making such demand; and any such itinerant vender who shall willfully refuse or fail to exhibit his license as above provided is guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not less than ten dollars, ($10), nor more than twenty-five dollars, ($25) for each offense.

(Section 7.) Every itinerant vender as herein defined, doing business without first obtaining a license in any case where a license is required by this act, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished as provided in the Penal Code.

(Section 8.) Nothing in this act contained is intended to operate so as to interfere with the power of the Congress of the United States to regulate commerce between the states as such power is defined by the supreme court of the United States. [Approved March 6, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 110, p. 197.]

§ 2773. Licenses by Telephone, Telegraph, Electric and Gas Companies.

Every person, corporation or association doing business in this state as a telephone, telegraph or electric company must pay a license in each county where such business is transacted as follows:

Each gas and electric company doing business in cities of more than ten thousand population shall pay a license of two hundred dollars ($200) per year; in cities of five thousand and less than ten thousand population a license of one hundred ($100) dollars per year; in cities of less than five thousand a license of fifty dollars ($50) per year; and where such companies are consolidated such license shall be paid for each department.

Every telephone company doing business in cities of more than ten thousand population shall pay a license of four hundred dollars ($400) per year; in cities of more than five thousand and less than ten thousand population a license of two hundred dollars ($200) per year; and in cities of less than five thousand population a license of one hundred dollars ($100) per year.

Each telegraph company shall pay a license of five dollars ($5) per quarter for each instrument in use.

Every person, company or corporation selling water in incorporated cities of more than ten thousand population shall pay a license of four hundred dollars ($400) per year; in cities of more than five thousand and less than ten thousand population shall pay a license of two hundred dollars ($200) per year; and in cities of less than five thousand population shall pay a license of one hundred dollars ($100) per year; and in towns fifty dollars ($50) per year, and where such companies are consolidated such license shall be paid for each department; provided, however, that no license shall be exacted from any person, company, or corporation selling water by delivery in packages, cans, bottles, barrels or otherwise than by pipes, conduits, ditches or canals. [Amendment approved March 1, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 124.]

The first paragraph of this section is not violative of the state Constitution, nor is it repugnant to the interstate commerce clause of the federal Constitution. State v. Hammond Packing Co., 45 Mont. 343, 354, 123 Pac. 407.

This section is not unconstitutional; the classification is reasonable and does not offend the equal protection clause of the fourteenth amendment; a state may restrict the manufacture of oleomargarine, or even forbid its manufacture altogether, and may carry out its policy in a revenue law as well as in a police law. Hammond Packing Co. v. State of Montana, 233 U. S. 331, 58 L. Ed. 985, 34 Sup. Ct. Rep. 596; affirming 45 Mont. 343, 123 Pac. 407.

If a state deems it advisable to put a lighter burden upon women than upon men with regard to an employment commonly regarded, by our people, as more appropriate for the former, the fourteenth amendment to the federal Constitution does not interfere by creating a fictitious equality where there is a real difference; the particular points at which that difference shall be emphasized by legislation are largely in the power of the state. Quong Wing v. Kirkendall, 39 Mont. 64, 101 Pac. 250; affirmed in 223 U. S. 59, 63, 56 L. Ed. 350, 32 Sup. Ct. Rep. 192.

Assuming that this section classifies laundries for license purposes, into steam laundries and laundries operated by hand, such classification is not arbitrary or unwarrantable. Quong Wing v. Kirkendall, 39 Mont. 64, 68, 101 Pac. 250; affirmed in 223 U. S. 59, 63, 56 L. Ed. 350, 32 Sup. Ct. Rep. 192.

This section is not unconstitutional because of the exemption from its operation of women engaged in the laundry business, where not more than two are employed or kept at work; the difference in the sexes justifies a difference in legislation. Quong Wing v. Kirkendall, 39 Mont. 64, 72, 101 Pac. 250; affirmed in 223 U. S. 59, 63, 56 L. Ed. 350, 32 Sup. Ct. Rep. 192.

When a controversy presents a federal question, the judgment of the supreme court of the United States as to it is conclusive upon a state supreme court. Quong Wing v. Kirkendall, 47 Mont. 16, 130 Pac. 2.

§ 2780a. License on Sleeping-car Company.

Every person, association or corporation engaged in the business of operating sleeping-cars carrying passengers from one point to another within the state of Montana shall pay into the state treasury, on or before the first day of January of each year, a license tax of one hundred dollars for each car used by it in the conduct of such business.

Every such person, association or corporation shall annually, on the 31st day of December of each year, file in the office of the state treasurer a statement of the number of such cars used by it during the year preceding in the conduct of such business and the names of such cars, as far as the same have names, which statement shall be verified by the oath of some officer of the corporation, testifying of his own knowledge as to the facts therein stated. [Approved March 11, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 141, p. 424.]

§ 2780b. Moving Picture Shows—Amount of License.

No license shall be required for the operation or exhibition of moving picture shows in any city, town or village where the population does not exceed one thousand five hundred. In all other cities the license shall be $25 per year. [Approved March 13, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 81, p. 344.]

§ 2780g. Places Where County Shall not Grant Licenses—Hotels.

(Section 2.) From and after December 31, 1915, it shall be unlawful for any county in this state to issue a license to any retail liquor dealer, that is, a person who sells spirituous, malt or fermented liquor or wine in less quantity than one quart, in any place having a population of less than fifty (50) inhabitants who are bona fide residents for at least six months within a radius of one-quarter ($\frac{1}{4}$) mile of the location of the license; provided, that the county treasurer shall refund the unexpired portion of such licenses bearing an expiration date later than December 31, 1915; and further provided, that this section shall not apply to hotels, regularly operated as such, where such hotels have twenty (20) or more sleeping-rooms. [Approved March 5, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 87, p. 113.]

§ 2780h. Effect of Act on Persons Now Licensed—Transfer of Licenses.

(Section 3.) This act [§§ 2780a-2780f herein], in so far as it limits the issuance of licenses for the sale, or the offering for sale, of spirituous, malt or fermented liquors, or wine, in less quantity than one quart, shall not affect any person, company or corporation now regularly licensed, nor the party to whom such license may be transferred, to sell or offer for sale any spirituous, malt or fermented liquors, or wine, in quantities of less than one quart, or the reissuance or transfer of a license to such person, in accordance with the existing laws upon this subject, except in places where the inhabitants are less than fifty (50) as described in section 2 of this act. [Approved March 5, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 87, p. 113.]

§ 2780i. Licenses for Places not Within Incorporated City or Town—Proceedings to Obtain.

(Section 4.) Every person who desires to engage in the business of a retail liquor dealer, that is, a person who sells spirituous, malt or fermented liquor or wine in less quantity than one quart, in any place not within the corporate limits of an incorporated city or town, must obtain a license from the county treasurer. Before the county treasurer shall issue such new license to the person making application for the same as a new license, in any place not within the corporate limits of an incorporated city or town, a petition shall first be filed and presented to the board of county commissioners of the county in which such person intends to engage in business, signed by at least twenty (20) freeholders, resident outside of the corporate limits of any incorporated city or town, and within a radius of five (5) miles of a proposed location of the license, said petition to be a request for the issuance of such license to the person, firm or corporation presenting the same. Upon the filing of such a petition with the board of county commissioners, they must set the same down for hearing for a time within thirty (30) days, and cause notice of such hearing to be given by having notices posted, for at least ten (10) days, in at least three (3) public places within the five (5) mile radius before described. Upon the day fixed in the notice for the consideration of the petition, the county commissioners shall meet and determine the sufficiency of the petition, and whether or not the license shall be issued. If a protest is filed against the issuance of such a license, signed by at least twenty (20) freeholders resident outside of the corporate limits of any incorporated city or town within a radius of five (5) miles of the proposed location of the license, the county commissioners shall proceed to hear the matter upon the petition and protest, and, if necessary, appoint a further day for the hearing of the petition for a license and protest, and after such hearing determine, in their discretion, whether or not such license shall be issued. From the decision of the board of county commissioners the applicant for license whether a protest be filed or not, or the protestants against the issuance thereof, may appeal to the district court of said county, within thirty (30) days after the decision of the board of county commissioners. The appeal shall be taken and heard in the same manner as appeals from the justice courts to the district court, and the same shall be determined without delay. [Approved March 5, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 87, p. 114.]

§ 2780j. Renewal of License and Proceedings Therefor.

(Section 5.) Whenever the holder of a retail liquor license, as herein defined, shall desire a renewal thereof to conduct such retail liquor business in the same location, not within the corporate limits of an incorporated city or town, the county treasurer shall issue such license without requiring a petition therefor, unless he shall receive an order from the county commissioners to notify the applicant that a new petition will be required, in which event the applicant for renewal must petition for the same, as required in section 4 of this act, and to all intents and purposes as though it were an application for a new license; and further provided, that it shall be subject to the same conditions and procedure as to a protest thereon as is provided for protests against the issuance or reissuance of a license. The applicant for renewal under this section shall be permitted to continue in business pending a final determination of his application, unless for good cause shown, and upon the complaint of the county attorney or sheriff, it shall appear to the best interests of the community involved to close the applicant's place of business, pending the final determination of the application, in which event the county commissioners may so order it. And upon the final hearing of the application, or application and protest, it shall be discretionary with the board to grant such a renewal of license or refuse the same. From the decision of the board of county commissioners, the holder of a license, or the protestants against the issuance thereof, may appeal to the district court of said county within thirty (30) days after the decision of the board of county commissioners. The appeal shall be taken and heard in the same manner as provided in the section foregoing. In case the board of county commissioners decide that such license may be reissued by the county treasurer, he shall reissue the same, and it shall be in force and effect until the decision of the board of county commissioners is reversed by the action of the district court to which said appeal is taken. In every case where a protest is filed the board of county commissioners shall, if possible, hear and determine the same, before the date of the expiration of the license, the issuance of which is protested against; provided, that nothing in sections 4 and 5 of this act shall be construed as affecting any pending applications for, or protests against the issuance of any license under the provisions of existing laws. [Approved March 5, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 87, p. 114.]

§ 2780k. Violation Law—Punishment—Second Conviction.

(Section 6.) That upon the conviction of any person engaged in the business of a retail liquor dealer, that is, a person who sells spirituous, malt or fermented liquor or wine in less quantity than one quart, for a penal offense against the laws of the state of Montana, occurring in the place of business of such person, and relating to such business, such person shall be punishable in accordance with existing laws upon the subject, and as hereinafter provided.

That upon a second conviction of any person engaged in the business of a retail liquor dealer, that is, a person who sells spirituous, malt or fermented liquor or wine in less quantity than one quart, for a penal offense against the laws of the state of Montana, occurring in the place of business of such person, and relating to such business, the license of such person, company or corporation, so convicted, shall be suspended by virtue of second conviction, and such person, company or corporation shall not be entitled to obtain or hold, in his name, or the name of any other person, company or corporation, any license for the sale of any spirituous, malt or fermented liquor, or wine, at retail for a period of three (3) months after such conviction; and upon a third conviction shall not be entitled to any license for the sale of spirituous, malt or fermented liquor, or wine at retail, within the state of Montana.

(Section 7.) All acts and parts of acts in conflict herewith are hereby repealed. [Approved March 5, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 87, p. 115.]

The following decisions have been rendered by the supreme court in construing Chapter 35 of Laws of 1913:

The appeal of persons who have filed the formal protest against the application for license to sell liquor at retail, when such protest has been overruled by the board, cannot be instituted by filing a notice of appeal with the clerk of the court that is to review the case. State v. District Court, 48 Mont. 477, 478 et seq., 138 Pac. 1100.

The act of 1911, Chapter 92, which in effect amended section 2760, of the Revised Codes, was itself amended by this act, not touching, however, the question of the authority of the county treasurer to write into the license a limitation upon the applicant to sell only at wholesale. State ex rel. Frost v. Barnett, 49 Mont. 252, 257, 141 Pac. 287.

The theory upon which the statute proceeds is that the question whether a license shall issue for the conduct of the saloon business in any unincorporated place is one which primarily concerns the immediate community. State ex rel. More v. District Court, 49 Mont. 578 et seq., 143 Pac. 1193.

§ 2781m. Limitation on Right of Social Clubs to Dispose of Liquors—Penalty for Violation of Law.

(Section 1.) From and after the passage of this act, it shall be unlawful for any club organized for social or literary purposes whether incorporated or unincorporated, to barter, sell, give away or dispose of in any manner, either to members of such social club, members' guests, or to any other person, any intoxicating liquors or beverages of any kind or character; provided, that this shall not be construed as prohibiting not to exceed one such incorporated social club for every three thousand inhabitants located within the jurisdiction of an incorporated city or town from selling and disposing of liquors and beverages, to its members only, under the same regulations and restrictions other than license fees as are now or may hereafter be provided by the laws of the state of Montana and provided further that not to exceed eight such clubs shall be permitted in any city or town within the state of Montana, provided that this act shall not affect social clubs in incorporated cities or towns now organized and in existence, in which intoxicating liquors and beverages are disposed of to members of such social club, upon any such social club complying with the provisions of this act.

(Section 2.) Before any such club shall be entitled to barter, sell, give away or dispose of any intoxicating liquors to the members, members' guests, or to any other person, they shall obtain a permit from the city or town council, which permit shall be kept in a conspicuous place at all times. The city or town council shall have full power within their discretion to grant or refuse permits to any such club.

If the city or town council deem it for the best interest, upon it being made to appear to them that any club now in existence, or hereafter organized is not a bona fide club or association and that any club is a society or association organized to evade the law relating to liquor licenses, such permit shall be revoked and annulled by a majority of the city or town council. Whenever any permit is revoked the city or town clerk shall in writing, by registered mail, notify the holders of such permit and thereafter such permit shall be void and of no effect.

(Section 3.) Any person or persons who shall barter, sell, or give away, any intoxicating liquors or beverages or who shall conduct any room or place where intoxicating liquors are kept or disposed of, as such social club, other than as herein provided, shall upon conviction be fined in the sum of not less than twenty-five dollars ($25) nor more than three hundred dollars ($300). [Approved March 5, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 80, p. 106.]

A legislative enactment for the creation of a new county, provided it is in form sufficient to designate the boundaries of the county proposed and provide for its organization and government, is not on its face defective or uncertain so that it cannot be carried into practice. State ex rel. Gregg v. Erickson, 39 Mont. 280, 102 Pac. 336.

Any contention that the act, in providing for an election to determine the location of a county seat for the new county, violates the constitutional doctrine that "the legislature shall not pass local or special laws . . . locating or changing county seats," has no bearing, since the provision does not relate to a county seat already located or to a county already fully created. State ex rel. Geiger v. Long, 43 Mont. 401, 408, 117 Pac. 104.

§ 2851. Removal of County Seat.

Whenever the inhabitants of any county of the state desire to remove the county seat of the county from the place where it is fixed by law or otherwise to another place, they may present a petition to the board of county commissioners of their county, praying such removal, such place to be named in the petition and that an election be held to determine whether or not such removal must be made. The city or town named in said petition as the place to which the county seat is to be removed, must, at the time of the presentation of the said petition, have been an incorporated city or town for at least one year. The official duty devolving upon the commissioners under this section is presumed to have been regularly performed; it is presumed that the board compared the names signed to the petition with the poll-books of the "last election." State v. Board of Commissioners, 42 Mont. 62, 77, 111 Pac. 144.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

§ 2883. County Commissioners—Vacancy in Office—Term of Appointee.

Whenever a vacancy occurs in the board of county commissioners from a failure to elect or otherwise, the district judge or judges in whose district the vacancy occurs must fill the vacancy by appointing some qualified elector of the county in which the vacancy occurs, and such appointee shall hold office until the first Monday in January next after a general election, and until his successor is elected and qualified.

And any county office that is filled by appointment, the appointee shall hold office until the first Monday in January next after a general election, and until his successor is elected and qualified. [Amendment approved January 31, 1913, Laws 1913, p. 4.]

A judge of the district court has power, under the Constitution and by virtue of this section, as amended in 1913, to fill a vacancy in the board of county commissioners; but, in doing so, the act, though done by a judicial officer, is executive or ministerial in character, and, under section 7203, cannot be reviewed by certiorari, which is limited to reviewing acts of a judicial nature. State (ex rel. Downen) v. District Court, 50 Mont. 249, 146 Pac. 467.

That portion of this section, authorizing an appointment for the unexpired term of a county commissioner is invalid, if such unexpired term extends beyond the first Monday in January next succeeding a general election. State v. Sedgwick, 46 Mont. 187, 193, 127 Pac. 94.

The statute was intended to supplant section 2966 of the Revised Codes, whereby all vacancies in county and township officers except county commissioners were to be filled by appointment made by the county commissioners, the appointees to hold until the vacancies should be filled by election. State ex rel. Roe v. Kehoe, 49 Mont. 582, 586 et seq., 144 Pac. 162.

The power to fill a vacancy in the office of county commissioner is conferred by the Constitution upon the district court of the county. (Const., art. XVI, sec. 4, and the statutory provisions enacted in pursuance of it, to wit, Rev. Codes, sec. 2883, and the act here under consideration.) The power need not be invoked, however, by petition or complaint, and its exercise does not depend upon facts found judicially. The appointing power pronounces no decree and adjudicates no rights. State ex rel. Downen v. District Court, 50 Mont. 251, 146 Pac. 249.

Where a special meeting is called for the purpose, among other things, of doing "all necessary things in connection with the advertising and sale of" proposed bonds, and the board adopts a formal resolution directing the bonds to issue, the debentures are not void because the call did not specifically state that one of the purposes of the meeting was the making of an order directing them to issue; such purpose was included in the general purpose of the meeting. Morse v. Granite County, 44 Mont. 78, 94, 119 Pac. 286.

§ 2891. Regular Meetings—Extra Sessions.

The board of county commissioners, except as may otherwise be required of them, may meet at the county seat of their respective counties on the first Monday of each and every month of the year, for the purpose of allowing bills and attending to any other business that may regularly come before them, and may sit not exceeding three (3) days at each session, except the December session, at which time they may sit not exceeding eight (8) days. But the board may at any time, by giving at least five (5) days' public notice, hold an extra session of not over three (3) days' duration; provided, that the limitations as to the time of sessions of the board of county commissioners contained in this section shall not apply to counties of the first, second, third or fourth classes. The eighth subdivision of this section, relative to the manner of purchasing real estate, applies to a bridge; it is real estate. State v. Board of Commissioners, 49 Mont. 517, 523, 143 Pac. 984.

Article IV of the Political Code of 1895, referred to in the last subdivision of this section, is included in sections 2933-2938, post. Morse v. Granite County, 44 Mont. 78, 89, 119 Pac. 286.

Under this section, a board of county commissioners is empowered to change the boundaries of a township, or to abolish it altogether, but a due regard for other provisions of the code requires that such authority be exercised with the limitation that there shall always be at least two townships in every county. State v. Cronin, 41 Mont. 293, 109 Pac. 144.

The board of county commissioners cannot limit the number of townships in a county to one; if it had power to do so, it could nullify the provisions of section 9589, post. State v. Cronin, 41 Mont. 293, 109 Pac. 144.

A board of county commissioners, the executive body of a county, is one of limited powers and must, in every instance, justify its action by reference to the provisions of law defining and limiting these powers. Morse v. Granite County, 44 Mont. 78, 79, 119 Pac. 286.

A contract made by a board of county commissioners, a few weeks before the expiration of its term of office, for county printing for the two succeeding years, is valid in the absence of fraud or bad faith. Picket Pub. Co. v. County Commissioners, 36 Mont. 188, 122 Am. St. Rep. 352, 12 Ann. Cas. 986, 13 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1115, 92 Pac. 524.

§ 2894a. Validation of Sales Made Under Subdivision 10 of Section 2894.

That all sales heretofore made of real property owned in fee simple by any county in this state, by the board of county commissioners of any county, the validity of which may be in doubt or involved by reason of the failure of the board of county commissioners to comply with the provisions of subdivision 10 of section 2894 of the Revised Codes of the state of Montana, are hereby legalized and declared to be valid and binding sales, and all deeds or conveyances heretofore executed by any board of county commissioners or by its chairman duly authorized by said board, for and on behalf of any county, transferring and conveying any such real property so sold, are hereby legalized and declared to be valid, and vesting the title of the property so conveyed in the purchaser named in such conveyance, in fee simple. [Approved March 15, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 103, p. 440.]

§ 2894b. Validation of Warrants and Bonds for Construction of Highways and Bridges.

All warrants which have been issued by any county of the state, under authority of the board of county commissioners of the county, for the purpose of paying for the construction of public highways and public highway bridges, and not in excess of the constitutional limit of indebtedness, are hereby legalized and declared to be valid and binding obligations of the respective counties issuing the same; and all bonds issued or sold by the board of county commissioners of the county, pursuant to an election held for the purpose of authorizing an issue of bonds for the purpose of constructing public highways and public highway bridges, and not in excess of the constitutional limit of indebtedness, are hereby legalized and declared to be valid. [Approved March 4, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 95, p. 164.]

A county is a body corporate. See ante, § 2870.

A school district is a body corporate. See ante, § 848.

The requirement of this section, that counties must have their public printing done within the state, is not unconstitutional; it is not a local nor a special law; neither is there any deprivation of property without due process of law nor a regulation of interstate commerce. Her-

COUNTY FINANCES.

§ 2905. Refunding Bonds.

The board of county commissioners of any county is hereby vested with the power and authority to issue and negotiate on the credit of the county, coupon bonds to an amount sufficient to enable the county to redeem all legal outstanding bonds, warrants or orders; or for the purchase of necessary public building sites, and for the construction of necessary public buildings, public highways and bridges, and for the ordinary and necessary expenses of the county authorized by the general laws of this state, and also for the purpose of enabling any county to liquidate its indebtedness to another county incident to the creation of a new county, or the change of any county boundary lines, not exceeding in the aggregate, including outstanding bonded indebtedness, five (5%) of the value of the taxable property within such county to be ascertained by the last assessment for state and county taxes previous to issuing such bonds. Such bonds are redeemable and payable at such time not longer than twenty (20) years after the date thereof, as the board determines, and the interest which such bonds bear must be fixed by the board not exceeding six (6%) per cent per annum, and be represented by interest coupons payable semi-annually on the first days of January and July of each year. [Amendment approved February 26, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 47.]

Finding of amount necessary for erection of courthouse includes incidentals. See post, § 2934.

This section authorizes the county commissioners to issue bonds for the purchase of necessary building sites, and for the construction of necessary public buildings; and the interest, not exceeding six per cent, must be made payable on the first days of January and July of each year. Morse v. Granite County, 44 Mont. 78, 92, 119 Pac. 286.

Form of bond need not be adopted prior to advertisement. See note post, § 2907.

When the board of county commissioners issues any bonds, it is the duty of the board to sell the same and give notice by advertisement of the time of sale, but there is nothing in the law which requires the form of bonds to be adopted prior to the advertisement; it is not necessary to give the form of the bonds in the advertisement, or even a description thereof. Reid v. Lincoln County, 46 Mont. 31, 61, 125 Pac. 429.

§ 2907. Notice of Sale to be Published.

When the board issues any bonds authorized by this article it is its duty to sell the same and give notice by advertisement in some newspaper published in the county, or if there be no newspaper published in the county then in any newspaper published in an adjoining county for a period of not less than thirty (30) days prior to the time said bonds are to be sold; such advertisement must be for sealed proposals, which must state the amount of such bonds offered for sale and the person offering the highest price therefor in conformity with the requirements of the notice of sale is entitled to receive the amount of such bonds which he offers to buy; but no bonds must be sold for any price less than the par value thereof; provided however, that the board may effect an exchange of such county bonds to take up its legal outstanding indebtedness or issue same to meet its obligation to another county incident to the creation of a new county, change of county boundary, or on county division, without publishing the notice herein provided for. [Amendment approved February 26, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 48.]

§ 2908. Disposition of Proceeds of Sale of Bonds.

The proceeds derived from the sale of bonds authorized to be issued by this article must be paid into the county treasury and must be applied to the payment of the legal bonds, warrants or orders of the county which may be outstanding or unpaid in the order in which said bonds, warrants or orders become due, or applied in liquidation of its indebtedness incident to the creation of a new county, county division, or change of county boundary lines. But the board may at any lawful meeting provide by resolution for the exchange of any bonds issued under the provisions of this article to take up any outstanding county bonds then due and subject to payment and in order to redeem and pay any legal county warrants or orders of the county issued prior to a day to be fixed by the board and entered of record in the minutes of its proceedings. In the making of such exchange by the issuance and delivery of bonds to take up any such legal outstanding indebtedness of the county the board is vested with judgment and discretion to issue such bonds in such manner as may appear to the advantage and benefit of the county and is hereby authorized to issue and deliver same in such manner and upon such terms as are deemed for the best interest and advantage of the county. The exchange when made must be made dollar for dollar with accrued interest thereon. And the board may advertise the privilege to so exchange bonds then due and warrants and orders of the county issued prior to the day so fixed in some newspaper printed and published in the county or if there be no newspaper published in the county then in a newspaper published in an adjoining county for such period as the board may designate, in the event that the board shall determine it to be to the best interest and advantage of the county to delay proceedings respecting the proposed liquidation of outstanding indebtedness until such publication has been made. The board is also authorized upon the same conditions and restrictions herein prescribed to issue such bonds against the county in order to liquidate any indebtedness which may be occasioned because of the creation of a new county, county division or change of county boundary lines. The board of county commissioners of their respective counties may appropriate out of the general fund of the county treasury, to any county fair association, agricultural or horticultural society, holding an annual fair each year in such county, in the sum not to exceed two thousand five hundred ($2,500) dollars for any one year. Such county fairs, if held, must be held between the first day of July and the first day of November, provided, however, that any moneys so appropriated shall not be expended for horse-racing, contests of speed of any kind, or for any shows or amusements whatsoever. [Amendment approved February 16, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 49.]

§ 2931a. Acquisition of County Fair Grounds.

(Section 1.) The board of county commissioners of any county in the state of Montana, may purchase, receive by donation, and own or hold, a tract of land in their respective county not exceeding one hundred and sixty (160) acres, as county fair grounds, which land may be used by any county fair association, agricultural or horticultural exhibition for the purpose of promoting the interest of agriculture, horticulture and stock-raising.

(Section 2.) The board of county commissioners who shall avail themselves of the provisions of the foregoing section, may purchase, erect, construct and maintain permanent improvements on such county fair grounds. [Approved February 16, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 30, p. 49.]

On appeal from an order refusing an injunction pendente lite, a transcript must be filed as a copy of the record upon which

§ 2932a. Tax Levy for County Fairs.

The board of county commissioners in any county in Montana shall have the power to levy an ad valorem tax of one mill or less, on each dollar of taxable property in such county for the purpose of securing, equipping and maintaining a county fair, including the purchase of land for such purpose. The funds derived from such tax shall be kept in a separate fund by the county treasurer, and shall be paid out in the regular way for the purposes specified in section 1 of this act. [Approved March 18, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 124, p. 473.]

§ 2933.

Sections 2933-2938, include article IV, of Political Code of 1895. Morse v. Granite County, 44 Mont. 78, 89, 119 Pac. 286.

Different sections of the code, enacted at the same time, each dealing with a different particular of the mode prescribed for the negotiation of loans by counties, must be so construed, if possible, as to render them harmonious with each other. Morse v. Granite County, 44 Mont. 78, 96, 119 Pac. 286.

In view of article XIII, section 5, of the Constitution, and of this section and of section 2937, post, the approval of a majority of the electors voting at an election to determine whether a proposed indebtedness shall be incurred, is sufficient to legalize a bond issue. Morse v. Granite County, 44 Mont. 78, 96, 119 Pac. 286.

Power to issue bonds, and interest. See note ante, § 2905.

Where the commissioners have determined the amount necessary for the general purpose of a proposed bond issue, such as the erection of a courthouse, it is not required of them, before submitting the question to a vote, to ascertain the cost of a suitable site for the building, nor that of the necessary furnishings; these are matters incident to and necessarily included in the principal purpose. Morse v. Granite County, 44 Mont. 78, 91, 119 Pac. 286.

A "ferry" is a mere incident or movable portion of a highway that crosses a stream. Reid v. Lincoln County, 46 Mont. 31, 58, 125 Pac. 429.

A constitutional restriction that a board of county commissioners shall not incur any indebtedness or liability, above a designated amount, for a single purpose, is a limitation upon the authority of the board; it has no reference to the power of the people. Reid v. Lincoln County, 46 Mont. 31, 57, 125 Pac. 429.

If a special election is called to vote upon the question of issuing bonds to create a highway system, including bridges and free ferries, the order for the election and notice thereof are valid, where the general purpose of the election, and the amount of money necessary to accomplish it, is clearly stated; it is not necessary to give details, such as the particular branch roads or ferries to be constructed; the people may rely on the judgment and discretion of the county commissioners as to details of the scheme. Reid v. Lincoln County, 46 Mont. 31, 60, 125 Pac. 429.

§ 2938.

In a special election to vote upon the question of issuing bonds to create a highway system, the ballot is sufficient where it recites that the issue is the bonding of the county, in a designated amount, to provide funds for a system of highways, bridges and free ferries, such bonds to be redeemable in fifteen years and payable in twenty years, and to bear interest, etc.; the ballot is sufficient where it substantially follows the directions of the statute; it is not necessary to state therein the course, termini or exact location of the proposed highway, or the number or location of the proposed bridges and ferries; the fundamental and initial question to be determined in all cases is whether the people are willing to authorize the commissioners to spend a definite amount of money for a certain public improvement. Reid v. Lincoln County, 46 Mont. 31, 59, 125 Pac. 429.

§ 2946a. Payment of Claims by County Commissioners of First Class.

The board of county commissioners in any county of the first class may, in its discretion, allow any claims for services rendered, or labor performed, for or on behalf of the county by any person at the request of any county officer, whether or not such county officer was empowered, or authorized to secure, obtain or contract for the rendition of any such service rendered or labor performed, where the person holding such claim has presented the same in due time in the manner provided by law, prior to the passage of this act; provided that such claims shall not exceed the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars for any one year. § 3003. Deposit of Public Funds by County Treasurer.

It shall be the duty of the county treasurer to deposit all public moneys in his possession and under his control, excepting such as may be required for current business, in any solvent bank or banks located in his county subject to national supervision or state examination, as the board of county commissioners shall designate and no other, and the sums so deposited shall bear interest at the rate of two and one-half (2½) per centum per annum payable quarterly annually. The treasurer shall take from such banks such security in public bonds or other securities, or indemnity bonds, as the board of county commissioners of such county may prescribe, approve and deem fully sufficient and necessary to insure the safety and prompt payment of all such deposits on demand.

When more than one such bank be available in any county such deposits shall be distributed ratably among all such banks qualifying therefor, substantially in proportion to the paid in capital of each such bank willing to receive such deposits under the terms of this act, and it shall be the duty of the county treasurer to prorate all such deposits among all the banks in his county qualified to receive same as in this act provided, to the end that an equitable distribution of such deposits be maintained. If no such bank exists in the county, or if any bank or banks existing therein fails or refuses to qualify under the terms of this act to receive such deposits, then and in such case, or in either of such cases, such moneys or any portion thereof shall be deposited under the terms of this act in the bank or banks most convenient to such county willing to accept such deposits under the terms of this act, and qualified as above provided. Any bank or banks receiving such deposits shall, through its president and cashier make a statement quarter annually of account under oath, showing all such moneys that have been deposited with such bank during the quarter, the amount of daily balances in dollars, and the amount of interest by such bank or banks credited or paid therefor, and showing that neither such bank, nor any officer thereof, nor any person for it, has paid or given any consideration or emolument whatsoever to the treasurer or to any other person other than the interest provided for herein, for or on account of the making of such deposits with any such bank. All such deposits shall be subject to withdrawal by the treasurer in such amounts as may be necessary from time to time, and no deposit of funds shall be made, or permitted to remain, in any bank until the security for such deposits shall have been first approved by the board of county commissioners and delivered to the treasurer. All interest paid and collected on such deposits shall be credited to the general fund of the county. Where moneys shall have been deposited in accordance with the provisions of this act, the treasurer shall not be liable for loss on account of any such deposit that may occur through damage by the elements or for any other cause or reason occasioned through means other than his own neglect, fraud, or dishonorable conduct. [Amendment approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 389.]

If a county treasurer keeps county money on general deposit with a bank, the fact that a part of it is properly secured does not affect the status of county money kept on deposit in this bank, without security and in violation of law. Yellowstone County v. First Trust & Sav. Bank, 46 Mont. 439, 449, 128 Pac. 596.

The illegal act of a county treasurer, in permitting county funds to remain on general deposit with a bank, without the security required by law, cannot be ratified by the county; because the only way in which it can speak is through the legislature. Yellowstone County v. First Trust & Sav. Bank, 46 Mont. 439, 449, 128 Pac. 596.

Under this section, when county moneys are on general deposit in a bank, a bond in double the amount must be given to secure the county; and, when a bond is so given, the money so secured becomes the funds of the bank, to be commingled with its other funds and assets, and the county becomes a general creditor of the bank, with the status of such creditor. Yellowstone County v. First Trust & Sav. Bank, 46 Mont. 439, 449, 128 Pac. 596.

The clause in this section, requiring double indemnity from a bank in which a county treasurer purposes to make a general deposit of county funds, applies not only to bonds furnished by individuals but to foreign surety bonds as well; in either case, the bond is required to be in double the amount of the county funds deposited. Yellowstone County v. First Trust & Sav. Bank, 46 Mont. 439, 448, 128 Pac. 596.

If a county treasurer keeps county moneys on general deposit in a bank, a part of which is secured by a bond in double the amount, his act in leaving the remainder there without the security required by law is denounced by section 8592, post, as a felony. Yellowstone County v. First Trust & Sav. Bank, 46 Mont. 439, 449, 128 Pac. 596.

If a bond is given to secure county funds already on deposit with a bank, there is, in legal effect, a redeposit of the amount thus secured, and neither the validity nor the sufficiency of the bond is impaired by the wrongful act of the county treasurer in keeping on deposit, with that bank, county moneys in excess of that sum. Yellowstone County v. First Trust & Sav. Bank, 46 Mont. 439, 449, 128 Pac. 596.

If a county treasurer keeps county money on general deposit with a bank, a part of which is properly secured, the treasurer and the officers of the bank are chargeable with the money not secured; and, as to such money, the bank is a trustee ex maleficio for the use and benefit of the county. Yellowstone County v. First Trust & Sav. Bank, 46 Mont. 439, 450, 128 Pac. 596.

If a treasurer deposits county moneys in a bank without exacting the required security, it is no defense to a suit by the county to have the bank declared a trustee ex maleficio of such moneys for its benefit, and to be decreed entitled to preference in the distribution of the assets of the bank, then in the hands of a receiver, that the treasurer was following a custom established by his predecessor. Yellowstone County v. First Trust & Sav. Bank, 46 Mont. 439, 451, 128 Pac. 596.

§ 3008a. County Treasurers to Accept Money from Mortgagors for Payment of Taxes or Redemption from Tax Sale.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Montana:

That whenever any person or corporation shall desire to redeem from a tax sale, or to pay any tax upon any lot, piece or parcel of real estate which said person or corporation shall own or hold a mortgage or other lien against it shall be the duty of the county treasurer of the county in which such real estate is situated, to permit such redemption or payment; and in case the said real estate shall have been assessed or sold, together with other real estate, or in case the tax assessed against any other property shall be a lien thereon, then it shall be the duty of the said county treasurer to compute and apportion the tax that should have properly been assessed against the said real estate sought to be redeemed, or upon which the taxes are sought to be paid, if the same had been separately assessed, any personal tax which is a lien upon said real estate shall be likewise computed and apportioned, and upon the payment of the amount so ascertained by said computation and apportionment, to the said county treasurer, such real estate shall be discharged from the lien of all taxes levied and assessed against the same for the year in which the payment or redemption was made. § 3092a. Public Administrator—Statements Concerning Property of Decedent.

(Section 1.) Whenever any person dies in any county of this state, and no administrator has been appointed to take charge of his estate, the public administrator of such county, prior to the issuance of letters of administration to him, shall have authority to make a written demand upon any person, firm, bank or corporation, which he believes holds or has in their possession or control any money, evidence of indebtedness, or other personal property, or which owes to such deceased person any money, to furnish to him a written statement, under oath, showing the amount of money, or the evidence of indebtedness, or personal property of such deceased person held by them, fully describing the same, and the total sums of money, if any, due from them to such deceased person. Deputy clerk district court, not to exceed, one thousand, two hundred dollars. [Amendment approved March 9, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 374.]

§ 3118a. Compensation of Under-sheriffs in Counties of First Class.

The salary and compensation of under-sheriffs in counties of the first class shall be two thousand four hundred ($2,400) dollars per annum, payable in monthly installments of two hundred ($200) dollars per month. [Approved February 18, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 35, p. 65.]

§ 3119. Number of Deputy Sheriffs and County Clerks.

The whole number of deputies allowed the county clerk in counties of the first and second class must not exceed six; in counties of the third class, three; in counties of the fourth and fifth class, two; in counties of the sixth, seventh and eighth class, one. The whole number of deputies allowed the clerk of the district court in counties of the first and second class must not exceed one chief deputy and deputies to the number of six; in counties of the third and fourth class having more than one district judge, four; in counties of the third and fourth class having one district judge, two; in counties of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth class, one. The whole number of deputies allowed the sheriff is one under-sheriff, and in addition not to exceed the following number of deputies: In counties of the first and second class, six; in counties of the third and fourth class, two; in counties of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth class, one. The sheriff in counties of the first, second and third class may appoint two deputies; in the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth class, one deputy, who shall act as jailer at a salary not to exceed ninety dollars ($90) per month. [Amendment approved March 8, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 167. Prior amendment: Laws 1909, p. 123.]

§ 3119a. County Clerk—Chief Deputy.

The county clerk in counties of the first class may designate one of his deputy clerks as chief deputy clerk who shall receive a salary of eighteen hundred ($1800) dollars per annum. [Approved March 3, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 53, p. 60.]

§ 3119b. Hours of Work for Jailers.

From and after the first day of April, 1909, eight hours shall constitute a day's work for jailers in counties of the first, second and third classes, except in cases of emergency and when the peace and safety of the community require that such jailers work for a longer period than eight hours in any twenty-four. [Approved March 5, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 93, p. 123.]

Prior to this act, which amends section 3119, Revised Codes, in the one particular, that section provided that in a county of the third class the sheriff could appoint two deputies, who shall act as jailers "at a salary not to exceed ninety dollars per month" for each; the amendment substituted, for the words above quoted, "and receive the same salary as other deputy sheriffs." State ex rel. Hay v. Hindson, 40 Mont. 353, 106 Pac. 362.

Effect of amendment of statutes. See note ante, § 119.

If two acts are passed by the legislature at the same session, both amending the same statute and neither referring to the other, both must be given effect, unless their provisions are irreconcilable; applied to acts amending this section. State v. Hindson, 40 Mont. 353, 358, 106 Pac. 362.

The amendment of 1909 substitutes "four" for "three"; and as so amended the section allows the clerk of the district court, in a county of the third class having more than one district judge, four deputies. State v. Hindson, 40 Mont. 353, 106 Pac. 362.

§ 3123.

The amendment of 1905 to section 4597 of the Political Code, providing among other things that the sheriff in a third-class county "may appoint two deputies . . . who shall act as jailers," does not create a new class of deputies, or lodge in the sheriff, exclusively, the power of appointment without the consent of the county commissioners, but simply increases the maximum number he may appoint, subject to the approval of the commissioners. Hogan v. Cascade County, 36 Mont. 183, 92 Pac. 529.

§ 3134. Deputy County Attorneys.

County attorneys of counties of the first and second classes shall have the power and authority to name and appoint the deputies provided for in section 3128 of the Revised Codes of Montana of 1907, and to revoke their said appointments, except that the county attorney of every third class county, may appoint one deputy, whose salary is hereby fixed at fifteen hundred dollars ($1500) per annum. [Amendment approved March 9, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 376. Prior amendment: Laws 1909, p. 114.]

§ 3134a. Special Counsel to Assist County Attorneys.

The board of county commissioners has the power, except in counties of the first class, whenever in its judgment, the ends of justice or the interests of the county require it, to employ, or authorize the county attorney to employ, special counsel to assist in the prosecution of any criminal case pending in such county, or to represent said county in any civil action in which such county is a party. [Approved March 3, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 61, p. 68.]

§ 3134b. Deputies to County Attorneys in First-class County.

County attorneys in all counties of the first class shall be allowed to appoint the number of five deputies, one of which shall be the chief deputy. The annual compensation allowed to any deputy county attorney, in counties of the first class, is as follows: One chief deputy, twenty-four hundred dollars. All other deputies, eighteen hundred dollars. [Approved February 3, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 8, p. 12.]

§ 3137.

A sheriff, constable, or other peace officer, traveling in the discharge of his duties, is entitled to charge only for each mile "actually and necessarily" traveled; and a chief of police is guilty of misconduct in office in claiming and collecting mileage fees for services performed by another officer, he paying to the latter his actual traveling expenses and retaining for himself the balance of the total amount received. State v. Examining and Trial Board, 43 Mont. 389, 399, Ann. Cas. 1912C, 143, 117 Pac. 77.

The rule applicable to jurors' certificates applies also to witnesses' certificates; the clerk must observe the same formalities in issuing them. County of Silver Bow v. Davies, 40 Mont. 418, 426, 107 Pac. 81.

Where depositions are taken by a notary public, and the person at whose instance they are being taken employs a stenographer to take the testimony down, and the notary merely swears the witnesses and attaches his certificate to each deposition as notary, he is entitled to the statutory fees for administering the oaths to witnesses and attaching his certificate, but he is not entitled to the additional sum of twenty cents per folio for transcribing the testimony. *Coleman v. The provisions of section 4637 of the Political Code, making it incumbent upon the clerk of the district court to collect from petitioners, filing letters of administration or guardianship, sums ranging from five to ninety-five dollars, according to the appraised value of the estate, is contrary to the constitutional provision that the legislative assembly shall not levy taxes for county purposes. *Hauser v. § 3202.

The entire municipal code, comprising all of title III, sections 3202-3549, is to be treated as one statute, whose provisions are interdependent. Brown v. Foster, 48 Mont. 114, 118, 135 Pac. 993.

Meaning of "town"; a town, without incorporation or municipal character, is sometimes recognized as an entity; an unincorporated town is eligible to become a candidate for the county seat of a new county. State v. Dale, 47 Mont. 227, 232, Ann. Cas. 1914D, 227, 131 Pac. 670.

The legislature has used the term "town," in different statutes, as one of varying significance; it is not correct to say that, whenever an unincorporated town is meant, it has explicitly so declared; or that the use of the term "town," without any definite prefix, is in all cases intended to be an incorporated town. State v. Dale, 47 Mont. 227, Ann. Cas. 1914D, 227, 131 Pac. 670.

Where damages are sought to be recovered from a city for injuries to real property, in a designated year, it is not necessary to allege that the defendant was a municipal corporation at the time of the wrongful act, where the complaint does aver that the city "is a municipal corporation, organized and existing under the laws of the state"; the court will take judicial notice of its status at the time of the alleged wrongful act. CITIES AND TOWNS.

§ 3208. Organization of Cities and Towns—Petition and Census.

Whenever the inhabitants of any part of a county desire to be organized into a city or town, they may apply by petition in writing, signed by not less than fifty qualified electors, residents of the state, and residing within the limits of the proposed incorporation, to the board of county commissioners of the county in which the territory is situated, which petition must describe the limits of the proposed city or town, and of the several wards thereof, which must not exceed one square mile for each five hundred inhabitants residents therein. The petitioners must annex to the petition a map of the proposed territory to be incorporated, and state the name of the city or town. The petition and map must be filed in the office of the county clerk. Upon filing the petition the board of county commissioners, at its next regular or special meeting, must appoint some suitable person to take a census of the residents of the territory to be incorporated. After taking the census, the person appointed to take the same must return the list to the board of county commissioners, and the same must be filed by them in the county clerk's office. No municipal corporation must be formed unless the number of inhabitants is three hundred or upwards. [Amendment approved March 3, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 63.]

This section, in so far as it provides for the appointment and removal of police officers, is repealed by the act of 1907, section 3317, post; the method of appointment and removal provided by the later law is wholly inconsistent with the notion that the mayor and council are authorized to exercise the power of appointment as provided in the older law. State v. Quinn, 40 Mont. 472, 480, 107 Pac. 506.

The grant of power in this section, in the matter of prescribing the duties and fixing the compensation of city officers, is subject not only to the express and implied limitations found elsewhere in the title, but contains in itself a limitation in which the power granted may be executed. McGillic v. Corby, 37 Mont. 249, 254, 17 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1263, 95 Pac. 1065, discussing the validity of an ordinance providing compensation for an acting mayor.

§ 3219. Trustees of Public Libraries—Funds.

The trustees of any public library created or existing in a city or town must be appointed by the mayor with the advice and consent of the council. The number of such trustees and their duties must be prescribed by ordinance, provided, however, that the "Library Fund" provided for in section 3488 of this code shall be invested by the city treasurer under the direction of the trustees of the library; and no money shall be paid out of said fund by him except on an order or warrant from said trustees, who shall have exclusive power to make contracts and expenditures for the support and maintenance of the library, and the purchase of books and other things for a library. [Amendment approved March 8, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 255.]

§ 3220.

Status of policeman as an officer. See note post, § 3250.

Incompatible offices. See note ante, § 420.

This section, authorizing the city council to discharge "any officer," whose appointment is made by the mayor with the advice and consent of the council, has no application to a fireman; section 3327, post, declares that he is not to be deemed a municipal officer. State v. City of Anaconda, 41 Mont. 577, 581, 111 Pac. 345.

The city council may, by a bare majority vote, abolish the office of city purchasing agent, at any time, and discharge the person appointed to fill it; hence, if the incumbent of it be an alderman, the two offices are incompatible. State v. Wittmer, 50 Mont. 22, 144 Pac. 648.

§ 3223. Division of Cities into Wards.

Cities of the first class must be divided into not less than four nor more than ten wards; cities of the second class into not less than three nor more than six, and cities of the third class into not less than two nor more than four wards, and towns into not less than two nor more than three wards. All changes in the number and boundaries of wards must be made by ordinance, and no new ward must be created unless there shall be within its boundaries one hundred and fifty electors, or more. [Amendment approved March 4, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 103.]

This section is of general application, and controls aldermanic candidates who aspire to office at a first election after incorporation, as well as to those who seek like honors at subsequent elections. Brown v. Foster, 48 Mont. 114, 119, 135 Pac. 993.

§ 3232. Election Judges and Clerks—Voting Places.

The council must appoint judges and clerks of election and places of voting. There must be at least one place of voting in each ward, and there may be as many more as the council by ordinance shall fix, and the elector must vote in the ward in which he resides. The election precincts in a city or town must correspond with wards, but a ward may be subdivided into several voting precincts, and when so divided the elector shall vote in the precinct in which he resides, and all elections must be conducted according to the general laws of the state. In all cities where voting machines are used, the city council must subdivide the wards into such number of voting precincts that there will be no more than six hundred votes in each precinct. [Amendment approved March 3, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 65.]

When a person is elected or appointed to a city office, his failure to qualify within ten days, by taking the official oath, creates a vacancy, which may be filled by the appointing power. State v. Duncan, 47 Mont. 447, 453, 133 Pac. 109.

If one appointed as a policeman takes the oath of office, before entering upon his probationary term, it is not necessary for him, upon receiving his permanent appointment, to qualify by again taking and subscribing the official oath; the permanent appointment is nothing more or less than a confirmation of the original appointment, and does not mark the beginning of a new term of service by the appointee, as though he had been appointed for another term to another office. State v. Duncan, 47 Mont. 447, 455, 133 Pac. 109.

This section, not section 3263, post, governs the filling of vacancies in a city council, caused by resignation or death; a majority of those constituting the actual membership of the body at the time is sufficient to fill a vacancy in an elective city office; thus, if the full membership is sixteen, but, at a given time, has been in fact reduced by the resignation of one, there are fifteen members, and a majority of fifteen, or eight, can, by election, fill a vacancy. State v. Willis, 47 Mont. 548, 552, 133 Pac. 962.

Until written charges are filed with a city council, no proceeding, looking to the removal of a city officer, has been instituted. State v. Mayor, 43 Mont. 61, 64, 114 Pac. 777.

The office of police judge is a creature, not of the constitution, but of the statute; and the incumbent is not liable to impeachment, but he is a city officer and, in a proper case, may be removed by the city council. State v. Mayor, 43 Mont. 61, 63, 114 Pac. 777.

An alderman is guilty of misconduct in office where he, in his capacity as an attorney at law, defends a person charged with conducting business without paying a license tax, and accepts a retainer to prosecute a suit against a town for damages, and for an injunction in regard to a sewer; and he may be removed from office for such misconduct. State v. Board of Aldermen, 45 Mont. 188, 194, 122 Pac. 569.

If a person has been duly elected a member of the city council, and has taken and subscribed the constitutional oath of office, he is entitled to be seated as a member of the council and to have his vote on the question of filling another vacancy recorded, though he has no certificate of election. State v. Willis, 47 Mont. 548, 553, 133 Pac. 962.

An officer may be removed for misconduct though his act was not "willful." State v. Board of Aldermen, 45 Mont. 188, 195, 122 Pac. 569.

Liability of a public officer for interest received on public funds. Ann. Cas. 1914C, 1016.

In this state, a city treasurer is not an insurer of the public funds; he is a trustee of them for the use of the city, and must account for and pay over any profits derived from the use of the trust fund. City of Butte v. Goodwin, 47 Mont. 155, 163, Ann. Cas. 1914C, 1012, 134 Pac. 670.

The official bond of a city treasurer is not a contract in the strict sense of that term; it is rather a collateral security for the faithful performance of official duty. City of Butte v. Goodwin, 47 Mont. 155, 167, Ann. Cas. 1914C, 1012, 134 Pac. 670.

§ 3240. Salaries of Mayor and Aldermen.

The annual salary of a mayor of a city of the first class must not exceed four thousand dollars; and the annual salary of the mayor of a city of the second class must not exceed two thousand dollars; and the annual salary of the mayor of a city of the third class must not exceed six hundred dollars; and each alderman in a city of the first class may be allowed and paid not exceeding six dollars per diem, to be fixed by ordinance, for each day of session held by city council; provided, that no alderman shall be paid for more than five days' service during any one month; and aldermen of cities of the second and third class may be allowed and paid not exceeding three dollars per diem for each day of session, to be fixed by ordinance, but no alderman shall be paid for more than two days' service during any one month. No salary or compensation shall be allowed to the mayor or alderman of a town. No person shall be elected to the office of mayor or alderman in any city who is not a resident and freeholder within the limits of the city. [Amendment approved March 17, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 453.]

§ 3245. Salary of Chief of Police.

The annual salary and compensation of the chief of police must be fixed by ordinance and must not exceed in cities of the second class, one hundred and fifty ($150) dollars per month; and in cities of the third class not to exceed one hundred and twenty-five ($125) dollars per month. Quinn*, 40 Mont. 472, 480, 107 Pac. 506.

burden of proof. O'Brien v. Drinkenberg, 41 Mont. 538, 543, 111 Pac. 137.

To convene the council in special session, a formal proclamation from the mayor is not necessary; neither is notice required, nor a message stating the object of the meeting. O'Brien v. Drinkenberg, 41 Mont. 538, 546, 111 Pac. 137.

Evidence sufficient to prove that a meeting of the council was a special one, had in conformity with law. O'Brien v. Drinkenberg, 41 Mont. 538, 543, 546, 111 Pac. 137.

A policeman is not a state officer; nor is he, strictly speaking, a "municipal" officer. He is sui juris, occupying a unique place of his own. State v. Edwards, 38 Mont. 250, 266, 99 Pac. 940. Compare Farrell v. Board of Trustees, 85 Cal. 408, 24 Pac. 868.

Prior to 1907, the mayors of cities and towns had power, under this section, to suspend or remove policemen, but the act of that year, establishing a peace commission in cities and towns, took away that power from such officers, except as otherwise provided in the act itself. State v. Edwards, 38 Mont. 250, 271, 99 Pac. 940.

Proof that meeting was a special one. See note ante, § 3250.

Under this section, the council may or may not elect a president. When elected, he must be held to know whether provision has been made for his compensation; if none has been made in the mode prescribed by law, then he is entitled to none, and he has no legal claim against the city therefor. McGillie v. Corby, 37 Mont. 249, 255, 17 L. R. A. (N. S.), 1263, 95 Pac. 1063.

§ 3253.

The mayor of a city in Montana is not required to keep a record of his official acts; the duty to keep the files and records of the city appertains to the clerk, who is bound to deliver them to his successor. City of Butte v. Nevin, 46 Mont. 380, 383, 128 Pac. 600.

If the mayor chooses to keep a record including copies of documents which must be preserved in the files of the clerk's office, they are his private property, and title to them does not vest in the city by virtue of the fact that he is acting as its chief executive at the time.

§ 3257. Duties of City Treasurer.

It shall be the duty of the city treasurer:

1. To receive all moneys that come to the city or town either from taxation or otherwise, and to pay the same out on the warrant of the mayor, countersigned by the clerk, drawn in accordance with law.
2. To perform such duties in the collection of taxes, licenses or assessments as are or may be prescribed by law or ordinances.
3. To present on the first Monday of each month to the council a full and detailed statement of the amounts of money belonging to the city or town received by him, and by him disbursed, during the preceding month, and the state of each particular fund, which statement must be verified by his oath.
4. To keep the books and accounts of the city or town in such manner as to correctly present the condition of the finances thereof, which must always be open to the inspection of the mayor, council or any member thereof.
5. To keep a separate account of each fund or appropriation and the debits and credits thereof.
6. To give every person paying to him money as treasurer, a receipt therefor, specifying the date of payment, the amount and for what paid.
7. To render at any time an account to the council, showing the money on hand and the condition of the treasury.
8. To keep a register of all warrants paid, called "The Registry Book," which must show the date, amount and number, and the person to whom,

City of Butte v. Nevin, 46 Mont. 380, 383, 128 Pac. 600.

Where accountants are employed to audit the books of a city and their contract calls for a report to the city, but before it is made two copies thereof are handed to the mayor, at his request, one of which he presents to the city council, and the other he receives as his own, the mayor's duty is fully discharged, after seeing that the copy presented to the council finds its way into the hands of the city clerk, and is by him filed among the records of his office; the mayor has a right to retain the other copy among his private papers. City of Butte v. Nevin, 46 Mont. 380, 383, 128 Pac. 600.

If a person has been lawfully elected a member of the city council, and has taken the required oath, the intention of the law is, that the oath, when taken and subscribed, shall become a record of the office, and it is the clerk's duty to file and keep it as such; it is also the clerk's duty to record the newly elected officer's vote on any question; and the performance of the clerk's duty, in either respect, may be enforced by mandamus. State v. Willis, 47 Mont. 548, 553, 133 Pac. 962.

and the fund from which the same was paid, and to deliver and file with the city clerk all vouchers, warrants or orders paid by him.

9. To annually make out and submit to the city council, at its last meeting prior to May first a detailed account of all receipts and expenditures during the past fiscal year, file the same with the clerk, and an abstract thereof must be published in some newspaper in the city or town, or if none is published, such abstract must be posted in the room or building occupied by the council.

10. To pay out in the order which they are registered all warrants presented for payment, when there are funds in the treasury to pay the same.

11. No money must be transferred from one fund to another, except by ordinance or resolution of the council.

12. To deposit all public moneys in his possession and under his control, excepting such as may be required for current business in any solvent bank or banks located in such city or town, subject to national supervision or state examination, as the council shall designate and no other, and the sums so deposited shall bear interest at the rate of two and one-half ($2\frac{1}{2}$) per centum per annum payable quarter annually.

The treasurer shall take from such banks such security in public bonds or other securities or indemnity bonds as the council may prescribe, approve and deem fully sufficient and necessary to insure the safety and prompt payment of all such deposits on demand.

When more than one such bank be available in any city or town, such deposits shall be distributed ratably among all such banks qualifying therefor, substantially in proportion to the paid in capital of each such bank willing to receive such deposits under the terms of this act, and it shall be the duty of the treasurer to prorate all such deposits among all the banks in such city or town qualified to receive same as in this act provided, to the end that an equitable distribution of such deposits be maintained, but the amount so deposited in any bank shall at no time exceed the amount of the paid in capital of such bank.

If no such bank exists in the city or town, or if any bank or banks existing therein fails or refuses to qualify under the terms of this act to receive such deposits, then and in such case, or in either of such cases, such moneys or any portion thereof shall be deposited under the terms of this act in the bank or banks most convenient to such city or town willing to accept such deposits under the terms of this act and qualified as above provided.

Any bank or banks receiving such deposits shall, through its president and cashier, make a statement quarter annually of account under oath, showing all such moneys that have been deposited with such bank during the quarter, the amount of daily balances in dollars, and the amount of interest by such bank or banks credited or paid therefor, and showing that neither such bank nor any officer thereof, nor any person for it, has paid or given any consideration or emolument whatsoever to the treasurer or to any other person other than the interest provided for herein, for or on account of the making of such deposits with any such bank. All such deposits shall be subject to withdrawal by the treasurer in such amounts as may be necessary from time to time, and no deposit of funds shall be made, or permitted to remain, in any bank until the security for such deposits shall have been first approved by the council and delivered to the treasurer. All interest paid and collected on such deposits shall be credited to the general fund of the city or town.

When moneys shall have been deposited in accordance with the provisions of this act, the treasurer shall not be liable for loss on account of any deposit that may occur through damage by the elements, or for any other cause or reason occasioned through means other than his own neglect, fraud or dishonorable conduct. [Amendment approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 390.]

Status of policeman as an officer. See note ante, § 3250.

Power to make public improvements at private expense. See note post, § 3367.

This section specifies the items of expense which a city that has not reached the constitutional limit of indebtedness may incur. Palmer v. City of Helena, 40 Mont. 498, 505, 107 Pac. 512.

The authorities that control streets and highways may use, or permit the use of, them in any manner or for any purpose that is reasonably incident to the appropriation of them for public travel, or for the ordinary uses of streets or highways under the different conditions that, from time to time, arise. Kipp v. Davis-Daly Copper Co., 41 Mont. 509, 516, 21 Ann. Cas. 1372, 36 L. R. A. (N. S.) 666, 110 Pac. 237.

The use of a street railway for the purpose of hauling supplies, ores, merchandise, etc., to and from a company's mine, is a public use; and it casts no additional servitude upon the owner of abutting real property for which compensation must first be made, but falls within the ordinary uses of streets. Kipp v. Davis-Daly Copper Co., 41 Mont. 509, 21 Ann. Cas. 1372, 36 L. R. A. (N. S.) 666, 110 Pac. 237.

The frequent use, in the laws of this state, of the prefix "street," before "railroads" or "railways," indicates the legislative intention to maintain a distinction between railroads and street railroads, and suggests that, in construing enactments touching railroads, they should not be held to apply to street railroads, unless the intention that they shall so apply is apparent. Helena etc. Ry. Co. v. City of Helena, 47 Mont. 18, 34, 130 Pac. 446.

The twelfth subdivision of this section, granting city or town councils power to compel the lighting of any "railroad" track within a city or town, "the cars of which are propelled by steam or otherwise," at the expense of the owner, does not apply to street railroads; hence, an ordinance requiring a street railway company to light its tracks within the corporate limits, without expense to the city, is void. Helena etc. Ry. Co. v. City of Helena, 47 Mont. 18, 37, 130 Pac. 446.

The mode of exercising the power granted by the sixty-third subdivision of this section is subject to the limitation prescribed by section 3278, post; this limitation is, furthermore, exclusive, and applies to all municipal bodies. Missoula St. Ry. Co. v. City of Missoula, 47 Mont. 85, 95, 130 Pac. 771.

Where the Constitution has authorized the legislature to extend the limit of municipal indebtedness beyond the constitutional limit of three per cent of the value of taxable property, when such increase is necessary to procure a water supply or for the construction of a sewer system, the legislature may, by a general law applicable to all municipalities alike, make such extension, as it has done, in subdivision 64 of this section, without first determining whether a necessity exists for extending the limit; that is not a question for the legislature, but is one properly left to the people, who must pay the additional taxes required in order to discharge the debt to be incurred. Carlson v. City of Helena, 39 Mont. 82, 98, 17 Ann. Cas. 1233, 102 Pac. 39.

In considering an indebtedness for water and light, it has been said that the purpose of the limitation in matters of indebtedness, contained in this section, is to prevent extravagance, and that it should be so interpreted as to accomplish the desired end as far as possible. Butler v. Andrus, 35 Mont. 575, 580, 90 Pac. 785.

The legislature cannot coerce a city to procure a particular water supply. State v. Edwards, 42 Mont. 135, 148, Ann. Cas. 1912A, 1063, 32 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1078, 111 Pac. 734.

The sixty-fourth subdivision of this section does not make it incumbent upon a city, desiring to acquire a water supply of its own, to purchase the system then maintained therein, by any person or corporation, under a franchise granted or contract made by the municipality; the course to be pursued, pointed out in the proviso of this subdivision, relative to the purchase of the then existing system, is obligatory only when the city "desires" to so purchase; if not, it may procure any other available supply. Carlson v. City of Helena, 39 Mont. 82, 99 17 Ann. Cas. 1233, 102 Pac. 39.

After a city council has ascertained that a pure and wholesome supply of water, ample for the needs of the city and its inhabitants, is available, and that the cost of installing such supply is within the compass of the sum that the city can lawfully expend for that purpose, there can be no possible objection to allowing the voters to speak as to the propriety of securing the particular supply. Carlson v. City of Helena, 43 Mont. 1, 7, 114 Pac. 110.

A city, after having necessarily and legally incurred an outstanding indebtedness for a water supply and a sewer system, under the ten per cent limit, may afterward incur an additional indebtedness of five thousand dollars, under the three per cent limit, for building a bridge, where the existing indebtedness of the city, incurred under the three per cent limit, has fallen below that limit by reason of payments thereon, or on account of the fact that the assessed valuation of taxable property has increased so as to leave a sufficient margin within the three per cent limit. Arnold v. City of Miles City, 46 Mont. 478, 479, 128 Pac. 915.

It is only for special purposes, to wit, sewerage systems and water supplies, that cities may incur indebtedness in excess of the constitutional limit of three per cent, when authorized by the taxpayers, but the constitutional provision does not limit the amount to which the legislature may authorize the taxpayers to extend the indebtedness. Arnold v. City of Miles City, 46 Mont. 478, 481, 128 Pac. 915.

It was the intention of the law-making powers to compel a city to refrain from becoming indebted for general purposes in an amount in excess of three per cent of the value of its taxable property; but the legislative ten per cent limit, for special purpose, to wit, sewerage systems and water supplies, is to be regarded as an addition to the three per cent originally authorized by the Constitution. Arnold v. City of Miles City, 46 Mont. 478, 482, 128 Pac. 915.

Under the sixty-fifth subdivision of this section, the town council has power to condemn a sidewalk and to order a new one in its stead; in doing so, it exercises a legislative function, and its action, except for fraud or abuse of discretion, is not subject to judicial review. O'Brien v. Drinkenberg, 41 Mont. 538, 544, 548, 111 Pac. 137.

The laws of 1913, chapter 89, did not take away from cities the powers they had under the sixth and eightieth subdivisions of this section; the purpose of those laws was to provide a more simple and practicable procedure by which special improvement districts might be created, not to grant powers. Shapard v. City of Missoula, 49 Mont. 269, 274, 141 Pac. 544.

As a city council has, under this section and section 3287, post, the sole power to determine the amount that shall be expended in carrying on the city government, it, and not the mayor, has the power to reduce the police force for economical reasons, or when it becomes unnecessarily large. State v. Mayor of Butte, 43 Mont. 331, 336, 117 Pac. 604.

Under section 3470, post, the fee to the land covered by a street once established is vested in the public; for the form of dedication required of the owner, when the plat of a city or town, or an addition thereto is recorded, is equivalent to a deed; but, as the respective rights of the abutting owners and of the public are dependent upon the fact of dedication, it is not important to inquire where the fee is vested. Kipp v. Davis-Daly Copper Co., 41 Mont. 509, 516, 21 Ann. Cas. 1372, 36 L. R. A. (N. S.) 666, 110 Pac. 237.

An ordinance regulating the construction and maintenance of livery-stables is contrary to the fourteenth amendment. Billings v. Cook, 35 Mont. 95, 104, 119 Am. St. Rep. 845, 88 Pac. 656.

The telegraph and telephone business is subject to police regulations; the legislature has, by section 4400, post, left to the cities and towns of this state a free hand to exercise the police powers as to that business; and municipalities may, therefore, regulate telegraph and telephone companies respecting the use of streets for their poles. City of Butte v. Montana I. Tel. Co., 50 Mont. 574, 148 Pac. 384.

This section does not apply to an election by a city council to fill vacancies in its own body, caused by resignation or death; the one applicable is section 3236, ante. State v. Willis, 47 Mont. 548, 551, 133 Pac. 962.

An ordinance that authorizes the calling of a special election for the authorization or rejection of an increase of the city's indebtedness by the issuance of water "and" sewer bonds, is not obnoxious to the prohibition of this section, relative to an ordinance "containing more than one subject"; the general subject of the ordinance is the incurring of the indebtedness, and the different purposes named in it, as making the indebtedness necessary, are matters of detail for the information of the voters. This section is a part of the initiative and referendum law applicable to cities, sections 3266-3276, and the provision therein, that no ordinance passed by the council of a city shall become effective until thirty days after its passage, has no application to an ordinance providing for the issuance of water and sewer bonds, after sanction of the taxpayers affected thereby has been obtained; the referendum provisions of the statute deal with matters of general legislation on which all electors, whether taxpayers or not, may vote, while taxpayers only are entitled to vote on the question of the city council's authority to issue bonds. Council's powers as to the doing of street work. See note post, § 3369.

This section does not require notice to be given; the only requirement is that the contract shall be let to the lowest responsible bidder; hence, to successfully attack the awarding of a contract by the council, the assailant must show that there was not any opportunity afforded for competitive bidding and that the contract was not let to the lowest responsible bidder; or, that there was collusion or bad faith on the part of the council; or, such gross mistake as to preclude the exercise of sound judgment. O'Brien v. Drinkenberg, 41 Mont. 538, 550, 111 Pac. 137.

The requirement of this section, as to expenditures, extends to those made from the general revenues of a city as well as from funds derived from special assessments. Ford v. City of Great Falls, 40 Mont. 292, 313, 127 Pac. 1004.

A contract with a city for the construction of a system of waterworks is governed by the provisions of this section and sections 3279-3281, post, and not by sections 3283 and 3288; it was not the purpose of the statute that such a claim, and others specifically provided for by the law, should be verified, as required in section 3283, post, as a condition precedent to the institution of an action thereon. City of Forsyth v. Crellin, 210 Fed. 835, 838.

A contract between a city and a street railway company, that the latter shall move and replace the company's tracks on two streets of the city, at the expense of the city, is void, it not having been let to the lowest responsible bidder, as required by this section. Missoula St. Ry. Co. v. City of Missoula, 47 Mont. 85, 96, 130 Pac. 771.

Where streets are to be improved, the council may specifically require the use of bitulithic pavement, a patented process, where the principle of free competition between bidders or contractors is retained. Ford v. City of Great Falls, 46 Mont. 292, 309, 127 Pac. 1004.

It was the purpose of this section and of section 3283, post, to protect cities and towns from actions upon demands of which they have had no previous notice; those sections do not apply to illegal exactions made by the municipality. Reilly v. Hatheway, 46 Mont. 1, 10, 125 Pac. 417.

If a city exacts a license tax from a groceryman, solely for the purpose of raising revenue, such tax is illegal, and the taxpayer may maintain an action to recover the amount paid by him, under protest, without having presented any claim to the city council. *Reilly v. All accounts and demands against a city must be submitted to the council, and, if found correct, must be allowed and paid. State v. Mayor of Butte, 43 Mont. 331, 335, 117 Pac. 604.

Under this and the next succeeding section, a city, indebted beyond the limit prescribed by the Constitution, is permitted to conduct its affairs upon a cash basis and pay "reasonable and necessary current expenses from its current revenues," etc., but the authority of such a city extends no further than to make expenditures both reasonable and necessary for the corporate existence of the city; in other words, the right to expend public money is limited to those items of expense which may properly be designated as "living expenses." Palmer v. City of Helena, 40 Mont. 498, 507, 107 Pac. 512.

A city, indebted beyond the limit prescribed by the Constitution, cannot use its revenues, derived from any source, to acquire an electric light plant to supply itself and its inhabitants with light, while it has at hand an available source of supply, which has been and now is sufficient to meet all requirements; an expenditure of this character does not fall within the meaning of "reasonable and necessary current expenses," which such a city may incur under this section and section 3288, post. Palmer v. City of Helena, 40 Mont. 498, 504, 107 Pac. 512.

If a city that has reached its constitutional limit of indebtedness, has not taken advantage of this section and of the next one, enacted for its benefit, it will not be heard to urge its failure to do so as an excuse for its violation of sections 3328 or 3329, post, by suspending firemen or diminishing the force for the purpose of reducing expenses. *State v. § 3289.

One purpose of this section is to enable the city to avoid the expense of litigation, if investigation discloses a legal liability on its part; for this reason, it is not sufficient that the city officers have notice of the defect; it is knowledge of the injury which the statute requires shall be brought to the attention of the city authorities. Tonn v. City of Helena, 42 Mont. 127, 133, 36 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1136, 437, 111 Pac. 715.

The provisions of this section are applicable alike to injuries to person and injuries to property; to state a cause of action, in either case, the complaint must allege that the required notice was given. Butte Machinery Co. v. City of Butte, 43 Mont. 351, 352, 116 Pac. 357; overruled in Kelly v. City of Butte, 44 Mont. 115, 118, 119 Pac. 171.

This section applies only to injuries to persons, as distinguished from injuries to property. Kelly v. City of Butte, 44 Mont. 115, 118, 119 Pac. 171; overruling Butte Machinery Co. v. City of Butte, 43 Mont. 351, 116 Pac. 357.

A defective plan, adopted for the construction of a sewer, causing injury to a mine by flooding it, is not a "defect," within the meaning of this section. Kelly v. City of Butte, 44 Mont. 115, 117, 119 Pac. 171.

This section, requiring the giving of notice of a personal injury, occasioned by a defective sidewalk, as a prerequisite to the recovery of damages from the city or town, is not unconstitutional as making an unjust discrimination in favor of municipalities and against all others, who may be defendants in personal injury actions; the classification made by this section is not unreasonable, and, where all cities and towns are treated alike, it cannot be said that the particular city or town in which the injury occurred is granted a special immunity, where the notice provided for has not been given. Tonn v. City of Helena, 42 Mont. 127, 133, 36 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1136, 111 Pac. 715.

A statute is not open to objection merely because it is class legislation; if the classification is reasonable, and all members of a given class receive equal protection, the statute will be upheld. Tonn v. City of Helena, 42 Mont. 127, 133, 36 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1136, 111 Pac. 715.

The giving of notice of injury is prima facie sufficient where, upon its face, it purports to have been given, in the plaintiff's behalf, by the attorneys who brought the action for him. McEnaney v. City of Butte, 43 Mont. 526, 533, 117 Pac. 893.

A notice signed by the attorney for the injured person, as such, is sufficient. Pullen v. City of Butte, 45 Mont. 46, 55, 121 Pac. 878.

It is sufficient that the notice be filed with the city clerk. Tiggerman v. City of Butte, 44 Mont. 138, 142, 119 Pac. 477.

"Any defect in any sidewalk," includes any and every defect, deficiency, or obstruction that interferes with the proper use of the walk, such as an accumulation of snow and ice thereon. Tonn v. City of Helena, 42 Mont. 127, 133, 36 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1136, 111 Pac. 715.

Notice to a city is not a prerequisite to a suit against it for injuries caused by the flooding of a mine, in consequence of a defective plan adopted by the city for the construction of a sewer. Kelly v. City of Butte, 44 Mont. 115, 117, 119 Pac. 171.

Removal of officer for collecting illegal fees. See note post, § 9006.

Violation of city ordinance is not a "public offense." See note post, § 9677.

The police court has concurrent jurisdiction with the justices' courts to punish vagrancy, as a crime against the state as distinguished from an offense against the city, and such prosecution must be instituted and conducted in the name of the state. State v. District Court, 37 Mont. 202, 208, 95 Pac. 841.

The city of Butte has express authority from the state to define vagrancy by ordinance and to punish the same, and the police court of that city has exclusive jurisdiction of all proceedings for the violation of the ordinance, and prosecutions thereunder must be conducted in the name of the city. State v. District Court, 37 Mont. 202, 208, 95 Pac. 841.

Sections 3304-3312 constitute the metropolitan police law. State v. Duncan, 47 Mont. 447, 133 Pac. 109.

The police force cannot be abolished as a whole, because the city is required to maintain it; nor can it be abolished in part; the power of the city extends only to a reduction in its number for economical reasons, and it must be exercised in good faith. State v. Edwards, 40 Mont. 287, 306, 20 Ann. Cas. 239, 106 Pac. 995.

Our metropolitan police law, sections 3304-3317, contemplates that, in addition to the office of chief of police, which the act itself creates, there shall be different grades and other offices established by the city council, as indicated in section 3314, post, or by the mayor in the event the council fails to act, as shown by section 3305, post. State v. Duncan, 49 Mont. 54, 58, 140 Pac. 95.

The metropolitan police law, sections 3304-3317, placing the police departments under civil service rules, is mandatory as to cities of the first class, but it is left optional with the authorities of the smaller cities and towns whether they shall bring themselves within its provisions. Grush v. Bishop, 46 Mont. 97, 101, 126 Pac. 619.

A chief of police, whose duties are the same as those of an ordinary policeman, except the additional one, of supervision and control of the entire force, imposed upon him, is a "policeman," and cannot be removed from office in any other manner than that indicated in this act, sections 3304-3317, which places the police departments of cities under civil service rules. State v. Quinn, 40 Mont. 472, 107 Pac. 506.

A city ordinance, providing for the organization of the police department of the city, in conformity with the statute governing that matter, has, when duly passed, the force and effect of a statute. State v. Duncan, 49 Mont. 54, 140 Pac. 95.

In determining whether the mayor of a city is in contempt of court in failing to reinstate policemen unlawfully ousted by him, and when the court has directed him to reinstate, the sole question is whether the mayor has fully complied with the original mandate of the court; the question of fact whether the action of the mayor, in complying with the order, and soon afterward retiring the men, was not a mere subterfuge to evade the law and avoid actual compliance with the order of the court might properly be considered, if raised by the pleadings; but neither that nor other questions can be considered, in such a proceeding, unless put in issue. State v. District Court, 41 Mont. 532, 538, 110 Pac. 538.

If the mayor puts members of the police department out of active service, but afterward complies with an order of court to reinstate them, and, after they have served a short time, again retires them, he is not in contempt of court. State v. District Court, 41 Mont. 532, 534, 538, 110 Pac. 86.

A policeman, discharged contrary to the provisions of the metropolitan police law, sections 3304-3312, is not guilty of laches in delaying, for thirteen months, to take any action by mandamus for his reinstatement, where he is awaiting the final decision of law questions in a similar, pending proceeding. State v. Duncan, 47 Mont. 447, 452, 133 Pac. 109.

It is obligatory upon the mayor of a city to appoint to permanent service on the police force a policeman, who, after service for the probationary term of six months, has demonstrated his fitness for the position. State v. Duncan, 47 Mont. 447, 455, 133 Pac. 109.

As to cities and towns of the first class, the law relative to an examining board is mandatory; as to other cities and towns, it is simply permissive. State v. Mayor of Butte, 41 Mont. 377, 382, 109 Pac. 710.

The law, in effect, commands that there shall be an examining and trial board of the police department; the law creates the office; hence, the contention that there is no such office until the mayor has nominated its members and the council confirmed them is without merit. State v. Mayor of Butte, 41 Mont. 377, 383, 109 Pac. 710.

Where persons, appointed by the mayor of a city of the first class as members of the examining and trial board of the police department, qualified, they became de facto officers, whose official acts were legal, notwithstanding the city council repeatedly refused to confirm them. State v. Mayor of Butte, 41 Mont. 377, 385, 109 Pac. 710.

The office of member of the examining and trial board of the police department of a city of the first class, having been newly created by the act of 1907, it became ipso facto vacant in its creation, and it was the duty of the mayor of such a city, within a reasonable time after the vacancies occurred, to nominate three qualified citizens to fill the offices. State v. Mayor of Butte, 41 Mont. 377, 384, 109 Pac. 710.

By this section, the power to impose punishment upon a policeman for a neglect or violation of his duty is lodged in the mayor, and a court cannot substitute its judgment for his. Bailey v. Examining and Trial Board, 45 Mont. 197, 203, 122 Pac. 572.

The provision restricting the power of removal found in this section, refers to removals for lapse of duty and the like; there is no restriction upon the power of the council to abolish as many of the places or offices once provided for, as it chooses, by reducing the number of the members on the force. State v. Edwards, 40 Mont. 287, 304, 20 Ann. Cas. 239, 106 Pac. 695.

Policeman as an officer. See State v. Edwards, 40 Mont. 287, 301, 20 Ann. Cas. 239, 106 Pac. 695.

A probationer, being a member of the police force, can be removed only upon charges made and trial had in conformity with this section and section 3309, post. State v. Duncan, 47 Mont. 447, 454, 133 Pac. 109.

A police captain is a "policeman," and, upon appointment, after having served the probationary term of six months, he is secure from removal from office except as provided in the act of 1907; that act makes no distinction between officers or members of different rank relative to their duties as policemen, and requires all to be selected and appointed in the same manner. State v. Edwards, 40 Mont. 313, 317, 106 Pac. 703.

An ordinance intended, not to abolish the offices of members of the police force for economical reasons, but to get them off the force permanently in order to make way for the mayor to fill their places with persons more acceptable to him, is void, and does not confer upon the mayor the power to make appointments to the vacant places; a discharge of one member of the police force, manifestly for the purpose of making place for another person, is unlawful under a statute having a civil service feature. State v. Edwards, 40 Mont. 287, 306, 309, 20 Ann. Cas. 239, 106 Pac. 695.

If a civil service statute provides for a tenure of office of the police force during good behavior, and prohibits removals except for the causes and in the manner mentioned, the city council or the person or body in whom is vested the power to reduce the police force, must, when it does reduce it, unless it is otherwise provided by statute, regard those put out of active service as still upon the eligible list and entitled to be returned to active service whenever vacancies occur or the exigencies of the service demand it; otherwise, the offices may be abolished for purely personal or political reasons. State v. Edwards, 40 Mont. 287, 305, 20 Ann. Cas. 239, 106 Pac. 695.

The decision of the examining and trial board on questions of fact is final and conclusive on all courts, if there is any substantial evidence to support it; but whether or not there is such evidence is a question for the district court to decide. Bailey v. Examining and Trial Board, 42 Mont. 216, 218, 112 Pac. 69.

No question of fact can arise after the examining and trial board has made its findings; but the district court has jurisdiction to determine every question of law necessary to insure to the accused officer the right guaranteed to him; namely, that all essential requirements of law shall be complied with before he is discharged from the police department. Bailey v. Examining and Trial Board, 42 Mont. 216, 218, 112 Pac. 69.

A decision of the examining and trial board, on questions of fact, is final and conclusive on all courts, if there is any substantial evidence to support it. Bailey v. Examining and Trial Board, 45 Mont. 197, 202, 122 Pac. 572.

In the absence of restrictions contained in a civil service statute, a city having the power to create an office has also the implied power to abolish it; and, when the condition of the finances of the city requires it, an office may be dispensed with even though it is controlled by the civil service statute; but, if there is an eligible list from which appointments must be made, those who are put out of active service are relegated to this list, with the right to be returned to duty when the exigencies of the service require it. State v. Edwards, 40 Mont. 287, 306, 20 Ann. Cas. 239, 106 Pac. 695.

Before an officer can be discharged from the police department, there must be a substantial charge against him, with substantial evidence to sustain it. Bailey v. Examining and Trial Board, 42 Mont. 216, 218, 112 Pac. 69.

It is contemplated that reduction in rank or grade may be imposed as a punishment in case the officer, other than the chief, is found guilty. State v. Duncan, 49 Mont. 54, 140 Pac. 95.

Under article VIII, section 2, of the Constitution, the supreme court has a general supervisory control over all inferior courts; but an officer who has been discharged from the police department cannot obtain a review of the proceedings in the supreme court, on an original application for a writ of supervisory control, on the grounds that the charges filed against him did not state sufficient facts to constitute a cause of action, and that the evidence was not sufficient to support the findings; these are questions of law that could and should have been considered in the district court. Bailey v. Examining and Trial Board, 42 Mont. 216, 217, 112 Pac. 216.

It is contemplated that charges against any officer in the department shall be heard by the examining and trial board. State v. Duncan, 49 Mont. 54, 140 Pac. 95.

Repeal because of inconsistency. See notes ante, §§ 3216 and 3250.

The civil service principle is the foundation of the metropolitan police law; and the fundamental idea of that principle is, that appointments to, and promotions in, the police department shall depend upon merit and not upon favoritism. State v. Duncan, 49 Mont. 54, 140 Pac. 95.

The office of chief of police is required to be maintained; but the subordinate officers need not be; they are created to meet the needs of the city, and a captain, lieutenant, or sergeant may be retired from active service, when the necessities of the case require it, but not simply for some one else to take his office. State v. Duncan, 49 Mont. 54, 140 Pac. 95.

If considerations of economy have caused the office of lieutenant of police to be vacated, by the retirement of the incumbent to the waiting list, the spirit of the law demands that, whenever that office is again filled, the former incumbent shall be restored, in preference to anyone else. State v. Duncan, 49 Mont. 54, 140 Pac. 95.

The retirement of a lieutenant of police, to the eligible list, followed immediately by the appointment of another to fill the office, is a clear violation of the civil service principle, and does not deprive the lieutenant of his office. State v. Duncan, 49 Mont. 54, 140 Pac. 95.

Where policemen have been illegally ousted from office, and the mayor has been directed, by a writ of mandate, to reinstate them, his action in instructing the chief of police, while there are available men on the eligible list, to include two special policemen among those who are to be regularly employed, and in the place of two of the eligibles, is a contempt of court; the employment of the two specials would consume the funds to the exclusion of two others, recognized by the courts as being entitled to the two places. State v. District Court, 41 Mont. 369, 373, 109 Pac. 434.

MUNICIPAL PARKS.§ 3318. Park Commissioners — Appointment and Organization—Records and Reports.

That there is hereby created in all cities of the first and second class, a board of park commissioners, which shall be composed of the mayor of the city and six other persons to be appointed by the Governor of the state. The six persons so to be appointed shall have the same qualifications for the office of park commissioners as are required by section 3225 (4749) of the Revised Codes of the state of Montana of 1907, for the office of mayor. The term of office of each park commissioner shall be two years from and after the first day of May of the year in which he is appointed and until his successor is appointed and qualified, save and except that three of the commissioners first appointed shall hold office for the period of one year from and after the first day of May, 1901, and until their successors are appointed and qualified. Such board of park commissioners shall constitute a department of the city government with the powers in this act provided. Before entering upon the discharge of his duties, each park commissioner shall take and subscribe the oath provided by section 362 (1010) of the Revised Codes of Montana of 1907, which oath shall be filed in the office of the city clerk.

On the first Monday in May in each year, said board of park commissioners shall meet and organize by electing one of their number president and one of their number vice-president, who shall hold their office respectively for the term of one year. The president, and in his absence, the vice-president, shall preside at all meetings of the board, and shall countersign all warrants issued by the board, and perform such other duties as shall be required and directed by the board. The city clerk shall be ex-officio clerk of the board of park commissioners and shall attend all meetings of said board and keep correct minutes of all proceedings of said board in a book to be provided for that purpose by it, to be called "Record of Board of Park Commissioners of the city of" It shall be the duty of the city clerk, as such clerk of the board of park commissioners, to keep an accurate account of all transactions of said board separate from other city accounts, and to make and submit in writing to said board at their first meeting in January in each year, a report under oath showing in detail all of the receipts and disbursements made by the board during the year, which report shall be in duplicate, and after being approved by said board, one of said duplicates shall be filed in the office of the city clerk and one in the office of the city treasurer, and he shall perform such other services as the board shall require. In the absence of the clerk at any meeting held by the board, it shall designate one of its number as clerk pro tem. to keep the minutes of said meeting, which minutes shall be delivered to the clerk to be transcribed into the record-book of said board. The minutes of said meeting in said record-book contained when approved by the board, shall be prima facie evidence of the matters and things therein recited in any court of this state. [Amendment approved March 15, 1913; Laws 1913, p. 437.]

Policy of state concerning local self-government, indicated by the adoption of the initiative and referendum as applied to municipal legislation. See ante, §§ 3266-3276.

This act, creating a board of park commissioners and giving it certain powers, sections 3318-3324, is unconstitutional; it violates the theory of local self-government; furthermore, such a board is not one of the "corporate authorities" of a city, within the meaning of the Constitution, in which the legislative assembly may vest power to assess and collect taxes for "municipal purposes." State v. Edwards, 42 Mont. 135, 152, Ann. Cas. 1912A, 1063, 32 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1078, 111 Pac. 734.

MUNICIPAL FIRE DEPARTMENT.§ 3327. Fire Department to Consist of What—Compensation.

Such fire department, when established, may consist of: One chief of the fire department, as many assistant chiefs of the fire department, and such number of firemen as the council may from time to time provide, and may also include a city electrician, and as many assistant electricians as the council may from time to time provide. The compensation of the chief of the fire department and assistant chiefs of the fire department and firemen in cities and towns where the council shall establish a paid fire department, and said city electrician and assistant city electricians, shall be fixed by ordinance. The mayor shall nominate and with the consent of the council appoint the chief of the fire department, the assistant chief or chiefs of the fire department, and all firemen, and such appointment shall be first made for a probationary term of six months, and thereafter the mayor may nominate and with the consent of the council appoint such chief and assistant chief or chiefs of the fire department and firemen who shall thereafter hold their appointment during good behavior, and while they have the physical ability to perform their duties. The chief of the fire department and the firemen shall not be deemed officers of the municipal corporation in which such fire department is established. [Amendment approved February 23, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 79.]

What is no excuse for violation of section. See note ante, § 3287.

This section is a disciplinary measure; it provides for the removal of a fireman for cause; but, as a condition precedent to such removal, charges in writing must be preferred to the council, a hearing had, and the accused found guilty; and, if a fireman has been removed without written charges, his action, after his discharge, in asking for a reinstatement, is not a waiver of his right to have written charges preferred; there is no waiver of a right that has been lost. State v. City of Anaconda, 41 Mont. 577, 582, 111 Pac. 345.

Where a discharged fireman seeks reinstatement, an allegation that he had been duly appointed and confirmed as a member of the fire department, and that at all times he has had the physical ability to perform his duties as such, is a sufficient allegation that he possesses the qualifications of a fireman; it is presumed that official duty was regularly performed, and the fair inference is that the applicant possesses the necessary qualifications; otherwise, he would not have been appointed in the first instance. State v. City of Anaconda, 41 Mont. 577, 581, 111 Pac. 345.

§ 3341a. Annual Report of Clerks of Cities Having Fire Department.

other engines, hook-and-ladder trucks, hose-carts and feet of hose in actual use, and such other facts as the commissioner may require. [Approved March 8, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 129, p. 353.]

At the end of the fiscal year, the state auditor shall issue and deliver to the treasurer of every city his warrant for an amount equal to fifty per cent (50) of the licenses collected by the state auditor under section 4017 of the Revised Codes of the state of Montana, in proportion to the premium so paid, and collected by the said fire insurance companies, in such cities to the total premiums, paid and collected by such fire insurance companies in the entire state. [Amendment approved March 1, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 72.]

§ 3341d. State Treasurer to Pay Warrants.

§ 3341e. Fire Department Relief Association.

(Section 5.) The members of the fire department or departments in each incorporated city in this state are hereby authorized to form themselves into an association to be known as the fire department relief association of the city of (naming the city); provided, that no such association shall be formed, unless a majority of the members of the city council in which the same is organized shall consent thereto. In the event of the formation of such fire department relief association, there shall be selected as officer of same by the members thereof the following named officers, to wit: A president, secretary and treasurer and such other officers as may be considered necessary. [Approved March 8, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 129, p. 354.]

§ 3341f. Report of Secretary and Treasurer of Association—Examination of Books and Accounts.

(Section 6.) The secretary and treasurer of every such association so formed, shall, annually, prepare a detailed report of its receipts and expenditures for the preceding year, showing to whom and for what purpose the money has been paid and expended, and file it with the city clerk, and a duplicate with the state auditor. No money shall be paid to the treasurer of the city until such report is so filed. No one serving as a substitute or on probation, nor any fireman in the city having such association who is not a member thereof, shall be deemed a fireman within the meaning of this act. No treasurer of any such association shall enter upon his duties until he shall have given to the association a good and sufficient bond for the faithful discharge of his duties according to law, the amount of such bond to be fixed by said association. All the financial books and accounts of such association and city with reference thereto shall be subject at all times to examination by the state examiner, and he is hereby authorized and empowered to make such examination when complaint is duly made to him, that the money or any part thereof, paid under the provisions of this act to the treasurer of any city, or such association, has been, or is being expended for an unauthorized purpose, and if such money upon examination is found to have been expended, contrary to the authority given, he shall so report to the Governor, upon whose direction to the state auditor no further warrants shall be issued to such city treasurer until the money so expend— has been restored. § 3341g. Duties of Association and City Treasurers.

(Section 7.) Whenever such fire department relief association is formed as herein provided for, and when the treasurer of such association has furnished the bond herein provided for, such treasurer shall receive all money in the hands of the city treasurer to the credit of said disability fund, giving to said city treasurer his receipt for same, and said city treasurer shall thereafter from time to time, as moneys are received by him for the credit of said fund, turn the same over to the treasurer of said relief association taking proper receipts therefor. [Approved March 8, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 129, p. 355.]

§ 3341h. Pensions to Retired Firemen.

(Section 8.) Every fire department relief association whenever its certificate of incorporation or by-laws so provide, and every board of trustees where no fire department relief association exists, may pay out of any moneys in the disability fund a service pension in an amount not exceeding one-half of the monthly salary last received by such pensioner as may be provided for, to each of its members who have heretofore retired or may hereafter retire, or has reached or shall hereafter reach the age of fifty years, or who has done or hereafter shall do active duty for eighteen years or more as a member of a volunteer, paid or partially paid and partially volunteer fire department in the municipality where such association exists, or who has been or who shall hereafter be a member of such fire department relief association at least ten years prior to such retirement, or who under the by-laws of the board of trustees may be entitled to such pension. Such pension shall be uniform in amount, and may be decreased or increased within the amount above specified, whenever the amount of funds on hand render such act advisable. No such pension shall be paid to any person while he remains a member of the fire department, and any person receiving such pension shall not be entitled to other relief from such association. [Approved March 8, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 129, p. 355.]

§ 3341i. Service Pensions for Disabled Members.

(Section 9.) Every firemen's relief association now or hereafter organized in any city in this state, having an organized fire department, which is now incorporated, or which may be hereafter incorporated and every board of trustees may pay out from any funds it may have heretofore received, or which it may hereafter receive, service pensions in such amounts and in such manner as its by-laws shall designate, not exceeding, however, one-half the sum last received as a monthly salary by such pensioned members monthly; provided, however, that such pension shall only be paid to such members as are permanently disabled, and if such disability is removed then such pension hereunder shall cease. [Approved March 8, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 129, p. 356.]

§ 3341j. Pensions to Widows and Orphans.

(Section 10.) Such firemen's relief association and such board of trustees may pay a pension to such of the widow and orphans of deceased firemen in such sums and under such limitations and conditions as its by-laws shall provide and permit, not exceeding however, a sum equal to the monthly salary last received by such deceased fireman, monthly to any such pensioner or to any one family, with the right to increase or decrease the amount of any such pension, when the funds on hand, or lack of funds on hand, or other good reasons, such reduction or increase seems advisable and proper. [Approved March 8, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 129, p. 356.]

§ 3341k. Revenue to be Set Aside as Special Fund.

(Section 11.) The amount so paid to any city treasurer, or to the treasurer of such firemen's relief association, under the provisions of this act shall be set aside as a special fund and may be appropriated and disbursed in the same manner as other funds belonging to said city or association are appropriated or disbursed, but only for the following purposes, namely:

(1.) For the use of sick, injured or disabled firemen of any fire department of said city, and their widows and orphans.

(2.) For the payment of pensions, pursuant to the provisions of sections 8 and 9 of this act.

Any money remaining in said fund unexpended may be invested by said association or by said trustees as provided for by law. [Approved March 8, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 129, p. 356.]

§ 3341l. Pensions Exempt and Nonassignable.

(Section 12.) Any payments made or to be made hereunder shall not be subject to judgments, garnishment, execution, or other legal process, and any person entitled to such pension shall not have the right to assign the same, nor shall the association or trustees have the authority to recognize any assignment or pay over any sum so assigned. [Approved March 8, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 129, p. 357.]

§ 3341m. Source and Control of Funds.

(Section 13.) Such association and such board of trustees shall have full charge, management and control of such funds hereinafter provided for, which said funds shall be derived from the following sources:

1. From interest, rents, gifts, or money from other sources.

2. From funds received from the state of Montana.
3. From money raised by taxation under section 3336 of the Revised Codes of the state of Montana. [Approved March 8, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 129, p. 357.]

MUNICIPAL TAXATION.

§ 3342. Amount of Tax for Municipal Purposes—Distribution of Funds.

The amount of taxes to be assessed and levied for general municipal or administrative purposes, must not exceed one per centum on the assessed value of taxable property of the city or town, and the council may distribute the money collected into such funds as are prescribed by ordinance, provided that for the purpose of maintaining public parks, the council may assess and levy in addition to said one per centum, not exceeding two mills on the dollar, on the assessed value of the taxable property of the city or town. [Amendment approved March 6, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 180.]

§ 3350a. County Assessor to Furnish Copies of Assessment-books to Cities and Towns.

On or before the second Monday in July of each year, the assessor must furnish to all cities of the third class and towns within his county, as shall make written request for the same on or before the first Monday in April of each year, a complete certified copy of his assessment-book so far as such assessment-book pertains to property within the limits of said cities and towns. The assessor may charge such cities and towns five cents per folio of one hundred words for each copy of his assessment-book furnished such cities and towns as provided in the preceding section. [Approved March 2, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 69, p. 132.]

PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS—ASSESSMENTS.

§ 3367. Special Improvements—Powers of City Council.

(Section 1.) All streets, alleys, places or courts, in the municipalities of this state, now open or dedicated, or which may hereafter be opened or dedicated to public use, shall be deemed and held to be open public streets, alleys, places or courts, for the purpose of this act, and the city council of each municipality is hereby empowered to establish and change the grades of said streets, alleys, places or courts, and fix the width thereof, and is hereby invested with jurisdiction to acquire private property for right of way and to order to be done any of the work mentioned in this act under the proceedings hereinafter described. [Amendment approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 89, p. 394.]

Editorial Notes.

Liability for injury from grading or regrading streets. 43 Am. Dec. 723.

The whole theory of local taxation or assessments is that the improvements for which they are levied afford a remuneration in the way of benefits. Power v. City of Helena, 43 Mont. 336, 341, 36 L. R. A. (N. S.) 39, 116 Pac. 415.

The opportunity presented for individual use determines the question of special benefit; a lot derives a "special benefit" from the construction of a sewer, when the sewer is so situated and constructed that connection can be had therewith. Power v. City of Helena, 43 Mont.

If a city levies an assessment for a storm sewer, and a property owner fails to appear before the council and make any objections, he cannot, after the expense has been incurred and the improvement made, invoke the aid of a court of equity, in the first instance, to relieve him from the assessment upon the ground that his property is so situated that it is impossible for it to obtain any benefit from the improvement; the doctrine of estoppel in pais is applicable. Power v. City of Helena, 43 Mont. 336, 342, 36 L. R. A. (N. S.) 39, 116 Pac. 415.

If a city levies an assessment for the construction of a storm sewer, and a property owner asks a court of equity to relieve him from the payment of the tax, on the ground that his property can receive no benefit, his complaint must show that he appeared, at the time and place designated in the resolution of the council for hearing objections; that he made objections thereto; and that his protest was ignored; otherwise, he is estopped. Power v. City of Helena, 43 Mont. 336, 343, 36 L. R. A. (N. S.) 39, 116 Pac. 415.

It is an "improvement," within the purview of this section and of section 3369, ante, to open and widen a street and to acquire property for that purpose, as authorized by the sixth and seventy-fifth subdivisions of section 3259, ante; hence, to render valid a special assessment upon property benefited by such improvement, there must have been a compliance with the statute relative to resolution of intention and notice of intention. Kohn v. City of Missoula, 50 Mont. 75, 144 Pac. 1087.

If an improvement district for street improvement contains federal property on one side of a street, such property is exempt from special assessment; but, in such a case, where it is necessary, the city has power to devote the street fund, or any money in the city treasury not set apart for some other purpose, toward paying the expense of paving in front of such property. Ford v. City of Great Falls, 46 Mont. 292, 308, 127 Pac. 1004.

Notwithstanding the unqualified language of this section, as including all abutting property, the legislature has no power to impose a tax of any character upon any property or instrumentality of the federal government; and this immunity includes special assessments. Ford v. City of Great Falls, 46 Mont. 292, 307, 127 Pac. 1004.

Where streets are to be improved, the fact that property, exempt from special assessment, lies on one side of one of the streets is no obstacle to the city's proceeding with the improvement of that street. Ford v. City of Great Falls, 46 Mont. 292, 307, 127 Pac. 1004.

The general words of a statute are to be so construed as to bring the statute into harmony with controlling statutory or constitutional provisions, rather than to attach to them a meaning which assumes that the legislative assembly intended to usurp a power specifically denied to it by the Constitution of the United States. State v. Alderson, 49 Mont. 29, 38, 140 Pac. 82.

With respect to special improvements, the "superficial area" rule is the rule of this state; it amounts to a legislative declaration that all property in a proposed district is, presumptively, equally benefited by the improvement contemplated. Mansur v. City of Polson, 45 Mont. 585, 595, 125 Pac. 1002.

The application of the "superficial area" rule may work a hardship in particular cases, but some scheme of assessment must necessarily be enforced to pay for special improvements; and assessment proceedings for street improvements will not be held void though the city council has included side streets in the special improvement district, thus forcing the owner of an inside lot to bear the same proportion of expense for improvements on side streets adjacent to a corner lot of the same area, already more valuable, as would the owner of the corner lot; and though the benefits to the inside lot owner are disproportionate to those to accrue to the owners of corner lots. Mansur v. City of Polson, 45 Mont. 585, 595, 125 Pac. 1002.

A city council does not acquire jurisdiction to levy special assessments to defray the cost of constructing a district sewer, where it entirely ignores special provisions of the statute as to that matter. In case of repugnancy, the special statute will prevail over the general statute. Stadler v. City of Helena, 46 Mont. 128, 135, 127 Pac. 454.

The property of a school district, devoted exclusively to public school purposes, is liable for the payment of assessments made for special municipal improvements. City of Kalispell v. School District, 45 Mont. 221, 230, Ann. Cas. 1913D, 1101, 122 Pac. 742.

"Public places," at the end of this section, include streets and alleys, but not property belonging to a school district and devoted to public school purposes. City of Kalispell v. School District, 45 Mont. 221, 230, Ann. Cas. 1913D, 1101, 122 Pac. 742.

Sections 3367-3417 are to be considered as a single legislative act, the evident purpose of which was to provide a detailed plan for public improvements the cost of which might be borne or shared by property owners; sections 3379 and 3380 must therefore be regarded as having some reference to the plan so devised and to the methods of inauguration set forth in sections 3369 and 3370. Kohn v. City of Missoula, 50 Mont. 75, 144 Pac. 1087.

§ 3369. Special Improvement Districts—Placing Wires Under Ground.

(Section 2.) Whenever the public interest or convenience may require, the city council is hereby authorized and empowered to create special improvement districts, and order the whole, or any portion or portions, either in length or width, of any one or more of the streets, avenues, alleys, or places or public ways of any such city graded or regraded to the official grade, planked or replanked, paved or repaved, macadamized or remacadamized, graveled or regraveled, piled or repiled, capped or recapped, surfaced or resurfaced, oiled or reoiled, and to order the construction or reconstruction therein of sidewalks, cross-walks, culverts, bridges, gutters, curbs, steps, parkings, including the planting of grass plots and setting out trees; sewers, ditches, drains, conduits and channels for sanitary and drainage purposes, or either or both thereof, with outlets, cesspools, manholes, catch-basins, flush tanks, septic tanks, connecting sewers, ditches, drains, conduits, channels, and other appurtenances; pipes, hydrants, hose connections for irrigating; appliances for fire protection; tunnels, viaducts, conduits, and subways; breakwaters, levees, retaining walls, bulkheads and walls of rock or other material to protect the same from overflow or injury by water; the opening of streets, avenues and alleys; the planting of trees thereon; and to maintain, preserve and care for any and all of the improvements herein mentioned; and the construction or reconstruction in, over, or through property or rights of way owned by such city, of tunnels, sewers, ditches, drains, conduits and channels for sanitary and drainage purposes, or either or both thereof, with necessary outlets, cesspools, manholes, catch-basins, flush tanks, septic tanks, connection sewers, ditches, drains, conduits, channels and other appurtenances; pipes, hose connections for irrigating, hydrants and appliances for fire protection; and breakwaters, levees, retaining walls and bulkheads; walls of rock or other material to protect the streets, avenues, lanes, alleys, courts, places, public ways and other property in any such city from overflow by water; and to order any work to be done which shall be deemed necessary to improve the whole, or any portion of such streets, avenues, sidewalks, alleys or places, or public ways, or property, or right of way of such city. The city council is also hereby authorized to create a district as hereinafter specified for the purpose of defraying the cost of acquiring private property for the purpose of opening, widening or extending any street, avenue or alley within the corporate limits of such city.

It is further provided that the council shall have the same jurisdiction and powers as is in this section above provided, to (before doing any of the work mentioned in this act) require any public service corporation, or company, firm or person occupying such streets, avenues or alleys, at their own expense and within a reasonable time to be fixed by the council, place in an underground conduit in such manner as may be directed by the city council, all wires, electric conduits, telephone, telegraph, power or power transmission lines, or appurtenances thereto, or appliances owned, held or enjoyed in connection therewith. [Amendment approved March 9, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 142, p. 341. Prior amendment: Laws 1913, c. 89, p. 394.]

The language of this section is permissive, not mandatory, except as to the provisions for notice and a hearing. Ford v. City of Great Falls, 46 Mont. 292, 303, 127 Pac. 1004.

The council is the governing body of the municipality, and it is given the exclusive control of streets and highways therein. Ford v. City of Great Falls, 46 Mont. 292, 305, 127 Pac. 1004.

The council of a municipality may let all street work by contract; or, do the same itself, through a committee, board, or designated officer; or, it may pursue any other plan that best meets the exigencies of a particular case. Ford v. City of Great Falls, 46 Mont. 292, 306, 127 Pac. 1004.

§ 3370. Resolution of Intentions—Notice—Materials.

(Section 3.) Before creating any special improvement district, for the purpose of making any of the improvements, or acquiring any private property for any purpose authorized by this act, the city council shall pass a resolution of intention so to do, which resolution shall designate the number of such district, describe the boundaries thereof, and state therein the general character of the improvement or improvements which are to be made, and an approximate estimate of the cost thereof; provided, however, that any improvement to be made in paving, the city or town council may in describing the general character of the same, describe several kinds of paving. Upon having passed such resolution, the council must give notice of the passage of such resolution of intention, which notice must be published for five (5) days in a daily newspaper; or in some one issue of a weekly paper published in the city or town, or in case no newspaper be published in such city, then by posting for five (5) days in three (3) public places in the city or town, and a copy of such notice shall be mailed to every person, firm, or corporation, or the agent of such person, firm, or corporation having property within the proposed district at his last known address, upon the same day, such notice is first published or posted. Such notice must describe the general character of the improvement or the improvements so proposed to be made, and state the estimated cost thereof, and designate the time when and the place where the council will hear and pass upon all protests that may be made against the making of such improvements, or the creation of such district; and said notice shall refer to the resolution on file in the office of the city clerk for the description of the boundaries. The city council may include in one proceeding under one resolution of intention and in one contract any of the different kinds of work mentioned in this act, and any number of streets and rights of way, or portions thereof, and it may except therefrom any of said work, already done, upon a street to the official grade.

Where the special improvement contemplated is the paving of a street, in which car tracks have been constructed, the city shall have the power and authority to order the general character of the material between the rails and one foot on each side of the rails to be of a different kind from that used in the remainder of the street; providing, that, the general character of the material to be used between the car tracks and one foot on each side of the rails, be described, in the resolution of intention, in the same manner as the general character of the material used for the rest of the contemplated pavement.

The lots or portions of lots fronting upon said excepted work, already done, shall not be included in the assessment for the class of work from which the exception is made; provided that this shall not be construed so as to affect the special provisions as to grading contained in subdivision 3

§ 3371. Charge of Cost of Improvement upon Extended District not Fronting on Street Improved.

(Section 4.) Whenever the contemplated work or improvement in the opinion of the city council is of more than local or ordinary public benefit, or whenever, according to estimates furnished by the city engineer, the total estimated costs and expenses thereof would exceed one-half the total assessed value of the lots and lands assessed, if assessed upon the lots or lands fronting upon said proposed work or improvement, according to the valuation fixed by the last assessment-roll whereon it was assessed for taxes for municipal purposes, the city council may make the expense of such work or improvement chargeable upon an extended district and which may include other lots not fronting on the improvement and which the said city council shall, in its resolution of intention, declare to be the district benefited by said work or improvements and to be assessed to pay the costs and expenses thereof. [Amendment approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 89, p. 396.]

§ 3372. Protests Against Proposed Work.

(Section 5.) At any time within fifteen days after the date of the first publication of the notice of the passage of the resolution of intention, any owner of the property liable to be assessed for said work may make written protest against the proposed work or against the extent or creation of the district to be assessed, or both. Such protest must be in writing, and be delivered to the said clerk of the city council, who shall indorse thereon the date of its receipt by him. At the next regular meeting of the city council, after the expiration of the time within which said protest may be so made the city council shall proceed to hear and pass upon all protests so made, and its decision shall be final and conclusive; provided, however, that when the protest is against the proposed work, and the cost thereof is to be assessed upon the property fronting thereon, and the city council finds that such protest is made by the owners of a majority of the property fronting on the proposed work, or when the protest is against the proposed work, and the cost thereof is to be assessed upon the property within an extended district, and the city council finds that such protest is made by the owners of more than one-half of the area of the property to be assessed for said improvements, no further proceedings shall be taken for a period of six months from the date when said protest was received by the said clerk of the city council; except in case the improvements are the construction of sanitary sewers, when the said protest may be overruled by an affirmative vote of a majority of the members of the city council.

In determining whether or not sufficient protests have been filed in a proposed district, to prevent further proceedings therein, property owned by a county, city or town shall be considered the same as other property in the district. The city council may adjourn said hearing from time to time. [Amendment approved March 9, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 142, p. 343. Prior amendment: Laws 1913, c. 89, p. 397.]

§ 3373. Jurisdiction to Order Proposed Improvements.

(Section 6.) When no protests have been delivered to the clerk of the city council within fifteen days after the date of the first publication of the notice of the passing of the resolution of intention, or when a protest shall have been found by said city council to be insufficient, or shall have been overruled, or when a protest against the extent of the proposed district shall have been heard and denied, immediately thereupon the city council shall be deemed to have acquired jurisdiction to order the proposed improvements. But before ordering any of said proposed improvements the city council shall pass a resolution creating the said special improvement district in accordance with the resolution of intention theretofore introduced and passed by the city council. [Amendment approved March 9, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 142, p. 344. Prior amendment: Laws 1913, c. 89, p. 397.]

§ 3374. Sufficiency of Description After Resolution of Intention.

(Section 7.) In all resolutions, notices, orders, and determinations subsequent to the resolution of intention and notice of improvements, it shall be sufficient to briefly describe the work or the assessment district or both and to refer to the resolution of intention for further particulars. [Amendment approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 89, p. 397.]

§ 3375. Bids for Work and Award of Contract.

(Section 8.) Notice inviting proposals, and referring to the specifications on file, shall be published at least twice in a daily, semi-weekly, or weekly newspaper, published and circulated in said city, designated by the council for that purpose, and in case there is no newspaper published in said city, then it shall be posted in at least three public places.

The city council may call for bids or proposals for several kinds and types of materials for any improvements proposed to be made under Chapter 89 of the Acts of the Thirteenth Legislative Assembly of the state of Montana, reserving the right to select the kind or type of material to be used in making any such improvements, after the bids or proposals therefor shall have been opened, examined and declared.

The time fixed for the opening of bids shall be not less than ten days from the time of the final publication of said notice. All proposals, or bids offered shall be accompanied by a check payable to the city, certified by a responsible bank for an amount which shall not be less than ten per cent (10%) of the aggregate of the proposal. Said proposals or bids shall be delivered to the clerk of the said city council, and said city council shall, in open session, publicly open, examine and declare the same, provided, however, that no proposal or bids shall be considered unless accompanied by said check. The city council may reject any and all proposals or bids should it deem this for the public good, and also the bid of any party who has been delinquent or unfaithful in any former contract with the municipality, and shall reject all proposals or bids other than the lowest regular proposal or bid of any responsible bidder, and may award the contract for said work or improvement to the lowest responsible bidder at the prices named in his bid.

If the bids are rejected or no bids are received, the city council may within six months thereafter readvertise for proposals or bids for the performance of the work as in the first instance, without further proceedings, and thereafter proceed in the manner in this section provided and shall thereupon return to the proper parties the checks corresponding to the bids so rejected. But the checks accompanying such accepted proposals or bids shall be held by the city clerk of said city until the contract for doing said work, as hereinafter provided, has been entered into, either by said lowest bidder, or by the owners of over fifty per cent of the frontage, whereupon said certified check shall be returned to said bidder. But if said bidder fails, neglects or refuses to enter into the contract to perform said work or improvements, as hereinafter provided, then the certified check accompanying his bid, and the amount therein mentioned shall be declared to be forfeited to said city, and shall be collected by it, and paid into the general fund. [Amendment approved March 9, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 142, p. 344. Prior amendment: Laws 1913, c. 89, p. 398.]

§ 3376. Contract by Owner to Do Work.

(Section 9.) The owners of three-fourths of the frontage of lots and lands liable to be assessed, or their agents, and who shall make oath that they are such owners or agents, shall not be required to present sealed proposals or bids, but may, within three days after the said award, elect to take such work and enter into a written contract to do the whole work at a price at least five per cent less than the price at which the same has been awarded, and all work done under such contract shall be subject to the same plans and specifications governing the lowest responsible bidder. Should the said owners fail to elect to take said work, and to enter into a written contract therefor within three days, or to commence the work within fifteen days after the date of such written contract, and to prosecute the same with diligence to completion, it shall be the duty of the city council to enter into a contract with the original bidder to whom the contract was awarded, and at the prices specified in his bid. [Amendment approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 89, p. 399.]

§ 3377. Reletting Contract After Default of Contractor.

(Section 10.) But if such original bidder neglects, fails or refuses for fifteen days after the notice of award to enter into the contract, then the city council, without further proceedings, shall again advertise for proposals or bids, as in the first instance, and award the contract for said work to the then lowest regular bidder. Should no bids be received in response to this second call for proposals, the council may again advertise for bids under the same proceedings at any time within six months from the time set for the last reception of bids, and let the contract to the then lowest bidder, and such delay shall in no way affect the validity of any of the proceedings or assessments levied thereunder. The bids of all persons and the election of all owners, as aforesaid, who have failed to enter into the contract, as herein provided, shall be rejected in any bidding or election subsequent to the first for the same work. [Amendment approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 89, p. 399.]

§ 3378. Default of Contractor—Reletting of Work.

(Section 11.) If the contractor or owner who may have taken any contract does not complete the same within the time limited in the contract or within such further time as the city council may give him, the city engineer shall report such delinquency to the city council, which may relet the unfinished portion of said work after pursuing the formalities prescribed hereinbefore for the letting of the whole in the first instance; or the city shall have the right at its option to complete the contract and deduct any cost in excess of the contract price thereof from any money, bonds or warrants due such contractor, or owners, and in the event there is no money, bonds or warrants due such contractor, or owners, from which to deduct such cost then and in such event the city shall have the right to sue such contractor, or owners, and recover from him such cost. [Amendment approved March 9, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 142, p. 345.]

§ 3379. Bond of Contractor.

(Section 12.) All contractors, contracting owners included, shall, at the time of executing any contract for street work, execute a bond to the satisfaction and approval of the city council with two or more sureties and payable to such city, in a sum not less than twenty-five per cent of the amount of the contract, conditioned for the faithful performance of the contract and indemnifying the city from any detriment, damage or loss growing out of said work; and the sureties shall justify before any person contempt to administer an oath, in double the amount mentioned in said bond, over and above all statutory exemptions; provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed as to prevent or prohibit the city council from requiring or accepting in any case a bond furnished by a surety company authorized to transact business in the state of Montana. [Amendment approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 89, p. 400.]

§ 3380. Notice by Owner of Irregular Proceedings or Damages to Property.

(Section 13.) At any time within sixty days from the date of the award of contract any owner or other person, having any interest in any lot or land liable to assessment, who claims that any of the previous acts or proceedings, relating to said improvements, are irregular, defective, erroneous, or faulty, or that his property will be damaged by the making of any of the improvements in the manner contemplated, may file with the city clerk a written notice, specifying in what respect said acts or proceedings are irregular, defective, erroneous, or faulty, or in what manner and to what extent his property will be damaged by the making of said improvements. Said notice shall state that it is made in pursuance of this section. All objections to any act or proceeding or in relation to the making of said improvements, not made in writing and in the manner and at the time aforesaid, and all claims for damages therefor, shall be waived by such property owner; provided the notice of the passage of the resolution of intention has been actually published and the notices of improvements posted, as provided in this act. [Amendment approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 89, p. 400.]

§ 3381. Methods for Payment of Improvements.

(Section 14.) Subdivision 1. To defray the cost of the making of any of the improvements provided for in this act, the city council shall adopt one of the two following methods of assessment:

(a) The city council shall assess the entire cost of such improvements against the entire district, each lot or parcel of land within such district to be assessed for that part of the whole cost which its area bears to the area of the entire district, exclusive of streets, avenues, alleys and public places; provided however that the city council, in its discretion, shall have the power to pay the whole or any part of the cost of any street, avenue or alley intersections out of any funds in its hands, available for that purpose, or to include the whole or any part of such costs within the amount of the assessment to be paid by the property in the district. In order to apportion the cost of any of the improvements herein provided for between the corner lot and the inside lots of any block, the council may, in the resolution creating any improvement district, provide that whenever any of the improvements herein provided for shall be along any side street, or bordering or abutting upon the side of any corner lot of any block, that the amount of the assessment against the property in such district, to defray the cost of such improvements, shall be so assessed that each square foot of the land, embraced within any such corner lot, shall bear double the amount of the cost of such improvement that a square foot of any inside lot shall bear.

(b) The city council shall assess the cost of such improvements against the entire district, each lot or parcel of land within such district, bordering or abutting upon street or streets whereon or wherein the improvement has been made, in proportion to the lineal feet abutting or bordering the same; provided, however, that this method of assessment shall not apply to assessments in improvement districts created under the provisions of section 4 of this act; and provided further that the city council, in its discretion, shall have the power to pay the whole or any part of the cost of any street, avenue or alley intersections out of any funds in its hands, available for that purpose; or to include the whole or any part of such costs within the amount of the assessment to be paid by the property in the district.

Whenever any portion of the surface of a street is occupied or used by any person, firm, or corporation under a franchise for railway or street railway purposes, the cost and expense of making such improvements between the rails and for one foot on each side thereof shall be paid by the person, firm or corporation owning such railway; and where double tracks of railway are laid along a street or streets, such person, firm or corporation owning such railway shall pay the cost of the making of such improvement or improvements between such tracks and between all switches, turn-outs and spurs.

Subd. 2. Whenever any lot, piece or parcel of land belonging to the United States, or mandatory of the government, shall front upon the proposed work or improvement, or be included within the district declared by the city council in its resolution of intention to be the district to be assessed to pay the costs and expenses thereof, said council shall, in the resolution of intention, declare that said lots, pieces or parcels of land, or any of them, shall be omitted from the assessment thereafter to be made to cover the costs and expenses of said work or improvement and the cost of said work on improvement in front of said lots, pieces or parcels of land shall be paid by the city from its general fund.

Subd. 3. It shall be lawful for the owner or owners of lots or land fronting upon any street, the width and grade of which shall have been established by the city council, to perform, at his or their own expense (after obtaining permission from the council so to do, but before said council has passed its resolution of intention to order grading exclusive of this), any grading upon said street, to its full width, or to the center line thereof, and to its grade as then established, and thereupon to procure, at his or their own expense, a certificate from the city engineer, setting forth the number of cubic yards of cutting and filling made by him or them in such grading, and proportions performed by each owner, and that the same is done to establish width and grade of said street, or to the center line thereof, and thereafter to file said certificate with the city engineer, which certificate the engineer shall record in a book kept for that purpose in his office, properly indexed. Whenever thereafter the city council orders the grading of said street, or any portion thereof, on which any grading certified as aforesaid has been done, the bids and contracts must express the price by the cubic yard for cutting and filling in grading; and the said owner or owners and his or their successors in interest shall be entitled to credit, on the assessment upon his or their lots and lands fronting on said street for the grading thereof, to the amount of the cubic yards of cutting and filling set forth in his or their certificate, at the prices named in the contract for said cutting and filling; or, if the grade meanwhile has been duly altered, only for so much of said certified work as would be required for grading to the altered grade; provided, however, that such owner or owners shall not be entitled to such credit as may be in excess of the assessments for grading upon the lots and lands owned by him or them, and proportionately assessed for the whole of said grading; and the city clerk shall include in the assessment for the whole of said grading upon the same grade the number of cubic yards of cutting and filling set forth in any and all certificates so recorded in his office, or for the whole of said grading to the duly altered grade so much of said certified work as would be required for grading thereto, and shall enter corresponding credits, deducting the same as payments upon the amounts assessed against the lots and land owned, respectively, by said certified owners and their successors in interest; provided, however, that he shall not so include any grading quantities or credit any sums in excess of the proportionate assessments for the whole of the grading which are made upon any lots and lands fronting upon said street and belonging to any such certified owners or their successors in interest. Whenever any owner or owners of any lots and lands fronting on any street shall have heretofore done, or shall hereafter do any work (excepting grading) on such street, in front of any block, at his or their own expense, and the city council shall subsequently order any work to be done of the same class in front of the same block, said work so done at the expense of such owner or owners shall be excepted from the order ordering work to be done; provided, that the work so done at the expense of such owner or owners, shall be upon the official grade and in condition satisfactory to the city engineer at the time said order is passed.

Subd. 4. The terms, lot, lots, lands, piece or parcel of land, whenever mentioned in this act, shall be deemed to include and shall include property owned or controlled by any person, firm or corporation as a railroad, street or interurban railroad right of way, and wherever a railroad, street or interurban railroad right of way shall front on or about or parallel or be included within or divide longitudinally any street improved under the provisions of this act or shall be included within any district to be assessed for the cost of any improvement provided in this act, such railroad right of way (whether the same is owned in fee or as an easement) shall be included in the assessment and shall be assessed with the same effect as other lots, lands or pieces or parcels of land are assessed, as provided in this act, and such railroad, street or interurban railroad right of way shall be subject to sale for nonpayment of assessments as in this act provided. [Amendment approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 89, p. 400.]

To defray the cost of such public sewers, the council may appropriate moneys therefor from the general or sewer fund, or by availing itself of moneys derived from a bond issue authorized by the Constitution and laws of the state.

It is further provided that when a public or main sewer also serves as a district sewer, the city council may assess the property bordering or abutting upon such public sewer either at the time of its construction or at any future time for an amount equal to the estimated cost of such district sewer capable of accommodating such property. [Amendment approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 89, p. 404.]

Such resolutions shall contain a description of each lot and parcel of land with the name of the owner, if known, and the amount of each partial payment to be made and the day when the same shall become delinquent.

The payment of assessments to defray the cost of constructing any improvements in special improvement districts may be spread over a term of not to exceed twenty years, payments to be made in equal annual installments. Such notice shall state the time and place at which objections to the final adoption of such resolution will be heard by the council, and the time for such hearing shall not be less than five days after the publication of such notice. At the time so fixed the council shall meet and hear all such objections, and for that purpose may adjourn from day to day, and may, by resolution, modify such assessment in whole or in part. A copy of such resolution, certified by the city clerk, must be delivered to the city treasurer within two days after its passage. [Amendment approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 89, p. 405.]

§ 3389i. Adjournment of Hearing by Council.

(Section 32.) Whenever in proceedings hereunder, a time and place for hearing by the city council are fixed, and, from any cause, the hearing is not then and there held or regularly adjourned to a time and place fixed, the power or jurisdiction of the city council in the premises shall not thereby be divested or lost, but the city council may proceed anew to fix a time and place for the hearing, and cause notice thereof to be given by publication by at least one insertion in a daily, semi-weekly or weekly newspaper, such publication to be at least five days before the date of the hearing, and thereupon the city council shall have power to act in as in the first instance. [Amendment approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 89, p. 416.]

§ 3389j. Posting and Publication of Notices by Clerk—Effect of Errors in Proceedings.

(Section 34.) Whenever any resolution, order, notice or determination is required to be published or posted, and the duty of posting or procuring the publication or posting of the same is not specifically enjoined upon any officer of the city, it shall be the duty of the city clerk to post or procure the publication or posting thereof, as the case may be. No proceeding or step herein shall be invalidated or affected by any error or mistake or departure herefrom as to the officer or person posting or procuring the publication or posting of any resolution, notice, order or determination hereunder when the same is actually published or posted for the time herein required. [Amendment approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 89, p. 416.]

§ 3389k. Repealing Clause.

§ 3389l. Curative Provision Concerning Special Improvement Districts Since March 14, 1913.

That all special improvement districts which any city or town council in the state of Montana has created or attempted to create since March 14,

1913, pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 89 of the acts of the Thirteenth Legislative Assembly of the state of Montana, the creation or attempted creation of which was irregular because of the failure of any such city or town council, so creating or attempting to create the same, to proceed in the creation of any such districts, or in giving notice thereof, in the manner required by Chapter 89 of the acts of the Thirteenth Legislative Assembly of the state of Montana; and any and all bonds and warrants issued, or to be issued to defray the cost and expense incurred, or to be incurred in the construction of the improvements made or to be made in any such districts, and the assessments levied or to be levied in any such districts, are hereby legalized and validated, and the acts and proceedings of the city or town council of any such city or town done or had with reference thereto, are hereby made of as binding force and effect, as though they were done and had in strict conformity with the provisions of said Chapter 89 of the acts of the Thirteenth Legislative Assembly of the state of Montana; provided however, that a resolution of intention to create, or a resolution creating or attempting to create any such district, was duly and properly passed and adopted by the city or town council of any such city or town, and approved by the mayor thereof, prior to giving notice thereof; and provided further that notice of the passage of such resolution of intention to create, or resolution creating or attempting to create any such district, or notice of the creation or intention to create or attempted creation of any such district, and of the time and place when and where the city or town council of any such city or town would hear and pass upon all protests made by any owner of property in any such district liable to be assessed for the work done or proposed to be done therein, against the making of such improvement, or the creation of any such district, and describing the general character of the improvements proposed to be made, the estimated cost thereof, and referring to the resolution on file in the office of the city or town clerk of any such city or town, for the description of the boundaries of any such district, was published for five days in a daily newspaper, or in some one issue of a weekly paper published in any such city or town, or in case no newspaper was published in any such city or town, at the time such notice was given, then, provided, it was posted for five days in three public places in such city or town; and provided further that a copy of such notice so published or posted was mailed to every person, firm or corporation, or to the agent of every person, firm or corporation, having property within any such district, at his last known address, upon the same day such notice was first published or posted; and provided further that said notice was published or posted, and mailed on a day not less than fifteen days prior to the date set for hearing and passing upon all protests made in any such district; and provided further that at the next regular meeting of the city or town council of any such city or town after the expiration of said fifteen days, the city or town council of any such city or town, proceeded to hear and pass upon, and did hear and pass upon all protests made in any such district; and provided further that no sufficient protests were made in any such district to prevent further proceedings therein, as provided in Chapter 89 of the acts of the Thirteenth Legislative Assembly of the state of Montana; and provided further that the resolutions, ordinances, notices, acts, and proceedings required to be passed, adopted, approved, given, done and had by the provisions of Chapter 89 of the acts of the Thirteenth Legislative Assembly of the state of Montana for the letting of any contract for the construction of any improvements in any such district, and the resolutions, ordinances, notices, acts, and proceedings required to be passed, adopted, approved, given, done and had by said Chapter 89 of the acts of the Thirteenth Legislative Assembly of the state of Montana, for the issuance and delivery or sale of any bonds or warrants of any such district where, or shall be duly and regularly passed, adopted, approved, given, done and had in conformity with the provisions of said Chapter 89 of the acts of the Thirteenth Legislative Assembly of the state of Montana, and the laws of the state of Montana relating thereto; and provided further that the assessment to defray the cost of making the improvements in any such district was, or shall be duly and regularly passed, adopted and approved, and notice thereof duly and regularly given, and a copy of the resolution levying any such assessment, certified to by the city or town clerk, delivered to the city or town treasurer of any such city or town, within two days after its final passage, as required by the provisions of said Chapter 89 of the acts of the Thirteenth Legislative Assembly of the state of Montana; and provided further that the sum levied and assessed or to be levied and assessed against the property of any such district did not, or shall not exceed the cost and expense of making the improvements therein; and provided further that the improvements made or to be made in any such district, are improvements which a city or town can legally make under the provisions of said Chapter 89 of the acts of the Thirteenth Legislative Assembly of the state of Montana; and provided further that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to affect or disturb rights acquired under any judicial decision made in any cause involving the procedure of any special improvement district created, or attempted to be created under the provisions of Chapter 89 of the acts of the Thirteenth Legislative Assembly of the state of Montana.

This act shall be in full force and effect from and after its adoption and approval by the Governor. [Approved March 9, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 142, p. 349.]

By act approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 89, p. 416.

By act approved March 14, 1913; Laws 1913, c. 89, p. 416.

The failure to acquire jurisdiction to proceed in the creation of an improvement district by taking the necessary steps in that direction required by law cannot be cured through failure of any property owner to file with the city clerk his written objection to the regularity of the proceedings within sixty days of the letting of the contract. Shapard v. City of Missoula, 49 Mont. 269, 275 et seq., 141 Pac. 544.

The operation of sections 3441-3446, in so far as they have to do with the appointment of appraisers, with an appraisal by them, and with an appeal therefrom, is, by section 3441, expressly restricted to those cases where a grade has been established by the corporate authority of the city or town, where a building has been erected with reference to such grade, where the grade is afterward changed, and where such change entails the raising or lowering of the building, to the damage of the owner. State v. District Court, 48 Mont. 614, 616, 139 Pac. 791.

The district court is without jurisdiction to entertain an appeal from an award of a board of appraisers where the damages complained of are the result of a change in the street from contour to grade. State v. District Court, 48 Mont. 614, 617, 139 Pac. 791.

The power of a city to appoint a board of appraisers, and to clothe it with any authority, depends, not only upon the situation indicated in the note to section 3441, ante, but is made further to depend upon the inability of the city and the owner to agree; this, of course, implies some effort, and, before the appointment is made, it should appear that they were, in fact, unable to agree. State v. District Court, 48 Mont. 614, 617, 139 Pac. 791.

BONDS AND INDEBTEDNESS.

This section does not require that the notice of an election called for the purpose of obtaining authority to issue water and sewer bonds, shall state the time of payment of interest thereon; that time is fixed by section 3459, post, and the elector is presumed to understand that the time of payment will be that fixed by the statute. Carlson v. City of Helena, 39 Mont. 82, 111, 17 Ann. Cas. 1233, 102 Pac. 39.

§ 3459.

Notice of election need not state time of payment of interest on bonds. See note ante, § 3455.

Condemnation of water, by city, for more necessary public use. See note post, § 7334.

A constitutional requirement that the revenues derived from a water plant shall be devoted to the payment of a debt contracted for a water supply does not imply a legislative prohibition to grant authority to a municipality to make additional provision for payment, as it has done in this section. Carlson v. City of Helena, 39 Mont. 82, 108, 17 Ann. Cas. 1233, 102 Pac. 39.

Under this section, it is incumbent upon the city council, in providing for the issuance of water and sewer bonds, to make them redeemable, at its option, at a time prior to their maturity; unless it does so, the bonds are void. Carlson v. City of Helena, 39 Mont. 82, 109, 17 Ann. Cas. 1233, 102 Pac. 39.

§ 3464a. Public Parks and Grounds—Additional Indebtedness of Municipalities to Provide.

(Section 1.) A city or town council, in addition to the power it now has under the law, has and is hereby granted and given the further power to contract an indebtedness on behalf of a city or town, upon the credit thereof, by borrowing money or issuing bonds for the purpose of purchasing and improving lands for public parks and grounds provided that the total amount of indebtedness authorized to be contracted in any form, including the then existing indebtedness, must not at any time exceed three per centum of the total assessed valuation of the taxable property of the city or town, as ascertained by the last assessment for state and county taxes; and provided further that no money must be borrowed on bonds issued for the purchase of lands and improving same for public parks and grounds until the proposition has been submitted to the vote of the taxpayers of the city or town affected thereby, and a majority vote cast in favor thereof.

(Section 2.) Nothing in this act shall be so construed as to repeal or amend section 3259 of the Revised Codes of Montana of 1907, or any part or portion thereof. [Approved March 3, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 55, p. 62.]

Establishment of highway by prescription. See note ante, § 1340.

Sufficiency of title of act. State v. District Court, 49 Mont. 146, 152, 140 Pac. 732.

This section was not curative in character, but was intended simply to preserve the statu quo of municipal corporations in existence at the time of the adoption of the code of 1895. It imparted no validity to a void ordinance providing compensation for the acting mayor of a municipality. McGillie v. Corby, 37 Mont. 249, 254, 17 Ann. Cas. 1263, 95 Pac. 1063.

TOWN SITES.

§ 3531. Laying Out and Sale of Unoccupied or Unclaimed Lands.

If there be any unoccupied or vacant unclaimed lands within the limits of such city or town site, the judge may cause the same to be laid out and surveyed into suitable blocks and lots, and must reserve such portions as may be deemed necessary for public squares, churches, schoolhouse lots, parks and levees, and cause all necessary roads, streets, lanes and alleys to be laid out through the same and dedicated to public use; and the judge may sell the same in suitable parcels to possessors of adjoining lands residing thereon, or to other persons, at a price not less than ten dollars per lot; and in case two or more claimants apply for the same lot or lots, he must sell the same by auction to the highest bidder for cash. If any such lots remain unsold at the end of six months after the filing of the town plat, the said judge must sell said unclaimed lots, on application, at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, and give deeds therefor to the several purchasers; but, nevertheless, the judge may sell and he is hereby empowered to sell and execute deeds for any unoccupied, vacant and unsurveyed portions of a town site, without first causing the same to be surveyed or platted into blocks, lots, roads, streets and alleys, or otherwise subdivided, whenever it shall be made to appear to the judge, by a written application to purchase the same, established by evidence that the unsurveyed portions of the town site sought to be purchased are irregular and fragmentary strips or pieces of land within the exterior boundaries of the town site, and that they are unoccupied and vacant, and that it would be an unnecessary expense and impracticable to cause the same to be first surveyed or platted into blocks, lots, roads, streets and alleys, or otherwise subdivided; and the sale of such unoccupied vacant and unsurveyed portions of a town site shall be conducted, as near as may be, in the manner provided for the sale of town lots, except that the price to be paid for any one irregular, fragmentary, unoccupied, vacant and unsurveyed portion of a town site shall not be less than one hundred dollars; and all deeds heretofore executed by the judge who has sold and conveyed irregular, fragmentary, unoccupied, vacant and unsurveyed portions of a town site are hereby confirmed and made lawful, valid and effectual as if such, or any, unsurveyed portion of the town site had first been surveyed and platted into blocks, lots, roads, streets and alleys, or otherwise subdivided. [Amendment approved February 11, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 25.]

§ 3537. Informalities or Irregularities not to Invalidate — Legalizing Deeds.

No mere informality, failure, or omission, on the part of any person or officer named in this article, invalidates the acts of such person or officer, but every certificate or deed granted to any person, pursuant to the provisions of this article, is conclusive evidence that all preliminary proceedings in relation thereto have been correctly taken and performed. And if the original or first deed executed by the district judge granting and conveying any lot or lots be lost or destroyed or cannot be found, and if such deed or deeds so executed have not been recorded in the office of the county clerk of the county in which the property is situated, the district judge shall, upon written application stating the facts, execute and deliver another deed or deeds, as the case may be, to the purchaser of such lot or lots, or to his heirs or grantees, upon a showing sustained by evidence satisfactory to the district judge that the original or first deed or deeds were executed and have been lost or destroyed, or cannot be found, and have not been recorded; and all deeds heretofore executed by the district judge in lieu of the original or first deed, or deeds, which have been lost or destroyed, or which could not be found, and which have not been recorded in the office of the county clerk of the county in which the property is situated, are hereby legalized, confirmed and made valid and effectual as if such deed or deeds were the original, first and only deed or deeds executed therefor. [Amendment approved February 11, 1911; Laws 1911, p. 27.]

By adopting the common law, as shown in this section and section 8060, post, this state adopted the crown's prerogative with respect to public debts; if a person is indebted to individuals and to the state, the state as sovereign is entitled to priority of payment. American Bonding Co. v. Reynolds, 203 Fed. 356, 358.

It was the rule at common law that Sunday was dies non juridicus, but the prohibition involved extended only to acts strictly judicial in character; it had no application whatever to ministerial acts. State v. Alderson, 49 Mont. 387, 410, 142 Pac. 210.

In the absence of a prohibitory statute, the rule of the common law, as to the doing of acts on Sunday, prevails; and any ministerial act, such as the publication of a proposed constitutional amendment, may be done on Sunday and as efficaciously as if done on any other day. State v. Alderson, 49 Mont. 387, 410, 142 Pac. 210.

At common law, Sunday was dies non juridicus, but the prohibition involved extended only to acts strictly judicial in character; it had no application whatever to ministerial acts. State v. Alderson, 49 Mont. 387, 410, 142 Pac. 210.

This section has no application where there is no conflict between articles of

The circumstance that a particular clause, near the end of an act, is, in numerical order, the last word upon the subject, is not sufficient to prevail over all other provisions of the act indicating a different legislative intent. State v. Stromme, 49 Mont. 25, 28, 139 Pac. 1002.

Where a clause seems to have crept into the body of an act as the result of misconception or ill-advised amendment, and it cannot be given effect without violence to the clear and plain intent of the law, considered in its entirety, it must be regarded as an inadvertence, and as not militating against the clear legislative intent. State v. Stromme, 49 Mont. 25, 28, 139 Pac. 1002.

The circumstance that a section of an act is the last word upon the subject is not sufficient to prevail over all other provisions of the act indicating a different legislative intent. State v. Stromme, 49 Mont. 25, 28, 139 Pac. 1002.

The division of the codes into parts, titles, chapters, articles, and sections is a mere device for convenience, and no implication or presumption of a legislative construction is to be drawn therefrom. Brown v. Foster, 48 Mont. 114, 119, 135 Pac. 993.

The publisher is answerable if his publication is false and unprivileged, though it was made in good faith, from worthy motives, and with the utmost belief in its truth. Cooper v. Romney, 49 Mont. 119, 127, 141 Pac. 289.

The publication of an article about a person, who is not engaged in any legitimate business, such as a professional wrestler, and which article contains the statement that he "refused to pay room rent," is not libelous per se. Brown v. Independent Pub. Co., 48 Mont. 374, 380, 138 Pac. 258.

The publication of a statement, which tends to expose the mother of children to the hatred and contempt of every right-thinking person, is libelous per se. Kelly v. Independent Pub. Co., 45 Mont. 127, 139, Ann. Cas. 1913D, 1063, 38 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1160, 122 Pac. 735.

If a libel is a false and unprivileged publication of defamatory matter, and publications of a certain character, made without malice, are privileged, then an allegation that a publication of that character was false and malicious, alleges, in substance, that it was false and unprivileged. Cooper v. Romney, 49 Mont. 119, 127, 141 Pac. 289.

Unless the publication is libelous per se, special damages must be alleged; the innuendo cannot change the character of the publication; if it is not libelous per se, it cannot be made so by innuendo. Brown v. Independent Pub. Co., 48 Mont. 374, 379, 138 Pac. 258.

In an action for libel, the plaintiff must be nonsuited, unless he introduces affirmative evidence of the falsity of the publication; so far as presumptions are concerned, the evidence is at equipoise at the very outset of the case; the plaintiff is presumed innocent of whatever wrong a publication imputes to him, and the publisher is likewise presumed to be innocent of wrong in making the publication. Cooper v. Romney, 49 Mont. 119, 126, 141 Pac. 289.

An action for an alleged libel, in respect to an unlawful business carried on by the plaintiff, such as that pursued by a professional wrestler, in violation of section 8576, post, cannot be maintained; the illegality of the business is an answer to the complaint. *Brown v. If a newspaper reporter writes up a sensational story about a mother's inhuman treatment of her children, the material of which is gathered from gossip heard by him around the sheriff's office, prior to the institution of any legal proceeding, the publication of such story is not privileged. *Kelly v. Malice is not an essential element of libel; it is material only as affecting the amount of the recovery, in cases involving the question of privileged communications. Cooper v. Romney, 49 Mont. 119, 127, 141 Pac. 289.

To found liability upon a communication prima facie privileged, actual and not implied malice must be shown; such was the rule at common law, and such must necessarily be the rule under the statute. Cooper v. Romney, 49 Mont. 119, 127, 141 Pac. 289.

Where the communication appears to have been privileged, the plaintiff must show, not only actual malice, but falsity in the publication. Cooper v. Romney, 49 Mont. 119, 127, 141 Pac. 289.

Articles of incorporation must be prepared, setting forth:

1. The name of the corporation.
2. The purpose for which it is formed.
3. The place where its principal business is to be transacted.
4. The term for which it is to exist, not exceeding forty years.
5. The number of its directors or trustees, which shall not be less than three nor more than thirteen, and the names and residences of those who are appointed for the first three months and until their successors are elected and qualified.

6. The amount of its capital stock and the number of shares into which it is divided, and if there be more than one class of stock created by the articles of incorporation, a description of the different classes with the terms on which the respective classes are created.

7. If there is a capital stock the amount actually subscribed and by whom.

8. If the stock is assessable it must be so stated. [Amendment approved March 5, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 116.]

Right to form corporation to supply public with water. See note ante, § 3808.

Since 1895, there has been no provision for the issuance of a certificate to a corporation formed prior thereto, but proof of the existence of such a corporation may be made under prior laws; the act of 1909 is not the only rule of evidence in a case of this character; that act applies only to corporations organized since the adoption of the codes. Billings Realty Co. v. Big Ditch Co., 43 Mont. 251, 256, 115 Pac. 828.

The act of 1909, relative to proof of corporate character, does not apply to corporations organized prior to 1895; until the year last named, there was no provision for the issuance of certificates of incorporation. Billings Realty Co. v. Big Ditch Co., 43 Mont. 251, 256, 115 Pac. 828.

§ 3821a. Evidence of Corporate Existence or Capacity.

The certificate issued by the Secretary of State upon the filing of a certified copy of any articles of incorporation, or a certificate issued by such secretary or state auditor, setting forth that any corporation, domestic or foreign, has filed its articles of incorporation in his office as required by law, shall be admitted in evidence in all courts of this state, and shall be prima facie evidence of the corporate character and capacity of such corporation and of its right to transact business in this state, excepting in an action prosecuted by the state in the nature of a quo warranto proceeding. [Approved March 6, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 94, p. 124.]

§ 3821b. Evidence of Corporate Character of National Banks.

The certificate of the comptroller of the currency of the United States issued to any national bank authorizing it to commence business, or a certificate of such comptroller setting forth that such bank is authorized to transact business, shall be admitted in evidence in all courts of this state and shall be prima evidence of the corporate character and capacity of such bank. Provided, however, that this act shall not be so construed as to effect any case now pending in the courts of this state or of the United States. [Approved March 6, 1909; Laws 1909, c. 94, p. 124.]

The statute cannot refer to a corporation organized prior to July 1, 1895, for in terms it applies only to institutions of the kind to which certificates of incorporation have been issued or, what is the same thing, organized since the adoption of the codes. Billings Realty Co. v. Big Ditch Co. 43 Mont. 251, 257, 115 Pac. 828.

This section, declaring that a corporation cannot hold property in a county, or maintain an action in relation thereto, unless it has first filed a certified copy of its articles of incorporation in the office of the county clerk, has reference solely to domestic corporations. Uihlein v. Caplice Com. Co., 39 Mont. 327, 336, 102 Pac. 564.

This section, as well as section 3833, post, recognizes that there may be corporations without a capital stock. Daily v. Marshall, 47 Mont. 377, 390, 133 Pac. 681.

There can be no presumption that the capital stock of a corporation shall be deemed to be paid for in money. State v. Clements, 37 Mont. 314, 319, 96 Pac. 498.

§ 3825. Manner of Forming Corporations.

At any time hereafter any three or more persons who may desire to form a company for the purpose of carrying on any kind of manufacturing, mining, mechanical, or chemical business; of digging ditches, of building flumes or running tunnels; of purchasing, holding, developing, improving, using, leasing, selling, conveying or otherwise disposing of water powers and the sites thereof and lands necessary or useful therefor, or for the industries and habitations arising or growing up, or to arise or grow up, in connection with or about the same; of purchasing, holding, laying out, platting, developing, leasing, selling, dealing in, conveying, or otherwise using or disposing of town sites or towns or the lots, blocks or subdivisions thereof, or lots, blocks or subdivisions in any town, village, or city; or of carrying on any other branch of business designed to aid in the industrial or productive interests of the country and the development therefor of one or more of the aforesaid branches of business, or for any of the purposes for which private corporations may be formed, as set forth in section 3808 (393) of this code, as amended by the foregoing section, or as the same may be hereafter amended, must prepare, sign, acknowledge, and file articles of incorporation in the office of the county clerk of the county in which the principal business of the company is to be transacted, and a copy thereof certified by the county clerk, with the Secretary of State, whereupon the Secretary of State must issue to the corporation over the great seal of the state, a certificate that a copy of the articles, containing the required statement of facts has been filed in his office. Thereupon the persons signing the articles and their associates and successors, shall be a body politic and corporate by the name stated in the certificate, and for a term of forty years, unless in the articles of incorporation otherwise stated, or in this code otherwise specially provided, but in no case where not otherwise specially provided in this code, must such term exceed forty years; provided, however, that no articles of incorporation shall be accepted and filed by the Secretary of State which designate a name of the proposed corporation which is the same as that of any existing domestic corporation, or which in the judgment of the Secretary of State is so similar to the name of any existing domestic corporation as to mislead or confuse persons dealing with such corporations; and provided further, that nothing herein shall affect the present term of existence of any corporation heretofore incorporated under this section for a period of forty years. [Amendment approved March 6, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 148.]

The only acts by which the incorporators notify the public of the creation of a corporation are the records required by this section; when these have been completed, the corporation becomes, as to those who deal with it, a living, active, responsible entity. Daily v. Marshall, 47 Mont. 377, 394, 133 Pac. 681.

When a corporation has been regularly brought into existence, it is not deprived of the right to exercise corporate functions by the failure of the directors, designated by the statute, to perfect the organization by taking steps subsequent to the issuance of the certificate by the Secretary of State.

Daily v. Marshall, 47 Mont. 377, 391, 395, 133 Pac. 681.

The failure of the directors or officers of a corporation to do those acts, such as are indicated in this section, which are required as conditions precedent, results ipso facto in forfeiture; but an omission to perform conditions subsequent, such as are indicated in section 3892, post, merely expose the corporation to the peril of dissolution upon inquisition by the state; until the forfeiture has been judicially declared at the instance of the state, the corporate existence continues. Daily v. Marshall, 47 Mont. 377, 394, 133 Pac. 681.

§ 3826. Extension of Term of Existence and Change in Capital Stock.

Any corporation or company heretofore formed either by special act or under the general law, and now existing, or any company which may be formed under this chapter, or which has elected or may elect to continue its existence under the provisions of the codes of Montana, may increase or diminish its capital stock, by complying with the provisions of this chapter, to any amount which may be deemed sufficient and proper for the purpose of the corporation, and may also extend its business to any other branch named in sections 3808 (393) or 3825 of this chapter, as amended by the foregoing section, or as the same may be hereafter amended, and may also extend the term of its existence, subject to the provisions and liabilities of this chapter; provided, however, that no corporation shall have power under this chapter to extend the term of existence for a period longer than will make the terms of existence of said corporation longer in all than forty years from the date of its original incorporation; and before any corporation shall be entitled to diminish the amount of its capital stock, if the amount of its debts and liabilities shall exceed the amount of capital to which it is proposed to be reduced, such amount of debts and liabilities shall be satisfied and reduced so as not to exceed such diminished amount of capital; and any existing company heretofore formed under any special act may come under and avail itself of the provisions, and thereupon such company, its officers and stockholders, shall be subject to all restrictions, duties and liabilities of this chapter. [Amendment approved March 6, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 149.]

If a corporation, whose life is limited, is entitled to continue its existence, it may do so, by taking the necessary steps during the life of the corporation, but any steps taken after its life expires are ineffective. Merges v. Altenbrand, 45 Mont. 355, 362, 123 Pac. 21.

Where a corporation whose life was limited to twenty years, had authority, under existing laws, to continue its existence, though it did not elect to do so, it had the right to avail itself of that privilege, granted by this section, as amended in 1909.

Merges v. Altenbrand, 45 Mont. 355, 362, 123 Pac. 21.

A corporation does not die by reason of the expiration of the time limit fixed by its charter, provided its members exercise the right to extend the term by the method set forth in the statute. Merges v. Altenbrand, 45 Mont. 355, 361, 123 Pac. 21.

§ 3826a. Acquisition of Stock or Securities of Other Corporations.

Any corporation, formed under the laws of the territory or state of Montana, whether previous to or since the taking effect of the codes on July 1, 1895, or hereafter to be formed, may purchase or otherwise acquire, own, hold, mortgage, pledge, sell, assign, transfer or otherwise dispose of shares of the capital stock of, or any bonds, securities or other evidence of indebtedness created by, any other corporation or corporations, wherever formed or organized, and while such owner may exercise all the rights, powers and privileges of ownership, including the right to vote upon such stock; provided, however, that it is not intended hereby to give the right to exercise any of the powers or purposes in this subdivision mentioned in any case where it is forbidden so to do by any provision of the Constitution or statutes of the United States of America or the state of Montana.

All acts and parts of acts in conflict with the provisions of this act [§§ 3808, 3825, 3826, 3826a herein] are hereby repealed. § 3828a. Validation of Articles of Incorporation.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Montana:

(Section 1.) That whenever heretofore any corporation, whether formed under the laws of the territory or state of Montana or the laws of any other state or territory, has filed in the office of the secretary of the territory or state of Montana, or of the county clerk of any county in said territory or state, or of both, any copy of its articles of incorporation, or charter, or of any statute or statutes creating such corporation or defining its powers, in conformity to the requirements of the laws of Montana then in force, which copy was a true and correct copy of its said articles, or of its said charter, or of said statute or statutes, but such copy or copies were not properly, or at all, certified as true and correct by the legal custodian of the original or originals thereof, such uncertified or defectively certified but true and correct copy or copies are hereby accepted, on behalf of the state of Montana as a substantial and satisfactory compliance with the requirements of the laws of Montana then in force and such filings are hereby declared valid and lawful in all respects and for all purposes to the same extent and with the same legal effect as if such true copy or copies had been fully and duly certified, prior to being filed, by the legal custodian of the original or originals thereof; provided that, before any such corporation shall have the benefits of this act and before such defective filings shall be cured, as hereby provided, and become operative as lawful filings from the date of the original filing thereof, such corporation shall, within six months from the date of the final passage of this act, file in the office of the Secretary of State of the state of Montana and in such other public office or offices as are now designated by law as the place or places where such documents would now be filed if any such corporation were now for the first time making such filings, file a true and correct copy of its said articles, charter or statute or statutes, and all amendments thereof, duly certified as true and correct and complete copies thereof, duly certified as such by the present lawful and official custodian of the originals thereof.

(Section 2.) That whenever any such corporation as is referred to in the first section hereof shall have complied with the provisions of said section and made the filings thereby required, said corporation shall be deemed, and is hereby declared, to have fully complied with all of the requirements of the laws of the territory and state of Montana and of the Constitution and laws of the state of Montana, concerning such filings, and is hereby vested with all the rights, privileges and immunities which would have been enjoyed by it if it had in all respects complied strictly at the time of its first filings with all the requirements of the law then in force and applicable thereto, all such rights, privileges and immunities being hereby conferred as of the date of the first filings of such true but uncertified copies.

(Section 3.) That upon complying with the provisions of sections 1 and 2 hereof, any such corporation shall be and hereby is released from the payment of any fees, or other charges, to the Secretary of the State of Montana or to any county clerk of any county in Montana, which may or might have become due under or by reason of the provisions of any other laws of this state; provided that, before the acceptance and filing of said new certified copies by the Secretary of State, a filing fee of $5 shall be paid to him by or on behalf of said corporation and that any county clerk in whose office any such new filings shall be made under the provisions of this act, shall likewise require to be paid to him, by or on behalf of said corporation, a filing fee of one dollar. [Approved March 6, 1911; Laws 1911, c. 115, p. 248.]

§ 3828b. Increase or Decrease of Capital Stock—How Accomplished.

(Section 1.) The number of shares into which the capital stock of any private corporation now organized and existing, or which may hereafter be organized under any of the laws of Montana, relating to private corporations, is divided, may be increased or decreased by a two-thirds vote of all of the stock of such corporation issued and outstanding, represented at any special meeting of the stockholders of said corporation, called and held as hereinafter provided.

(Section 2.) Whenever the board of directors of any private corporation, mentioned in the next preceding section, shall decide to call a special meeting of the stockholders for the purpose of determining whether or not the number of shares into which the capital stock of such corporation is divided, shall be either increased or decreased, it shall be the duty of such directors to publish a notice, signed by at least a majority of them, in a newspaper in the county in which such corporation shall have its principal place of business, if any shall be published therein, for at least four successive weeks, and to deposit, or cause to be deposited, a written or printed copy of such notice in the postoffice of the town or city in which such corporation shall have its principal place of business, addressed to each stockholder at his usual place of residence, as the same shall appear from the stock books of such corporation, postage prepaid, at least two weeks previous to the day for holding such meeting, which notice shall specify the object of the meeting, the time and place when and where such meeting shall be held, and the number of shares into which it shall be proposed to divide the capital stock of such corporation. If no newspaper is published in such county, it shall not be necessary to publish such notice. A vote of at least two-thirds of all the shares of stock of such corporation, issued and outstanding, and represented at the meeting, either in person or by proxy, shall be necessary to either increase or decrease the number of shares into which the capital stock of such corporation is divided.

(Section 3.) If at the time and place specified in the notice provided for in the next preceding section, stockholders shall appear in person or by proxy, representing not less than two-thirds of all the shares of stock of such corporation issued and outstanding, they shall organize by choosing one of the directors of such corporation chairman of the meeting, or, if no director of such corporation be present, then by choosing a stockholder of such corporation chairman of the meeting, and also a suitable person for secretary, and shall proceed to a vote of those present in person or by proxy, and if, on canvassing the votes, it shall appear that a sufficient number of the shares of the capital stock of such corporation have been voted in favor of said increase or decrease of the number of shares into which the capital stock of such corporation is divided, a certificate of the proceedings, showing a compliance with the provisions of this act, the number of shares into which the capital stock of such corporation is divided, and the number of shares to which the capital stock of such corporation is by such proceedings either increased or decreased, shall be made out, signed by the chairman of such meeting, and verified by the affidavit of said chairman, and be countersigned by the secretary of such meeting, and such certificate shall be acknowledged by the chairman as conveyances of real estate are acknowledged under the laws of the state of Montana, and filed in the office of the county clerk of the county in which the principal place of business of such corporation is situated, and a copy thereof, certified by the county clerk shall be filed with the Secretary of State, and when so filed and recorded, the number of shares into which the capital stock of such corporation is divided shall be increased or decreased, as the case may be, to the number specified, in such certificate.

(Section 4.) If such increase or decrease of the number of shares be so authorized, as in this act provided, and so certified and filed as in this act provided, such corporation shall thereupon issue to each stockholder certificates for as many shares of the new stock as equal to par value the shares of the old stock held by him, upon surrender and cancellation of such old stock.

(Section 5.) This act [§§ 1 to 6 hereof] does not authorize the increase or reduction of the amount of the capital stock of such corporation and shall not be construed to alter the existing law in relation to the increase or reduction of the amount of capital stock of any private corporation.

(Section 6.) All acts and parts of acts in conflict herewith are hereby repealed. [Approved March 8, 1915; Laws 1915, c. 100, p. 225.]

§ 3829a. Classification of Directors as to Term of Office.

Any private corporation, now organized and existing, or which may hereafter be organized under the laws of Montana, may, by making provision therefor in its by-laws as originally adopted, or as amended, classify its directors in respect to the time for which they shall severally hold office, the several classes to be elected for different terms, provided that no class shall be elected for a shorter period than one year, or for a longer period than three years, and that the term of office of at least one class shall expire each year. If the provision for such classification of directors is not made in the by-laws originally adopted, it may be incorporated in such by-laws by amendment, as other amendments to the by-laws may be legally made. [New section adopted March 3, 1915; Laws of 1915, p. 86.]

§ 3830. Election of Directors.

The directors must be, except as hereinafter provided, elected annually by the stockholders or members, and if no provision is made by the by-laws for the time of election, the election must be held on the first Tuesday in June. Notice of such election must be given, and the right to vote determined as provided in section 3829; but by so providing in its by-laws as originally adopted, or as the same may be amended, any corporation organized under this act, or heretofore organized under the laws of Montana, may classify its directors in respect to the time for which they shall severally hold office, the several classes to be elected for different terms, provided that no class shall be elected for a shorter period than one year, or for a longer period than three years, and that the term of office of at least one class shall expire each year. [Amendment approved March 3, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 87.]

Failure to organize, effect of. See note post, § 3892.

It is not the universal rule that a corporation must act exclusively through its board of directors; formal action is often dispensed with, even in the most important matters, where all the members of the corporation, including the shareholders and directors, are present and concur although there is no formal vote either of the shareholders or of the directors; in such cases, the presumption is that the action taken has been ratified by the board of directors, although it, in fact, took no affirmative action in the matter. Fitzpatrick v. O'Neill, 43 Mont. 552, 563, Ann. Cas. 1912C, 296, 118 Pac. 273.

Under this section, a corporation for profit must have a capital stock; and, in an action against a concern, an allegation that it was organized and is operated for profit, implies that, in order to have any legal existence, it must have a capital stock. Daily v. Marshall, 47 Mont. 377, 133 Pac. 681.

In requiring the directors of a corporation, having capital stock, to be stockholders, the legislature intended that such officers should be bona fide, not ostensible, owners of stock; the legislature did not intend it to be possible for a single person, through his own employees and agents, acting as his "dummies," to conduct his individual business under the guise of a corporation, with all of the attendant privileges and immunities, and thus escape personal liability altogether. Barnes v. Smith, 48 Mont. 309, 318, 137 Pac. 541.

The issuance of stock, with the unanimous consent of the stockholders, at a meeting where every share of outstanding stock was represented, and where a majority of the directors were present and assented, is valid, though the directors took no formal action, particularly where the stock has subsequently been twice voted, without objection, at stockholders' meetings, the other directors being present. Fitzpatrick v. O'Neill, 43 Mont. 552, 565, Ann. Cas. 1912C, 296, 118 Pac. 273.

Whatever is necessarily implied, or reasonably to be inferred, from the allegations of a complaint against a corporation, is to be taken as directly averred. Daily v. Marshall, 47 Mont. 377, 391, 133 Pac. 681.

The directors of a corporation cannot abdicate their duties nor permit others to act in their stead for the corporation or the stockholders; the property of a corporation cannot be saddled with a lien imposed without the consent either of the directors or of a majority of the stockholders. Deschamps v. Loisel, 50 Mont. 565, 148 Pac. 335.

Editorial Notes.

§ 3834. Election of Directors and Adoption of By-laws at First Meeting.

Directors must be elected and by-laws adopted at first meeting. At the meeting at which the by-laws are adopted, or at such subsequent meeting as may be then designated, directors must be elected, and unless otherwise provided by the by-laws as originally adopted, or as amended, shall hold their offices for one year and until their successors are elected and qualified. [Amendment approved March 3, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 87.]

§ 3835.

Before the stockholders of a corporation can go into court, they must first exhaust their remedy within the corporation itself; if they hold a majority of the stock, they may control the election of directors, under this section; or, if they control two-thirds of the stock, they may remove an objectionable director, under section 3838, post; and, because of the power and authority thus lodged in the stockholders, courts of equity refuse to listen to their complaints, unless it appears that the situation of the parties is such that they can not secure relief from the corporate authorities. Brandt v. McIntosh, 47 Mont. 70, 73, 130 Pac. 413.

Before minority stockholders can be heard to prosecute a suit founded on a right of action existing in the corporation itself, such as one to set aside a sheriff's sale to protect property owned by the corporation, the complaint fails to state a cause of action, where it does not allege that the plaintiffs are minority stockholders; where it does not show the inability of the plaintiffs to secure relief within the corporation itself; and where it does not allege any demand for relief made upon, and refusal by, the board of directors, or why a demand would have been useless. Brandt v. McIntosh, 47 Mont. 70, 73, 130 Pac. 413.

§ 3850. Annual Statement of Corporations.

Every corporation, having a capital stock, except banks, trust companies and building and loan associations, shall annually, within twenty days from and after the thirty-first day of December, file, in the office of the clerk of the county in which the principal place of business of such corporation is situated, a report which shall state the amount of the capital stock, the proportion thereof actually paid in and the amount thereof actually paid in cash and the amount issued, if any, in payment of property purchased and the amount of existing debts and also the names and addresses of the directors or trustees and of the president, vice-president, general manager and secretary of the corporation. Such report shall be signed by the president and a majority of the directors, inclusive of the president, secretary or treasurer of such corporation. In the absence, or inability to act, of the president, the vice-president may sign and verify such report. If any such corporation shall fail to file such report, directors of the corporation shall be, jointly and severally, liable for all debts or judgments of the corporation then existing, or which may thereafter be in anywise incurred until such report shall be made and filed; provided, however, that if within ten days after such failure a director, or directors, shall make and file, as aforesaid, an affidavit or affidavits, stating that the failure was due to no fault or neglect of his or theirs, and stating, also, that, within the said twenty days he or they requested the president or sufficient number of the other directors, whose residence was known to the affiants, to join them in making report, such director, or directors, shall not be liable under this section. If the required report be made and filed after the time herein specified, the directors shall not, on account of the prior failure to make report, be liable for the debts thereafter contracted. Where such corporation, on account of insolvency or for any other reason, has ceased to be a going concern and has ceased to voluntarily incur financial obligations, the directors may include a statement to that effect in their report, giving the reasons for the cessation of the corporate activities of such corporation, and, after two annual reports have been filed, the directors shall not be liable for a failure to file annual reports during such time as the disability of such corporation shall continue. [Amendment approved March 11, 1909; Laws 1909, p. 217.]

This section is to be strictly construed; it is penal only in the sense that it creates a liability not known to the common law. Daily v. Marshall, 47 Mont. 377, 398, 133 Pac. 681.

This section is not unconstitutional as casting "liabilities and burdens upon domestic corporations from which foreign corporations are exempt"; the penalty for failure to file the annual report is placed upon the officers and directors and not upon the corporation. Daily v. Marshall, 47 Mont. 377, 398, 133 Pac. 681.

The constitutional provision prohibiting excessive fines is a penalty exacted by the state for a criminal offense; it has no application to the penalty imposed by this section, as amended. Daily v. Marshall, 47 Mont. 377, 399, 133 Pac. 681.

If an active director of a corporation, that has been engaged in business, apparently in good faith, is sued and sought to be held for his failure, as president and director of the corporation to file or have filed, the annual report required by this section, he cannot escape personal liability hereunder by denying the existence of the corporation, on the ground that the forms of law had never been observed in perfecting its organization, whether he was properly chosen as director or not. Daily v. Marshall, 47 Mont. 377, 396, 133 Pac. 681.

A plaintiff, who seeks to hold the directors of a corporation liable for a failure to comply with the provisions of this section, as amended in 1909, concerning the filing of the annual report therein specified, must allege facts and circumstances clearly showing that the liability has attached; nothing is to be presumed in favor of the pleader. Daily v. Marshall, 47 Mont. 377, 390, 133 Pac. 681.

The complaint must show the failure to comply with statute if a plaintiff would avail himself of the latter to enforce the liability of officers of a corporation for not filing the annual report. Daily v. Marshall, 47 Mont. 377, 389, 133 Pac. 681.

Individual stockholder as voting unit in dissolution of corporations. See post, § 7324.

This section makes the individual stockholder, and not the share of stock, the unit of voting power; hence, a change of nonassessable stock to assessable stock, made with the consent of only ninety-six out of three hundred and one stockholders, is without effect, though it was made by those owning more than three-fourths of the company's stock, and an assessment levied in pursuance thereof is void. *Smith v. 1. Of succession, by its corporate name, for the period limited in its articles of incorporation.
2. To sue and be sued, in any court.
3. To make and use a common seal, and alter the same at pleasure.
4. To purchase, hold, and convey such real and personal estate as the purposes of the corporation may require.
5. To appoint such subordinate officers or agents as the business of the corporation may require, and to allow them suitable compensation.
6. To make by-laws, not inconsistent with any existing law, for the management of its property, the regulation of its affairs, and for the transfer of its stock.
7. To enter into any obligations or contracts essential to the transaction of its ordinary affairs, or for the purposes of the corporation.
8. To create two or more kinds of stock of such classes with such designation, preferences and voting powers, or restrictions or qualifications thereof, as shall be stated or expressed in the articles of incorporation and the power to increase or decrease the stock, as in this code elsewhere provided, shall apply to all or any of the classes of stock; but at no time shall the total amount of the preferred stock exceed two-thirds of the actual

The reserved power of the state, to amend the laws under which a corporation is organized, may be exercised, not only to alter the contract as it exists between the state and the corporate entity, but to alter the contract existing between the corporation and its stockholders, and also the contract as between the stockholders themselves; a law effecting such change is not unconstitutional on the ground that it impairs the obligation of a contract. Somerville v. St. Louis M. & M. Co., 46 Mont. 268, 275, L. R. A. 1915B, 811, 127 Pac. 464.

A law providing for a change in the limited liability of the stockholders of a corporation, by authorizing nonassessable stock to be made assessable, upon such reasonable terms as the legislature may prescribe, is not unconstitutional as impairing the obligation of a contract. *Somerville v. capital paid in cash or property; and such preferred stock may, if desired, be made subject to redemption at not less than par, at a fixed time and price, to be expressed in the stock certificate thereof; and the holders thereof shall be entitled to receive, and the corporation shall be bound to pay thereon, a fixed yearly dividend, if actually earned, to be expressed in the certificate, not exceeding eight per centum, payable quarterly, semi-annually, or annually, before any dividend shall be set apart or paid in the common stock, and such dividend may be made cumulative. Unless its original or amended articles of incorporation shall so provide, no corporation shall create preferred stock. [Amendment approved March 5, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 117.]

Under this section and section 3890, post, a mercantile corporation has no power to enter into contracts or obligations of guaranty. Kellogg-Mackay Co. v. Havre Hotel Co., 199 Fed. 727, 735, 118 C. C. A. 165.

Every moneyed transaction between the directors of a corporation and the company as an entity is not to be branded as fraudulent; contracts by which they become creditors of the company are valid and enforceable, if made in good faith and for the company's benefit. *Tatem v. When the steps required by section 3825, ante, shall have been observed, the corporation comes into existence; and, while the failure to observe the requirements of the statute as to the adoption of by-laws, the subsequent election of directors, the election of officers, and the like, as indicated in section 3829 et seq., ante, renders the franchises and privileges subject to forfeiture, such failure does not ipso facto work a dissolution, nor permit a question to be made as to the corporate capacity, in a collateral way by any private citizen, in a controversy between him and the corporation; in other words, after the corporation has come into existence, as provided by section 3825, ante, it continues to exist, for the period fixed by the statute, or until, by affirmative action, the state has had a forfeiture judicially declared. Daily v. Marshall, 47 Mont. 377, 393, 133 Pac. 681.

In questioning the existence of a corporation, it is, with respect to collateral attack, unimportant whether it was a corporation de jure or de facto; the rule denying the right to collateral attack applies to the one as well as to the other. Daily v. Marshall, 47 Mont. 377, 396, 133 Pac. 681.

The presumption is, that all entries made in the books of a corporation for profit, against the president and controlling stockholder, are rightfully made; and, in a suit, one object of which is to obtain an accounting against him, arising out of his fraudulent purchase of certain shares of the corporate stock, from the executor of a deceased owner, such books are admissible against him and his representative. *Smith v. § 3905.

After a corporation has been lawfully organized, it continues to exist until its life expires by limitation, as prescribed in section 3825, ante; or, until it has been dissolved in one of the modes prescribed by this section, 3905. Barnes v. Smith, 48 Mont. 309, 316, 137 Pac. 541.

After a corporation has been lawfully organized, section 3892, ante, prohibits its character as such from being inquired into collaterally at the instance of a private citizen in a controversy between him and it; and section 6944, post, prevents its legal capacity from being brought into question, even by the state, except for one of the causes prescribed by the statute. Barnes v. Smith, 48 Mont. 309, 316, 137 Pac. 541.

A corporation is dissolved by the expiration of the time limited by its charter; and it can thereafter exercise no powers except those conferred by law to enable it to wind up its affairs. Merges v. Altenbrand, 45 Mont. 355, 362, 123 Pac. 21.

If a corporation is dissolved by the expiration of the time limited by its charter, it is improper for the court to take the property of the corporation, though of great value, from the acting trustees, and appoint a receiver, when they are not charged with incompetency, or improvidence, or wrongdoing, but with merely acting upon the erroneous assumption that the corporation is still in existence; this alone is not sufficient to justify the appointment of a receiver. Merges v. Altenbrand, 45 Mont. 355, 366, 123 Pac. 21.

(Section 2.) The word "bank," as used in this act, shall be construed to mean any corporation which shall have been incorporated to conduct the business of receiving money on deposit or transacting a trust or investment business as hereinafter defined. The soliciting, receiving, or accepting of money or its equivalent on deposit as a regular business shall be deemed to be doing a commercial or savings bank business whether such deposit is made subject to check or is evidenced by a certificate of deposit, a pass-book, a note or other receipt; provided, that nothing herein shall apply to or include money or its equivalent left in escrow or left with an agent pending investment in real estate or securities for or on account of his principal. It shall be unlawful for any corporation, partnership, firm, or individual to engage in or transact a banking business within this state, except by means of a corporation duly organized for such purpose. Banks are divided into the following classes: (a) Commercial banks,

One who gives the cashier of a bank, at the latter's request, an accommodation note for a large amount, it being evident that the cashier is projecting some fraud, and that the cashier's purpose is to violate this section, is liable on the note though he pleads a want of consideration and the cashier's agreement not to enforce the note against him; furthermore, it is a penal offense to subscribe or exhibit false papers with intent to deceive the state bank examiner. State Bank v. Forsyth, 41 Mont. 249, 28 L. R. A. (N. S.) 501, 108 Pac. 914.

§ 3911. Number of Persons Necessary to Form Corporation.

(Section 3.) Corporations may be formed by any number of natural persons not less than three under the laws of this state to conduct, as provided in this act and not otherwise, any one, or more, or all of the business mentioned in section 2 of this act. [Amendment approved March 6, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 119.]

§ 3912. Commercial Bank Defined.

(Section 4.) The term "commercial bank," when used in this act, means any bank authorized by law to receive deposits of money, deal in commercial paper, or to make loans thereon, and to lend money on real or personal property, and to discount bills, notes, or other commercial paper, and to buy and sell securities, gold and silver bullion, or foreign coins, or bills of exchange. [Amendment approved March 6, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 119.]

§ 3913. Savings Bank Defined.

(Section 5.) The term "savings bank," when used in this act, means a bank organized for the purpose of accumulating and loaning the funds of its members, stockholders, and depositors, and which may loan and invest the funds thereof, receive deposits of money, loan, invest, and collect the same, with interest, and repay depositors with or without interest, with power to invest said funds and moneys in such property, securities, and obligations as may be prescribed by this act; and to declare and pay dividends on its general deposits, and a stipulated rate of interest on deposits made for a stated period, or upon special terms. [Amendment approved March 6, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 119.]

The term "savings bank" cannot justly be applied to a corporation organized under sections 3923-3924 of the Revised Codes for purely commercial purposes; the designation of a bank as a "savings bank" does not require it to be classed under the head of savings banks; the status of a banking institution is determined by the character of the business it transacts. Williams v. Johnson, 50 Mont. 7, 144 Pac. 768.

§ 3914. Trust Company Defined—Purposes for Which may be Formed.

(Section 6.) The term "trust company," when used in this act, means any corporation which is incorporated under the laws of this state for any one or more of the following purposes:

2. To accept and execute all such trusts and perform such duties of every description as may be committed to them by any person or persons whatsoever, or by any corporations, or may be committed or transferred to them by order of any of the courts of record of this state, or any other state, or of the United States.

3. To take and accept by grant, assignment, transfer, devise or bequest, and hold any real or personal estate or trust created in accordance with the laws of this state, or any other state, or of the United States, and execute such legal trusts in regard to the same on such terms as may be declared, established, or agreed upon in regard thereto.

4. To act as agent for the investment of money for other persons or corporations, and as agents for persons and corporations for the purpose of issuing, registering, transferring, or countersigning the certificates of stock, bonds or other evidence of debt of any corporation, association, municipality, state, or public authority as may be agreed upon.

5. To accept from and execute trusts for married women in respect to their separate property, whether real or personal, and act as agents for them in the management of such property, and generally to have and exercise such powers as are usually had and exercised by trust companies.

6. To act as trustee, assignee, or receiver in all cases where it shall be lawful for any court of record, officer, corporation, or person to appoint a trustee, assignee, or receiver, and to be appointed a trustee, assignee, or receiver, and to be appointed, commissioned, and act as administrator of any estate, executor of any last will and testament of any deceased person, and as guardian of the person and estate of any minor or minors, or of the estate of any lunatic, imbecile, spendthrift, habitual drunkard, or other persons disqualified or unable to manage their estates.

7. To loan money upon unencumbered real estate, collateral, or personal security, and execute and issue its notes, debentures, payable at a future date, and to pledge its mortgages upon real estate and other securities as security therefor.

8. To buy and sell government, state, county, municipal, and other bonds, and all kinds of negotiable, non-negotiable, and commercial paper, stocks and other investment securities.

9. To accept, receive, and hold money on deposit, payable either on time or on demand, with or without interest, as may be agreed upon with the depositors and to take and receive from any individual or corporation on deposit for safekeeping and storage, gold and silver plate, jewelry, stocks and securities, and other valuable and personal property, and to collect coupons, interest, and dividends on said above-described securities, and to rent out the use of safes and other receptacles on their premises upon such terms and for such compensation as may be agreed upon.

(Section 7.) The term "investment company," when used in this act, means any corporation which is incorporated under the laws of this state for any one or more of the following purposes:

1. To receive moneys in trust and to accumulate the same at such rates of interest as may be obtained or agreed upon, or to allow such interest as may be agreed upon, and to issue and sell its contracts or certificates of indebtedness, bearing fixed rates of interest, in whole or in part, with participation or nonparticipation in the profits of the corporation, and maturing at fixed periods of time, or otherwise, as may be fully set forth in said contracts or certificates.

2. To buy and sell government, state, county, municipal, and other bonds, and all kinds of negotiable and non-negotiable and commercial paper, stocks and other investment securities.

3. To accept, receive, and hold money on deposit, payable either on time or on demand, with or without interest, as may be agreed upon with depositors, and to collect coupons, interest, and dividends on said above-described securities. [Amendment approved March 6, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 119.]

§ 3915. Articles of Agreement.

(Section 8.) Any three or more persons desiring to associate themselves together for the purpose of becoming a corporation to engage in any one or more or all of the businesses mentioned in section 2 of this act, shall sign and acknowledge, in the manner provided for the acknowledgment of deeds of real estate, articles of agreement, which shall set forth:

1. The corporate name of the proposed corporation, which shall not be the name of any other corporation theretofore created in this state for similar purposes, or any imitation of such name.

2. The name of the city or town and county in which the principal office of the corporation is to be located.

3. The amount of the capital stock of the corporation; the number of shares into which it is to be divided, and the par value of such shares; the amount of capital stock actually subscribed in good faith at the time of the signing of such articles of agreement; and the amount of the capital stock actually paid up in lawful money of the United States and in the custody of some banking institution designated as the depository thereof until the proposed corporation is fully organized and authorized to engage in business.

4. The names and places of residence of the several shareholders, and the number of shares subscribed by each.

5. The number of the board of directors, and the names of those agreed upon for the first year.

6. The number of years the corporation is to continue, which in no case shall exceed fifty years.

7. The purposes for which the association or company is formed, which may be set forth by the use of the general terms herein defined, with reference to each line of business in which the proposed corporation desires to engage.

Thereupon the articles of agreement shall be presented to the superintendent of banks, together with an application in writing in the form prescribed by the superintendent of banks for a certificate authorizing the proposed corporation to transact within this state the business specified therein. Upon the presentation of the articles of agreement, together with such application, the superintendent of banks shall examine or cause an examination to be made in order to ascertain whether the requisite capital of such bank has been subscribed and been paid up in cash. It shall also determine whether the corporation is being formed for any other than the legitimate business contemplated by this act, or whether the public convenience and advantage will be promoted by the opening of such bank, and whether the corporate name assumed by such bank, by reason of the use by it of any one or more of the words "commercial," "trust," "savings," or "investment," in conjunction with any other word or words, resembles so closely as to be likely to cause confusion, the name of any other bank previously formed under this act. He shall also ascertain from the best sources of information at his command whether the character and general fitness of the persons named as stockholders are such as to command the confidence of the community in which such bank is proposed to be located. The expenses of the superintendent of banks in making the examinations required by this act shall be paid by the proposed bank, and payment shall be made in advance if required by the superintendent of banks.

If the superintendent of banks shall not be satisfied with the result of his investigation, he shall refuse the application within sixty days after the articles of agreement and the application have been presented to him and so notify the incorporators named therein. If the superintendent of banks shall be satisfied with the result of his investigation he shall within sixty days after such application has been made to him, issue under his hand and official seal the certificate of authorization, required by this act, in duplicate. The articles of agreement together with one of such certificates of authorization, so issued, by the superintendent of banks, shall be filed in the office of the clerk and recorder of the county in which is located the principal place of business of the proposed bank, and a certified copy of the articles of agreement, together with the other certificate of authorization issued by the superintendent of banks, shall be filed with the Secretary of State. Upon filing with the Secretary of State the articles of agreement and the certificate of authorization, and paying the fee required for the filing of articles of incorporation the Secretary of State shall issue a certificate setting forth that such corporation has been duly organized, the amount of its authorized and subscribed capital, and the business in which it is to engage; and such certificate shall be taken by all courts of this state as evidence of the corporate existence of such bank. The persons so signing and acknowledging the articles of agreement and their associates and successors, shall, for a period not exceeding fifty years next succeeding the issuance of such certificate by the Secretary of State, be a body corporate, and by such name they and their successors shall be entitled to have, possess and enjoy all the rights and privileges conferred by this act. [Amendment approved March 6, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 121.]

§ 3916. Rejection of Certificate by Superintendent of Banks—Appeal to Board of Review.

(Section 9.) In the event the application for a certificate of authorization shall have been rejected by the superintendent of banks, and the applicants feel aggrieved at such decision, they may appeal to the board of review, which shall consist of the Governor, the Secretary of State, and the Attorney General. The Governor shall be chairman of the board. Such appeal must be made within thirty days after service of notice or rejection of application for certificate of authorization. Applicants so appealing shall file a notice with the superintendent of banks that they appeal from his decision made on such application, to the board of review hereinabove constituted. Upon the filing of such notice the superintendent of banks shall certify such application, together with his decision thereon, and the notice of appeal, to the Governor, the said board of review shall fix a time and place for hearing such appeal, and shall notify the applicants and the superintendent of banks thereof. The proceedings shall be reviewed by said board of review, which board of review may also hear other or additional evidence, and the board of review shall make an order, either affirming or reversing the order of the superintendent of banks. Within three days after such determination by the board of review all records and proceedings pertaining to such application shall be remitted to the superintendent of banks, and the decision and determination of the said board of reviews shall be final and conclusive, and shall govern the future action of the superintendent of banks. [Amendment approved March 6, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 123.]

§ 3917. Amount of Capital.

(Section 10.) The amount of the capital stock of a commercial bank shall be not less than twenty thousand dollars, which shall be paid up in cash and deposited with some bank or banks in this state at the time the application is made to the superintendent of banks for the certificate of authorization hereinabove mentioned.

The amount of the capital stock of a savings bank, trust company or investment company shall be fixed and limited by the articles of agreement, and shall be not less than one hundred thousand dollars nor more than ten million dollars, of which amount at least one hundred thousand dollars must be subscribed and fully paid up in cash and on deposit with some bank or banks in this state when the application is made to the superintendent of banks for the certificate of authorization hereinabove mentioned. The remainder of the authorized capital stock may be subscribed and paid in at such times and under such regulations as the board of directors of such corporation may determine. The shares of the capital stock of all banks shall have a par value of one hundred dollars. No bank shall have preferred stock. [Amendment approved March 6, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 124.]

§ 3918. Calling of First Corporate Meeting.

(Section 11.) When the formation of the corporation is completed under the provisions of this act by the issuance of the certificate of incorporation by the Secretary of State, any three of those signing the articles of agreement may call the first meeting of the corporation at such time and place as they may appoint, by giving notice thereof by publication in some newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the principal office for the transaction of business is to be located at least five days before the time appointed for such meeting. If all the subscribers to the capital stock unite in a call for such meeting, in writing, no notice is necessary. If the first meeting be not called within thirty days from the date of the certificate of incorporation, the superintendent of banks is authorized to cancel his certificate of authorization. [Amendment approved March 6, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 124.]

of the Revised Codes; that section has reference to other than state banks. State v. Yoder, 39 Mont. 202, 207, 103 Pac. 499.

§ 3919. Board of Directors—Qualifications, Tenure and Vacancies.

(Section 12.) The affairs of the bank shall be managed by a board of directors, not less than three nor more than twenty-five in number, all of whom shall be stockholders of such bank and citizens of the United States, and of whom at least three-fourths must be residents of the state of Montana. No person who shall have been convicted of a crime against the banking laws of the United States or of any state of the Union shall be elected a director. The directors shall be elected for the term of one year at the annual meeting of the stockholders, which shall be held on the second Tuesday in January of each year. In case the election shall not be made on the day fixed for the annual meeting, the corporation shall not thereby be dissolved, but an election may be had at any other time agreeable to the by-laws of the corporation, and the persons so elected shall hold their office until the second Tuesday in January following, or until others are elected and qualified. In case of death or resignation of one or more of said directors the vacancy shall be filled by the board, and the directors so appointed shall hold office until the next annual election, at which time a director shall be elected to fill out the unexpired term. Every director shall take and subscribe an oath that he will diligently and honestly perform his duty in such office and will not knowingly violate or permit a violation of any of the provisions of this act; that he is the owner in good faith of the required number of shares of stock in the bank standing in his name on the books of the bank. Such oaths shall be made in duplicate, one copy of which shall be transmitted to the superintendent of banks and filed in his office, and one copy shall be kept on file in the office of the bank. (Section 13.) The number of directors may be increased or decreased at any annual meeting of the stockholders or any special meeting thereof called for such purpose, by a resolution passed by a majority vote of the stock represented at such meeting, but such resolution shall not become effective until authenticated copies thereof are filed with the superintendent of banks, the Secretary of State and the county clerk and recorder of the county in which is located the bank. [Amendment approved March 6, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 125.]

(Section 14.) No person shall be eligible for election as director of a bank unless he is a stockholder of the bank, owning in his own right shares thereof of the par value of at least one thousand dollars and every person elected to be a director who, after such election, shall cease to be the owner in his own right of the amount of such stock aforesaid, or shall hypothecate or in any way pledge such stock as security for any loan or debt, shall immediately notify the superintendent of banks of such sale or hypothecation, and such director may be removed from the office of director by the superintendent of banks, unless such disability be removed by the acquisition of other shares of stock or release of such pledge within the time prescribed by the superintendent of banks. [Amendment approved March 6, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 125.]

§ 3922. Selection of Officers and Employees—Meetings and Minutes Thereof.

The board of directors shall have power to elect a president, one or more vice-presidents, cashier, or one or more assistant cashiers, and such other officers and employees as they may from time to time deem to be to the best interest of the bank, and fix their compensation. The president and vice-president shall be chosen from the board of directors. The board of directors shall also elect a secretary, who shall keep a correct report of the meetings of the board and of the stockholders in a book kept for that purpose, which minutes shall particularly disclose the date of the meeting and the names of the directors or stockholders present. This record of the meetings of the board of directors shall be subscribed to by the presiding officer and secretary. Such minutes shall be read and approved at the next succeeding meeting of the board of directors, and the minutes of such next succeeding meeting shall show such fact. Such minute-books shall be kept in the office of the bank at all times, and shall be presented to the examiner at the time of his examination of the bank, and it shall be the duty of such examiner to include in his report of examination of such bank a statement of the dates on which such meetings were held since the last examination of such bank by the examiner, and the names of the directors in attendance at each of said meetings. The board of directors of a bank must hold a meeting at least once a month. Any person who shall make a false entry in the said book, or who shall change or alter any entry made therein shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. [Amendment approved March 6, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 126.]

§ 3923. By-laws.

(Section 16.) The persons signing the articles of agreement shall, at their first meeting, adopt by-laws for the government of the corporation, which by-laws may provide for:

2. The number of stockholders constituting a quorum.
3. The mode of voting by proxy.
4. The time of the annual election of directors, and the mode and manner of giving notice thereof.
5. The duties of officers.

A copy of the by-laws shall also be transmitted to the superintendent of banks. The by-laws may be repealed or amended, or new by-laws be adopted, at the annual meeting, or at any other meeting of the stockholders called for that purpose by the directors, by a vote representing two-thirds of the subscribed stock, or the power to repeal and amend the by-laws, and adopt new by-laws may, by a similar vote at the first meeting or any annual meeting, be delegated to the board of directors. (Section 17.) The stockholders of every bank shall be severally and individually liable, equally and ratably, and not one for the other, for all contracts, debts, and engagements of such corporation, to the extent of the amount of their stock therein, at the par value thereof, in addition to the amount invested in such shares. No person holding stock as executor, administrator, guardian, or trustee, and no person holding such stock as a pledge or collateral security, shall be personally subject to any liability as stockholder in such corporation; but the person pledging such stock shall be considered as holding the same, and shall be liable as a stockholder accordingly, and the estate and funds in the hands of such executor, administrator, guardian, or trustee, shall be liable in like manner and to the same extent as the testator, intestate, ward or the person interested in such trust fund would have been liable if he had been living or competent to act and held the stock in his own name. [Amendment approved March 6, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 127.]

§ 3925. Transfer of Shares of Stock.

(Section 18.) The delivery of a certificate of stock to a bona fide purchaser or pledgee for value, together with a written transfer of the same, or a written power of attorney to sell, assign, and transfer the same, signed by the owner of the certificate, shall be a sufficient delivery to transfer the title as against the creditors of the transferor and subsequent purchasers; but no such transfer shall affect the right of the corporation to pay any dividend due upon the stock, or treat the holder of record as the holder in fact, until such transfer is recorded upon the books of the corporation, or a new certificate issued to the person to whom it has been transferred. [Amendment approved March 6, 1915; Laws 1915, p. 127.]

§ 3926. Elections—How Conducted.

(Section 19.) All elections must be by ballot, and every stockholder shall have the right to vote in person or by proxy the number of shares standing in his name for as many persons as there are directors to be elected, or to cumulate said shares and give one candidate as many votes as the number of directors multiplied by the number of his shares of stock shall equal, or to distribute them on the same principle among as many candidates as he shall think fit. The board of directors may prescribe the form and manner of executing proxies. The shares of stock of an estate of a minor, or of a person of unsound mind may be represented and voted by his guardian, and of a deceased person by his executor or administrator, and every person who shall pledge his stock may nevertheless represent and vote the same at all meetings, unless the pledgor appoints the pledgee as a proxy in accordance with the by-laws of the company. The board of directors may provide for the closing of the stock books of the company for such length of time prior to the annual election as may be by it deemed convenient for the making up of the lists of the stockholders. Any regular or called meeting of the stockholders may adjourn from day to day or from time to time if, for any reason, there is not present a quorum or no election is had, such adjournment and the reasons therefor being recorded in the minutes of said meeting. All elections and other actions at meetings of stockholders or directors shall be conducted in accordance with the laws of the state of Montana governing corporations in general, except as herein
